SOCIETY AT CASINO DANCE

Marked the Resumption of Social Gaiety After the Quietness of Lenten Season.

THOSE WHO ATTENDED.

A Charming Combination of Two Orchestras, One of Stringed Instruments for Waltzes, and One of Brass for Two-Steps—The Decorations—Patronesses.

Plainfield society folk withdrew from the quietude of a Lenten seclusion and gathered for the first brilliant function of the spring season, which was held last evening. The attractive affair was the Casino dance, the last of the series, which have been so much enjoyed during the fall and winter season.

Catchy and dreamy music, smart gowns, and extremely fetching decorations so charmed those assembeld on the dancing floor that it was early morn before few realized that the evening had gone. Pink and green was the decorative effect, which was well set off by a profusion of potted plants, chief among them being palms, Easter lilies, azaleas and smilax.

Pound, of New York, directed the music and he had arranged a happy combination. At one end of the spacious floor was stationed a stringed orchestra on a temporary platform, while on the stage, directly opposite was a brass orchestra. Waltzes and overtures were played by the former, while for the two steps the latter was used. As usual, Steward Ivamy was the caterer.

Among those present were the Misses Davis, Lord, Rushmore, Mc Cutchen, Hartley, Munger, Evans, Reinhart, Hammond Lee, English, Adelaide Elsberg, Ida C. Borsum, Daisy Moeller, Mary B. STILL FIGHT ANNEXATION

Governor Murphy Listened to What Objectors From Somerset Had to Say.

HEARING AT TRENTON.

Little Gathering Before Governor Murphy of Those Who Want Him to Veto Greater Plainfield Bills —Some of the Arguments Advanced Against Them.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 1—A delegation of citizens from Somerset county, a few of which were from North Plainfield, visited Governor Murphy yesterday afternoon. The object was to oppose the signing of the Greater Plainfield bills. Vigorous denunciations of the measure were made by the protesting band.

Gvernor Murphy listened attentively to all that was said, and once or twice gave a rather sharp rejoinder to statements made by the objectors. A halt was called on the speaker, who predicted a Democratic victory in the IV Congressional district. As to the assertion that the bills were loosely drawn Mr. Murphy declined to consider the objection, stating that the Attorney General had passed favorably upon the measures from a legal standpoint.

It was claimed at the meeting that a motive which prompted the bills is the futherance of the political ambitions of Senator Charles A. Reed. As far as this was concerned the Governor showed an inclination to take care of that alleged feature himself.

Another allegation was that the annexation idea grew out of a desire of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, in which Senator Kean is interested, to control the water supply of North Plainfield.

A. V. D. Honeyman was the principal speaker although a number of others had their say. Those who attended the meeting were the following citizens from North Plainfield: School Trustee A. V. D. Honeyman, School Physician J. Hervey Buchanan, Secretary of the Board of Health William E. Honeyman, Surrogate Newton Spencer, Former Mayor Charles Place, Charles H. Cook and Charles W. McCutchen. From Somerville were the following: Judge Lewis Schenck, Former Senator L. A. Thompson, Assemblyman Hoagland, County Collector Allen, County Clerk Somers, John F. Riger and Charles H. Bateman.

COMMITTEES WERE NAMED

AT MEETING OF NORTH PLAINFIELD BOARD OF EDUCATION LAST NIGHT.

All Present Teaching Corps Re-engaged for the Coming School Year.

An extended meeting was held by the North Plainfield Board of Education last evening. President A. V. D. Honeyman was in the chair and the list of committees for the year was given out.

An important feature of the meeting was the engagement of all the members of the present teaching corps for the coming school year. Nothing was done regarding the proposition for additional accommodations by the erection of a new school building. In all probability this matter will be considered at a special meeting of the board. Last year's rules were adopted by the board.

The committees are: Teachers and text books, S. St. John McCutchen, Henry A. McGee, James R. Joy and A. V. D. Honeyman; grievances, John H. VanWinkle, Dr. J. H. Cooley and A. V. D. Honeyman; supplies, R. M. Fountain, E. A. Overton and Dr. J. H. Cooley; building and grounds, Dr. J. H. Cooley, E. A. Overton and R. M. Fountain; finance, Henry A. McGee, George D. Hallock and R. M. Fountain; auditing, Henry A. McGee and George D. Hallock.

WEEK'S FAIR TO AID ST. MARY'S BALL TEAM

Opened at T. A. B. Hall Last Evening Very Auspiciously With a Large Attendance.

DANCING A FEATURE.

YOUNG WOMEN ASSISTED IN ARRANGING THE AFFAIR.

Aim is to Raise Funds to Support St. Mary's Baseball Nine—Those in Charge—Pretty Decorations —The Various Committees.

As is generally the case the people of St. Mary's parish were not deterred by stormy weather from attending an affair given by the younger generation of that congregation in T. A. B. Hall last evening. The occasion was the opening night of a week's fair given for the benefit of the St. Mary's baseball club and it was signally successful.

A score or more of the young women of the parish lent their aid in furthering the object of the fair and largely contributed in more ways than one in making the first night a record breaker. A feature of the occasion was the tasteful decorations. On one side of the room was erected a handsome booth in which were displayed various articles to be chanced off during the week.

Frazee's orchesrta furnished the music and the bewitching waltz caught the fancy of the young folks in short order. Aside from this no special entertainment was provided. Refreshments were to be had as usual and there was quite a demand at this counter. There were two committees working in unity and this no doubt was a great aid.

The general committee consisted of T. J. Comerford, chairman; C. A. Shannon, secretary; James Monahan, Richard Birmingham, John Lawler, Robert Scott, Thomas Carty, George Taylor, Joseph Barry, Rufus Larew, Harry Shannon, George Keen, Thomas O'Keefe, Michael Lawler, Victor Troyce, Thomas Mack and Clarence Walden.

As an assistant committee there were the following: Miss Katharine A. Mack, chairman, Miss Elizabeth O'Keefe, secretary, fancy table—the Misses Elizabeth Estelle Day, Margaret Shannon, Jeanette Summers, Margaret Balgin, Nellie Baglin, Mary Lannon, A. Taylor, Winnie Kane, Maggie Ryan and Annie Daley; refreshments—Mrs. T. J. Comerford, the Misses Julia Meany, Mamie Birmingham, Josie Birmingham, Mamie Whalen, Lizzie Guinee and Mamie Brady.

Mt. Olive Baptist Church Wants to Use Funds for Improvement of the Church.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Mt. Olive Baptist church was held last evening. It was voted to ask the First Baptist church to grant the money required to take the Sunday-school on an excursion for the improvement of the church, the school to forego the outing.

A communication was received from the New England Convention asking that the convention might meet with the church next June. Plans are under way to shorten the time of the convention and as it was first organized in the Mt. Olive church the members are anxious to hold the session in this city. The idea is to hold the convention a day and a half.

A ROYAL ARCANUM AFFAIR

ENTERTAINMENT UNDER AUSPICES OF GREENBROOK COUNCIL.

Given in Y. M. C. A. Hall by W. W. Waters and the Montauk Ladies' Quartette.

Professional artists of high order of merit furnished a delightful entertainment for the delectation of a large audience at Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening. It was given under the auspices of Greenbrook Council, No. 17, Royal Arcanum, the proceeds being for the general fund of the lodge.

Those contributing to the programme were W. W. Waters, a musical humorist, known professionally as "Waltzer-Waters," and the Montauk Ladies quartette, composed of Miss E. Catherine Lane, Miss May Maxson, Miss Edith Beach and Miss Helene Taylor. Mr. Waters' selections were rambling over with humor and his every appearance was a signal for laughter. The musical numbers by the quartette were meritorious and each was longly encored.

The members of the council who had the entire supervision and conducted the affair were Harry Dennis, William Force, C. S. Davis, Webster Grant, L. B. Skillman, Louis Bennet, W. F. Oliver, Ralph Runyon, John Jackson and W. G. Pierson.

MUNICIPAL PLANS.

Municipal Owership Committee of North Plainfield Will Meet Tonight.

A meeting of the municipal ownership committee of the Borough Council will be held this evening. The matter to be considered will be the proposition mentioned by the mayor at the last meeting of the council-manic body. This consists of a scheme whereby the borough will be able to have a municipal water plant as well as a complete sewage system.

Briefly stated the idea is to build and maintain both systems, and to defray the expenses of the sewage system by the profits derived from the water plant. Experts have planned the matter and they will be on hand at the meeting to explain fully all details.

A conference was held a fortnight ago between the mayor and the committee and these experts, but the subject was not gone into very deeply. It is expected that the committee will make its report on the proposition at the next regular meeting of the Council, which takes place Friday evening.

EASTER AT ALL SOULS.

Appropriate Sermon and Special Music Given Sunday Morning.

Easterday was pleasantly observed at All Souls church in Park avenue, when the pastor, Rev. A. C. Nickerson, preached an appropriate sermon, and special music was rendered on the organ by Stephen Haff, the organist. The members of the Sunday-school also joined in the celebration after the morning service. Mrs. A. C. Nickerson played the processional and Easter carols were sung.

The morning musical service included a voluntary, "Siegmond's Love Song," by Waguer; an anthem, "This is the Day," and a postlude, "Marche Solemnelle." John Baily performed the solo work in the anthem. At this service the offering was for the American Unitarian Association.

NEW QUARTERS FOR HOSPITAL

Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital Approved Plans for New Structure.

IT MET LAST EVENING.

The Plans Submitted by Tracy and Swartout—Will Build Additions as Fast as Funds Permit—An Idea of What the Buildings Will be and How Arranged.

The board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, at the regular meeting at the Public Library, last evening, approved the plans submitted by Tracy & Swartout, architects, for a new hospital to be erected on Park avenue and Randolph road. The board also authorized the architects to go ahead at once and prepare detailed working plans so that within two week' time the board can advertise for bids for the work of construction.

The board was unanimous in this action. If everything works satisfactorily there is no reason why ground should not be broken within the next thirty days for the new hospital. There was a good attendance of members at the meeting and the action noted was decided upon without much trouble. This action means that the proposed hospital will be a reality.

Tracy & Swartout, the successful architects, had prepared blue print plans showing the floor arrangements in each building, also a birds-eye view of the buildings as they will look when completed. These were exhibited by Mr. Tracy at the meeting last evening. The purpose of the board is to provide for as limited quarters as can be gotten along with for the present and then have the construction so arranged that additions can be built on just as fast as it is possible or as they are needed. The birds-eye view of the buildings can be seen in the front office window of The Daily Press and it gives one a clear idea of how the buildings will look when completed.

The style of architecture is colonial throughout. The buildings will be located at the corner of Randolph road and Park avenue and they will face Randolph road. This is considered best as regards the points of the compass, besides more light and sunshine is secured from this position. There will be one main, or administration building, two stories, with a basement and attic. Adjoining it on the Park avenue side will be another building to be known as the operating department. In the rear of the main building will be the wards for men and women.

The structures will be of brick and Indiana lime stone, making substantial buildings and attractive in appearance. In front there are four columns which add much to the general attractiveness. On the first floor there will be a reception room, superintendent's office, living rooms, dining room and room for the medical staff. In the centre of the building there will be an elevator which will be run between the basement and top floor.

On the second floor there will be eleven private rooms for patients and three bath rooms, all being fitted up according to modern methods. In the basement there will be the dispensary, storage and autopsy rooms, also electric light plant, heating apparatus, etc.

Back of the administration building there will be the wards for men and women, accommodating thirty-six patients in all, eighteen in each. A reception room leads to each ward and here a patient will be detained until examined by a physician and properly prepared to go to the ward. Provision is also made back of the administration building for the service department, including kitchen, laundry and other necessary rooms.

Adjoining the main building on the side toward Park avenue, will be the operating depatrment, to be known as the Wright Memorial. This building will be the gift of J. Howard Wright, of New York, in memory of his grandsons, Parker Mason and Howard Corlies. This gift was $10,000. The building will contain an accident ward, etherizing, nurses, sterilizing, dressing and X ray rooms, besides a gallery for physicians who desire to be present, but who do not take part in operations. The rooms for the nurses and physicians will be

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The trading stamp people rather got the whip hand of the Legislature in the final rush, and instead of the business being abolished it was legalized. The Assembly committee refused to report the Senate bill making the business illegal, but reported a compromise measure which provided that all trading stamp companies must redeem the stamps in either cash or merchandise, at the option of the holder. Between going out of business and redeeming stamps in cash at the holder's option, the trading stamp companies naturally choose the latter.—Newark Call.

Farmer Orator James E. Martine, of Plainfield, has never been known as a harmonizer in politics, but in private life he must have a different reputation. When called upon to settle a dispute, which had reached the fighting stage, between two lone women and a red-headed servant, he found he had a harder job on his hands than holding down a Democratic convention. But he carried his point, and when haled into court on a charge of assault and battery he quickly convinced the Judge that he was a peacemaker. When the news of his success reaches Lincoln, Neb., another letter of commendation and congratulation may be expected from Col. Bryan.—Newark News.

The Legislature has adjourned sine die and there will be no manifestations of public sorrow. Its record has not yet been made up. In the last week scores of bills have been rushed through both houses under suspension of the rules, with the result that the governor now has 285 in his hands for consideration. Wisely enough the executive has determined to ignore the precedent set by his predecessor and will take thirty days in which to consider the mass of heterogeous legislation dumped upon his desk by the heedless lawmakers. It will be remarkable if he does not find a large percentage of the bills more worthy of the wastebasket than the statute book.

Certainly no obligation of gratitude exists to impel the governor to deal leniently with suspicious bills. The Legislature gave his inaugural message recommendations anything but courteous treatment. Eleventh hour repentance saved the hospital for consumptives, and a bill was passed providing for the payment of interest on State deposits, but such other bills as were passed ostensibly to meet the governor's suggestions are little better than hollow mockeries—shams of the flimsiest kind.

It is to be said to the credit of the Legislature that it might have done done worse. A good many bad bills were defeated, especially in the Assembly, the record of which body upon the whole is much superior to that of the Senate. The apprehensions excited by the organization of the latter body have been amply justified.—Newark News.

CITY JOTTINGS.

BOERS TO CONFER WITH KRUGER

Peace to Be Discussed—Unconditional Surrender Impossible.

THE HAGUE, April 1.—Mr. Kruger, Dr. Leyds and the Boer delegates in Europe are expected to hold an important meeting at Utrecht tomorrow to consider the situation in view of Acting President Schalkburger's peace move.

Well informed people here say General Schalkburger was evidently influenced by the receipt of the news of the result of the Dutch note to Great Britain on the subject of peace in South Africa and other dispatches sent him from here. It is known that his communications with President Steyn and General De Wet, which have heretofore been easily carried on, were interrupted by the recent British military movements, and as it was necessary to communicate with Mr. Steyn and General De Wet before any peace proposition could be formulated General Schalkburger had to apply to Lord Kitchener for a safe conduct.

Considerable surprise is expressed here at Schalkburger's delay in getting in touch with De Wet, and it is thought that something unusual must be behind it. But even if the Orange Free State and Transvaal officials agreed to peace terms it would be necessary for both republics to call a general meeting of the commanders and submit the proposals to the burghers before they could be submitted to Lord Kitchener.

In any case unconditional surrender is out of the question.

A STRIKE AT THE HUB.

Boston Breweries Crippled by Dissatisfied Employees.

BOSTON, April 1.—Nearly 1,500 men employed in Boston breweries left work this morning, having been unable to reach an agreement with the master brewers on three disputed propositions—hours of labor, free beer and in the matter of discharges.

The strike is the outcome of nearly two months of fruitless controversy over the revision of a schedule made in 1896.

Every brewery in the city is more or less affected, and it is expected that a large number will have to shut down. The men openly declare that the brewers, by refusing to comply with the demands, seek to break up the union, while the brewers claim that the new schedule which has been offered to the men is a perfectly fair one and that owing to increase in the cost of material and the decrease in profits they are unable to offer any better terms.

Of the three matters in dispute the question of discharge seems to be the chief stumbling block.

TWENTY-TWO KILLED

Terrific Explosion of Gas In Tennessee Mine.

THE RESULT OF A DEFECTIVE FUSE

Force of the Concussion So Great That Men Were Killed Outside the Mine—Similar Catastrophies at the Same Mine.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 1.—At 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon an explosion of gas in the Nelson mine of the Dayton Coal and Iron company at Dayton, Tenn., ignited the dry coal dust in the mine and caused a terrific explosion. Twenty-two men are known to be dead. Ten bodies have been recovered, and twelve bodies are reported to be yet in the mine.

Gas exists in the Nelson mine, and the men are required to use safety lamps. It is the rule of the company for the miners to place their fuses ready to be lighted for blasts just before quitting work each day, and there are workmen known as "firemen" who go through the mine after all the miners are out and set off these blasts. The miners quit work at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It takes them about forty-five minutes to get out of the mine.

The two "firemen" who are supposed to have caused the explosion are Lark Hunter and John Harney. They shot the blasts about 4:45 o'clock before all the miners could get out of the mine. It is supposed that one of the fuses was defective and resulted in what is known as the "blown blast." The flame shooting out from the blasts ignited the gas, which in turn ignited the accumulation of dry coal dust in the mine.

The explosion that followed was horrible in its intensity. It shot out of the mouth of the mine and completely wrecked the shed at the mine entrance. Three men were killed while standing outside the mine and two seriously and one fatally injured.

The force of the explosion literally mangled and tore bodies to pieces.

The company says that there were only seventy-five men at work in the mine. Most of them, it is claimed, were out of the mine when the explosion occurred.

This mine has been the scene of two serious explosions in the past. In 1880 four men were killed and eight seriously injured by an explosion of gas. Later, in 1895, an explosion of mine dust occurred in which twenty-eight lives were lost.

In May, 1901, an explosion of a similar nature occurred in the Shalliday mine, operated by the same company, in which twenty-one lives were lost.

Easter Egg Rolling at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The green sward back of the White House was alive yesterday with swarms of children, who with baskets filled with bright colored eggs entered with zest into the annual Easter Monday egg rolling carnival. The sky was alternately bright and overcast, but neither contingency seemed to affect the spirits of the young revelers. The throng was thoroughly cosmopolitan, all sorts and conditions of children mingling freely in the fun. The grounds were open from 9 o'clock in the morning until sunset. The Marine band gave a concert at 4 o'clock and, brought to a close a thoroughly enjoyable day for the younger generation. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt and their children, together with a number of friends, appeared on the portico of the White House while the crowds were on the grounds, and the former was kept busy in acknowledging the many salutations he received from the little ones.

Senator Jones Surely Defeated.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 1.—Returns from the Democratic primaries held Saturday show that ex-Governor James P. Clarke has been indorsed for United States senator and that Governor Davis has carried sixty-five out of the seventy-five counties of the state. At the headquarters of Senator Jones a telegram was received announcing that Washington county, which was supposed to be for Jones, had gone for Clarke by nearly 800 majority. Clarke apparently will have a majority of twelve on joint ballot iff the legislature.

Monument to the Sultana's Victims.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A movement is under way for the erection of a monument in this city in memory of the 1,457 soldiers, ex-prisoners of war from Andersonville and Cabala, who lost their lives just after the close of the war by the explosion of the steamer Sultana near Memphis, Tenn., on the night of April 27, 1865. A bill has been prepared appropriating $50,000 for the monument, and it will be introduced in both houses of congress in a short time.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 1.—Ex-Champion James J. Corbett departs from Washington on the night of April 13 for San Francisco. Through Jule Delmar, his theatrical manager, it is learned that Corbett will be at the ringside on the night of the battle of Jeffries and Fitzsimmons and at the conclusion of the fight will challenge the winner.

PENSIONERS' WRONGS

Commander Torrance Tells of G. A. R. Grievances.

COMMISSIONER EVANS IS BLAMED.

Committee Found No Fault With Present Laws, but With Manner of Administration—Great Injustice to the Veterans.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 1.—Judge Ell Torrance, commander in chief of the G. A. R., just back from a conference with the president on pension matters, says the report of the G. A. R. pension committee was submitted to the president more than a week ago. At his request, however, it will not be made public for some time, as the president has under consideration the election of a successor to Pension Commissioner Evans. Judge Torrance, discussing the report, says:

"The committee found no fault with the pension laws as they now exist, but rather with the manner in which the laws have been construed and administered by the pension bureau. A desire for a change in the office of commissioner of pensions has been steadily growing for two years past, until now it is almost universal among the veterans. Conservative Grand Army men believe, and with good cause, that great injustice has been done to many deserving and worthy claimants.

"All the veteran soldiers of the Union desire is that the laws be justly and fairly administered and that all who are entitled to receive their benefits shall enjoy them without diminution or unreasonable delays and that every unworthy claim shall be rejected and every fraudulent pensioner stricken from the rolls.

"The atmosphere of the pension bureau has been such as to create an impression that a great many frauds are attempted by the old soldiers, but it is worthy of note that, according to the last report of the commissioner, there were out of 159 persons convicted of frauds against the bureau last year but ten soldiers of the civil war, of whom two were deserters. Many convictions were for offenses against the old soldier and not for him. The records show that only one old soldier out of 73,000 has been convicted of fraud against the government. Certainly that is a wonderfully good showing."

Incidentally Judge Torrance denied that he was to be made pension commissioner, nor was he a candidate for that or any other office.

Mrs. Haines Denies All.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., April 1.—Mrs. Mabel Fenton Haines, charged with the murder of her two-year-old stepdaughter Gwendolin just a year ago, was on the witness stand for four hours yesterday. She made a general denial to all the testimony offered by the prosecution. Mrs. Haines positively denied having given the child arsenic or to have cruelly treated the little girl. She also denied ever having seen Mrs. John Palfrey, who testified last week that she visited Mrs. Haines and saw her kick Gwendolin in the face and otherwise mistreat her. She was cross examined by the prosecution for an hour, and the state attorney failed to shake her story. Mrs. Haines' mother and brother, with a number of other witnesses, testified in her behalf.

Mines Closed by Water.

PETROS, Tenn., April 1. — Tesla mines are closed until the damage done by the flood can be repaired. The Petros bridge of the Harriman and Northeastern railroad and another bridge below here were lost. The Crooked Fork Mining company has suspended operations for the present. A number of convicts have been put to work repairing railroad tracks and rebuilding bridges. The flood did about $100,000 damage in Morgan county exclusive of that at Petros.

Engineer Killed on Runaway Train.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 1.—Engineer Rosue Hoover was killed on a runaway train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. He stuck to the train and tried to stop it. It jumped the track at a sharp curve, and the engine and a score of cars were wrecked. The fireman, George Kreidler, escaped with slight injuries.

Van Wormer Trial Begun.

HUDSON, N. Y., April 1.—The trial of Willis, Burton and Fred Van Wormer and Harvey Bruce on the charge of murdering Peter A. Hallenbeck on Dec. 24, 1901, has begun before Judge Chester. One juror was secured the first day.

CAPTAIN PERRY EXPLAINS.

Denies Reported Indiscreet Remarks Said to Have Been Made In Chile.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Secretary Long has received from Captain Perry, commanding the battleship Iowa, a reply to the department's inquiry regarding certain alleged indiscreet remarks which were reported to have been made by that officer at a Chilean banquet. Captain Perry declares that while in Chile he was not at any time present at any dinner, breakfast, luncheon, supper or any other meal where any toast or speech was made by him or others. Nor did he at any time say anything either in public or private that could be construed to mean that he favored either Argentina or Chile in the event of war.

The report, he says, undoubtedly grew out of a visit of the intendente of Concepcion to the Iowa, on which occasion that official was invited into his cabin, where he offered him a glass of wine and said to him: "Permit me, sir, to propose your good health. The best wish I can offer you is that peace may prevail in your country."

Captain Perry says that he is as innocent of making the alleged indiscreet remarks as he is of offering to sell the Iowa, which was currently reported in Chilean newspapers.

Secretary Long has replied to Captain Perry, informing him that his explanation is perfectly satisfactory.

MAJOR WALLER TESTIFIES.

Accused Officer Says He Only Carried Out General Smith's Orders.

MANILA, April 1.—Major Littleton W. T. Waller of the marine corps testified in his own behalf at his trial by court martial on the charge of killing natives of the island of Samar without trial.

He graphically described the hardships the marines endured owing to the treachery of the natives and the attempted robbery of arms and said he was not aware that the guide Victor was a notorious and infamous insurgent captain who had led insurgents at Basey and Balangiga; otherwise he would not have allowed Victor to go with the party.

The major also said he carried out General Smith's orders entirely and never went beyond them except in the last paragraph of the order which he issued on taking command of the marines calling on the latter to avenge the slaughter at Balangiga of their comrades of the Ninth infantry in the Chinese expedition. Every other act General Smith absolutely inspired.

Rathbone Seeks Bail.

HAVANA, April 1.—Estes G. Rathbone appeared before the supreme court under a writ of habeas corpus. Senor Lanuza, counsel for Rathbone, pleaded that his client was entitled to bail under the postal code. He said that the audiencia court in explanation to the supreme court of its order to arrest Rathbone had said that besides its reasons for Rathbone's arrest and the denial of bail in his case, mentioned in the order, it had private information that Rathbone wished to escape. Senor Lanuza expressed regret that the audencia court was not bound to make this declaration under oath. The fiscal of the supreme court denied that Rathbone had a right to bail, and he asked the court to fix his bail at $100,000 if it decided to grant it. The court will give its decision in this matter today.

Circus Won the Handicap.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 1.—W. T. Baldwin's bay colt Circus, three years old, by Charaxus-Ninone, won the rich Montgomery handicap yesterday afternoon by a short head in the good time of 1:48½. Wax Taper finished second, a head before Flora Pomona. The odds against the winner at one time were at the sensational price of 100 to 1. The Montgomery handicap was the fourth event on the programme, and thirteen horses faced the starter.

General Bradford Stricken.

ARDMORE, I. T., April 1.—General S. B. Bradford, United States commissioner here, suffered a partial stroke of paralysis while sitting in his office, and his condition is critical. General Bradford formerly was attorney general of Kansas. He was sent to Washington recently by the statehood convention and worked persistently for single statehood. He was about fifty years old.

Secretary Shaw's New Secretary.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Secretary Shaw has appointed Robert B. Armstrong of Chicago to be his private secretary in place of C. V. Rich, who has resigned to accept a responsible position in New York. Mr. Armstrong has been prominently connected with one of the Chicago newspapers and is said to be well equipped for his new position.

Barnard College Gets $400,000.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Barnard college is $400,000 richer. Of this John D. Rockefeller has given $200,000, and well known men and women placed their names on a subscription list until the amounts opposite their signatures totaled $200,000.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Fire has destroyed 4,000 houses at Fukui, Japan.

About $5,000 worth of sealskins were seized in Seattle, Wash.

W. K. Vanderbilt's Bat won the Prix de Mars at the Paris races.

The deaths monthly from the plague in the Punjab are reported at 70,000.

Dr. Ernst Lieber, the Centrist leader in the reichstag, died, aged sixty-four.

Two Chicago boys were shot because they made remarks about an Easter bonnet.

There were 928 deaths from cholera at Mecca and sixty-one at Jedda during the last week.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE.

Will Often Help You Greatly—Read What a Plainfield Citizen Says.

You may hesitate to listen to the advice of strangers but the testimony of friends or residents of Plainfield is worth your most careful attention. It is an easy matter to investigate such proof as this. Then the evidence must be conclusive. Read the following:

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame and weak back and I never found anything which gave me any relief until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began to use them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back pained me and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend and when I had a cold or overexerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies, but got little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvement. I think they are a fine medicine for a lame back."

DIPLOMATIC POSSIBILITIES.

Bellamy Storer Slated For Berlin and H. Clay Evans For Madrid.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Henry White, at present secretary of embassy at London, is the latest and most formidable candidate for the vacancy in the Italian embassy to be created by the retirement of Embassador Meyer. Mr. White is strongly urged by Senator Lodge and has a most enviable record in diplomatic practice. He was secretary of the embassy when Mr. Hay was embassador, and consequently he has a warm friend in the secretary.

Bellamy Storer, now minister to Madrid, is to go to Berlin as embassador to succeed Mr. Andrew White when that officer retires, which probably will be next fall. The only contingency lies in the attiture of the Ohio senators toward his promotion. If they are jointly opposed, they may defeat the proposed appointment.

Mr. Storer's retirement from Madrid will leave a vacancy there, which rumor connects with the name of Henry Clay Evans, the retiring pension commissioner, though it is learned upon inquiry that this is not yet assured.

REVOLUTION IN SANTO DOMINGO.

Barahona Captured, With Heavy Loss—Martial Law Declared.

SANTO DOMINGO, April 1.—The town of Barahona, on the south coast, has been attacked and captured by the revolutionists after a severe fight, in which forty were killed or wounded.

Later a government gunboat bombarded Barahona and landed troops, who retook the town. The revolutionists retired to a stronghold in the neighborhood.

The Dominican minister of war has proceeded to Barahona with other troops and will take severe measures to re-establish order. This revolutionary activity is for the present confined to Barahona.

The Dominican congress has decreed that martial law be established throughout the whole republic and that the constitutional guarantees be suspended.

Dangerous Blaze In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—The six story building at 610 and 612 Market street, the first three floors of which were occupied by the George DeB. Keim Saddlery company and the other three floors by the Joel Baily Davis company, wholesale notions, has been completely destroyed by fire. There were about sixty persons, mostly girls, in the building when the fire was discovered, but they were all got safely out of the place. Many of the girls who were employed on the upper floors escaped by means of the fire escapes and fire ladders. Several young women and a number of firemen were hurt, but none of their injuries is very serious. The loss on the building and contents is estimated at $110,000.

No Trace of the Huronian.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 1.—The sealing steamers which have arrived here bring reports of tempestuous weather and say they have not seen or heard anything of the missing Allan line steamer Huronian. It was thought by some persons that this steamer might have drifted to the north and become enmeshed among the ice floes and that her crew might have been rescued by some sealing steamer. The absence of news from the north makes it certain that the Huronian is no longer afloat.

Sampson's Condition Unchanged.

WASHINGTON, April 1. — Reports have been in circulation that Admiral Sampson's condition had taken another turn for the worse and that the end was near, but it was learned upon inquiry that his condition is unchanged, and he takes his outdoor exercise regularly, weather permitting, as has been his custom for some months. It is conceded that he never will regain his health, but no new untoward developments have occurred very recently.

RECIPROCITY BILL IN

Chairman Payne Presents Report to the House.

COMMITTEE VOTE STOOD 12 TO 5.

An Amendment Requires the Enactment by Cuba of the United States Contract Labor and Immigration Laws.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Chairman Payne has presented to the house the report of the ways and means committee on the Cuban reciprocity bill, which the committee by a vote of 12 to 5 ordered reported. The bill provides for a 20 per cent reciprocity treaty with Cuba, with only a slight amendment proposed by Representative Gr svenor requiring the enactment of the United States contract labor law as well as of our immigration law.

Mr. Payne said: "Our relations to Cuba are peculiar. In our declaration of war with Spain and ever since we have solemnly proclaimed to the world that our object was to give to Cuba stable and independent government. We have labored for more than three years to accomplish that result, and in this endeavor we have spared no expense. During the years of preparation we have given her an example of the benefit of law and good order, of cleanliness and of the preservation of the public health and of good government generally. She has organized her government under a constitution and is now ready to launch forth among the nations of the earth in the month of May."

Mr. Payne explained the depressed condition of the Cuban sugar industry as due to the world's overproduction of sugar and said: "This condition threatened grave disaster to this the principal industrial product of Cuba. It is true that labor in Cuba is and for the past three months has been fully employed at fair wages, that there has been no distress, but a trustworthy writer and American not interested in sugar and a careful observer says under date of March 20: 'While the masses of Cuba are not actually suffering from lack of food, the planters and business men are on the verge of collapse and bankruptcy and are anxiously hoping for concessions in the United States tariff in order that they may receive new life and hope. The merchants have large sums of money trusted out and are not paying each other. They are simply holding each other up in the hope of obtaining relief, and if failures once begin they will run like wildfire.' All the evidence received before the committee points to a conclusion that the crisis threatened involves the most serious consequences.

The report adds that we are bound to care for our own people, but after reviewing the American sugar situation says:

"It can work no injury to our industry if we make this small reduction on Cuban sugars. The enactment of this bill will not affect the protection of the sugar producers of the United States. There is no reasonable pretense that the same reduction on other Cuban products will injure any other American industry."

The report asserts that the planters and not the refineries will receive the benefits of the reduction and adds:

"Cuba does not come simply as a mendicant, nor should she be treated as such. She offers a good trade in return. This she is willing to concede. Under the provisions of the bill we should be able to double the amount of our export trade with Cuba, which amounts to $28,000,000 more than that we obtained in the last fiscal year."

In conclusion the report says: "It is a happy circumstance that without any injury to our own industries and without the loss of anything except $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 of revenue, which we do not need, we are able to extend this relief to Cuba and at the same time get reciprocal trade relations with her."

Killed by His Coachman.

CLEVELAND, O., April 1.—George H. Allen, a prominent dealer in coal and timber lands and general real estate, was shot to death in the yard in the rear of his home, on Belmont avenue, East Cleveland. The deed was done by his coachman, John Hagesfeld, who a little more than an hour later surrendered at Central police headquarters, with the statement that he had killed Allen. The crime is believed to have been the outcome of a quarrel between the two men about Hagesfeld's work. Hagesfeld fired four shots into Allen's body, Allen dying within a few minutes from the effects of a bullet in the brain. Allen's wife was a witness to the crime.

Railroads Resuming Service.

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—Service over the roads which have been crippled recently by storm and flood is gradually being resumed. The first through train from the east on the Northeastern since Thursday pulled into the city yesterday. The Mississippi Valley and Illinois Central trains are running again, but are late owing to the slow time made over the tracks in the recently flooded district.

BUFFALO, April 1.—Two Buffalonians have been notified that they are among the heirs who will share in the estate of the late Leonard Case of Cleveland, O., which is valued at many millions. They are William D. Lewis and his sister, Mrs. Alice White. The grandmother of Lewis and his sister was a daughter of Absalom Case, a brother of Leonard Case.

TRUST THE PEOPLE.

As far as Plainfield and North Plainfield are concerned, one fails to see what possible objection can be raised to the Greater Plainfield bills in their present form and on what grounds Governor Murphy can be asked to veto them. Of course, the remainder of Somerset county objects to the plan under any arrangement. But objection to the scheme, which now includes the referendum clauses to both annexation and consolidation bills, is simply insinuating that the people are not to be trusted, that they should not be allowed to decide for themselves.

When the meaning of the bills was fully explained to Governor Murphy, he at once saw the judgment of making them laws and expressed his determination to affix his signature to them, should they successfully pass both houses of the Legislature. There is, therefore, every reason to believe the Governor will soon approve them and allow the people of North Plainfield and Plainfield to settle these two disputed questions by themselves, without any interference from meddlesome neighbors or enemies.

It might be well to state for the benefit of those who are not well informed upon the subject that the referendum provisions to both bills were patterned exactly after those on scores of other similar measures which have gone through the Legislature, providing for a public vote on some question or other of public interest. Lawyers all over the State have declared that the only interpretation of these referendum provisions is that the question in question can be voted upon but once and that the decision thus reached is final unless a new vote is authorized by further legislation. The enemies of the annexation measure have been circulating a report to the effect that, once passed, this bill will permit an endless number of votes on the question. The best authorities, however, declare that report to be an incorrect one.

Unless an extra session of the State Legislature should be called this year, Senator Charles A. Reed's present career as a member of the upper house of the Legislature is over. For two terms, he has represented the county of Somerset there and has been president of the Senate and Republican leader on the floor. Of late, he has been unfairly reviled and denounced by many of the Trenton newspaper correspondents but the truth remains that he has been one of the best and most prominent members of the upper house and has secured more for Somerset than did any of his predecessors or any of his successors are likely to.

It was a glad day for Hope chapel when the remaining $1,000 of indebtedness was pledged. Instead of devoting their time and efforts towards elaborate Easter festivities, the chapel members spent Easter Sunday in raising the funds to pay off this indebtedness. There is little wealth among the members of that chapel but each was willing to add his or her little contribution. It was this willingness and spirit of self-sacrifice which has made Hope chapel such a power in the Wes End. The workers at the chapel are to be congratulated on the excellent results of their efforts.

The city of New York is the latest corporation to employ an advertising expert, reports the Philadelphia Record. The city is one of the heaviest of general advertisers, and this department of its business has become too important to be left to haphazard arrangement. Nothing can be done in this age without a great deal of advertising, and the art of doing it properly cannot be neglected without loss.

for the purpose of providing a place for change of dress before and after operations. The building will be so constructed that every possible bit of light can reach it.

In all there will be accommodations in the hospital for fifty-two patients, which is a considerable increase over the capacity of the present hospital.

It will be noticed in the prospective view of the hospital that there is a building on the opposite side of the operating department, which is designated as "future extension." This will be intended for increased room for the treatment of patients and their care.

The grounds, upon which the hospital will be built, consist of eleven acres, all of which will not be used for the buildings as proposed. This is ample room and will obviate any difficulty as to crowding.

Making Good Use of It.

The following events took place at the Y. M. C. A. last night: Basket ball in the gymnasium; Royal Arcanum entertainment in the auditorium; Men's Choral Club in the small hall; orchestra practice in the parlor; class in English grammar on the third floor; and Eric Moraller met the members of the Sunday morning Bible class on the second floor.

Attached for Bill.

Justice Moffett has issued an attachment for W. D. Manning, of South avenue, on goods and chattels owned by Susan DuBois Johnstone, also of South avenue. Constable Peter V. Weaver served the papers. The attachment is for a coal and wood bill.

Lots of Mail.

Postmaster Bird reports that during the past few days there has been an unprecedented rush in the mail business. It resembled a holiday season and the limited room at the present office has made the work more difficult.

The Rock has been the objective point for many excursionists and is an ideal place for such outings. The place was once made famous by Blondin, the tight-rope walker, who walked a rope from the Rock to Devil's Park, a distance of three-eighths of a mile, 400 feet above ground.

Political, Commercial and Industrial Notes from Foreign Lands.

Meaning of Anglo-Japanese Treaty.

EACH day brings with it some new indication of preparation for war in the far east. While the inspired press of St. Petersburg keeps reiterating the statement that Russia seeks nothing so much as the independence of China and Korea, and Russian diplomacy never loses an opportunity to renew the pledges for the safeguarding of the integrity of the Chinese empire, the czar's government keeps sending men and munitions of war across Siberia to places within close touch with Russian interests in Manchuria.

Japan, too, continues to offer her protestations of a desire for peace, but at the same time keeps strengthening her land and naval forces, and seems longing for a trial of strength with Russia.

Popular as the Anglo-Japanese treaty was in England it was received with even greater acclaim in Japan. The Japanese people accepted it is a guarantee of English armed assistance in case of war with Russia, but a careful scrutiny of the treaty does not necessarily provide this. By its provisions the two nations are pledged to seek to preserve the maintenance of the integrity and independence of the Chinese empire; to maintain the territorial status quo in the adjoining regions, and to maintain freedom and impartiality for the commerces for all nations. The treaty is to hold good for five years from the date of its taking effect; is renewable, and may be terminated on a year's notice being given by either side. During the period stipulated, should either party to the contract be involved in war in defense of its interests in the east, the other is bound to maintain a strict neutrality, and to use its efforts to prevent other powers from joining in hostilities against its ally. If, in such a case, any other power or powers make war upon the ally already engaged, the other party is to come to its ally's assistance and make war in common, and make peace in mutual agreement with it. There is to be a full understanding between the two parties, neither to enter into agreement with other powers without consulting the other.

This does not necessarily involve England in an armed conflict with Russia should Japan see fit to begin such a war unless France, as an ally of Russia, should attempt to go to Russia's aid. Students of world politics see in it another link in the chain that is to bring about a general European conflict in the near future, and a careful reading of the treaty and intelligent interpretation of its meaning might easily be construed in this way. The Russian press profess to see in the treaty an advantage to Russia in that it sets at rest the suspicion that Japan has designs upon the independence of Corea. The St. Petersburg Herold, in commenting upon the treaty, says:

"The conclusion of this alliance comes by no means unexpectedly to Russian diplomacy. We know that the Japanese representative here has informed our government in the most loyal manner of the action of Japan. Moreover, the Russian government, at the time of the Chinese disturbances, most positively proclaimed the integrity of China as its programme. We can have no objection, therefore, to Great Britain and Japan now also professing the same standpoint in a formal manner, and we trust that we have before us five years of undisturbed peace in the far east, which we shall not fail to utilize to the fullest extent in consolidating our relations with our Asiatic neighbors. The fact that the integrity and independence of Corea is also acknowledged by Great Britain and Japan can only be hailed by us with the highest satisfaction, since we have always been in favor of Corea remaining independent. It was only when an impression prevailed that Japan was little disposed to respect this independence that a certain feeling of anxiety was felt in Russian society."

Long Telephone Lines in Europe.

PARIS is the center of an international telephone wire net; its extreme ends are London, Hamburg, Berlin, and (in connection with the French-Italian line about to be opened) Turin and Milan. The Paris-Berlin line is the longest, with about 625 miles of wire. The Paris-Hamburg line is about the same. The distance from Paris to Turin, measured by an air line, is about 375 miles, and that between Paris and Milan about 470 miles. But all these lines are eclipsed in length by that between Paris and Cologne, not by the direct line, but by indirect connection, often rendered necessary by breaks in the other service. In such cases, a person in Paris desiring to speak to Cologne is connected via Berlin. This roundabout way increases the wire distance about 375 miles, making the total about 1,000 miles. The Cologne Gazette states that this does not impair the distinctness of the message, and no loss of time is noted in using this increased distance.

E. CHARD GUENTHER.

Russian Maize Displaces American.

IN NORMAL years, practically the whole supply of Indian corn for Scotland comes from the United States. Since August last, however, the high price of the American product, due to a short crop, has shut it out of this market, and nearly all of the corn imported during the past seven months has come from Russia and the Argentine Republic. In that period the receipts of corn at the port of Leith have been about 2,000,000 bushels, fully four-fifths of which was of Russian origin. At no time have the prices of Russian and American corn differed widely. At present there is a difference of less than six cents a bushel, American grain being quoted at $5.75 per quarter (eight bushels) and Russian at $5.30.

It is thought that this revival of the Russian maize trade will prove to be temporary only, and that a good crop in America this year, with moderate freight rates on land and sea, will restore our corn to its old place in Scotland. The distilleries use about three-fourths of the corn imported here; and I am informed that the American product, at the same price, is preferred to the Russian, as, the grain being larger, there is less hull and a correspondingly greater yield of spirits. RUFUS FLEMING.

Beet Sugar Industry of Denmark.

ALL beet sugar factories in Denmark are under one management, except that at Nykoping, Falster, which is a cooperative factory; but as it sells all its product to the greater company, the beet sugar producers of Denmark are united as far as the market is concerned. The acreage under beet root cultivation during the year was 30,000 acres, producing 398,000 tons of beets, or about 13 tons per acre. The total receipts for the year were $876,695, and the bonus to beet growers amounted to $148,606. F.

Petroleum Used in Germany.

GERMANY'S afinual consumption of petroleum is valued at $19,992,200, and represents nearly seven per cent. of the world's total output. In 1900 Germany imported refined petroleum and naphtha as follows:

	Tons.
Austria-Hungary (Galicia	26,43
Russia	128,230
United States	825,205

The world's production of petroleum in 1898 was estimated in the statistical returns as follows:

	Tons.
Canada	120,000
Russia (Baku)	8,000,000
Galicia	300,000
Roumania	160,000
Germany	20,000
Java, Sumatra and Burma	300,000
Total	16,340,000

American petroleum has a powerful advantage over its competitors. The following table will show the average results obtained after the different raw mineral oils have been refined:

Country.	Benzine, Per cent.	Petroleum, Per cent.	Waste, Per cent.
Pennsylvania	10 to 20	55 to 75	10 to 30
Ohio	10 to 20	30 to 40	35 to 50
Russia	5	25 to 30	60 to 65
Galicia	5 to 30	35 to 40	30 to 55
Alsace	5	25	65 to 70

Therefore, Russian petroleum has only about 34 per cent. of the value of the American product. Any country which has been in the habit of using American petroleum cannot suddenly substitute the Russian for it, for the reason that new apparatus is necessary for the latter.

The general impression in Germany is that petroleum prices are too high. Consumers claim that the discovery of new wells, such as those in Texas, together with the gradual cheapening of the cost of production, aided by rapid transit through pipe lines and tank steamers, has not caused a proportionate decrease in the price. Unquestionably, the high price of petroleum in Germany has greatly assisted the sale and use of gas, acetyl, electricity, wood alcohol, etc. The fact that the German consumption of petroleum has not increased since 1895 proves only too significantly the progress by the last-named substitutes. ERNEST L. HARRIS.

Shipbuilding in France in 1901.

ACCORDING to the statistics recently furnished by Lloyd's Register, the shipyards of the world in 1901 built 1,661 vessels, measuring 3,085,086 tons gross. With the exception of Great Britain, these figures do not include vessels of less than 100 tons. As compared with 1900 the world's naval construction showed an increase of 198 vessels and 520,439 tons.

The four leading nations in shipbuilding were Great Britain, with 680 vessels and 1,736,708 tons; the United States, with 303 vessels and 481,134 tons; Germany, with 117 vessels and 284,063 tons; and France with 111 vessels and 232,404 tons.

In 1899 there were built in France 155,674 tons, of which 65,880 tons were war vessels and 89,794 tons merchant vessels; in 1900, 213,838 tons, of which 48,490 tons were war vessels and 165,348 tons merchant vessels and in 1901, 232,404 tons, of which 54,861 tons were war vessels and 177,543 tons merchant vessels.

At first glance it would appear that the results for the past year were satisfactory, as they indicate an increase in the tonnage built both for the national and for the merchant marines; but of the total tonnage constructed in France in 1901, no less than 73 sailing vessels, measuring 124,628 tons, were launched, and only 19 steamers, of 52,915 tons. In other words, the tonnage of sailing vessels built in France in 1901 was 70 per cent. of the total merchant output of the French shipbuilding concerns.

If the 13 steamers of 20,509 tons gross, which were constructed in Great Britain for the account of French owners be considered, the increase of French merchant tonnage would then be 73 sailing vessels, measuring 124,626 tons, and 42 steamers, of 11,524 tons, or a total of 198,152 tons, and the proportion of sail tonnage would be 63 per cent. NOT SO ABSENT-MINDED.

British Soldiers in South Africa Saved $5,000,000 for the Folks at Home.

The post office is throwing some side lights upon the character of the British soldier which will be read with interest. It appears that Tommy is not such an absent-minded beggar as he is made out to be. Tommy himself has always resented the soubriquet, and the fact that he has sent a million of money home from the Cape in postal orders during the past year is a colossal testimony to his thrift and thoughtfulness of home needs, says the London Express.

This useful public service has a section with every column for telegraphic and postal work, and not only do they get letters safely through Boer-ridden territory, but they manage to preserve government stock from capture with great skill and foresight. Of course some postal dispatches have fallen into the enemy's hands, but the check upon belated mail bags is so keen that the misuse of postal orders is rare.

Mail running from columns off the railway is a dangerous game, and the army post office man requires not only to be an efficient postal servant, but a strategist, in so much as to know when not to send. Several deaths have occurred in the defense of the mail bags, so that he has to be a combatant at times.

CLIFF-DWELLERS' TOWER.

Interesting Relic of the Strange People That Was Built on a Mountain Point.

Nothing in this country so fascinates the explorer and archaeologist as the ruins of the cliff dwellers in New Mexico. Many of these remarkable ruins are situated in the vast Mancos canyon, within a day's ride of Durango, Col., on the Rio Grande Southern railway, says the New York Herald.

Perched 700 feet above the valley, on a ledge of the mountain, stands a two-story house, made of finely cut sandstone, each block about 14 by 6 inches, accurately fitted and set in mortar, now harder than the stone itself. The floor is the ledge of the rock and the roof the overhanging cliff. There are three rooms on the ground floor, each one six by nine feet, with partition walls of faced stone. Traces of a floor which once separated the upper from the lower story still remain. Each of the stories is six feet in height, and all the rooms are plastered and painted a dull brick red, with a white band along the floor.

Near this house, on a lofty hill, rising 500 feet above the valley, stands the ruined fortified watch tower, which plainly demonstrates that the strange people who in ages remote built these houses were prepared to resist assault. Traditions are few concerning this lost race and history throws no light on the subject.

SCIENCE BEATS NATURE.

Implements of a Present-Day Laboratory Make the Human Organs Seem Gross.

The eye and the ear have long been regarded as marvels of mechanism, quite the most wonderful thing in the world. But compared with the implements of a present day laboratory, the sensitiveness of all human organs seems gross enough, says Harper's Magazine. A photographic plate, coupled with a telescope, will reveal the presence of millions of stars whose light does not affect the retina in the least. The microscope, too, with its revelations of the world of the infinitely small, tells us how crude, after all, is this most delicate of the senses. Indeed, we may liken it to a piano, where only a single octave toward the middle sounds. From the ultra violet to the lowest reaches of the spectrum is a range of some nine octaves of like vibrations, of which, save for our new mechanical sense, we should never have been conscious of but one.

The ear hears little of what is going on around us. By means of a microphone the tread of a fly sounds like the tramp of cavalry. Our heat sense is very vague; we need a variation of at least one-fifth of a degree on a thermometer to realize any difference in temperature. Prof. Langley's little bolometer will note the difference of a millionth of a degree. It is 200,000 times as sensitive as our skin.

Many Youthful Sovereigns.

Many other Spanish sovereigns began to reign in early youth, among them Alphonso VIII. at 11, Alphonso II. of Aragon at 13; Ferdinand II. of Castile at 16, Ferdinand IV. at 14, Philip IV. at 16, Charles II. at 14, Philip V. at 18, Louis I. at 16 and Isabella II. at 13. Alphonso XIII. is extremely intelligent and of a good-natured, frank, truthful character. It seems singular, however, to find that the successor of Charles V. should to-day be so circumscribed by a democratic constitution that his executive power is considerably less than that enjoyed by the president of the United States.

Arab Swallowed His Fortune.

The Petit Parisian gives an account of a remarkable operation performed on an Arab. The unfortunate son of the desert, frightened at the approach of evil-eyed strangers, swallowed his fortune of 107 francs, consisting of five-franc and two-franc pieces. As it would have endangered his life to leave this money in its novel security vault, he was operated upon, and after much search 105 francs 50 centimes were recovered. The patient was 63 years of age.

ABOUT HATS.

The Principal Styles Which Are Now Being Worn.

The large round hat or toque which curves upward and projects extensively in front is generally known as the Jane Hading and of course takes its name from the well known Parisian actress. This is certain to be one of the season's shapes, and its most distinguished effect is shown in tucked black chiffon lined with rucked white tulle and piquets of yellow and black cowslips. The huge chou of tulle is prominent, and both osprey and aigrets are almost indispensable, and the bird of paradise plume and osprey are largely used in the more expensive chapeaux.

Huge round eabochons of pearls, jet or strass are much used, but pearls take the lead. Tags and back draperies appear on many chapeaux, and there are distinct varieties in shape, some being flat and broad and much wreathed in front, others high and raised, showing much of the front hair and an inside trimming of flowers, tulle or velvet.

A curious flat tiara, which is really a bandeau, is entirely of diamonds reset from a very old stomacher or huge brooch of a far distant period. The large center medallion will almost rest on the forehead, but the side ornaments, connected by triple chains of small diamonds, will be charming over the hair if lightly waved and puffed out on each side.

The pretty gown in the picture is made of black velvet ribbon and lace over a foundation of accordion plaited white chiffon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

Carriage Wraps — Dresden Silk Blouses.

Wraps for carriage and demitoilet wear are charming in white or pale colored cloth and are in sack coat form, with wide sleeves. Soft satin, much trimmed with chiffon and lace, is the up-to date coat for evening wear, and all the newest models have openings at the sides to permit the skirt to be raised.

The new blouses are simply charming, and those for spring wear are in foulard, taffeta and silk and wool crape. A delicate pastel blue taffeta had inlets of pompadour ribbon instead of the usual lace and a yoke of tucked white lisse powdered with little grelots of black lace. A demitoilet blouse of Dresden patterned silk on a white ground had pale blue strappings, with vest and undersleeves of cream lace striped with the blue de ciel straps.

Fringe reappears on some of the Paris models, and one lovely gown in black and white had an underflounce of plisse crepe de chine in white, the black upper skirt having heart shaped scallops.

The smart visiting costume shown has a ruffle effect in the back which is very modish. It is trimmed with Persian braid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Fitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

"It should have settled the question, but it didn't. Harmony is like Banquo's ghost, and wont down. Do you know what the Harmonyites, under the leadership of that arch conspirator, Wilbur Vlandingham, have done?"

"No."

"Well, I'll tell you. Two-thirds of the qualified voters of Goodwill county have signed and presented a petition to the county commissioners, praying that the county seat be removed to Harmony, and the commissioners have ordered a special election to be held for the purpose of voting upon the question. This, mind you, is in direct violation of the law!" The Colonel brought his clenched fist down on his desk with a vim that made the ink leap out of its stand and prostrated the pen rack. "What say the statutes?" he demanded. "They expressly stipulate that the people's will, with respect to changing the location of county seats, shall be learned at the general election directly following the presentation of the petition praying for such change. Now they have called a special election. A sandbag game, sir! Robbery, rank robbery!"

"If it's illegal, why can't it be stopped?" asked Guy.

The Colonel's indignation dropped away and he smiled indulgently.

"This is Dakota, my dear young man. The Commissioners are under the thumb of Vlandingham. But you wait. Archibald Keever is to the fore and the Blizzard lives! We'll beat them, I tell you."

"How?"

The Colonel tapped his brow significantly.

"It requires a two-thirds vote to capture the county seat away from us," he replied. "I have arranged matters so that Harmony will never be able to roll up a sufficient majority." The Colonel arose and walked to the window. "Come here, Mr. Herbert." Guy passed over and stood beside him. "Behold my confidence in the outcome," added the Colonel, with a sweep of his arm.

What Guy saw was a ten-by-fifteen building in process of construction. At least a dozen men were working upon it and even a notice like Guy could see that they were very much in each other's way.

"A lot of carpenters for a small house like that," commented the young man.

"I should say so," chuckled the Colonel. "Those men were brought in from Jiggtown and they're voters, every mother's son of them. I've got others building roads and repairing bridges." He closed one of his murky little eyes, slowly and slyly. "They'll vote as I tell them to, Mr. Herbert, and there'll be enough of them to kill Harmony too dead to skin." He threw up the window. "Hello, there, Jordan!" he called to a man who was working languidly with a saw. "You fellows are getting along altogether too fast. Take a lay-off this afternoon." Instantly all work ceased, tools were left where last used and the 12 workmen hurried away in a body. The Colonel closed the window and beamed upon Guy complacently. "That's the courthouse they're building," he added.

"Rather a small courthouse, isn't it?"

"Oh, it will grow, it will grow."

"Where does the money come from?" inquired Guy, anxiously.

"Don't worry about the money, my boy. I sold a batch of lots to a tenderfoot a few weeks ago, and it's his money that's doing all this."

"It doesn't seem just right to rush voters in in that way, Col. Keever."

"Anything's right that's successful up in this territory. This is my little plan and of course Harmony isn't laying back on its oars and waiting for me to grab the persimmons. Vlandingham and his lieutenants, Dingle, Harp, Blue and Boomer, are going to do something, but just what remains to be seen. They have a town meeting over at Harmony tonight to discuss ways and means for getting ahead of me!" The Colonel's smile faded into a look of trouble. "I'd give a hundred dollars," said he, to know what kind of a scheme they hatch up at that meeting. They'll have lynx-eyed men on watch, however, to make sure that no Concord fellows get in."

The Colonel turned and wandered reflectively about the office. Guy sat down again and watched him thoughtfully. Finally the Colonel halted, thrust his thumbs into the arm holes of his vest and declared:

"Herbert, you're the man!"

"The man for what?"

"To run over to Harmony and take in that meeting. You're a stranger in this section, and they won't know you from Adam. Be careful, though, and don't give yourself away. Feeling is running high and both sides are exceedingly bitter. If you were to be found out you'd have a rough experience. Ever carry a revolver?"

"No."

"Then get one. I haven't anything but the office gun and can't spare that."

"Col. Keever," said Guy, reddening, "I'm not going to make a spy out of myself."

"Tush! tush! You're not doing anything dishonorable. I'd cut my tongue out before I'd counsel anything of that kind. You're a high minded young man—I can see that at a glance and I admire you for it. But those fellows on the other side of the county are blackguards, every one of them. They are laying their plans to steal the county seat away from you and all you are to do is to discover what their plans are, if possible, so we may balk them in their nefarious attempt. My boy, you have something like 1,200 lots in this town. That means a fortune for you if we can keep the county seat. If we lose the county seat your lots will be worth just what they'll bring for farming purposes, and no more. Nor is that the worst of it. Let Harmony win in this election and every man, woman and child now living in Concord will pull up stakes and move over to the other town."

"They wouldn't leave their homes and their places of business, would they?" queried Guy, aghast.

"Not much they wouldn't leave 'em—they'd take 'em along. You could put wheels under the national capitol and move it along a hundred miles over these prairies without jarring out a brick or a chunk of mortar. My word for it, Mr. Herbert, let Harmony win and there won't be so much as a hencoop left to mark the site of the present town of Concord."

"I'll go," said Guy.

"I thought you would," returned the Colonel, approvingly. "There's a freight down at 6:30. Take that."

"Copy. C-o-p-y!" bawled a voice through a hole in the partition.

The Colonel made a dive for the paper weight and the red-headed printer vanished in a flash.

"I'll have to grind out some stuff for that rascal, or he'll drive me crazy!" exclaimed the Colonel, tossing his hands.

"Then I won't bother you any longer," said Guy.

"You'll have to be discreet," went on the Colonel, following the young man to the door. "Don't let those Harmony chaps get an inkling as to who you are or what you're there for, that's all. Keep your plans to yourself and don't talk about them to any one in this place. There's a bad leak in this community somewhere, and more than one choice plan of mine has floated out of it and drifted over to the enemy. Sharp's the word and I shall expect a good report from you in the morning."

The Colonel gave the young man's hand a parting grip, closed the door on him and then seated himself before his desk and resumed his scratching.

"He's clay in my hands," soliloquized the Colonel, blithely. "I can do as I please with him, and can make or mar the future of this town—whichever is the more profitable."

Out in the workroom the red-headed printer had been doing some peculiar things. The moment Guy had left he had thrust the brush end of a broom out through the open window; then, on the reverse side of an old piece of copy, he had written the following:

"Guy Herbert, son of the late Montfort Herbert, arrived in Concord at noon and at this hour—two p. m.—has just left the old man. He's going over to the town meeting to-night to get some pointers. Watch out for him. He's about twenty-two or three, five feet eleven or possibly six feet tall, dark hair and mustache, and looks as though he was built for business."

That was all. The printer neither addressed the note nor signed it, and the moment he finished writing the last word a soft tap fell on the back door.

The printer made haste to answer the knock. A man stood outside at the head of the rear stairway—a strapping big fellow with his trousers tucked in his boot tops. He and the printer exchanged winks as the scrap of paper was handed over. Then the big fellow noiselessly descended and the printer noiselessly closed the door and removed the broom from the window.

That "leak" was through the stovepipe hole in the Blizzard office.

HABITS OF DELAREY.

Boer Leader Who Captured and Liberated Gen. Methuen Carries No Weapons in Field.

Jacob Hendrick Delarey first saw the light in the district of Lichtenberg, 54 years ago. His father was born in the Orange Free State, and was of Huguenot origin. He took part with Pretorius in driving the English out of Bloemfontein in 1848, and had his farm and property confiscated after Sir Harry Smith had reversed the situation by forcing the old Boer warrior back again across the Vaal. The Delareys sought a new home in the west of the Transvaal, where Jacob Hendrick spent his early life. The general is a man over the medium height, sinewy in build, and remarkable for his quiet, dignified manner. He has deep-set, dark eyes, a prominent Roman nose and a large, dark-brown beard, giving to his face a strong, handsome and patrician expression.

He was born of a fighting family, and has had the experience and training of campaigns in conflicts with hostile Kaffir tribes. His first command was in the war which the English incited the Basutos to wage against the Free State in the early '60's, when he was quite young. These experiences qualified him for a prominent military position when the present war broke out, and he was unanimously elected to the command of the Lichtenburg burghers, who became part of Cronje's western column.

He represented his native district in the volksraad for ten years, and was a consistent supporter of the Joubert, as against the Kruger, following in that assembly. He favored a large franchise concession to the Uitlanders as a means of averting a conflict with England, but soon saw that a demand for political reforms was only a pretext for precipitating a conflict. He was one of the most ardent advocates of an attacking as against a defensive military policy when England forced a resort to hostilities upon the republic.

Like Gen. Cronje, he carries no weapons in the field. His field glass, wooden pipe, and, last but not least, his Bible, are his inseparable companions. He is a universal favorite with the burghers of both republics, and inspires great confidence in his men by his almost unerring military judgment, splendid generalship, heroic courage, an indomitable tenacity of purpose and an all-round resourcefulness in all emergencies.

He is remarkably self-contained in his actions, never getting excited, even in the thickest of the fight, but always remaining cool, cautious and alert.

ORIGINAL HANNA MAN.

Title Belongs to Judson Lyons, the Colored Register of the United States Treasury.

and while he is a candidate for reappointment, he felt it his duty to inform the president, through a friend, that he would be for Mr. Roosevelt for the nomination in 1904 unless Mr. Hanna should be a candidate, in which case he would favor the Ohio senator. It is probable that by his manly course and frankness he has earned reappointment, as the president has expressed an appreciation of his candor and courage.

WILLIAM H. MOODY.

Massachusetts Congressman, Who Will Succeed Secretary Long, Is a Man of Affairs.

Mr. Moody's selection for the post of secretary of the navy was the outcome of an interesting contest. There were no less than half a dozen applicants, but the struggle finally narrowed down to the two representatives of congress—Mr. Foss, of Illinois, chairman of the naval committee of the house, who had the energetic support of his western colleagues, and Mr. Moody, for whom Senator Lodge and others made a winning fight. It was for a time in doubt whether Mr. Moody would not be placed in some important foreign mission, rather than in the navy department, but he preferred to stay at home.

HON. WILLIAM H. MOODY.
(Massachusetts Statesman, Who Will Be Secretary of the Navy.)

The biographical notice of the new secretary, contained in the Congressional Record, is very meager, showing his political career in its barest outlines. But it appears that he is a man of affairs, and it is particularly gratifying for people interested in the navy to know that he brings to his new post a mind of experience in governmental affairs, acquired through his work for several years on the appropriations committee of the house. Mr. Moody is a comparatively young man, being in his forty-ninth year. He is a lawyer by profession, being a graduate of Phillips' academy, Andover, Mass., and Harvard university. He has been district attorney for the eastern district of Massachusetts and has served in the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh congresses, being elected as a republican. He was born in Newbury, Conn., but now resides at Haverhill, Mass.

Mr. Moody is on the District of Columbia committee of the house appropriations committee, and is in that capacity well known and liked in Washington.

A statement has been published in effect that Representative Moody, nominated to be secretary of the navy, is a relative of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts. The fact is that Representative Moody is not in the remotest way connected with Senator Lodge by either marriage or blood. The two have been friends for very many years, both being graduates of Harvard university, where they were well acquainted as students.

BIG AIRSHIP PRIZE.

London Publisher Offers $20,000 to Inventor Who Will Fly One Hundred Miles.

The offer of C. A. Pearson, the London millionaire publisher, of a prize of $20,000 to any airship inventor who will fly from London to Birmingham, a distance of 100 miles, is likely to bring about a competition between Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian inventor, and English aeronauts that will be in the nature of a race between airships. English inventors, notably Maxim and Langham, are said to have expressed their willingness to enter a competition if the prize offered be sufficient to cover the expenses of preparation. Mr. Pearson's offer is open to all the world and its international scope is likely to make it of great importance.

Marriage by Phonograph.

A phonographic marriage was lately performed in Oswego, N. Y. The bride was living in a house quarantined because of smallpox, and in the presence of witnesses she spoke into the phonograph these words: "I, Nellie Stone, do take this man, James F. Duncan, to be my lawfully wedded husband," etc. The register was then fumigated, and taken to the groom's residence, where the latter and a clergyman performed their part of the ceremony.

FIGHT WITH TARPON

Big Fish Makes Things Lively for a Little While.

Boarded Its Captor's Boat and Made a Desperate Struggle for Existence—Judge King's Gallant Defense.

William King, of southern Texas, formerly a district judge, knows the tarpon pretty well as a tremendous fighter at the end of a line, a voracious feeder upon smaller fishes and an uncertain adversary until it has been gaffed deeply. He also knows as much about the tarpon as a catch-as-catch-can wrestler and clever two-handed prize fighter as any man alive.

King, who is small and under weight but pugnacious, gained his knowledge in Arkansas bay. He and a party of friends went after tarpon in a small yacht-like craft that was fast and clean.

The boat was decked over except in the middle, where there was an opening four feet square above the cockpit, in which the party slept and did their eating and drinking. This cockpit has a room nearly as wide as the boat and some ten feet long. Its flooring was six feet below the opening.

Fishing was good, which is to say that every man in the party inside of an hour hung a tarpon or two and let it get away, which is the usual course of events. Finally, a member of the party got a strike, reefed the barb into his foeman as deeply as a strong arm and wrist could send it and the fun began. All of the others reeled in to get their tackle out of the way and watch the fight.

This tarpon, says the New York Sun, was possessed of a devil. It took out 200 feet of silk on its initial rush and the moment it felt the drag went a yard into the air. They saw that it was more than five feet long and the man who was playing it—or being played with—said that it weighed a ton.

The war, with ups and downs, lasted for more than an hour. Thrice the fish was reeled within five feet of the boat and each time broke away. King, who is excitable, had most of the hour danced from stem to stern, shouting advice, expostulation, encouragement and anathema.

When the tarpon was brought in for the fourth time it seemed utterly exhausted. It came heavily within a yard of the taffrail and its head was raised six inches from the water.

The lord high executioner of the band lifted his gaff to deal the fatal blow. With a mighty bound the fish rose from the water and crashed upon the deck. It was near the cockpit and not a foot from King.

With a lightning sweep of the tail it struck him across the knees, knocked him backward into the cockpit and fell after him, landing across his legs. Then, in the semi-darkness of the little cabin, ensued a combat that would have used up 50 pages of Victor Hugo's best work. It was Titanic.

The men above could see little, but they could hear the thud of blows, which fell like hail, the mighty thumps of falls, the rasping of heavy bodies on the planking, snorts, grunts, gasps and ejaculations.

The judge and the tarpon had fought the length of the cabin twice and all around the walls once, when a sailor jumped down with a hatchet and ended the match. There was a good deal of blood and scales everywhere, some of them in King's hair. The fish weighed nearly 120 pounds.

It is not an unheard-of thing for tarpon to leap on board of low-lying craft. There is an instance of a tremendous fellow jumping to the deck of a tugboat near the mouth of the Brazos river. It struck an iron stanchion, a half-inch thick, bent it six inches out of plumb and flopped back into the water.

Needs But Little Here Below.

A method of living at little expense has for years been practiced by Rudolphus Bingham, of Merchantville, N. J. His age is now 75, and he spends for food only 7¾ cents a day. He is healthy, happy and lively, and declares that he has helped to bury many of his acquaintances who ridiculed his system of dieting.

Parisians Dote on Snails.

Eight hundred tons of snails were consumed by Parisians last year. The animals are bred in Burgundy and Savoy, where they are kept in inclosures formed of tarred palings, which they cannot climb over, and are fed upon vine leaves, which give them a delicate flavor.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Captain VanAuken, of the Plainfield High School nine, has made some changes in the makeup of his team for the first game, Wednesday.

The North Plainfield Juniors and the North Plainfield High School second team will play on the cricket field diamond Saturday morning.

The first game of the Plainfield High School team is scheduled with the Orange High School nine and will take place tomorrow afternoon on Pittis Common.

The Mill Brooks, a baseball team in Newark, have some open dates in May and through the columns of the Newark News the challenge is made to the St. Mary's and the Hope chapel teams of this city. Communications may be addressed to J. Burke, 141 Hudson street.

The St. Mary Cadets and the North Plainfield High School Juniors contested for baseball honors on the cricket grounds, yesterday morning. The borough team won by a score of 19 to 16. The batteries were Taylor and McCarthy, for the Cadets, and Cooley and Farley for the Juniors.

There was an exciting game of baseball yesterday morning on the old golf grounds between the Plainfield newsboys and the Wild Irishmen. The newsboys won by a score of 16 to 6. T. Mullen and W. Mullen was the battery for the newsboys and the battery for the other team was P. Kiely and P. Boyle.

Much care has been taken to put the new diamond of the North Plainfield nine in first-class condition. The field is situated at the corner of Grant and Myrtle avenues and is well adopted for the purpose. To defray the expenses of the improvement an entertainment will shortly be given under the direction of the athletic association.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Association to be held this evening, John H. Cose will announce the Hope baseball team as it will stand at the commencement of the season. There are a number of positions which have been hotly contested for and the announcement is anxiously awaited. Manager Cose is confident he has the strongest team that has ever represented Hope.

The twentieth annual issue of that invaluable sporting handbook, the Reach Official Baseball Guide, has made its appearance. It is better than ever, if such can be possible. Not only is it now the official guide of the American League, but it is the one compendium of knowledge covering the entire baseball field in this country, where the sport is the acknowledged National game. The book does ample justice to the National League as well as the various minor leagues. In all cases the records and averages for the past year are given in full. Among the important chapters are those on the rules of the professional game and the uniform playing rules. Nothing has been lost sight of in the makeup of the work and no baseball crank can afford to be without it. It is published by the A. J. Rech Co., Tulip and Palmer streets, Philadelphia.

The North Plainfield Juniors defeated the St. Mary's Cadets on Hope Common diamond this morning by a score of 20 to 0.

The St. Mary's Grammar School nine defeated the Alerts' team by a score of 20 to 19 this morning. O'Laughlin and Buckley were the battery for the winning team, while Harding and Brimmer were the battery for the losing nine.

A meeting of the North Plainfield Juniors was held this morning and the name of the organization was changed to North Plainfield Field Club. The nine as selected by the manager is as follows: Pitchers, Stevens, Farlee and Conover; catcher, Emmons; first base, Woodland; second base, H. Conover; third base, Farlee; left field, Hoffman; centre field, McCann; right field, Perrin; short stop, G. Conover. The average age is eighteen years.

WHIST.

The Knickerbocker Whist Club overwhelmingly defeated the Acquackanonk Club in their match for the Metropolitan challenge trophy, last week. The score was 14 tricks to 2.

The match for the American Whist League challenge trophy last Saturday between the American Whist Club, of Boston, holders, and the Knickerbocker Whist Club, challengers, resulted in a victory for the American Club by the narrow margin of one trick.

PERSONAL.

Fred Emmel, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of his uncle, Reuben Knox, of Washington avenue.

Miss Mary Thompson, of Washington D. C., is spending her Easter vacation at the home of her father, David Thompson, of Rockview avenue.

Miss Anna Reasner and Miss Mary Wrage, of Flemington, are spending their Easter vacation with the latter's sister, Mrs. Howard Allegar, of East Second street.

Y. M. C. A. BASKET BALL TEAM WON ANOTHER VICTORY.

Rahway Y. M. C. A. Five Went to Pieces in First Half, But Braced Up in the Second Half.

The Rahway Y. M. C. A. basket ball team visited this city, last evening, and again suffered defeat at the hands of the local association team. It was an easier victory for the Plainfield team than that at Rahway last week and for a time it looked as if the game would be entirely one-sided. The final score was 41 to 14.

In the first half the visitors seemed to be demoralized and secured but one goal and that on a foul. Plainfield, on the other hand, played well in every stage and piled up one twenty-one points to its credit. The play of both teams was clean and the contest was noticeably free from roughness.

In the second half of the game, the visitors showed a decided improvement in their team work and prevented an overwhelming defeat. They made four goals from the field by dint of very fast and hard work, but were unable to prevent their opponents' rushes.

The line-up of the teams and summary of the game was as follows:

SETTLING UP ESTATE.

Administrator Disposed of the Personal Effects at Auction Yesterday Afternoon.

As administrator for the heirs of the late William H. Dunn, who died February 5, of this year, in New York, J. Fred MacDonald sold the personal effects of the estate yesterday afternoon. He was appointed by the New Jersey Court as administrator to settle up the estate. Charles H. Lyman was the auctioneer.

The goods consisted of wearing apparel, diamond studs and rings, manufacturing stock, fifty shares steel stock, twenty-five shares of International Paper Company stock and many other things, all of which brought market value. The sale realized nearly $3,000.

The goods were sold in the rooms over John Rafferty's cafe in Park avenue, where a large crowd of people gathered. The estate is represented by six heirs, one a brother, Alexander Dunn, of New York, and the others nephews and nieces living in the west.

Mr. Dunn was employed in the clothing store of Brokaw Brothers, New York, and he formerly lived at the corner of East Second street and Watchung avenue. He was a brother of the late Elston M. Dunn, a former postmaster.

CAREER OF WM. S. POTTER

PROMINENT MAN IN SOMERSET COUNTY WHO DIED SATURDAY.

Acted As Trenton Correspondent of The Daily Press for Years—Was Surrogate of Somerset County.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 1—Yesterday's Daily Press told of the death of William Sutphen Potter, one of the most prominent men in Somerset county, who passed away at his home here late Saturday night. He was just about to retire, when he complained of feeling ill, and died before his daughter could go across the street for a physician. Heart disease the cause.

Mr. Potter was born at Pottersville in Bedminster township, February 26, 1833. His great great-grandfather was Col. Samuel Potter, a militia officer in the Revolutionary Army. Early in life Mr. Potter entered the mercantile business as a clerk in the store of his uncle at Pottersville. Later he went to Monmouth county awhile to clerk for another uncle. Some time after he became a clerk in New York City.

In 1863, he went into partnership with his brother at Pluckemin and remained there until November, 1867, when he was elected surrogate of Somerset county, after which he removed to Somerville. He was assessor of Bridgewater township for several years and for a long time a member of the Board of Commissioners.

When the State Legislature was in session Mr. Potter always attended and served for years as the Trenton correspondent of The Daily Press. No one in the Legislative halls of this State was better known than "Billy" Potter.

For many years Mr. Potter was the efficient secretary of the Somerset County Agricultural Society, and it was largely due to his untiring efforts that the county fair here was such a success years ago when those exhibitions flourished.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m., from his late residence, Rev. William Stockton Cranmer, of the Reformed church, officiating.

WAS ARRANGED BY THE REGULAR ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE.

The last of a series of three dances was given at the Park Club last evening. It was the Easter dance, which has become a delightful feature at the club. There was a very large attendance of the young society folk from the city and borough, while a few out-of-town guests were present.

As with previous affairs, the entertainment committee, of which Mrs. Charles A. Reed is the chairman, was in charge and nothing was left undone in making the dance all that it should be. A decided feature of the event was the music furnished by Von der Heid, of New York. A most attractive programme was presented and the merry young people took full advantage of every selection.

At 1:30 o'clock there was an intermission during which light refreshments were served under the direction of the committee. Then the dance was continued until the small hours of the morning. Everyone expressed their appreciation for the good time afforded and all agreed that it was one of the best dances of the season.

TOLD OF THE MACCABEBES

DR. SIMPSON'S LECTURE GIVEN AT Y. M. C. A. HALL LAST NIGHT.

Pictured and Described the Life in Philippines and the War With Insurgents.

A delighted audience which completely filled Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, heard Dr. M. S. Simpson give his illustrated lecture on "With the Maccabebe Scouts in the Philippines." It proved to be one of the most interesting affairs in the association's supplementary course.

Dr. Simpson but recently returned from the faraway islands after serving as one of the medical staff. His duties led him to all parts of the group and he became as thoroughly acquainted with the interior as the coast. All the pictures shown were reproduced from photographs taken by the doctor himself and all were typical scenes.

The scouts, who form an important part of the army service, were pictured and described in detail, as were also the fighting insurgents, their wives and children. Many of the scenes were of those on the Grande river banks, along which the American armies under General Funston encountered much fighting. In all, the lecture was instructive as well as entertaining as Dr. Simpson related many facts which were new to his hearers.

During an intermission, a silver collection was taken and the audience showed its appreciation of the talk by responding liberally.

CHAIR FACTORY BURNED DOWN

Main Building of Craig Chair Company on Jefferson Ave. Destroyed This Morning.

LOSS PLACED AT $1,500.

It Was Fully Covered by Insurance—Origin is a Mystery — Chief Doane's Theory That it Came From Hot Box on Machinery—Long Run for Department.

The main factory building of the Craig Chair Company, located on Jefferson avenue at the extreme western border of the city, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning.

The blaze was discovered shortly after 4 o'clock and evidently had been burning for some time. With the exception of No. 1 hose company, the entire city apparatus responded to the alarm sent in from box No. 89 by a member of the Craig family, and made the run of three miles in remarkably quick time. A conservative estimate places the loss at $1,500 on building and machinery.

The building destroyed was a one-story, pitched roof, frame structure and was stored with great quantities of dry lumber used in making chairs. Every crack and corner was filled with fine wood dust. When the department arrived, the entire interior was ablaze. It was one of the hottest fires Chief Doane has had to contend with in a long time, but despite this fact, a two-story house directly adjoining, used as a storing place, was saved. A small building in the rear was also in dangerous proximity to the fire but escaped through quick work on the part of the department. The machinery in the building was all new and of an improved pattern. Most of it was in the hottest part of the blaze and cannot be used again.

The place belonged to Former Councilman James H. Craig, who lives on West Front street, one block from the factory. He estimates the building damage to be $300 and to the machinery and stock $1,000. It is covered by $2,000 insurance.

No direct cause is assigned for the origin of the fire but in Chief Doane's opinion it was caused by a hot box on some part of the machinery. Being covered with sawdust, the friction may have ignited it and allowed the sparks to smoulder.

W. W. Stevenson, General Auditor of the Central, Has Resigned.

Mr. Stevenson resides on Orchard street, Newark.

Suit Against Trolley Co.

HEALTH BOARD REPORT.

APRIL MEETING OF CITY BOARD OF HEALTH HELD YESTERDAY.

New Sanitary Code is Almost Complete and Will be Acted on at Meeting Two Weeks Hence—97 Hoboes Vaccinated.

The regular April meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon in the rooms on North avenue. There was nothing of any special importance to engage the attention of the members.

Leon R. Thurlow, the health officer, gave an interesting report for the past month concerning inspection of dairies, forty-three being visited by him. Thirty-four samples of milk were tested and average solids found was 13.01 per cent., with 4.20 per cent. average of fats. There were two cases below the average.

Mr. Thurlow suggested that additional apparatus be secured to further test the milk. He reports that the new sanitary code is about completed and the approval of Corporation Counsel Marsh is only needed on certain matters to finish it. This is regarding the board's right in the matter of licensing milkmen.

Health Inspector William Addis presented his report for the month showing that at last report there were five cases of contagious disease. Eleven were reported during the month, five were released from quarantine and eleven are still in quarantine. The inspector made fifty-nine visits to cases of disease, with a total of 151 inspections and visits during the month. There was one conviction for violation of the health ordinance, imposing a fine of $25. Mr. Addis reviewed the history of the small-pox at Lawrence Kerwin's home in Piscataway township and reported that every precaution is being taken to prevent a spread of the disease.

The total cost of the equipment for and care of the smallpox in this city, together with the cost of free vaccination, was $2,824.87. It was also reported at the meeting that ninety-seven hoboes have been vaccinated at police headquarters. President Fisk has given orders that every tramp coming into the city shall be taken in charge and vaccinated before he is allowed to circulate about among other people. This has had a good effect and the absence of the usual batch of tramps is quite noticeable.

The board adjourned for two weeks when the sanitary code will be taken up for consideration.

HUMORIST ENTERTAINED.

Was Chief Feature at Meeting of the Men's Club Last Evening.

Harry M. Lester, a clever humorist from New York, entertained the Men's Social Club, of the Congregational church, last evening. The entertainment followed the regular monthly business session of the organization and was held in the church parlor.

Some particularly witty dialect stories were told by Mr. Lester and a number of comic songs also served to enliven the occasion. During a part of the entertainment A. H. Harold acted as accompanist. At the business meeting W. P. Wadsworth, the president, was in the chair. The matters transacted were purely of a routine nature.

Secured a Bargain.

Wm. R. Stanbery was one of the lucky purchasers at the sale of the personal effects of the late W. H. Dunn last Monday. He purchased a diamond stud, a full karat, for $74. He was afterwards offered $140 for it, but refused to sell.

Camera Club Recovering.

The members of the Plainfield Camera Club are gradually getting their new rooms furnished and equipped so that the work of picture making may be continued. The club recently purchased a new camera of a large size.

LAD WHIRLED TO HIS DEATH

Six-Year-Old Silas Winans Caught in Shafting at Factory and Fatally Injured.

DIED AT THE HOSPITAL.

Accident Occurred Yesterday Afternoon at Mobus & Winans' Kindling Wood Factory in Washington Valley—Boy Taken to Hospital—Died This Morning.

Silas H. Winans, aged six years, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas E. Winans, of Watchung, died at Muhlenberg Hospital this morning at 10 o'clock, as the result of injuries received yesterday afternoon at the kindling wood factory of Mobus & Winans in Washington valley.

The accident was an especially sad one. The little lad attended school yesterday for the first, and after returning home from school he gathered some chips for his mother. He then told her he was going to see his father at the factory. He had repeatedly been warned not to go near the engine, but for some reason he went there yesterday before seeing his father.

The theory is that he stood too close to the engine and his clothing was caught in the shafting. This was making 160 revolutions a minute. The boy was caught up and it is believed that his body made at least thirty revolutions before the engineer could stop the engine. His screams attracted the father's attention as well as that of the engineer.

As quickly as possible the belting was thrown off. The boy was removed to the home of the parents and Dr. J. B. Probasco was sent for. The accident happened about 4:30 o'clock, and the doctor arrived as soon as it was possible for him to get there. In the meantime Dr. Norman H. Probasco was called to assist. The lad suffered the greatest agony until relief was given.

As soon as possible the boy was removed to the hospital where everything possible was done for him. He failed rapidly. He was not conscious after being taken to the hospital.

After his death an examination was made by Dr. Probasco, assisted by Drs. Endicott and Clawson. A depressed fracture of the skull in three places was found, also a compound fracture of the left arm and contused wounds all over the body. The arm was completely stripped of the flesh.

DIED AT HIS POST.

Gates Were Not Raised and Gateman Was Found Dead in His Shanty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, April 2—Sylvester Kelmurey, gatetender for the Lehigh Valley Railroad at the county road crossing, dropped dead at his station yesterday afternoon. He had let the gates down for the 4:10 train and failed to put them up.

C. E. Kelly, Jr., went into the man's shanty and found him lying on the floor. An examination showed that he was dead and that the cause of death was heart failure. The man was apparently in the best of health up to the time of his death.

The deceased was thirty-five years old and lived with his widowed mother in Perth Amboy, where the remains were taken.

GETTING NEW MEMBERS.

Ten Elected to Membership in Hope Chapel Y. M. A. Last Night.

The Hope chapel Y. M. A. held its regular monthly meeting, last evening, and transacted considerable routine business. One of the most important matters was the election of ten new members and the receiving of three applications. This makes the total membership close to the limit of 100 and a motion was made that the constitution be amended to allow of more being elected.

The report of the treasurer showed the association to be in a flourishing condition financially, while the activity displayed by the members is making the organization one of the most important in the city. Manager Cose was unable to be present and the formation of the baseball team was not announced.

Miss Evans' Tea.

Miss Evans gave a tea to her friends yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fordhams, of Central avenue.

MEN PREPARED THE DINNER

BACHELOR'S DINNER AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH LAST EVENING.

Orchestra Played While Young Men Served An Excellent Meal—Those in Charge.

A bachelor's dinner, given by the young men of the First Baptist church, attracted a good-sized crowd, last evening, and resulted very successfully. The menu, printed in French, was quite dainty and those who partook of the dishes seemed to thoroughly enjoy them.

Decoraitons principally of American colors adorned the room. The electric lights were encased in red tissue paper and the effect was pleasing. In a conspicuous place was posted the notice: "Watch your hat and coat." The young men naturally were somewhat unaccustomed to the position of waiters but there was no inconvenient delays in serving the courses.

Martin Korff's orchestra rendered catchy airs during the dining hours, which were from 6 until 9 o'clock. This proved to be a pleasing feature of the affair.

The dinner was arranged by Dr. Norman Prosbasco, Herbert DuBois and N. Douglass Drake. Mr. DuBois acted as head waiter and his assistants were Clarence Rocap, Douglass Drake, DeWitt Brokaw, Harry Woodland, Fred Armstrong and Cyrus Kinsman. Kerro Knox served as cashier and also had charge of the candy counter. Supervising the dish washing was Harry Joseph. At the door receiving tickets was Edgar Adams.

MOST POPULAR BALL PLAYER

CONTEST NOW IN PROGRESS AT ST. MARY'S BASEBALL TEAM FAIR.

Larger Crowd Last Evening Than on Initial Night—Dancing Was Chief Feature.

With a much larger crowd in attendance than on the initial night, the fair for the benefit of the St. Mary baseball team, in T. A. B. hall, continued merrily on its way last evening.

Dancing was again the foremost feature and under the guidance of James Monahan, who acted as floor manager, the young people glided over the waxed floor until after midnight. Manager Monahan was assisted by Frank McCabe and Dennis Baglin.

While the voting contests are all more or less popular, the one for the most popular baseball player seems to take the lead. The ballots are beginning to come in heavily and the contest stands as follows: Thomas Mack, 19; Joseph Barry, 15; Albert Squires, 13; George Keen, 9; George Taylor and Lawrence Doyle, 6; Fred Winn, Richard Scott, Frank Anderson and Robert Angleman, 2 each; John Madden, William Case, Claude Roseberry and Thomas O'Keefe, 1. The prize, a handsome grip case donated by Thomas Comerford, will be awarded Saturday evening.

The committee announces a change of programme for this evening, which will include some entertaining features.

To Wed Sunday Evening.

The wedding of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Firstbrook and Paul Symons, both of this city, will take place at the former's home on West Fifth street, Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, will perform the ceremony.

Visit of Bishop.

The bishop of the diocese will make his annual visitation to the parish of the Church of the Holy Cross Whit Sunday, May 18. On that occasion the rector, Rev. William Montgonery Downey, will present to him a class for confirmation.

Lot for City Hall.

Charles Sebring, of Watchung, is anxiously awaiting the favorable result of the Greater Plainfield bills. He proposes to offer the lot at the corner of Grove street and Prospect place as a site for a city hall.

In Justice Hand's Court.

Summons have been issued from Justice Hand's court in the landlord and tenant case of Coddington against McCrady. The case will be heard Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Addresses on Confirmation.

Addresses on the subject of confirmation will be made by the rector at the Thursday evening services at the Church of the Holy Cross. The hour for service is 8 o'clock.

WILL INVESTIGATE AND MAKE RESULT PUBLIC

That is the Reply of President Hooley, of the E. and T. H., to Charges of Discrepancy.

GAVE AN INTERVIEW.

E. S. HOOLEY RETURNED YESTERDAY AFTER A SOJOURN IN FLORIDA.

Will Leave With Other Directors Saturday to Make Thorough Examination of Evansville & Terre Haute Property.

Edwin S. Hooley, of Rockview avenue, who is the president of the Evansville & Terre Haute Railroad, returned yesterday from Florida where he went to recuperate.

Upon his arrival in New York, yesterday, he was interviewed concerning the affairs of the railroad company and the alleged discrepancies of its books. Mr. Hooley said:

"A party of directors, including myself, will leave this city next Saturday to make a complete and thorough examination of the Evansville & Terre Haute property and all the accounts connected therewith.

"When this examination is completed a full statement will be issued. The New York Audit Company has been engaged to make a thorough investigation of the books, and their accountant will accompany the directors on this trip."

Concerning the controversy over the alleged discrepancies the following letter has been received by Mr. Hooley from H. H. Potter, president of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, which company has large interests in Evansville & Terre Haute stock:

"I have some unfortunate remarks with reference to the Evansville & Terre Haute Railroad that must be annoying to you. They are all unjust and are regretted by myself and my associates. One of these was with reference to the salaries of yourself and other officers. You and they all advised me that you had surrendered your salaries entirely at your own suggestion before the investigation; that showed the unwisdom of the proposed dividend. I think you did wisely in leaving New York as early as you did in consequence of your health, and the conditions that later developed I know had nothing to do with your leaving."

"LAKE POETS'" HOME.

Described in Delightful Paper at Current Events Meeting of Women of All Souls Church.

There was large attendance of members and friends at the regular Current Events meeting of women at All Souls' church, yesterday afternoon, when a programme of unusual interest was presented. There were several songs by Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer Smith, after which Mrs. Elizabeth Powell Bond, dean of Swarthmore College, presented her paper on "Summer Days in England."

It was a delightful paper, telling of the writer's visit to the home of the "lake poets," and Swarthmore Hall, the home of George Fox, one of the very early Quakers. The subject was treated in a most attractive way and after the meeting all took occasion to personally thank Mrs. Bond for her part in the meeting.

Following the meeting there was a social time and tea was served by members of the club. The next meeting will be held in two weeks, when there will be other interesting features.

HER WORK IN JAPAN.

Miss Witherby Talked to Women of Park Avenue Baptist Church.

The Woman's Foreign Mission Society, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Freeman, 1008 South avenue, when Miss Witherby, of East Orange, who for five years past has been a teacher in Japan, was present and told of her work.

Miss Witherby described in an interesting way her work in the schools in Japan, telling of her plan of teaching and of the success and discouragements. Altogether she is much encouraged and expects to return to Japan this summer. After the talk there was an informal discussion followed by a social time and the serving of light refreshments.

—There will be no meeting of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, this week, as the rooms in the Coward building are not ready for occupancy.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Worcester, of New York, have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Arens, of Rahway road.

THEATRICAL.

Spring openings in theatricals follow promptly upon the season, and there is no display until the time arrives. Easter was the "opening day" with Manager F. F. Proctor, and his plans for the remainder of the season date from the Easter holidays. He made a special souvenir event of Easter week, beginning with the distribution of beautiful Easter calendars at his Newark theatre and his One Hundred and Twenty-fifth and Forty-eighth Street theatres in New York. Many other art novelties have been procured for distribution at the matinees during the weeks which will follow, and the souvenir scheme will eventually be extended to all of Manager Proctor's seven theatres. The Proctor Stock Company has in preparation several notable productions for the spring, and the vaudeville programmes and variety between acts will represent, as usual, the best acts the amusement market affords. Continuous performances of high class vaudeville will remain the policy at the Twenty-third Street, two performances of refined vaudeville will be given in Newark and Albany every day, and the Proctor Stock will retain possession of Proctor's Montreal, and the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth and Fifty-eighth Street theatres and the Fifth Avenue in New York.

Shot In His Left Leg.

For all kind of sores, burns, bruises, or other wounds DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a sure cure. Skin diseases yield to it at once. Never fails in case of piles. Cooling and healing. None genuine but DeWitt's. Beware of counterfeits. "I suffered for many years from a sore caused by a gun shot wound in my left leg," says A. S. Fuller, English, Ind. "It would not heal and gave me much trouble. I used all kinds of remedies to no purpose until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." L. W. Randolph.

Saved Many a Time.

Don't neglect coughs and colds even if it is spring. Such cases often result seriously at this season just because people are careless. A dose of One Minute Cough Cure will remove all danger. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, and other throat and lung troubles. "I have used One Minute Cough Cure several years," says Postmaster C. O. Dawson, Barr, Ill. "It is the very best cough medicine on the market. It has saved me many a severe spell of sickness and I warmly recommend it." The children's favorite. L. W. Randolph.

LITERARY.

"What Women Like in Men," "What Men Like in Women," and "Husbands and Wives," are the titles of a series of very interesting papers by Rafford Pike, the third of which appears in The Cosmopolitan for April. The same number of The Cosmopolitan treats of Prince Henry's visit, with a series of beautifully printed photographs, under the title of "A Clever Emperor and a Confederation of Nations." F. Hopkinson Smith, Israel Zangwill, Bret Harte and Maarten Maartens are among the other contributors to this number, which is unusually good in fiction.

The Century's "Year of American Humor" is to be reinforced in the April number by several contributions, including "Chimmie Fadden's" "Discussion of L'Aiglon and Woman," by Edward W. Townsend, for which Steele has made some taking pictures in illustration of "Chimmie's" comments on the play; "My Golf," by Charles Battell Loomis, in which the writer makes gentle fun of the beginner in this sport, with pictures by Miss Cory; "A Hard Road to Andy Coggins," by Chester Bailey Fernald, author of "The Cat and the Cherub," a rollicking tale of private theatricals at Newport, told in Irish dialect, with pictures by Steele; and "Disciplining the R. & O.," a humorous story showing how a Western baseball club "caught a Tartar," by Willis Gibson, a writer new to The Century, with pictures by Keller. There are also shorter contributions of drawings and verse in the department "In Lighter Vein."

Besides a capital assortment of fiction, McClure's Magazine for April contains four articles of exceptional interest, one of which is of very present importance. This is "The Overworked President," by Lincoln Steffens. Just as timely is Henry Herbert McClure's "Messages from Mid-Ocean," the story of Marconi's latest triumph.

Of quite unique interest is Captain W. A. Prentice's description of life "On the Dry Tortugas."

John LaFarge's essay on Rembrandt appears in this number, the third of his "Great Artists' which is one of the most notable features in this year's magazines. The reproductions in tint of Rembrandt't paintings are very fine.

For fiction, no reader will be likely to fail in finding at least one story to his taste. "Thirty Cents," by Franklin Clarkin, is a delightful treatment of that ever-captivating theme—a love-and-a-horse story; "Introducing Thacher," by Edwin Oviatt, is a story of life at Yale, the kind of college fiction one longs for but rarely sees in the magazines; "The Lock Step," by I. K. Friedman, tells with a simple realism the pathetic struggles of a released convict to live respected among his fellows; "Billy's Tenderfoot," by Stewart Edward White, has for its hero—the tenderfoot himself—a marksman with the six-shooter after Buffalo Bill's own heart; and "How She Saved the General," by E. M. DeJarnette, is a war story spiritedly told by the little Confederate heroine.

"BEN BOLT'S" AUTHOR DEAD.

Thomas Dunn English, Author and Politician, Passes Away.

NEWARK, N. J., April 2.—Dr. Thomas Dunn English, who has been ill for a long time, is dead at his home, 37 State street. Dr. English, best known as the author of the ballad "Ben Bolt," for many years extraordinarily popular and more recently revived through Du Maurier's novel "Trilby," was born in Philadelphia in 1819. He came of Quaker ancestry.

He was editor of a New York newspaper in 1844 and in the following year began the publication of The Aristidean, a literary magazine, of which only a single number was issued. Later he edited John Donkey, a humorous publication, at the same time collaborating on a work dealing with the revolution of 1848 in France and the establishment of the second empire. He removed to Virginia in 1852, living there for five years, after which he returned to New York and wrote "The Logan Grazier" and other poems descriptive of southern life. In 1859 he settled in New Jersey, where he had since devoted himself to the practice of medicine.

During the civil war he became actively engaged in politics and served in the New Jersey legislature in 1863-64. He sat for two years in congress as a representative from the district in which Newark is included and was known for many years as a powerful upholder of Democratic doctrines on the platform.

"Ben Bolt" first appeared in the New York Mirror in 1843. Its popularity as one of the most affecting ballads in the English language was firmly established shortly after when the words were put to music.

South American Naval Activity.

BUENOS AYRES, April 2.—The government has decided upon the acquisition of two new armored war vessels to be superior in speed and armament to those of Chile, and orders for their construction have been given. The government has resolved always to maintain the naval and military supremacy of Argentina in South America. It has also declared that it will not increase taxation. According to recent dispatches, Chile is adding to her fleet. One warship under construction by a British firm is said to be for Chile. She is also reported to be purchasing naval armaments in Great Britain and to have bought a cruiser in France.

Engine and Trolley Car Collide.

UTICA, N. Y., April 2.—A locomotive used in the construction of the extension to Richfield Springs of the Oneonta, Cooperstown and Richfield Springs railway crashed into an electric car which was standing at Hartwick. The locomotive was running at a high rate of speed, and the car, a new combination, was demolished. Fireman Benjamin Williams was seriously injured. Floyd Witeman, a passenger, had his knee badly hurt, and two lady passengers were slightly bruised. Trackmaster J. Near was also injured.

Virginia Town Destroyed.

ROANOKE, Va., April 2.—The small town of Newport, in Giles county, has been practically destroyed by fire. Every store in the place was burned. Two hotels and the best residences in the town were leveled to the ground. The fire originated from an unknown cause in a shed back of Dunklee & Martin's big store. The loss is estimated to be over $100,000, with very little insurance. The town is five miles from a railroad, and the facilities for fighting fire are limited.

A Strong Antianarchist Bill.

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—The Brannock bill to punish anarchy and assault upon the president or state officers has been passed by the house. The bill provides that the assailant shall be electrocuted and his body be cremated or be disposed of in some secret way. Life imprisonment is provided for assault upon these officers with intent to kill. The bill did not receive a dissenting vote.

New House For Swiss Parliament.

BERN, Switzerland, April 2.—The handsome new parliament buildings, constructed at a cost of 8,000,000 francs, have been opened with considerable ceremony by the federal council and federal assembly. After assembling for the last time in the old building the members of both chambers drove in procession, headed by the cantonal authorities, to the new structure.

Earnings of the "Big Steel."

NEW YORK, April 2.—The directors of the United States Steel corporation have given out a statement showing the net earnings for the year, with the month of March estimated, to be $111,067,195. The usual dividends at the rate of 7 per cent on the preferred and 4 per cent on the common stocks have also been declared.

Mayor Rose Re-elected.

FLOODS DO NOT ABATE

Mississippi Farmers Suffer an Immense Loss.

PEARL RIVER HIGHEST EVER KNOWN

A Rise of Forty Feet at Jackson, With a Width of Four or Five Miles—Industries Generally Paralyzed.

JACKSON, Miss., April 2.—After a rise of forty feet since last Thursday Pearl river is stationary. The river is now four or five miles wide at Jackson. It is higher than ever known before and has done incalculable damage to farmers and stockmen. Backwater from the river covers the Illinois Central tracks near Dyan. Illinois Central trains from Memphis to New Orleans came to Jackson over the Frisco system via Holly Springs and from Jackson via Natchez over the Mississippi valley.

The Alabama and Vicksburg has five miles of track under water on the other side of the river from this city, and three miles of roadbed is torn up.

The Gulf and Ship Island road is in about the same fix, and their bridge here is damaged. There is six feet of water over the track on the Rankin side of the river.

Nearly every industry in Jackson is stopped and hundreds of workmen are idle because of the breakdown in the waterworks. The pumping station is at least twenty feet under water. Stories of distress from the Pearl river valley are reaching Jackson, and relief parties probably will be sent out. Jackson proper is in no danger, but low places in the suburbs are from one to ten feet under water, and hundreds of families have moved to higher ground.

Mrs. Dennis Hopelessly Insane.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Steps have been taken to have Mrs. Ida Gilbert Dennis, the dressmaker who was assaulted four months ago, removed to the government hospital for the insane or some private institution. It is said that while all her wounds have healed and she is apparently stronger than she was a month ago her ravings interfere with the proper treatment of other patients in the hospital, where she was taken soon after the assault was committed. The attending physicians are satisfied that her mind will never be restored, and it has been deemed best to remove her to an institution entirely devoted to the care and treatment of the insane. No clew has yet been found to the perpetrator of the crime.

Shipbuilding Figures.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Returns to the bureau of navigation show that during the first nine months of the current fiscal year, ended March 31, 1902, there were built in the United States and officially numbered 949 vessels of 245,068 gross tons. For the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year the figures were 753 vessels of 246,973 gross tons. These figures do not include canalboats and unrigged barges. The advanced construction of vessels launched or soon to be launched indicates that the total construction for the year will somewhat exceed that of the fiscal year 1901. Contracts for new work are, however, less than a year ago.

Russians Active In Newchwang.

PEKING, April 2.—The Manchurian convention, the main conditions of which were recently agreed upon by Paul Lessar, Russia's minister to China, and Prince Ching, president of the Chinese foreign office, permits China to maintain whatever force she thinks necessary in Manchuria after the evacuation of that territory. Official reports received here from Newchwang declare the Russians to be displaying great military activity there. Ten thousand troops have been recently moved to Port Arthur, and new drafts are arriving. An extensive land permanent telegraph system is being constructed.

Northern Pacific Again Open.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 2.—The Northern Pacific main line across North Dakota is again in operation, and through traffic to the coast has been resumed. The small lake formed at McKenzie, N. D., by the melting snow and heavy rains covered the track for four or five days, but the water has so far receded that cars are hauled across the bad spot, and the coast train that left here last night is expected to go through without delay.

Sanitarium Burned.

STONEHAM, Mass., April 2.—The Langwood hotel, in the Middlesex fells, recently purchased by Dr. C. H. Cogswell of Boston to be used as a sanitarium, was burned, causing a loss of $90,000. The insurance is $50,000. Dr. Cogswell purchased the property on Feb. 26 and was having it altered for his needs. There were about 120 rooms in the main building, and all contained their original furnishings.

Eleven Drowned In Channel Disaster

LONDON, April 2.—Eleven men were drowned as the result of a collision yesterday morning near the Nab lightship between the channel passenger steamer Alma and the British ship Cambrian Prince, Captain Owen, from Lobas de Afuera islands, off the coast of Peru, for Antwerp.

An Increase of Wages.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., April 2.—Two hundred employees of the Windham Manufacturing company have been notified of a 10 per cent increase in their wages, which went into effect yesterday.

OUR INDIAN WARDS.

Senate Committee Favors an Increased Appropriation.

UINTAH RESERVATION TO BE OPENED

Membership of Dawes Commission, Reduced by the House, Restored to Four—A Vote Tomorrow on the Oleomargarine Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senator Stewart, chairman of the senate committee on Indian affairs, yesterday reported the Indian appropriation bill to the senate. As reported it carries a total appropriation of $9,415,339, a net increase of $973,834 over the total as the bill passed the house. The increases are generally comparatively small. The largest item of increase is $130,000 on account of the Delaware Indians. Authority is given to use the trust funds of various tribes of Indians to the aggregate extent of $1,031,191 for the settlement of obligations and for other purposes.

The membership of the Dawes commission is restored to four in number, the house having reduced it to three, and an amendment is inserted making final the decisions of the commission as to all matters of appraisement and allotment of lands and also in all matters pertaining to the right of citizenship in any of the Five Civilized tribes. It is made unlawful for any person to lay out a tract of land in the Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek or Cherokee Nation in Indian Territory except with the permission of the secretary of the interior prior to the delivery of a deed to him, the offense being made punishable by imprisonment. Authority is given the secretary of the interior to pay Cherokee Nation warrants amounting to $610,000.

There is incorporated in the bill authority to open to settlement the Uintah reservation in Utah, with the consent of a majority of the adult male Indians residing on the reservation. Eighty acres of irrigable land is to be first allotted to each Indian head of a family and forty acres to every other Indian. This authority is coupled with the condition that persons entering any of said land under the homestead law shall pay therefor at the rate of $1.25 per acre.

An agreement was reached by the senate to vote on the pending oleomargarine bill before adjournment tomorrow.

Debate on the measure was continued throughout the day's session.

The house made rapid progress with the sundry civil appropriation bill, completing ninety-three of the 139 pages of the bill. Efforts to amend the bill were successfully resisted as a rule by Mr. Cannon, the chairman of the appropriations committee, who was personally in charge of the measure. The proceedings were without incident.

Chicago Charter Election.

CHICAGO, April 2.—The Republicans and Democrats each made a net gain of one alderman in the city election. The new council will consist of 39 Republicans, 30 Democrats and 1 independent. The old council consisted of 38 Republicans, 29 Democrats and 3 independents. The hottest fight of the campaign was in the First ward, where a determined effort was made by the opponents of John Coughlin, known as "Bathhouse," to defeat him. It was the only ward in the city where anything like a full vote was polled. Coughlin won easily, however, securing a majority of 2,605 votes over David L. Frank, the Republican candidate.

Santo Domingo Rebels Shaky.

SANTO DOMINGO, April 2.—The rebels in the Barahona district, on the south coast, are already seeking assurances that they will not be severely dealt with if they surrender, but the government officials have refused to make any guarantees. The rebellion is limited to Barahona and its vicinity, where many important arrests have been made. Confidence in the power of the government to crush the rebellion is re-established.

New Yorker Gets Indianapolis Job.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Bids were opened at the treasury department for the general construction of the new United States courthouse and postoffice building at Indianapolis, Ind. There were seven bidders. John Pierce of New York city was the lowest. His bid on Indiana limestone was $1,297,000. His bid for Mount Waldo (Me.) granite was $1,497,900. Time to complete, thirty months.

Will Take Months to Repair Canal.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 2.—United States Engineer Knight, in charge of the government work on Tennessee river, has returned from Florence, Ala., where he had been called to examine the break in the canal. He says the damage to the canal is so great that navigation will be interrupted for two or three months.

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business March 31, 1902, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $997,732,332, which is a decrease for the month of $6,823,720.

Heavy Fire Loss In Japan.

YOKOHAMA, April 2.—The loss from the fire at Fukui, near the northwest coast of the island of Honshiu, where 4,000 houses were destroyed, is estimated at 9,000,000 yen.

Chinese Paying Indemnity.

SHANGHAI, April 2.—The third installment of the indemnity was paid yesterday. It amounted to 1,800,000 taels.

MINERS ORDER A STRIKE.

Ten Thousand Men Idle In Western Pennsylvania.

ALTOONA, Pa., April 2.—After mass meetings of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company's miners were held at Punxsutawney and Sykesville yesterday the threatened strike was formally declared. It involves 10,000 miners and will have the effect of curtailing the employment of nearly as many railroad men employed by the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railroad company, whose freight traffic will be nearly paralyzed in consequence of the strike.

Not a mine worker employed by the Rochester and Pittsburg company is at work today except the pumpers and track layers, it having been agreed to keep these men at work to protect the mines. It was decided by a vote, however, that if General Manager L. W. Robinson should attempt to evict the strikers from their homes, many of which are owned by the company, the pumpers and track layers will also be called out and the mines allowed to flood. It was also decided that any overtures for a settlement must come from Robinson. Any attempt to import other miners will be resisted.

The strikers have assurance of support from the district and national treasuries of the United Mine Workers of America. General Manager Robinson was at his office at Punxsutawney all day, but gave out no statement.

Entertainment For French Guests.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—To carry out the intent of congress looking to the suitable entertainment of the French visitors who are expected to come to this country to witness the dedication of the monument to Rochambeau to be unveiled in this city May 24 next Secretary Hay has appointed a committee on arrangements consisting of Assistant Secretary of State Peirce, Colonel Bingham, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, and Commander Rodgers, U. S. N. Embassador Porter, in Paris, has been charged with the formal extension of the invitations for this function to the families of Rochambeau and Lafayette, and at this time the exact number of the visitors is not known. Congress has appropriated $10,000 to defray the expenses of their entertainment.

Miners Celebrate Eight Hour Day.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 2.—All the collieries in this region were closed yesterday in consequence of the 15,000 men and boys employed therein remaining away from work to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the eight hour workday instituted in the bituminous fields. There was no local parade. Most of the men remained at home or attended meetings of the various locals. Officials of the Ninth district of the United Mine Workers here estimate that of the 53,000 mine workers in the district 99 per cent of them obeyed orders of the recent Shamokin convention to stop work. They returned to the mines today.

Boston Wool Market.

Conditions were very quiet in the wool market this week, and there is a fair prospect of them remaining so for some time to come. Dealers are not disposed to press sales, and, although quiet, the market is very steady. Territory wools are unchanged, values being held steady, and buyers in need of supplies are paying about former rates. The new clip bought in Arizona is being placed on the market, but it can only be sold at a loss compared with its cost price. Fine territory wools are selling about 47@48c., the scoured basis, on good lots, with better stapled parcels at 50c. Fine medium is quoted on the scoured basis of 43@45c., with good staple lots ranging higher. Medium territory sell at 38@40c., scoured. There is a quiet tone to fleece wools, with prices held steady.

Necessary to Wait.

"There is one great difference between real love and story book love," she said, regretfully.

"What is it?" he asked.

"In the case of real love you can't turn over to the last chapter and find out how the story is going to end before you permit yourself to become interested in it."

"I believe," he returned, thoughtfully, "that woman's curiosity and impatience would lead her to begin at the wrong end of a real romance if she could."

"Why, of course," she answered, calmly. "Can't you see how much more delightful it would be to begin with marriage and end with courtship?"

He considered the matter deeply and shook his head. It is so hard for the heavy masculine mind to follow the light feminine fancies.—Chicago Post.

Science Again Aids History.

Within the past year the explorers of the Egyptian exploration fund have completed what they regard as the most important historical work that was ever intrusted to their hands. The operations were at Abydos, where have been unearthed archaeological remains, establishing the existence of 17 kings whose reigns were continuous. These kings include Mena, whose historical character is thus proved, and a series of 12 kings preceding him. Even the earlier of these kings are said to be now better known, by means of gold, crystal and ivory objects containing their names, and engravings relating to them, than are half of the Saxon kings of England.—Youth's Companion.

Churches In Rome.

The guide books are responsible for the popular impression that there are 365 churches in Rome, one for every day in the year, but that is a mistake. The exact number is 352, including the four great basilicas outside the walls. Besides these there are about 918 chapels connected with monasteries, nunneries, schools and private palaces, and a large number of shrines erected by individuals in different parts of the city to fulfill vows or show gratitude for deliverance from peril or sickness. There are 68 monastery establishments, 42 for monks and 26 for nuns. The number of inmates varies from time to time with the season, and averages about 4,000.—N. Y. Sun.

Investigating the Chances.

"For a woman—and especially a young woman—she has a wonderful head for business."

"How is that?"

"Old Richman wanted her to marry him, and the prospect of becoming his widow certainly was a temptation—if she didn't have to wait too long. So she made him apply for a life insurance policy."

"Well?"

"Well, she reasoned that if he was a good risk for a life insurance company he was a poor one for her, and vice versa. If he gets the policy she'll break the engagement; if he doesn't, she'll marry him."—Chicago Post.

CROP PROSPECTS.

Wheat In Good Condition—Fruit Promises Well.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The weather bureau has issued the following general summary of the crop conditions for March:

The weather conditions of March were generally favorable for farming operations in the states of the Missouri, upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys and on the Atlantic coast north of North Carolina, in Florida, Texas and Oklahoma, but over the greater part of the central and east gulf states it was unfavorable, largely on account of excessive rains. Throughout the central and east gulf states farm work is from two to three weeks late, and in many sections much land has been badly washed. On the Pacific coast the month was cool, and the season is generally backward.

There has been a very general and in some sections a marked improvement in the condition of winter wheat in the states of the central valleys, although much of the late sown is in poor condition, and some will be plowed up for other crops. On the whole, the crop is in promising condition.

Some spring wheat was sown over the southern portion of the spring wheat region at the close of the month.

In Texas and Florida cotton planting is well advanced, but in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana none has yet been planted. The general outlook for fruit, excepting peaches, is encouraging.

Mexican Congress Opened.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 2.—President Diaz opened the spring session of congress last evening. His message covers the entire scope of legislative activity during the last six months. He says regarding the late pan-American congress that its effects, as far as Mexico is concerned, were favorable to promoting good relations with all participating republics. The arbitration agreement adopted by the majority of the republics through their delegates will be sent to the senate for its approval. Much space is given to educational matters, and the president notes the necessity of renovating in the higher schools the scientific apparatus, school furniture, etc. This will be done shortly. The president bestows much attention on school reform and on the scientific works undertaken under the auspices of the government. The mining industry, he says, continues to make notable progress.

Governor Nash Urges Tax Reform.

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Governor Nash has sent to the legislature a special message urging the passage of the corporation and excise tax bills and other measures carrying out the administration's plan for reform in taxation. It is estimated that the various tax bills now pending, if enacted into laws, would yield the state a revenue of $2,200,000 annually. It is proposed to offset this increase in revenues by a reduction in the state tax levy, thus relieving the burden of taxation on real and personal property. Governor Nash declares that his advocacy of these measures is not inspired by any feeling of hostility to corporations.

Michigan Miners Strike.

SAGINAW, Mich., April 2.—The strike of the Michigan coal miners ordered several days ago after the conference between the operators and miners failed to agree on a scale has begun, and 1,100 miners are out in this county. Almost the same number of men have quit the mines at Bay City and in the St. Charles district. There was no demonstration, the men simply staying away from the pits. The Owosso Coal company last Sunday signed the scale offered by the men, and theirs is the only mine in operation.

Storms Detain Sealers.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 2.—The sealing steamer Greenland has arrived here with a cargo of 20,000 seals. The sealer Iceland is stormbound at Bonavista. She is so heavily laden with seals that she fears to continue her voyage to this port. The Virginia is believed to be in the fog off the coast. The other sealing vessels are slowly hunting the seal herds. There is a furious gale on the north Atlantic.

QUAKER CITY MURDER

Fiendish Act of Negro Servant Suspected of Theft.

EMPLOYER AND DAUGHTER SHOT DEAD

Another Daughter, Seriously Wounded, Lives to Identify the Slayer, Who Confesses That He Did the Terrible Deed.

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Fearing that he would be arrested for theft, William H. Lane, a colored butler, shot and killed his employer, Mrs. Ella J. Furbush, her twelve-year-old daughter Madeline and probably mortally wounded another daughter, Eloise, aged seven years, at their home, 652 North Fifteenth street, shortly before noon yesterday. Lane, who is twenty-five years of age, escaped from the house and four hours later was captured by Philadelphia detectives while waiting in Camden, N. J., to board a train for Bridgeton, N. J. He was immediately brought to this city, was identified by little Eloise and confessed his crime.

The murder was one of the most cold blooded that has been committed in this city for some time. Mrs. Furbush lived with her daughters in a fine four story house, which was furnished with all the comfort that an ample purse could provide. Lane had been her butler since Christmas, and besides him she had another colored servant, a woman named Agnes. Recently Mrs. Furbush had been missing small amounts of money, and finally she informed the police, who began an investigation, which was still in progress when this tragedy was enacted. Suspicion fell on Lane, and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest.

According to Lane's confession, he saw Mrs. Furbush on Monday night counting a large roll of bills. Knowing where she kept the money, he bided his time, and at an opportune moment late in the evening he stole $70. Yesterday morning Mrs. Furbush missed the money and questioned the colored man, but he denied all knowledge of having seen it. Expecting that the theft would be placed on him and that Mrs. Furbush would have him arrested, Lane planned to murder the mother and her children, rob the house and disappear.

At the police station Lane said he was sorry for what he had done. He was surprised to hear that Eloise was alive and said he always liked her and hesitated to kill her, but "it was necessary to do so." "Now that I have been caught," he added, "I hope she will recover. I am also sorry for Mrs. Furbush and Madeline, but poverty tempted me to do it, and I must now suffer."

Later Lane was taken to the hospital, where Eloise identified him, saying: "He is William Lane, the man who killed my mother and sister and tried to kill me. You know you did, William." In his presence her statement was taken, and Lane put the seal of accuracy to it by saying, "Everything the child has said is true."

Lane is the son of a preacher who lives in Bridgeton and has served a term in the Mount Holly (N. J.) jail for larceny and has been confined in the Huntingdon (Pa.) reformatory.

LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE.

The Daily Press believes that there are today a majority of the citizens of North Plainfield who favor a consolidation with the city of Plainfield as a part of Union county. Of course there is some objection. It would be beyond the bounds of possibility to expect a community of the size of the borough to be absolutely of one opinion regarding such a question. And some of these objectors are undoubtedly perfectly sincere in their attitude.

If, however, they are perfectly sincere and are willing, as every good citizen should be, to abide by the will of the majority, we fail to see their reason for urging Governor Murphy not to sign the Greater Plainfield bills which now contain the referendum provisions. If they are confident that the people of North Plainfield do not want annexation, then it would seem perfectly logical that they should urge rather than oppose the signing of the bills so that the question could be definitely settled.

No matter what is said and done, the only real way to secure a true expression of opinion will be at the polls. Not until the subject is voted upon will either side have the right to state with absolute authority concerning the belief of the people of North Plainfield. To oppose the submission of the question to the people is bound to throw the objector open to the charge of having selfish reasons at stake. The people can be trusted to choose for themselves and now that it has been found possible to allow them to make the choice, who is there that can honestly and truthfully gainsay their right to make it.

Let those who have opposed these measures carefully ponder on this subject and see where their efforts, no matter how honestly meant, have been misdirected. Let the bills become laws and then start a thorough discussion of the subject which will result in a full understanding so that the people may vote upon it according to its merits. The columns of The Daily Press have always been open for a free discussion of all public questions. On this occasion we will gladly give every assistance possible to fully enlighten the people in this matter and will print the arguments for and against as they may be submitted to us.

THE NEW HOSPITAL.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital has adopted the plans for the new home for that worthy institution. It is welcome news to the friends of the hospital who have long realized the inadequacy of the present equipment and hoped that the future might bring forth better things. And it has.

Now that the plans are approved, ground will be broken for the new hospital within a month. Then the work will be rushed with all possible speed. One of the particular features of the buildings is that they are so designed that it will be possible to enlarge and elaborate them from time to time without spoiling the general symmetry of the effect. As the condition of the hospital's treasury permits, the institution will be enlarged in scope until it will be one of the finest in the State.

Every Plainfielder is, of course, anxious to see just how the new buildings are going to look. A water color sketch, prepared by the architects, Tracy and Swartout, is now on exhibition in the window of The Daily Press office on North avenue where all may view it.

All through the State, the newspapers have been almost united in their denunciation of the action of Senator Lee, of Atlantic county, in killing the bill which was intended to prevent the wholesale slaughter of pigeons. Anyone, who possesses the slightest spark of love for humanity, ought to vigorously support any legislation which aims to stop such a cruel butchery of innocent birds, the only excuse for what is that it amuses a few men. Senator Lee certainly deserves all that is said of him for preventing that bill from going before the upper house of the Legislature. When the time comes to re-elect a senator from Atlantic county, the voters there should, irrespective of political belief, bury him so deep that he would never be heard of again.

It should be remembered that the petitions, signed by a number of residents of the borough, which were submitted at the Senate hearing of the Greater Plainfield bills, protested only against the passage of the bills without giving the people a chance to settle the question for themselves. The petitions were not against annexation or consolidation.

The building boom has already reached Plainfield and the summer has promise of being a very active season for the building trades. Employers and employes should, therefore, be very careful not to allow any troubles in their relations to interfere with the activity which promises more work for both of them.

The plan, now under consideration by the officials of the Jersey Central Railroad, to open up Chimney Rock as an excursion resort, differs so from the old conservative methods of that railroad that the Plainfield people hardly know how to take it.

THE NEGRO PROBLEM

It Will Be Solved by Modern Industrial Education.

Some Lessons Learned by a Visit to Hampton Institute—South the Only Section Where Negroes Can Thrive.

(Special Hampton (Va.) Letter.)

HUMAN nature is a queer thing, and every man or woman living is more or less of a busybody. We are apt to work ourselves into a perfect frenzy of excitement over things which do not concern us and are ever ready to offer advice on questions about which we know absolutely nothing.

Take the negro problem for example. One of the most radical pleas in favor of political and social equality of negroes which the writer ever heard was uttered by a handsome little gentleman who had never been outside the state of Massachusetts and who, according to his own confession, had never met more than three representatives of the colored race—his barber, his neighbor's coachman and the family washerwoman. Personally he had no desire to associate with these estimable persons on an equal footing, yet he was honest in the belief that the people of the south should recognize the negroes as their equals. He believed the medicine he prescribed to be good, but his own stomach was not quite strong enough to swallow it. In summing up his argument he admitted — cautiously and reluctantly — that there were two sides to the question, his side and the wrong side.

AT HAMPTON INSTITUTE.
(Colored Students Receiving Instruction in Bricklaying.)

Eventually, there can be no doubt, the negro problem will settle itself; but it is equally certain that well-meaning mischief makers will retard rather than advance its solution. The colored man is destined to work out his own salvation, in his own way and in his own time. The only aid which white agitators can give him is of an educational and financial nature. In a social way they can do absolutely nothing for him.

Persons who talk about colonizing negroes in the north are mistaken. The south is the only section of the country where the colored race can prosper and grow in thrift and influence. This fact is recognized by such men as Booker T. Washington and Paul Lawrence Dunbar as well as by the heads of the various institutions of learning for colored youth. In the north the negro cannot find employment as a mechanic or at office work. He is not wanted as clerk in a store nor in an official capacity. For the educated colored man there are three openings: he may become a preacher, a doctor or a lawyer—among his own people. The uneducated man must either do manual labor, work for a railroad as porter, polish shoes, be a waiter or a barber. In the south, on the other hand,

AN OLD-TIME BARN.
(This Is the Way Negroes Used to Keep Their Stock.)

he can find employment as a carpenter, bricklayer, shoemaker, tailor, harness-maker, stone mason, dairyman, farm overseer and in a score of other fairly lucrative occupations. He is not discriminated against on account of his color, and in southern cities it is not unusual to see the colored mechanics lay brick while white helpers carry the hod. Such a state of affairs would not be countenanced by northern trades unions for a single day. But the salvation of the negro lies not so much in trade as in agriculture, and by nature and inclination he is adapted to tilling southern soil. The great forward strides made by the race during the past decade can be ascribed to the fact that progressive colored men have turned their attention to general farming and have, in a comparatively short time, acquired much valuable property and a sense of independence which has taught them to respect their calling and their people.

We hear in these days a great deal about the advancement of the southern negro, and most of it, let us record it with joy, is true; but we do not hear quite enough of the man who is primarily responsible for this happy state of affairs—Gen. S. C. Armstrong, who, in 1868, founded the Hampton institute, near Hampton, Va., for the practical education of negro youth and devoted his life to the upbuilding of this institution from which proceeded Tuskegee, Calhoun and other industrial schools of a similar character. Gen. Armstrong's idea was a noble one and has borne rich fruit. His motto was "learning by doing." He did not want to make white men and women out of colored boys and girls. His one aim was to educate them systematically and teach them a trade so that they might be able to elevate their people along educational lines. While the academic features are not neglected at Hampton, the students are constantly kept in an atmosphere of busy industry and taught that labor is divine. His training at Hampton made Booker T. Washington what he is, and if the institution had turned out no other graduate but this truly great man its mission would still have been a great one.

Although originally founded as a school for colored youth, Indians have been admitted to Hampton since 1878. In 1878 Capt. Pratt brought 15 prisoners of war from St. Augustine to Hampton. He remained one year, bringing in the meantime other Indians from the west. So successful was this experiment in industrial education for the Indian that the now famous Carlisle school was established.

Some 6,000 young people of the negro and Indian races have had the advantages of Hampton's training, and have gone out as teachers, farmers, mechanics and business men to lift their people to a higher level and it is a fact universally recognized in the south that whole counties have been transformed by their work; tumble-down cabins have given place to cozy homes and dirty barnyards converted into up-to-date dairies with silos and other modern improvements.

At the present time Hampton has about 500 negro scholars and 135 Indian boys and girls, who are under the supervision of 80 officers and teachers. Fifty-five buildings accommodate this busy army. These include dormitories, school buildings, library, church, hospital, gymnasiums, saw and planing mill, various shops, a well-equipped trade school and a large building for domestic science and agriculture. Military discipline is maintained and the boy students are required to wear the substitute uniform. They are divided into companies and batallions, have formed a band and glee, football and other clubs.

MODEL BARN WITH SILO.
(Built on His Farm by a Hampton Institute Graduate.)

The trade department includes thorough courses in carpentry, cabinet making, bricklaying, plastering, painting, wheelwrighting, blacksmithing, machine work, steam engineering, tailoring, shoe and harness making, tinsmithing and printing. A trade course occupies three years—the first in the trade school; the second in one of the production industries, to get an idea of the commercial value of the work, and the third again in the trade school, where the course is completed. The agricultural department is fully equipped for class-room, laboratory, farm-engineering, dairy and greenhouse work, and has several grain, vegetable and stock farms and orchards, on which the students have instruction and practice. The domestic science department furnishes instruction in sewing, dressmaking, laundering, cooking and housekeeping, thus preparing the girl graduates to teach their people the art of home-making.

The impression has gained ground that Hampton institute is a government school. Such is not the case, however. The institution is a private corporation, undenominational in character, controlled by 17 trustees and managed by Principal H. B. Frissell. Its income is derived from an endowment fund, which is just one-fourth as large as needed, from the sale of goods manufactured in the workshops, farm and dairy products and from the receipts of the glee clubs which visit the north during the winter season. For the deficit in running expenses, aggregating about $80,000 per year, the school is obliged to appeal to the public.

One thing which impresses the visitor to Hampton more than anything else is the self-reliance of the students. The young men and women are perfect in their deportment, courteous in manner, conscious of their man and womanhood, but never "fresh." They are the hope of their race and of far more value to the nation than the superficially-educated northern negro whose display of learning usually is ludicrous, if not pathetic. They will also be mighty factors in the readjustment of southern politics and institutions; but they will never be accorded social equality in the south, where the prejudice against the negro is a social factor—let it be said in a Chicago whisper—is almost as strong as in the north.

A DEFECTIVE BATTLESHIP.

Germany's Kaiser Frederick III. Has Some Faults That Are Difficult to Remedy.

That naval experts are not all perfect has been abundantly shown time and again by critics of naval war weapons. Even the best and most complete ships have their faults. For instance, the German battleship Kaiser Frederick III., the original standard ship of the German navy, completed in 1898, which has recently undergone many alterations, it is asserted, retains some faults in spite of those changes, reports the New York Tribune. She is a sister ship of Frederick der Grosse, and is of 11,370 tons displacement. Her chief faults, it is asserted, are with armament. One of the defects is said to be in the ingenious end-on fire, as when fired the gun does something more than project a shell—it also projects a volume of flame, and causes what is known as the "blast." The largest guns have a tremendous "blast," and while inside the casement a man is largely protected from the concussion, the back fire can get at him through the port; while if outside and directly below the gun when it is fired, there would be considerable difficulty in collecting enough of him for identification. Accidents of this kind have occurred before now, and that on the English warship Sanspareil, with its 110-ton gun, when the deck was stove in and a man sleeping below was killed, may be recalled.

THE CALIFORNIA DUNKARDS.

A Sect That Strives to Live According to the Teachings of the New Testament.

The Dunkards of southern California live in one of the prettiest valleys in that part of the state at the foot of the San Gabriel spur of the Sierra Madres—30 miles east from Los Angeles. They get their livelihood from little fruit orchards and principally from olive and lemon groves, says a Los Angeles report.

The central Dunkard town is Lordsburg, a village of 1,600 people, with trim but very plain houses, neatly kept streets flanked by shade trees, a large college building and a church, about which the whole colony rotates. One can scarcely imagine a more decorous, solemn community than Lordsburg.

The whole population arises at dawn, is industriously busy all day long, never speaking on any subject but those concerning the colony thrift, the manifestation of the divine will, the extension of the sect's influence and the interpretation of Scriptural passages. At sunset there are brief devotional services in every Dunkard home, and when the meal is over, each household gathers about its head for Bible reading and religious contemplation. Seldom is a light seen in a home in Lordsburg after nine o'clock at night.

THE SUN SELDOM ON TIME.

Only Four Days in the Year When Old Sol Isn't Too Early or Too Late in Arriving.

The sun does not keep good time. He is almost always too fast or too slow. Once about the middle of April he is just on time, then not again before the middle of June. At the beginning of September he joins the clock a third time, and lastly once more late in December, says Prof. S. C. Schmucker, in Ladies' Home Journal. Now it would seem as if he were startled at the way he had neglected us. In February he fell back until he was 15 minutes late. By the beginning of March he had made up five minutes of his loss, and before the month is over he will have caught up to within five minutes of the schedule. Meanwhile the days have been growing longer very rapidly. We begin March with our nights longer than our days. We end it with our days longer than our nights. In the one month we have added to the length of our day an hour and 20 minutes, a bigger gain than any other month can show.

BARRED FROM UNIVERSITIES.

Germany Willing as an Experiment, However, to Admit Girls to Attend Gymnasiums.

During the discussion of the educational estimates in the lower house of the diet the other day, the minister of public instruction, Dr. Studt, announced that the government was willing, as an experiment, to permit girls to attend the existing gymnasiums and also to establish a girls' gymnasium, but declined all responsibility for the outcome of the experiment. Regarding the attendance of girls at the universities, the minister said the government failed to see that there was any universal need of academic studies for girls. Therefore it adhered to its decision that they should only be admitted to universities as guests. The government, however, was of the opinion that, in order to maintain the idealistic position of German women in the home, the instruction of girls in the high schools should accord more closely with the requirements of the present time.

In Government Service.

Col. John Mosby, the leader of one of the most important confederate cavalry commands during the civil war, is in government service in Colorado, charged with preventing the private inclosure of public lands.

No. 13 Car for Them.

DRESSING GOWNS.

Favorite Shape the Empire—Japanese Robes.

Pretty dressing gowns that may be worn at the family breakfast table are made of soft washing cashmere, lined with washing silk. The cashmere may be plain or flowered, but the lining should always be plain white or of some pale color which will not change color when washed. Instead of silk, thin cotton sateen may be used for lining if economy has to be studied. The favorite shape is still the empire, with its fullness gathered into a square yoke of torchon lace, lined like the gown itself. The hem of the gown may also be covered by an insertion of the same torchon lace. The sleeves are in bishop shape, the wristbands being of torchon lace and also frilled with the same lace. Red, white, cream and pale blue are the usual colors for the comfortable and even necessary morning wraps.

Panne also makes handsome dressing gowns, almost handsome enough for tea gowns. The yoke and other trimmings may be of Irish lace or colored embroidery, as you prefer. Both are equally elegant, and both wash equally well.

Japanese dressing gowns, however, are the greatest "cry" just now. If made entirely of Japanese embroidery, however, they are too expensive for many purposes. But the gown itself may be made of some pretty, pale colored cashmere or silk, with the neck, pockets and sleeve bands of Japanese embroidery.

The picture shows a child's dress of fawn colored summer cashmere trimmed with narrow braid. It has a white silk collar and vest.

THE NEW MILLINERY.

Jabots of Lace and Tulle—Smart Hats.

In the world of millinery the changes are not so great as one might have expected. In fact, the shapes have varied but little. It is curious how women remain faithful to the wide, flattened boat shape. On all sides at present are models of it in white cloth draped with beautiful lace and the inevitable diamond or pearl buckle. It is a very comfortable form of toque, and nobody looks particularly plain in it, but, on the other hand, it is not particularly becoming, added to which it undoubtedly ages a face. It requires a piquant style of beauty to make the boat shape really successful.

There is a small edition of the Gainsborough style coming in which will be distinctly becoming and will form a pleasing change from the three and four cornered chapeaux, of which we have got thoroughly tired, although they were extremely beautiful in velvet decorated with plumes, always provided the hair was worn full enough beneath. But hard felts, abruptly turned up in odd points, with very often a plain face beneath, and straight hair, have rather disillusionized one in the matter of the three cornered hat.

The white cloth costume in the picture has a skirt made after one of the latest patterns. The front is of Persian and lace.

CHAPTER II.

IN THE HOSTILE CAMP.

Guy had four hours and a half at his disposal before the freight train left Concord, and he made up his mind that he would put in the time looking over the town. Before descending the decrepit stairs leading from the Blizzard office, he lingered at the top to scan the three points of the compass that lay open to him. As the building occupied by the newspaper was well at the foot of the main thoroughfare, nearly the whole of Concord lay under the young man's eye.

Certainly no eulogies were to be wasted upon that collection of houses and stores. The principal street had roads debouching to left and right. Buildings were not huddled together; on the contrary, they were far apart, with stretches of virgin prairie between them. It had been the policy of the Townsite company to donate a lot in each block in the residence portion to any one who would build a house upon it. For this reason, nearly every dwelling had a block to itself.

Main street began at the Northern Pacific depot and ran south for half a mile beyond the Blizzard building, the latter closing up the ragged file of store structures. Just south of the depot was a huge, barn-like hotel. The hotel, be it observed, always formed the nucleus of the "boom" town. Across from the hotel was the office of a real estate agent; south of that, on the same side, was a building erected by the Townsite company for a bank; then there was a drug store and then Mr. Benjamin Glimmer's Emporium, and then a livery stable, the latter almost opposite the Blizzard building. Between the latter and the hotel was the new courthouse.

As Guy gave further attention to the courthouse he saw something which had before escaped him, namely, a weather vane. This vane was cut into the profile of a man's head, hand before the face, thumb to the nose and digits outspread. The head looked steadily and insolently westward and refused to move with the northwest wind. Guy's anger arose at the sight. He had no idea what such a vane might mean, but he would tolerate nothing of that kind in his town. That vane was to come down in a very short time, even if he had to remove it himself.

Descending the stairs he went over to the Emporium and introduced himself to the proprietor. Mr. Glimmer was a slender man of sallow complexion and looked at the world through iron-framed spectacles. He was glad to meet Guy and presented him to several citizens; among others, Elisha McQuilkin, the postmaster, Lemuel Bilkins, a youth of harmless aspect, whose abnormally long and spider-like legs were the standing joke of the town; Christopher Waffle, justice of the peace and proprietor of a threshing outfit, and Bill Comfort, who operated Judge Waffle's engine. Conversation with these gentlemen revealed such a depth of animosity and bitterness over the county-seat question that Guy was surprised.

"The Harmony folks have threatened to come down on us like Assyrians on the fold and run off with the county records," observed Mr Glimmer, his thin lips compressing and his eyes gleaming through his glasses. "We'll fool 'em if they try it on, I can tell you. I've only to pull this rope"—he laid his hand on a rope that dangled through a hole in the ceiling—"and a bell on the roof 'll ring out a warning and bring every citizen to the new courthouse."

"And every citizen will bring a gun," snapped Waffle.

"And use it if necessary," thundered McQuilkin.

Coming from the fairly peaceable confines of Chicago this warlike language filled Guy with considerable apprehension. It likewise gave him a realizing sense of the danger of the mission he was about to undertake. If the Harmony people were aroused in a similar degree, to be discovered taking notes at their town meeting would mean—Guy refrained from following out this train of thought. He did not care to anticipate the disaster which would probably befall him in case of discovery. Truth to tell, this work was being entered upon against the counsel of his honor. In love and war, however, all means are supposed to be fair and he was endeavoring to apply that principle to the present case. Nevertheless he was troubled.

The 6:30 o'clock freight had a few cases of merchandise for Concord and while these were being unloaded Guy climbed into the caboose on the rear of the train.

"I've counted as many as three people, father," broke upon Guy's ears in a feminine voice that was richly musical.

"One of those is the station agent, Betty, and doesn't count," replied a voice of masculine timbre, so deep it was almost a roar.

Guy discovered the second speaker instantly. He was a large man wearing a black slouch hat and was sitting on a seat that ran along the side of the car, his eyes close to a window and eagerly observing the town.

The other speaker was not so easily located, but Guy found her at last. She was perched on a stool up in the "lookout," or cupola, and was also studying the main street with eager gaze.

"I was going to catch a glimpse of the gallant Colonel," continued the girl, with a ripple of laughter. "Subtract him from Concord and the result is naught."

"Huh!" exclaimed the father, without looking around. "Keever is the biggest cipher in the whole lay-out. Everybody will know that one of these days."

"I can't understand," went on the girl, "why more people haven't come down to see that the train arrives and departs properly."

"Pardon me," put in Guy, whimsically, halting below the young lady and looking up at her, "the people here do not manifest the same interest in a freight that they do in a passenger. Besides, there are two men and a dog behind the depot whom you have overlooked."

The large man at the side of the car switched around and fixed his eyes on the speaker. The girl also turned in her seat in a startled way and looked down.

She was a very handsome girl, her fine, clean-cut features possessing the charm of womanly resolution and firmness. Symmetry was the keynote of face and form, and the eyes, the lips and the square, dimpled chin all told of underlying strength. From the viewpoint of a physiognomist she delighted Guy, and it may be that the joy of his character study betrayed itself, for the young lady suddenly assumed a haughty air which became her amazingly. She vouchsafed him a frigid stare, tossed her head disdainfully, and then—well, just then the train gave a terrific jerk in the uncomfortable manner that all freight trains have, and the young lady was precipitated from her perch fairly and squarely into the young man's arms. Guy was a good sailor and able to keep his feet in the hardest kind of a blow, so he remained upright, and was able to save the young lady from any ill effects that might have accompanied her fall. Undoubtedly she was grateful, but she did not show it. Her face was in a flame as Guy released her, and her white teeth closed bitingly on her red under lip.

"Jupiter, but that was neatly done!" exclaimed the large man, heartily. "Betty, why don't you thank him? That drop might have hurt you, my girl."

"Had he not attracted my attention," flared Miss Betty, "I would not have lost my hold. These freight trains are simply insufferable and this is the very last time I shall ever ride on one."

"Allow me," said Guy.

Stooping he picked up a chain bracelet which had become unclasped from Miss Betty's dainty wrist. She took it from him, replaced it around her glove, and then seated herself on one of the side seats just where the last flicker of sunlight touched her reddish hair into gold. A very pretty picture she was, too, sitting stiffly erect in her injured dignity and looking neither to right nor left. The large man shifted his twinkling eyes from her and gave Guy a wink.

"What's your line?" he asked.

"I don't understand you," returned Guy.

"Drummer, I take it?" The large man squinted about Guy's vicinity as though searching for sample cases.

HOTEL LOBBY CHAT.

An Interesting Feature of Life in Washington.

Great Men of the Nation Passing in Review Before Hotel Frequenters—Comments by the Gossips of the Town.

[Special Washington Letter.]

IN EVERY considerable community there is a hotel, and within its precincts are often gathered the leading men of the entire city of county, each of them having a striking individuality which it might be difficult to depict. During the sessions of the congress one may find almost every evening a number of gentlemen of national reputation gathered together in any one of our many hotels and with them also are commingled the employes of the executive departments from the humblest to the highest officials.

Last evening, while conversing with one of the auditors for the treasury department in a hotel lobby, the secretary of the treasury approached, but was obliged to stop and converse with half a dozen men of eminence before reaching those whom he desired to see. This man, whose presence in any other city would attract the attention of all, walked about leisurely here, among other great men, just as he might do in a hotel at the capital of his state, where he once ruled as governor.

Senator Hanna, of Ohio, and Senator Platt, of New York, two of the most talked-of men in the political world during many years, came into the lobby and spent half an hour quietly conversing with other senators and representatives, just as some of your friends at home would do.

Speaker Henderson, the man who controls all national legislation by his masterful position, came into the hotel smiling as usual, shaking hands with everybody who greeted him, and leaning heavily on his cane as he walked to the elevator and went upstairs to keep an engagement with a senator who awaited his coming. There came also Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, the youngest and handsomest man in the great legislative body, and closely following him came the redoubtable Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, the man who indulged in fisticuffs on the floor of the senate.

Every evening one may see a similar panorama of great men passing in review, and visitors to Washington are entertained by friends who point out the individuals in the passing show, and tell of their characteristics. To a visitor from Iowa, the writer said: "Your idea of Senator Tillman is entirely wrong. He is not a quarrel seeker at all. He is an honest man, a ruggedly honest man; and his soul revolts at some of the procedures of our government which everybody knows are lamentably wrong. Then, again, he is a very bitter partisan, and unfairly tries to make party advantage out of some wrongs which are only to be righted by non-partisan methods. But he is honest to the core, and as lacking in polish as a piece of slippery elm. There are men who will take polish; but Tillman is not one of them."

Senator Mason, of Illinois, entered the hotel lobby accompanied by Representative Hemenway, of Indiana, and a pretty picture they made; Memenway six feet tall and slender, Mason five feet short and round as Santa Claus, and just as jolly.

Then came Senator McMillan, of Michigan, accompanied by Mr. Babcock, of Wisconsin. They went to the elevator and followed Speaker Henderson. The visitor saw no significance in this, but the news instinct evolved an idea. Mr. Carnegie was stopping over night at the same hotel. Senator McMillan and Representative Babcock are chairmen of the two congressional committees on the District of Columbia, and they are working together to build up the capital city along the lines of the original plans of Maj. L'Enfant. As the city expands with the expansion of the republic, these far-sighted gentlemen are bending their energies and influences in the right direction; and it was afterward ascertained that they had seen Mr. Carnegie and secured from him a promise of substantial aid in the development of the city, as it reaches out its hands and gathers to its bosom the suburbs surrounding us even across into Virginia; for Senator McMillan has pending a bill to take in lands of Virginia which comprised the original ten mile square of this seat of government.

Then there entered a man of military mien who strode over the lobby area with hasty tread. The visitor asked the name of the soldier. He was more than six feet tall, athletic, with iron gray hair and mustache, and with shoulders squared like a commanding officer on dress parade. And yet, he is not a man who is ever on dress parade; a plain man of the plain people. It was Senator Dubois, of Idaho, who, as a young man in 1895, turned against the political party in which he had been born and nurtured, because he honestly believed that this nation needed a change in its monetary system.

There were other men of prominence the mention of whose names alone would fill this column, but there came into the hotel a government clerk who had something of more than usun moment to tell. By the way, there are men in the executive departments, many of whom are worthy to sit in the senate or any other high public place, and this man is one of them. He is a veteran in the civil service, and also a veteran of the civil war. He was at one time an intimate friend of Gen. Grant, and of others in that glorious galaxy of soldiers and statesmen. He said:

"I am a mere automaton, a calculator of figures by columns; but once upon a time my brain was used for reflection altogether, and sometimes even now I think thoughts. The commissioner of Indian affairs may be an honest man, and I presume that he is. The auditor for the interior department may be an honest man, and I presume that he is. But, as a government clerk, examining accounts and auditing them, I am well assured that there is, and for many years has been, a lot of corruption in the Indian office. This palpable fact ought to be known to the commissioner; or it ought to be discovered by the auditor. But, as a matter of fact, neither one of these officials seems to go beyond the routine duty of compelling the clerks to be at their desks on time; and any amount of corruption might be carried on under their honest noses, without their august knowledge."

Another clerk came in whom the writer has long known as a leading and enthusiastic worker for the perpetuation of the glories of the Grand Army of the Republic, and he also had something of unusual interest to narrate. He said: "I was with Sherman, and marched from Atlanta to the sea and then up through the Carolinas to the national capital. On the afternoon of the grand review in May, when 'Sherman's Bummers' marched down the hill south of the capitol, we saw a canvas banner stretched clear across the south front of that big building on which we read the words: 'The nation will never forget, and can never repay, its debt of gratitude to the soldiers of the union.' We all felt proud then. This afternoon one of my old comrades, who lost a leg in battle, was insulted and degraded by a man who never did a thing for his country except draw salary from its treasury. My old comrade works in a bookkeeping division where clerks must stand all day long. Because my comrade was unable to stand all day, on one leg, and took a chair to his work, he was insulted and browbeaten by the chief of his division, and this in one generation from the time when the nation was so grateful to the boys in blue."

VIEWING THE STATESMEN.

While this old soldier was talking, in came Representative Wadsworth, of New York, chairman of the committee of agriculture. As he went to the desk of the hotel clerk, one of the employes of the department of agriculture said to the writer: "There goes an enemy of agriculture. He is not in harmony with the secretary of agriculture. Instead of using his position to help along our department, he hampers us in every way. He even went so far as to go to the president, who is from his state, and make verbal charges against the secretary. Of course the president informed the secretary and asked him what he had to say, and he demolished the slanders very quickly. Then, when Mr. Wadsworth came to the department to talk about more seeds and documents for his district, what the secretary said to him would make interesting reading for the public at large.

Every night there are gatherings of this sort, and there is a limitless cauldron of department gossip seething in the hotel lobbies. Probably it might prove to be interesting, with the approval of the editor, to tell some of the stories of department life, in the future, as they are told by the talented gentlemen and ladies and gentlemen who do the actual work of performing the details of procedure in the government, for which the cabinet ministers receive credit and approbation. That would be a way of seeing the government from away inside near the heart of the machinery.

SMITH D. FRY.

CAUGHT THE MOUSE.

And Thereby Won the Respect of His Girl Employes.

How Manager Maynard Was Saved from a Cabal of Feminine Trickery and Flirtation Just in the Nick of Time.

When the firm decided to put young Maynard at the head of the mail-order department it was in the full knowledge that the change was an experiment. Maynard had proved a capable man wherever he had been placed in the great house, but this special department had always been under the car of grave, elderly, much-married men. Maynard was young, good-looking enough for romantic girls to dream over, and unmarried. When it is further added that his department included about 200 young women of varying degrees of beauty and sense, it will be seen that the firm had acted wisely in the past.

For two or three weeks, says the Chicago Daily News, he ran the gauntlet from eight o'clock in the morning until five o'clock at night. It was a gauntlet of languishing glances, flirtatious smiles, unending giggles and a steady stream of questions purporting to be strictly on business, but which were in the main silly enough to earn for the questioners their walking papers at the end of the week. At the end of two weeks he realized that he had utterly failed to establish the proper attitude between himself as head and the 200 young women making up the department. They regarded him plainly in the light of lawful prey, managerially and matrimonially. They had no respect whatever for his position as manager or as bachelor and they seemed to be acting as with one mind to remove both conditions.

On the third Monday he opened his desk with a sense of distaste and shrinking that he had never felt before. He acknowledged gushing good-morning meekly and had the satisfaction of hearing suppressed giggles in return. He sat immersed in business to his ears and refused to hear inconsequential remarks addressed coquettishly to him as maid after maid came up to get or deposit papers and files. Yet when the twenty-fifth girl had made her little speech, which whatever it might be, called for no answer, young Maynard realized that he was up against a cabal of feminine tricksters. In disgust he began to write out his resignation.

Suddenly from the center of the great room there rose a babel of voices, mingled with shrill screams. Two seconds more, and the whole roomful of girls were on chairs and desks, with skirts whirling about variously formed ankles. Yet there was no coquetry on the part of any one. Slim-ankled and thick-ankled girls had but one thought—the mouse that even then was scurrying away straight for the manager's desk.

Across the suddenly cleared floor space he watched it come. Just as it darted past the corner of his desk Maynard bent low and with a crafty curve of the hand just nipped the slim gray tail as its terrified owner slipped beneath the desk. A gasp issued from 200 throats as he held the little beast aloft by the tail.

He picked up some papers and walked quickly over to one of the three young women who more than any others had caused his soul to despair.

"Miss Dunning," he said, shortly, "I want copies of these letters. Please descend as soon as possible and get to work on them."

Miss Dunning shrank visibly from the struggling mouse he held close to her, and for the first time failed to giggle at his words. Then Maynard walked nonchalantly through an awed lane of womankind, flung up a window and deposited the mouse on the guttering that ran just below.

As Maynard walked back to his desk he was conscious of a new atmosphere in the room. There was no suppressed giggling, no unbearable self-consciousness. Every girl was at work. The manager had become in their eyes a superhuman being who was not to be trifled with.

Porcelain violins and mandolins are coming into favor in Germany. They are said to be sweeter in tone than wooden instruments, and possess the further advantage of not being affected by the weather.

Very little wind prevails in the arctic regions, and this fact facilitates the transmission of sound. People there can converse when a mile apart. The cold and almost motionless air renders even a whisper quite distinct.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Plainfield High School team and the Y. M. C. A. nine will cross bats Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The game will be played on Pittis' field.

Ben Evans, who covered first base for the Hope team last season, has withdrawn his application for the same position this year and is a candidate for a place on the Safe Works team. His place may be given to George Cose or Augustus Feiring, both of whom are striving for it.

The uniforms to be worn by the Safe Works team this season are said to be the costliest ever donned by local amateurs. They are made of the best materials obtainable and can be washed often without injury. This will keep them looking spick and span the entire season. Additional equipment, such as masks, gloves, bats and other paraphernalia, will also be of the best makes.

PLANS FOR WATER WORKS

THEY WERE SUBMITTED TO MUNICIPAL OWNERHSIP COMMITTEE.

Estimated Cost Is $50,000—Would Include Fourteen Miles of Pipe, Pumping Station and Reservoir.

Plans for the proposed municipal water plant were unfolded for the benefit of the municipal ownership committee of North Plainfield's Council last evening. The scheme was detailed at length by its originator, George H. Pierson, a consulting engineer of New York. In addition to the committee several other interested councilmen and the mayor attended the conference.

The complete system according to the estimate will cost $50,000. The proposed plant will be capable of supplying the entire borough with water. According to the plans the pumping station will be located in the wester part of the borough, probably on Greenbrook road, and the reservoir will be situated on the mountain side. Fourteen miles of pipe will be laid.

Friday evening, April 11, the complete plans for both municipal water works and sewage plant will be exhibited to the Borough Council and explained by the experts and the probable cost will be announced.

LIBRARY AFFAIRS.

Transacted at Regular Meeting of Library Directors Last Night.

The regular meeting of the board of library directors was held last evening. There were present J. Evarts Tracy, Wm. H. Larrabee, John B. Dumont, Alexander Gilbert, E. C. Perkins and Wm. M. Stillman.

The chairman reported that he had filed with the Common Council the resolution of the board relative to the amount needed for the maintenance of the library for the ensuing year. The librarian was authorized to have the parlor carpet cleaned. The bills of the general library were ordered paid from the general fund, and those of the Babcock library from the Babcock fund.

The librarian's report for March was read, approved and ordered on file. The librarian was requested to submit to the board at each regular meeting a list of the books purchased or given to the library since the last meeting.

Euchre Was the Attraction.

The Tuesday Afternoon Euchre Club was entertained yesterday by Mrs. Robert M. Clark, of Richmond street, and, as usual, the members had a delightful time. The first and second prizes were won by Mrs. Dundon and Mrs. Robert M. Clark. After the play refreshments and a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. Harry Coddington, of the borough, will entertain the club next week Tuesday.

L. T. L. CONVENTION IS BEING HELD TODAY

One Session Was Held This Morning and Anohter in Progress This Afternoon.

NUMBER OF ADDRESSES.

STATE LEGION SECRETARY AND STATE W. C. T. U. PRESIDENT PRESENT.

Both Made Addresses—Address of Welcome by Mrs. Stephen Cahoone—Reports From Legions of the State.

The New Jersey State convention of the Loyal Temperance Legion is being held today in the lecture room of the First Baptist church, workers in the children's temperance societies all over the State being present. One session was held this morning, and another is being held this afternoon.

The State L. T. L. secretary, Miss Alice M. Guernsey, of East Orange, presided this morning. Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, State president of the W. C. T. U., was also on the platform. The opening exercises included a prayer by Mrs. Bourne, and a brief address of welcome by Mrs. Stephen Cahoone, of this city.

Miss Guernsey spoke of the desirability of teaching the children in the Legion something about the lives of great temperance workers, and called on several women to give brief biographical sketches, such as could be used for this purpose. These were given in the first person, the hearers guessing the name at the close.

This was followed by reports from various Legions in the State union. The Newark Legion reported a successful fight against the selling of brandy drops. The Passaic organization has made a special feature of teaching the children sewing. The report for the Legion in Union county was given by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of this city. The present superintendent of the Plainfield Legion, Miss Howlett, spoke encouragingly of the work in this city. This part of the programme was closed by Mrs. Bourne, who spoke very strongly of the great importance of educating children along temperance lines, since the chief hope of the temperance cause is prevention rather than cure.

Miss Guernsey next gave a very practical demonstration of the value of blackboard work in Loyal Legion teaching.

"What a Loyal Temperance Legion Means to the W. C. T. U.," by Mrs. Bourne, was the closing address of the morning. Mrs. Bourne advocated a very close connection between the two organizations.

At the noon hour a luncheon was served to the delegates in the parlor of the church by the Plainfield W. C. T. U. The committee, which was in charge of the luncheon, was composed of Mrs. Rufus King Case, chairman; Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. Honeyman, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Stephen Cahoone, Miss Howlett and Mrs. D. S. Miller.

The afternoon session began at 1:30, and will include a number of interesting features.

ENTERTAINED ITS FRIENDS.

I. C. T. Club Entertained the Young Women Who Helped at the Dance.

The I. C. T. Club entertained in its rooms, last evening, the young women who assisted in making its recent dance a success. Dancing and a supper were the features. The young women presented to the club a complete set of dishes to be used at future social affairs. V. W. Nash, Jr., accepted the gift on behalf of the club and thanked the donors. The committee in charge during the evening consisted of George Apgar, V. W. Nash, Jr., Irving Mills and Howard Drake.

No Jury This Time.

The contract suit, brought against Dr. Pocock by William Stratton, was retried in Justice Hand's court, yesterday afternoon. The first hearing took place before a jury which disagreed. Yesterday's trial was before the justice alone. Decision was reserved until this afternoon.

Cut His Cheek.

George Kaeding, the Liberty street barber, received a long gash in his right cheek, Monday afternoon, through thoughtlessly jumping up while being shaved. At Muhlenberg hospital five stitches were taken in the wound.

Guardian Appointed.

Dr. F. W. Westcott was today appointed guardian of John Marsh, of Scotch Plains, who was adjudged a lunatic some time ago. The appointment was made in the Orphans' Court on application of Robert M. Clark.

The Misses Margaret and Helen Edwards, of Washington, are guests at the home of their uncle, George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place.

SOUTHERN LABOR PROBLEM.

Negroes Are Flocking to the Towns and Farms Are Suffering for Hands to Work.

The question of farm labor in Louisiana is becoming very serious, reports the New Orleans Picayune. The negroes, who have heretofore done all the plantation work, are flocking to the towns and cities, where they can get occasional jobs and find other means of living without having to perform regular work. In Louisiana there is no season when work on the plantation ceases. There is as much done out of doors in the winter as in the summer, and as a consequence laborers must reside upon the plantation, so that they can perform labor daily, which goes on all the year round. This is not the case on farms in northern states, where the winter weather puts an end to all agricultural labor for the season.

The negro, left to his own devices, has found out that a life of ease, with the doing of occasional spurts of work, is more to his taste, and this has caused a movement from the farms to the towns, where the colored people herd together and content themselves with doing odd jobs. The negro women in town go out, with more or less regularity, to daily service; but they return at night to their own quarters, and the greatest part of their earnings go to support the idle men. The Louisiana country papers are complaining of the great lack of laborers. Considerable numbers of Italians are coming into the state direct from their native country, and they are said to be industrious and reliable.

OLD PIANOS MADE NEW

by Leo. H. Battalia, of New York City, who has opened a branch in this city at 426 Watchung avenue, opposite the skirt factory. Following is a testimonial from the largest and well-known conservatory of New York City:

New York, March 15, 1902.

My dear Mr. Battalia—Your method of renewing worn out parts of the piano has proven on my Mason and Hamlin grand piano a great success. The new hammers and parts of the action, which you have replaced have restored the original fine touch and richness of tone. The instrument has been in constant use by my pupils and the interior was in a dilapidated state. It seems to me that no one but a genius could accomplish such scientific work. The occasion offers an economy that not only assures one of your immense knowledge in the art of reconstructing, but at a trifling expense a piano can be put in as good condition as the day it was received. I take pleasure in recommending you to those who wish their old pianos made as good as new.

Sincerely yours,
Ernst Eberhard.

President of the Grand Conservatory of Music, of the City of New York, West Fifty-seventh street.

SOLD FOR BEANS.

Novel Feature of Progressive Whist Party Given by Mrs. Geo. Homan.

Mrs. George Homan, of Hillside avenue, gave a progressive whist party at her home last evening. There were four tables. The first and second prizes were won by Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson and Frank J. Hubbard.

After the play there was an auction of pretty souvenirs, including toys, etc. Dr. Marcus L. Clawson was the auctioneer and Frank H. Smith was the treasurer. The articles, which were done up in mysterious packages, were purchased with beans, each bean representing a certain denomination in money. This feature proved very amusing and caused no end of fun.

Following the auction refreshments were served and at a late hour the young people adjourned to their homes.

MAKING PLANS.

Golf Committee of Park Golf Club Held a Meeting Last Evening.

A meeting of the golf committee of the Park Golf Club was held last evening at the residence of Samuel Townsend, of Myrtle avenue. Mr. Townsend is chairman of the committee. There was a general discussion of plans for the summer. It is probable that the handicapping will be conducted on the same lines as last year. The chief event of the season will be the weekly play for the President's cup. Other competitions will be arranged at another meeting of the committee.

NO INSPECTOR HERE.

False Report Concerning Visit of the Postoffice Inspector.

There was a report current yesterday that a postoffice inspector was in Plainfield looking after the interests of the local office and planning for permanent quarters. This was untrue. Postmaster Bird states that there has been no inspector in this city since the fire and he has heard nothing as regards the future of the postoffice. As previously stated the office will probably be moved back to the Babcock building, when the place is properly repaired.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HILLMAN.

Service Held From Home of Her Niece Yesterday Afternoon.

At the home of her niece, Mrs. Charles Leveridge, of Sherman avenue, funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of Mrs. Martha Hillman, who died Saturday. They were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church. During the service "Rock of Ages" was sung by Elmer E. Runyon. The remains were taken to Brooklyn for interment.

Schedule Submitted.

At a meeting of the managers of the Plainfield Amateur Baseball League, held last evening, a schedule and constitution and by-laws were presented by Secretary Geo. H. Firstbrook. They were not made public and will be given out only after they have been passed upon at the next regular league meeting. This will be held Saturday evening.

More Time to Sprinkle.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has changed the evening hours for the use of lawn sprinklers for the coming season. Heretofore, the hours were from 5 to 7 o'clock and, according to the change, they will be from 5 to 8 o'clock. The morning hours, 6 to 9 o'clock, will remain the same.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, has recovered from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Bowers, of La-Grande avenue, have just returned from a month's sojourn in Florida.

SECURED NO PLUNDER.

Burglars Resumed Operations in the East End Last Night—Two Residences Entered.

Burglars made early visits to two Netherwood homes, this morning, but left either place without relieving the residents of any valuables.

Charles S. Sminck's residence on East Front street was entered by forcing the catch of a window opening on the porch. Nothing was disturbed but, when the prowlers left, they forgot to close the window although the blinds were carefully drawn.

The home of Jacob Voehl, on Netherwood avenue, was entered in the same way. A pair of Mr. Voehl's trousers were taken from his sleeping room to the lower floor. The burglar had his trouble for nothing as the pockets were empty.

—Attention is called to the Y. M. C. A. entertainments as advertised in another column.

When You Go Into a Drug Store to get a bottle of Painkiller, examine it carefully to see if its made by Perry Davis, and don't be persuaded to take something "just as good" because it is a few cents cheaper. There is but one Painkiller, "Perry Davis'." Large bottles 25 and 50 cents.

CENTRAL'S NEW MANAGER AS HE IS KNOWN

Pottsville, (Pa.,) Daily Republican Calls W. G. Besler a Railway Diplomat.

IN A LONG EDITORIAL.

TELLS OF HIS POLICY WHILE WITH THE READING SYSTEM.

Not Only a Model Railroader, But a Trade Encourager—Always Ready to Hear Complaints and Suggestions.

A new era of prosperity through good service, it is claimed, was ushered in to the New Jersey Central system, when the appointment of W. G. Besler was made as general manager of the road. The new official has announced his intention of making Greater Plainfield his home, he having chosen to reside in the borough. One of his friends, who has had ample occasion to observe his qualifications, describes him as "not one of the domineering, bulldog, greater-than-thou officials, but on the other hand a clear headed, wise and kindly disposed railroader."

In speaking editorially of the transfer of Mr. Besler from the Reading system to the New Jersey Central, the Pottsville, Pa., Daily Republican refers to him as a railroad diplomat, and says:

"The appointment of W. G. Besler to the charge of the Central Railroad of New Jersey has taken away from the Reading Railroad one of the most promising officials who has ever been connected with that road, and President Baer, in selecting General Manager Besler for the responsible head directorship of the Reading's recently acquired new property, undoubtedly had in mind Mr. Besler's recognized ability to harmonize conflicting interests and bring not only the employes into a harmonious organization as a unit, but at the same time create an esprit de corps apparently quite unknown in eastern railroading prior to this western man's coming to this section, and, as well, also to bring about a better feeling of the general public toward the railroad company.

"Mr. Besler will not only always be found prompt to treat his employes with courtesy, but the general public who do not use his road, and especially the patrons who do, will ever find him with his hand extended to meet every one half way with a manly fellowship that not only commands respect, but quickly makes every one his warm admirer and willing to assist under his direction in working for the general good.

"Mr. Besler not only is a model railroader, but a trade encourager; for he makes it a point to interest himself in the local affairs and business industries of every locality situated along its line, and every agent is virtually made a reporter who must daily transmit to headquarters the news items of all matters which will help along the company's business or which the company can help along by offering its assistance to the local people. The latch string to Mr. Besler's office always hangs on the outside, and he is invitingly accessible to the employe, the patron and the information seeker.

"As an expert operator of railroads, there is none better than W. G. Besler, and the improvement in the entire management of the Central will be quickly apparent to traveler and freight receiver.

"In these respects, the patrons of the Cenrtral Railroad of New Jersey are to be congratulated for the advent of Mr. Besler in the management of that company, and the Republican assures them that they have made a great gain to the loss of the patrons of the Reading parent system."

No More Meetings This Season.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue church, will not hold any more meetings this season, all the work on hand having been completed. Two barrels of clothing were recently shipped to the mission at Brittain's Cove, N. C. The regular quarterly meeting will be held the first Friday in June.

Changes in Routes.

By the resignation of Letter-carrier Daniel Shea a few changes have been made at the postoffice. Carrier Oliver R. Pierson is carrying Mr. Shea's route, and Carrier Frank Clarkson is taking Pierson's route, while Carrier William Thorn is looking after Carrier Robert Tingley's route. The latter is off duty owing to sickness.

WRITES OF THE HORRORS.

"Dolph" Giles, of Cruiser New York, Sent Account of Troubles at Samar.

"Dolph" Giles, formerly of this city, but now an officer on the cruiser New York, has sent to his brother, Mifford Giles, of this city, an interesting account of the terrible expedition in Samar. The story is summed up by an officer, Roscoe Conklin, who took part in it. Judging from the account the horrors were even worse than already reported in the papers. The account appeared in the Manila Times on February 1 and describes graphically the work of Uncle Sam's men in the Philippine Islands.

NEW TRADING STAMP LAW

PROVIDES FOR REDEMPTION OF STAMPS IN CASH OR MERCHANDISE.

Will Go Into Effect July 1—Dealers Say it Leaglizes the Trading Stamp Business.

The Legislature passed a new trading stamp law before it adjourned. It was introduced in the House by Assemblyman Avis. It is a compromise to the law prohibiting trading stamps, and it provides that any association, corporation or individual issuing trading stamps shall redeem such stamps at their advertised and stipulated value, either in cash or merchandise, at the option of the holder of such stamps. The bill also provides that any number of such stamps shall be redeemed at the advertised value and that it shall not be necessary to have any stipulated number of stamps before demand for redemption may be made, but each stamp shall be redeemed at a price proportionate with its advertised or stipulated value.

A fine not exceeding $50 or imprisonment for six months or both is provided for violation of the act.

The law makes no difference in the business until July next. The stores will remain open and the merchants will give out stamps just the same as in the past.

The business, therefore, will go on as if no bill had been passed until July, by which time the trading stamps people will have arranged a plan by which it can conform with new law and go on with the business. The law is not prohibitory, but regulative. It will be the aim of the company to come under the regulation of the law, so that it may continue the business.

The dealers say the bill will legalize trading stamp business. They claim that the stamps have no commercial value, and it is optional with the company what they shall give in redeeming stamps.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

Somerville's Public Library Will Soon Open Up New Building.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 3—The Somerville Public Library has removed to its handsome and commodious new building on Maple street. For two weeks the women, who are interested in this noble institution, will be busy recataloging and relabeling the volumes, after which the rooms will be thrown open to the public.

The people of this place are very proud of the new quarters for the library, which was heretofore kept in two small rooms over a hotel. Now Somerville has as fine a public library as any town of its size in the State.

House Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Randolph, of New Durham, gave a party Tuesday evening for their daughter, Miss Margaret Randolph. There were fifteen young folks present from this city. Mr. Randolph took them to his home in a large wagon and they remained over night, returning home yesterday. The young people played games and had a general good time.

Guests of Boat Club.

Miss Sadie Randolph, Miss Lulu Randolph, William Abbott and Elmer Miller were guests at an informal dance given Thursday evening by the Newark Bay Boat Club at Bayonne. The orchestra which furnished the music was the same which played for Prince Hery at a reception given him in New York.

Thought it Was a Joke.

Miss Mary Burke gave an "April fool" euchre party Thursday evening at the home of Miss Josie Butscher, of West Fourth street. As most of the invited ones believed it to be an April fool only one person, John Powers, was present.

Social to Little Ones.

The members of the primary department of the Seventh-Day Baptist church Sunday-school enjoyed a social in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon. The little folks played games, after which refreshments were served.

MANY DAUGHTERS OF LIBERTY TO GATHER

Seventh Regular Session of New Jersey State Council to Meet in This City.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

THE COUNCIL WILL MEET IN PLAINFIELD APRIL 15 AND 16.

Lots of Important Business to Come Up Before the Meeting, So a Very Large Crowd is Expected Here.

The seventh regular session of the State Council of New Jersey, Daughters of Liberty, will be held in this city April 15 and 16. It is thought that the session will be well attended on account of the election of officers and because of other important business which will be presented. There are 146 councils in the State. It is estimated by the State board of officers that there will be at least 200 voting delegates present. Many ex-councillors and ex-association councillors will attend as visitors, without voice or vote. The sessions will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

At the first session, held in Trenton, in 1895, the voting delegates numbered but twenty-seven. The membership in the State was but 1,200, with twenty-seven councils chartered. These figures are in striking contrast with the membership of today. The State secretary will report 146 councils and 12,260 members, of whom 9,984 are women and 2,276 men. Of the male members sixty-eight belong to the Order of United American Mechanics, 2,122 belong to the Junior Order United American Mechanics and eighty-six hold membership in both these orders. A man must belong to either of these orders to be admitted into the order of Daughters of Liberty.

The National Council has under advisement an amendment to do away with these restrictions and admit to full membership any man who was born under the protection of the American flag, and the question will be voted on by that body at its meeting to be held in Syracuse in August next. It is thought by friends of this proposed change that the order will make rapid strides if the amendment is carried.

The reports will show a net increase in membership of 2,216 during the last three years. In that time the councils of this State have added to their total worth, which includes money invested and on hand, and paraphernalia, the sum of $15,569.65. During 1901 the councils have paid out $28,134.08 in sick and death benefits. This item of expenditure amounts to $109,049.07 for the last six years.

During 1901 the dues collected amounted to $57,231.65; the receipts from other sources were $17,452.75, and there was paid out for purposes other than benefits, $39,555.45. Essex county leads in the numer of councils and membership, having twenty-three subordinate bodies and 2,092 members.

There will be a proposition before the State council to rescind the law authorizing the appointment of deputy State councillors, but it is claimed that the friends of the deputy system will outnumber those opposed to it. The office of deputy carries with it considerable authority. The State councillor assigns important work to her deputies, and the position is eagerly sought by members who have become former councillors or ex-associate councillors.

The present State vice-councillor, Mrs. Mary L. Siefert, of Jersey City, will doubtless be elected to the position of State councillor, it being the rule to advance an officer in this order. Trenton seems to be the choice of many delegates as the place of meeting in 1903.

The Rand, McNally Atlas.

The Rand, McNally new census indexed atlas of the world is indispenble in a family. In addition to a complete and exhaustive treatment of the United States, a big subject in itself, the atlas treats of Canada and all foreign countries. The descriptive matter is voluminous and the index shows counties, towns, islands, mountains, rivers, etc., all of which is according to the latest census, making the work of great value to everyone.

METHODISTS NOW IN SESSION AT ELIZABETH

Forty-Fifth Session of Newark Conference Was Begun There Yesterday.

ADDRESSES WERE MADE.

PRESIDING ELDER GEORGE W. SMITH MADE HIS ANNUAL REPORT.

Officers of the Conference Were Chosen—Appointments Tuesday—Anniversaries Being Held—Session Continues a Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 3—Methodism held sway in this city yesterday and will continue to engage the attention of a large number of visitors for some days. Members of the church from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania gathered to attend the forty-fifth annual session of the Newark Conference.

Presiding Elder George W. Smith, of Plainfield, conducted the opening communion service yesterday morning. Subsequently the business session was begun.

Rev. Dr. Smith's annual report as presiding elder showed that all the churches in the district are in a prosperous condition. He deplored the fact that few churches have done anything to redeem the pledges to raise $24,000 for Hackettstown Seminary. Less than $1,000 has been raised in the district and of this sum the First M. E. church, of Plainfield, contributed $500. The number of persons converted during the past six years was 3,000.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Secretary, Rev. John F. Dodd; assistant secretary, Frank MacDaniel; engrossing secretary, Frederick Bloom; statistical secretary, John A. Guttridge; treasurer, John A. Cole. The standing committee of the last conference is retained.

Anniversary exercises were held by the Woman's Home Missionary Society in the afternoon and Mrs. Mary Leonard Woodruff made the principal address. This was followed by a pentecostal service led by Rev. W. J. Dunham. The anniversary of the Preachers' Aid Society was celebrated last evening.

Anniversaries of the Educational Society and twentieth century fund were also held. It is expected that the bishop will announce his appointments Tuesday.

ORANGE DIDN'T COME.

The Plainfield High School Was All Ready to Play Its First Game, But No Opponents Appeared.

The opening game of the Plainfield High School baseball team was not played on Pittis Field, yesterday afternoon, owing to the failure of the Orange High School nine to appear. The game had been regularly scheduled and Manager Harold Nomer had letters from Manager Hilsinger, of the Orange school team, accepting the date. The Orange boys failed to appear, however, and sent no word. Several hundred people assembled to see the game. After waiting awhile, they were notified that there would be no game and the tickets would admit to the next game.

Manager Nomer is very indignant at the shabby treatment and is naturally anxious that the people of Plainfield should know that the blame for the fiasco of the first game rests entirely with the Orange management.

Public Rehearsal.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra is composed of some of the leading musicians of Plainfield and is under the leadership of Martin A. Korff. The orchestra will give a public rehearsal in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Monday evening, April 7, at 8 o'clock. Tickets of admission may be obtained at the drug stores. A silver offering will be received.

Hope Chapel's Annual Meeting.

The annual church meeting of Hope chapel will be held in the Sunday-school room, this evening. Reports for the fiscal year of the church, Sunday-school and various organizations connected with it, will be read by the officers.

Easter Saturday Tea.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs Wm. G. Wright, of West Eighth street, for a tea to be given Saturday, April 5, from 4 to 6 o'clock, in honor of Mrs. A. M. Deeker.

Borough Council Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the North Plainfield Borough Council will be held tomorrow evening.

UNITED IN MARRIAGE AT PLAINFIELD HOME

Wedding of Miss Helen Clark and John J. Swan Took Place Last Evening.

A PRETTY CEREMONY.

WAS NOT AN ELABORATE AFFAIR ON ACCOUNT OF ILLNESS IN THE FAMILY.

Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards—Beautiful Gowns of Bride and Attendants—Those in the Bridal Party.

In the parlor of the luxurious home of Edward B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, his daughter, Miss Helen Richards Clark, and John Joseph Swan were married at 6 o'clock last evening. Although the intention was to make the nuptial event a quiet affair on account of the illness of Mrs. Clark, it was a brilliant function notwithstanding.

Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, was the officiating clergyman. As he pronounced the marriage, before him stood the fashionable folk of this city as well as many prominent socially at points more or less distant. The long parlor, as well as the whole mansion, was beautifully adorned. Floral decorations in profusion enhanced the charming scene. It was in truth an Easter wedding for the floral emblem of that feast was conspicuously displayed in every conceivable part of the house, particularly in the parlor. Palms, ferns, smilax and potted plants set off the lilies with rare effect.

Attending the bride as matron-of-honor was her sister, Mrs. Samuel P. Williams, of Hartford, Connecticut. The bridemaids were Miss Florence Homer, of Chicago, Ill., Miss Edith G. Swan, a sister of the groom, of Washington, D. C., and the Misses Harriet and May Shreve, of this city. Arthur R. Swan, a brother of the groom, of New York, was best man and the ushers were Edward R. Perkins, Thomas John George, and St. John Chilton, all of New York.

A metropolitan orchestra furnished the music for the wedding and reception. As the bridal party entered the strains of the march from "Lohengrin" were heard, while at the termination of the service Mendelssohn's march was rendered. After the ceremony was concluded, Mr. and Mrs. Swan received the enthusiastic congratulations of the assemblage, which numbered at least 150 persons. Later they slipped away and boarded an express. Their honeymoon will consume a fortnight.

The bride was gowned in white satin with white lace and ribbon trimmings. Her veil was of tulle and she carried violets. The gowns of the matron-of-honor and bridemaids were much similar. They carried Easter lilies.

Mr. Swan's gifts to his best man and ushers were dainty scarf pins. Beautiful brooch pins were given by the bride to the matron-of-honor and the bridemaids. The bride received an unusually number of presents, among them being exquisite designs in jewelry, rare china, solid silverware, ornaments in Favrile glass, dainty embroideries, and handsome things in bric-a-brac and furniture.

On the completion of their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Swan will reside in this city. The groom is secretary to Vice President W. L. Saunders, of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company, of Easton, Pa. His offices are at the concern's headquarters in New York. Mr. Swan is an alumnus of Cornell University and was formerly a resident of Washington, D. C.

Executors Did Their Work.

The executors of the estate of the late George W. Moore, James Atwood, of Trenton, and John Gibson, of Newark, have practically settled the affairs of the estate and been discharged by the court. They are now acting as trustees in the matter pending an appeal made by Mrs. Moore, the widow, from a decision of the court refusing to set aside the will of Mr. Moore.

In Justice Hand's Court.

The contract case of Janeway et als against Naylor, was adjourned for one week in Justice Hand's court, yesterday. W. S. Angleman represents the plaintiffs and H. C. Runyon the defendant. Judgment for the full amount and costs was given for the plaintiff in Justice Hand's court, yesterday afternoon, in the contract case of Griffin against Brown.

NINETY-SEVEN VACCINATED.

That Was the Record at the Police Headquarters Last Month.

Since the local police authorities deemed it advisable to vaccinate all prisoners placed in cells adjoining those in which smallpox suspects were held, ninety-seven persons have been treated. This is the record for the past month and it is intended to continue the plan for some time longer. Dr. Norman H. Probasco was the physician in all the cases. On numerous occasions he was assisted by the police, as many of the prisoners objected to the process in strenuous fashion.

NO SETTLEMENT OF LOSS

APPRAISERS APPOINTED TO DECIDE ON BABCOCK BUILDING LOSS.

Conference Between Insurance Men and Trustees of the Building Had No Result.

Because the representatives of the fire insurance companies carrying risks on the Babcock building and the trustees of the Babcock estate cannot come to an agreement as to the loss on the building, the matter has been referred to appraisers for adjustment. This decision was reached at a meeting of the companies and trustees of the estate held in New York Tuesday.

Miller & Maltby, the well-known firm of fire adjusters, have been called in by Tapscott & Hardingham, the local firm, to assist in the settlement. It is understood that the trustees of the Babcock estate ask $114,000 in settlement, but the fire insuance companies claim that the amount is too much, that the building can be rebuilt as good as before for less money.

The companies will not say how much they are willing to settle for, but they have said that the sum asked is too much. For this reason appraisers will be chosen and to them will be left the question of how much shall be paid. The trustees of the estate and companies will have to abide by their decision. It is believed that it will be two weeks before a verdict will be reached.

M'ALL AUXILIARY MEETING.

Reports Heard and Officers Elected at Annual Meeting Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary was held yesterday at the Public Library and was well attended.

According to the report of the secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Lee, $1,084.75 was received and contributed for the objects of the association during the year. Most helpful and encouraging were the remarks of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, the president. She gave a review of the past year's work and her words were a source of inspiration to all.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead; honorary vice president, Mrs. Lawrence Myers; vice presidents, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. I. N. VanSickel, Mrs. F. O. Herring, Miss Edith Clapp; secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Lee; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster.

REDUCED JUDGMENT.

Case Appealed From Justice Hand's Court Tried at Elizabeth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 3—The contract case of Rose Murphy against Absalon Dunn, appealed from Justice Hand's court in Plainfield, was tried before Judge Vail, yesterday.

The suit was brought to recover the value of a horse which had been bought by Miss Murphy through Dunn, and which the later is alleged to have sold without reimbursing the proper owner. When tried in the Plainfield court, a jury gave Miss Murphy a verdict of $33 and costs, but this was reduced by Judge Vail, yesterday, to $12 and costs. The verdict will be accepted by the defendant.

R. M. Clark represented the plaintiff and Francis J. Blatz, the defendant.

Frazee Property Sold.

CLOSING SESSION OF L. T. L. CONVENTION

Talks on Various Phases of the Work Closed the Annual Session of State Workers.

LOCAL LEGION PRESENT.

CONDUCTED A REGULAR MEETING FOR BENEFIT OF THE VISITORS.

More Addresses by State W. C. T. U. President and State L. T. L. Secretary—Other Speakers—Visitors Decorated With White Ribbon.

The closing session of the State convention of the Loyal Temperance Legions of New Jersey was held in the lecture room of the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, Miss Alice M. Guernsey, of Newark, State L. T. L. secretary, presiding. The session opened with devotional exercises, including a roll call of delegates, each one responding with a quotation bearing on the temperance warfare.

The first address of the afternoon was by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of this city. The talk was a strong appeal for definite temperance study on the part of the W. C. T. U. members and Loyal Legion workers.

A very interesting talk was that on "L. T. L. Work for Soldiers and Sailors," given by Mrs. Ella M. Thatcher, of Florence, New Jersey, national superintendent of soldier and soilors' department for the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Thatcher gave a vivid picture of the temptations to which the young men in the army and navy are subjected, and then told of some practical ways of helping them, in which the L. T. L. children are able to assist, such as making and filling comfort bags, sending literature, and preparing newspaper clippings to be sent to those in hospitals. At the conclusion of the address, an offering was made, the proceeds of which were to be used for comfort bags to be presented by the convention.

A discussion on "Social Life in the L. T. L.," was opened by Mrs. Kate K. Brown, of South Bound Brook, who told of games that were specially attractive, and other enjoyable social features that have proved useful in the organization. Mrs. Brown's talk was supplemented by one by Miss Guernsey, who gave some practical hints for games.

Mrs. Rufus King Case, the former leader of the Plainfield L. T. L., gave a very interesting account of the work done by the Legion for the cause of good citizenship. She also introduced the Legion's first two graduates, Miss Florence Cooney and Leo Moore, and several other members who had taken a prominent part in the work of the organization.

Mr. Lunger, of North Plainfield, superintendent of the Home Protective Industrial Association, spoke a few words to the women of the convention, expressing his sympathy and admiration for their work.

The last hour of the session was devoted to a meeting of the Plainfield Loyal Temperance Legion. The programme included bright temperance songs and class recitations, and a charming little recitation by Miss Helen Woolley. Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, State W. C. T. U. president, was introduced to the Legion, giving them a helpful little talk.

Miss Guernsey was also presented to the children, and at the conclusion of a bright little talk gave each member with a souvenir leaflet.

A pretty feature of the meeting was the decoration of the visiting delegates with bows of white ribbon, by Ethel and Anna Vail, both of whom had been present at every meeting since joining the Legion, assisted by Leanna Satterlee and Mildred Dennis.

This Loyal Legion hour was under the charge of Miss Howlett, the superintendent.

THEATRICAL.

William Collier in "The Diplomat" has broken all the records of the Madison Square Theatre for Holy Week, generaly regarded as being the poorest week in the theatrical year. The theatre was packed at every performance, emphasizing the fact that in "The Diplomat," Mr. Collier has the greatest success of his career, and that the hit has been positive and solid. Acton Davies, the critic of The Evening Sun, said in his review of "The Diplomat": "There is no actor on the stage today that can dangle an audience on his knee and make it feel so completely at home as Mr. Collier does. His exuberance is non-combustable. He leaps and bounds through his own airy persiflage like a post-graduate trapeze artist without the aid of a net; neither stage waits or misplaced cues can cross his trolley; in short, he is the Empire State Express of American comedians, and he rattles along at such a breakneck gait that no one has time to observe how his wheels go round. While he (Mr. Collier) is on the stage, there is a laugh for every inch of dialogue, and the jokes are jostling each other for standing room." The action of the play is purely local and it is spontaneous in the brightness of its lines. From a production standpoint "The Diplomat" is said to be on the stage with more elaboration than any comedy which has been seen in a long time.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The work accomplished by the attendance department of the public schools during the first month of its existence has demonstrated the wisdom of the change made in the system of compulsory education by the city School Board at the suggestion of Superintendent Poland. Had the truancy officers done no more than place in the school 111 children found roaming the streets—a record in less than thirty days exceeding that of a year under the old method—they would have justified their appointment.

But in addition to removing these children from the evil influences of the street, the attendance officers investigated 813 cases, including 258 reports of truancy, 477 absences from school, 52 cases of children attending no school, 16 police truancy cases and 10 cases of other natures. Besides this, the officers sent warning notices to the parents of 1,149 children, made 792 visits to schools and visited 1,029 homes to investigate cases of truancy or absence of pupils. As a consequence of this well-directed activity, 238 truants were returned to school and 486 absentees were forced to resume their studies.

No further evidence is needed of the inefficiency of the old system of direct police supervision of truancy cases. When that method prevailed no attention was paid to pupils who absented themselves from school, but who were not reported as truants. The personal visitation of attendance officers at homes has not only awakened parents to a realization of their responsibilities, but has been a warning to the children which they have heeded. There is no longer any divided responsibility in the matter of compulsory attendance, a fact which is largely responsible for the success which has crowned the new departure at its inception.—Newark News.

TO APPEAR AS SERIAL.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" Will be in North American.

The most remarkable historical novel in recent years, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," is to appear in the Sunday Philadelphia North American in the form of a serial story. The opening chapters will be out on April 6.

Never before has any newspaper secured for publication in its columns a novel so recent and yet so successful as this one. Julia Marlowe, now appearing as the Princess Mary Tudor in a play written from the book, is scoring the greatest hit in her brililant career upon the stage.

In writing "When Knighthood Was in Flower," Charles Major fixed upon the most romantic spot in the most romantic period of English history, the time of Henry VIII, as a setting for his book. The story thrills with the tender, pure love of a King's sister for an untitled but heroic young Englishman. The hero loves the heroine in spite of his fight against his passion. Their pitiful struggles to avoid one another, their noble sacrifices the one for the other, touch the most hidden string of human sympathy.

Brandon and Mary, knowing consent to their marriage could never be obtained from her brother, the King, elope, with the intent of voyaging to America. Although she is attired in men's clothes, the Princess' sex is discovered, and Brandon, holding an entire ship's party at bay, defends her from the sailors' attack until their captain rushes to his aid. The elopers are captured by the King's soldiers, and to save Brandon from being beheaded Mary marries King Louis of France.

Queen Mary's rescue by Brandon from a palace in which after Louis' death she has been imprisoned by his successor, who loves her, but has been rejected, is among the most thrilling incidents in the narrative. This culminates in their marriage. There is a secondary, but none the less charming, love story running through the book.

A FIGHT FOR A JAIL.

Hamilton County Rival Sheriffs Have a Clash.

LAKE PLEASANT, N. Y., April 3.—The long expected clash between the rival sheriffs of Hamilton county has occurred. A fight at the jail, which Sheriff Locke has been holding by force, resulted in the Locke deputy being thrown out of the building.

Sheriff Kathan had been keeping a sharp watch on the jail for some time, and last night the result of his vigilance was rewarded when one of the deputies at the jail left the building for a short time. Kathan was waiting for such an opportunity, and as soon as the deputy disappeared he entered the jail and encountered the other guardian of the building. The Locke deputy had orders to prevent the jail being seized by Kathan, but before he had much of an opportunity to use forcible means the Republican officer grasped him, and a fight ensued, with results disastrous to the Locke deputy, who was ejected from the jail and ordered not to return.

Kathan after he gained possession took steps to prevent any of the Locke deputies from forcing him to surrender. His deputies are now in possession of the jail and will hold it until the courts decide who is the real sheriff of the county. It has been expected that trouble would result from the situation in Hamilton county, but the unexpected attack of Kathan caught Locke's defenders off their guard, and the contesting sheriff is now without a jail.

Services Over Cecil Rhodes' Remains

CAPE TOWN, April 3.—A private service for his family and friends was held over the remains of Cecil Rhodes at Grooteschuur last evening. The body was brought here at midnight last night and deposited in the vestibule of the building of parliament. The coffin is draped with a tattered union jack which belonged to Mr. Rhodes and which he regarded with peculiar veneration and with a tattered flag of the British Chartered South Africa company which went through the fight at Massikessi. On these two flags rest the cap and gown which the deceased wore when he took his degree at Oxford. Cape policemen are grouped in the corners of the chamber as a guard over the remains. A beautiful wreath of flowers from Queen Alexandra has been placed at the head of the bier. Rudyard Kipling will take part in the funeral procession.

Frosts In the South.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—A heavy frost has occurred in this vicinity, doing some damage to fruit. Up to Tuesday night the damage by previous frosts had been from 25 to 50 per cent in southern Tennessee, and it is feared the heavy frost of Tuesday night will cause an average of 50 per cent loss to fruit growing sections. Frosts were also general in portions of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and North and South Carolina.

Buffalo Coroner Acquitted.

BUFFALO, April 3.—After a trial lasting six days Coroner William C. Boller has been acquitted on the charge of having stolen $32 from a body brought to the morgue in November last. The jury was out for two hours. Martin Swierczek, a Pole, was killed by a train in November, 1901. An envelope containing a month's wages was stolen from his body.

ON OLEOMARGARINE.

Senators Bailey and Depew Discuss the Bill.

AN UNUSUAL FLOW OF HUMOR.

The American Girl Gets Mixed Up In the Debate—House Passes the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Discussion of the oleomargarine bill in the senate was enlivened by two or three bright colloquies between senators. Mr. Bailey (Tex.) concluded his speech begun Tuesday in opposition to the measure, occupying most of the time devoted by the senate to the bill's consideration. His argument was brilliant and at times eloquent and attracted the careful attention of senators on both sides of the chamber and of the occupants of the crowded galleries. He was followed by Mr. Depew (N. Y.) in a bright and witty speech in support of the measure. Mr. Depew matched his wit with that of Mr. Bailey on the subject of the American girl, and the sallies of the two senators were greeted with shouts of laughter both on the floor and in the galleries. The Texan's keen reference to the recent marriage of Mr. Depew was most happily fenced by the New York senator in his reference to the love and admiration excited in women by the "youth and beauty" of Mr. Bailey.

Mr. Depew said he never had heard a speech which had so fired his fancy, so appealed to his imagination and had had so little effect on his judgment as that of Mr. Bailey. He had been taught that competition was the life of trade, but competition ought to be honest. If a merchant deceived his customers by foisting on them a fraud, he believed that man ought to be reached by law, because every man when he purchased an article had a right to get what he paid for. It was perfectly evident that no industry with a good article could compete successfully with a spurious substitute with which the people were deceived.

The house passed the sundry civil appropriation bill. This is the eighth of the regular annual supply bills which have passed at this session. Only a few unimportant amendments were attached to it. After it was disposed of debate on the revenue cutter bill was resumed.

Congressional Action Urged.

MANILA, April 3.—At a meeting of the chamber of commerce, at which all the members were present, it was decided to send a cablegram to President Roosevelt urging congress to take immediate action concerning the currency question here, which, owing to the present depreciation of silver and the ratio of exchange of $2.27 Mexican for a dollar in gold, fixed by the United States Philippine commission for the ensuing quarter, has caused an immense loss of business and a great increase in the local prices of necessaries of life. Many articles now cost 30 per cent more than they did last December.

Nebraska Saloon Raided.

LEXINGTON, Neb., April 3.—Twelve women, followers of Mrs. Carrie Nation, all heavily veiled, raided a "joint" at Eddyville Tuesday night, smashing a large mirror and other furniture and destroying several cases of liquor. James Hammond, charged with keeping the place, was given twenty-four hours to leave town or receive a coat of tar and feathers.

Up Goes Meat.

CHICAGO, April 3.—An advance of half a cent per pound on dressed beef went into effect at the stockyards yesterday, when all the packers responded to the repeated advances that have taken place in the last week in cattle on the hoof. Today's top price for cattle, $7.50 per 100 pounds, is the highest April price since 1882. Hogs sold at record prices for the year, $7.05.

A TALE OF SUFFERING

Four Days and Five Nights In Dakota Blizzard.

A FIGHT AGAINST COLD AND HUNGER

Passengers on Ill Fated Train Reach St. Paul After a Terrible Experience—Attempted Suicide by Professor Colegrove.

ST. PAUL, April 3.—Passengers just arrived on a Great Northern train due last Friday tell of being snowbound for four days and five nights on the prairies of North Dakota in the midst of the worst blizzard the northwest has seen in many years, with only food enough for two frugal meals a day and with such an amount of fuel that the ladies had to wrap themselves in blankets and the men to wear their overcoats day and night to keep from freezing. The train was completely lost to the world. Late Thursday afternoon it picked its precarious way out of Williston in the hope of being able to reach Minot, some fourteen miles to the east, before night. Almost midway, at a little stopping place called Ray, where there are only a siding, a water tank and a coal shed, the train was stalled.

The engineer thought he could run the engine back to Williston and get aid and, taking the conductor with him, started on the trip. The lone engine was stuck in a drift in a cut a short distance out of the town and had to be abandoned. This left the train of eight coaches and about 250 passengers alone on the siding, with all communication cut off. Then began the long siege, during which the cold had to be borne and hunger stifled.

On Monday evening Professor Colegrove of the University of Washington, who had been despondent and morose, attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. There was a physician on the train, but he had no facilities for performing the necessary operation, and it was absolutely necessary to get into communication with one of the neighboring towns. In their desperation the passengers broke open everything in the train chests, and in the conductor's box they found a telegraph instrument. A young man, an electrician, faced the blizzard and tapped one of the wires and attached the instrument. He notified the operators at both Minot and Williston of what had occurred.

From each place a snowplow was started in front of an engine bearing a surgeon. The one from Minot after a hard night's work reached the siding early the following morning, and the wounded man was removed on the first train to St. Paul, where he was cared for at the city hospital. The almost famished passengers, who had suffered from cold and exposure, were given food and warm berths in the first train pushed through the drifts.

Professor Colegrove was brought to St. Paul early yesterday morning. The jugular vein is partially severed, and it is not believed that he can recover.

Mr. Colegrove has been ill from too close application to work and had decided to spend a month with friends and relatives at Hamilton, N. Y.

Antiplutocrats Meet.

LOUISVILLE, April 3.—The movement for the formation of an allied party comprising adherents of all parties opposed to the Republicans and Democrats, or, as the call for the meeting stated, "a union of reform forces against plutocracy," took definite shape here when a convention, attended by about 200 delegates representing eight states and as many different parties, was called to order in this city. The work was of a preliminary nature, a temporary organization being effected and committees appointed to prepare for the permanent organization.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 3.—The following notice, signed by the president of the mill in which it was posted, has been put on the bulletin board in every mill in the Augusta district:

"Owing to the demand made on the John P. King Manufacturing company for an advance of 10 per cent, accompanied by a notice that if not granted its operatives would refuse to work after Saturday, April 5, and said demand having been refused, notice is hereby given to the employees of this company that should such a strike be inaugurated this mill will close indefinitely on the evening of Tuesday, April 8."

This order is a result of the decision by the Manufacturers' association to fight the union. It means that if the strike goes on in the King mill as scheduled every mill in Augusta, Graniteville, Aiken, Warrenville, Vancluse and Langley will be closed, throwing 10,000 operatives out of work. Union leaders insist that the strike will take place on Monday, although many operatives are opposing it.

Mine Explosion Victims Buried.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—Investigation has revealed the fact that the Nelson mine at Dayton in which the explosion occurred is not on fire and has not been. Workmen are engaged excavating the debris. The funerals of the victims recovered were held yesterday. Altogether there were sixteen killed, leaving fifty-eight orphans and fourteen widows. The miners claim that the explosion was due to failure to sprinkle the mine on Sunday. The prevailing opinion seems to be that it was caused by a combination of coal dust and gas in the mine. The officials of the Dayton Coal and Iron company stated that they have not progressed sufficiently in their investigations to make a full statement, but they claim that the Nelson was one of the best governed mines at Dayton.

The Good Roads Movement.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 3.—The Jefferson memorial and interstate good roads convention has began here, with General Fitz-Hugh Lee in the chair. General Lee commended the example which the Jefferson memorial road will furnish to those it is desirable to convince of the value of public highways and said, "We propose to connect Monticello with the University of Virginia by a grand avenue which not only will recall to those who pass over it the life and character of a most eminent American statesman, but also will advance the great movement for good roads in the United States by serving as an object lesson in road construction in the middle Atlantic and southern states."

Tennessee Roads Resume Business.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—The first passenger train to go through to Nashville over the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road since last Friday left here yesterday, all bridges having been repaired. Regular freight schedules have also been resumed. The Memphis division of the Southern railway was operated for the first time since the storm.

Van Wormer Jury Not Completed.

HUDSON, N. Y., April 3.—Only eight jurors had been chosen for the Van Wormer jury when court adjourned yesterday. More talesmen have been summoned.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE.

Will Often Help You Greatly—Read What a Plainfield Citizen Says.

You may hesitate to listen to the advice of strangers but the testimony of friends or residents of Plainfield is worth your most careful attention. It is an easy matter to investigate such proof as this. Then the evidence must be conclusive. Read the following:

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame and weak back and I never found anything which gave me any relief until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began to use them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back pained me and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend and when I had a cold or overexerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies, but got little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvement. I think they are a fine medicine for a lame back."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

OUR JAPANESE GUEST.

Count Matsukata Impressed With What He Has Seen.

ST. PAUL, April 3.—Count Matsukata, the Japanese statesman and financier, has arrived in St. Paul with a party of his countrymen. He attended the wedding of James J. Hill's daughter at noon, and today the party left for Chicago. Matsukata is accompanied by his two sons and by T. Megata director of the taxation bureau of Japan, and F. Tukai, a banker. Several other Japanese are traveling with him. The count is grizzled and rugged looking, much larger and stronger looking than the average Japanese. He has a heroic cast of countenance, reminding one of the face of Bismarck.

T. Megata said that the count was much impressed with the greatness of America and its wonderful resources. He had seen the vast grainfields of the west and the broad cattle ranches. As Mr. Megata said it, "The resources were vast."

Matsukata, Mr. Megata says, is on no special mission, but merely on a tour of observation. He will look over Chicago and will then go to Philadelphia and Washington. The party will spend some days in New York and will sail for England April 22.

England, France and Russia will be visited and the trip will be finished overland through Siberia. The count has been in Europe before, but not in America.

Delegates to Red Cross Meeting.

DAVENPORT, Ia., April 3.—Information has been received here of the appointment of Rear Admiral W. K Van Reypen, Dr. Nicholas Senn of Chicago, B. F. Tillinghast, editor of the Davenport Democrat; Mrs. J. Ellen Foster and Miss Clara Barton as the American delegates to the seventh international conference of the Red Cross to be held in St. Petersburg May 16 to 29. Mr. Tillinghast was chairman of the Iowa committee which dispatched the ship Tynehead with 7,000,000 pounds of corn and flour to the relief of the Russian famine sufferers in 1891.

Peace Congress Opened.

MONACO, April 3.—Yesterday the eleventh international peace congress was opened here in the presence of the Prince of Monaco. Except for the Italian and French delegates the attendance is smaller than at last year's meeting at Glasgow. Many prominent delegates, including Dr. Trueblood and Edwin Mead of Boston, were absent. The principal speakers yesterday were Mr. Green, an American delegate, and Mr. Moscheles, a delegate from Great Britain. The Prince of Monaco held a reception at the palace in the evening in honor of the congress.

Policeman Shot His Wife.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Policeman John J. O'Brien of Brooklyn shot and instantly killed his young wife, Minnie, at their home in that borough. The shooting was done in the presence of his three children and his wife's mother. Mrs. O'Brien had just handed her husband his revolver as he was going out on duty when, without a word of warning, he shot her through the head. He had been drinking heavily and was on the verge of delirium tremens, it is said. He was arrested immediately after the shooting.

Shooting at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 3.—With 493 entries and 456 actual starters, the Grand American handicap opened at Blue River park, and at the end of the day 143 winning shots had a straight score of eight birds. There will be eight rounds each day until the list of withdrawals shall make it possible to shoot more. If there shall be two or more men with a straight score after the twenty-fifth round, the high guns will shoot off to decide the contest. Perfect weather marked the sport.

One Funeral For Master and Dog.

NEW YORK, April 3.—At the funeral of Professor F. H. Daniels, a teacher of music, in Brooklyn at the family residence the body of the musician's pet dog, Baby, lay under the coffin. The dog was twenty-two years old. When the body of the musician was placed in the coffin, Baby lay down beneath it and died as quietly as though he had fallen asleep. The body was not moved, so the funeral services were over dog as well as master.

Forty Years' Courtship.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 3.—Jacob Graff, aged sixty-two, and Rebecca Gleisbury, aged sixty-five, have just been married after a courtship of forty years. Graff bought a license to wed nine years ago, but Miss Gleisbury refused, and he has carried the paper ever since.

Naval Movements.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, April 3.—The north Atlantic squadron, under the command of Rear Admiral F. J. Higginson, has arrived at Martinique. The Kearsarge, the Olympia and the Indiana anchored here, while the Massachusetts and the Alabama went to St. Pierre.

Transport Crook Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The transport Crook has arrived, twenty-eight days from Manila and twenty from Nagasaki. She brings 627 soldiers, of whom 509 belong to the Seventh United States infantry. The remainder are discharged men and casuals.

A Ten Per Cent Advance.

MILLBURY, Mass., April 3.—The management of the Fisherville cotton mills in this town has advanced wages 10 per cent. More than 600 hands are employed. The increase is voluntary on the part of the company.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair, fresh west winds.

TROUBLES OF LABOR

Bituminous Coal Miners Tie Up Work Generally.

PREPARED FOR A LONG STRUGGLE.

In Addition to This Fight Cotton Mill Workers East and South Demand Better Pay and In Many Places Have Struck.

ALTOONA, Pa., April 3.—Not a mine of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company is being worked. President Gilday, Secretary Gilbert and National Officers McKay and Rice are in conference at Clearfield. They telegraphed for National President Mitchell, but he answered that he was unable to visit this district at present. Several of the small operators in Cambria county who did not attend the Altoona convention and who do not feel bound by the action of the large operators have failed to sign the scale.

The miners propose to give them a time limit, at the end of which, if the scale is not signed, the men will be called out. Three hundred men employed in a mine at Hastings quit work because the operator, James L. Mitchell, refused to sign the scale unless the check off clause was eliminated. Mr. Mitchell took possession of the mine since the Altoona convention adjourned.

The miners of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Coal company are well organized and, with considerable financial aid back of them, have confidence in their ability to put up a long fight if necessary. Notices were posted at the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad car shops in Dubois yesterday ordering the closing of the shops until the strike has been settled. This will throw 400 mechanics and laborers out of employment indefinitely. Besides this a number of railroad crews have been laid off. With all the mines idle along the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road there will be no coal traffic, and the effect of the miners' strike will be felt all along the line from Buffalo and Rochester to Butler.

Weavers on a Strike.

WEBSTER, Mass., April 3.—The weavers in the Chase woolen mill of the American Woolen company are out on strike partly on account of the refusal of the company to concede their demand for an increase in wages and partly out of sympathy with the strikers at the Olneyville (R. I.) mills of the company. The weavers on last Thursday voted to demand 2 cents a yard more for weaving, with fifty-eight hours' work per week and Saturday afternoons off. Agent Prentiss Howard went to Boston and obtained the consent of the company officials to agree to the time schedules demanded, but was instructed to allow an advance of but a cent a yard in wages. This was unsatisfactory to the employees, and the strike resulted. About 130 weavers are out.

No Hope For Striking Mill Hands.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 3.—General Superintendent Currier of the New England Cotton Yarn company while in this city said that there is not the slightest chance that the operatives employed in the mills controlled by the New England Cotton Yarn company will receive the advance in wages for which they are now on strike. He said that in view of the present conditions in the yarn business it would be fully as cheap and perhaps cheaper for the mills to shut down than for them to run.

Engineers Tie Up Montana Mines.

BUTTE, Mon., April 3.—Three thousand miners employed in Anaconda, Parrott and Washoe properties are walking the streets as a result of the strike of the stationary engineers in the mines of the companies. The strikers number but thirty men, yet not a cage has been lowered in any of the properties, and there is a possibility that the smelters at Anaconda may be closed down in part or wholly as a consequence. The engineers' union does not indorse the action of the striking engineers.

Hod Carriers Strike.

CINCINNATI, April 3.—Three hundred hod carriers employed by brick contractors in this city, Covington and Newport struck on Tuesday for an advance of 3¾ cents per hour, fixing the scale at $2.80 for an eight hour day.

Heavy Snow In the Alleghanies.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 3.—A snowstorm which has just ceased was the severest in the Alleghanies this winter. Reports from Garrett county, Md.; Preston county, W. Va., and points along the West Virginia Central railroad tell of impassable roads from drifts. John Greenhorn of Barton was overcome during the storm and fell on the railroad tracks and was crushed to death by a train.

Pennsylvania Road Snowbound.

EBENSBURG, Pa., April 3.—The storm blowing here for the last three days is equal to the worst of the winter. The Ebensburg branch of the Pennsylvania railroad is snowed up. A big force is now at work attempting to open the road.

Suicide at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., April 3.—A young man twenty-five years old, supposed to be Fred Heintz of North Tonawanda, committed suicide. He jumped from Terrapin point into Niagara river and was swept over the American falls.

Minister Storer at Home.

CINCINNATI, O., April 3.—Bellamy Storer, United States minister to Spain, has arrived in Cincinnati with his wife, to be home one month for rest and recuperation.

LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE.

In more ways than one, Governor Murphy has already demonstrated the fact that he is a man of clear, keen judgment and there need not be any worry that he will not fully look into the rights and wrongs of the Greater Plainfield bills before he signs them. He has shown a tendency to go slowly and carefully in the matter but, in the end, there is no doubt that he will see the wisdom of allowing the people to decide for themselves.

Those who were present at the Senate hearing in Trenton or read the very full account of it in The Daily Press will remember that the chief opposition raised at that time by the North Plainfield citizens present was that the bills transferred North Plainfield from Somerset county to Union county without giving the people of that municipality a chance to say whether or not they wanted to go. The petitions presented protested against this transfer without giving the boroughites a chance to express their opinion on the question.

Senator Reed declared without reserve that he would never favor the annexation bill unless a referendum provision was attached to it. The promoters of the project immediately accepted it and declared their willingness to stand by the result.

Now that the annexation bill has been amended according to the desires of those who opposed it before the Senate, one would naturally believe that all would be satisfied. What can be fairer than letting the people decide the question for themselves? Surely there are no citizens in the borough who feel that they have more right to decide the destinies of the borough than have its inhabitants. It should be remembered that even after the Greater Plainfield bills become laws, nothing can be done toward annexation and consolidation without the consent of a majority of the voters. No one can ask for any fairer way of settling the much discussed question. There is no question which the people cannot be trusted to answer. So why not give them the chance?

The municipal ownership committee of the Borough Council has accomplished something at last. The people of North Plainfield may thank Mayor Smalley, however, for insisting that the committee do something. In the course of ten days, the subject will be placed before the Borough Council. Then will come a chance to put the subject to vote under the referendum provision of another law.

The Newark Evening News is to be congratulated on the splendid growth which has been made in its circulation. Over a half a million copies are now printed nightly. It is the highest figure attained by any daily newspaper in New Jersey. No one can question the claim of the News to being the leading newspaper of the State.

Owing to the fact that the interest on the investments of Rutgers College has been decreased, that institution has found itself rather short of funds of late. An appeal was made to the Reformed churches of the State for aid for the theological school. The recent gift of Ralph Voorhees therefor comes at a most opportune time.

There are times when little bursts of generosity on the part of the Plainfield Water Supply Company almost lead one to believe that some day that corporation will give the people what they desire, water meters. The last kindly act of the company is to extend the hours during which its patrons may sprinkle their lawns.

Many people have been attracted by the water-color sketch of the new home of Muhlenberg Hospital which is now on exhibition at The Dail Press office. All admit that it will be decidedly an ornament to that part of the city.

FUNERAL OF WATSON RANDOLPH.

Services, Held at Fillmore Baptist Church Yesterday, Were Crowded.

The Fillmore Baptist church was filled to the doors, yesterday afternoon, when funeral services were conducted there over the remains of Watson Randolph, who died suddenly at his home, Sunday. He was a popular young man and the large gathering of friends showed the respect he commanded.

The service was conducted by Rev E. J. Crudup, assisted by Revs. J. W. Mitchell and J. B. Smith. Several selections were sung by the church choir of which the young man was a member. His accustomed seat was draped in mourning. Large and numerous floral tributes were much in evidence.

At the close of the service, the remains were taken to Hillside cemetery for interment. Those who acted as pall bearers were William Jones, Herbert Smith, James Scott, Frank Nelson, Harry Thomas and Lewis Randolph.

Then Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Gave a Reception to Their Friends.

In a very quiet manner, Miss Rebeccah King and George Lee, both of this city were married last evening by Justice J. E. Mosher at the latter's residence on East Fourth street. The only witnesses to the ceremony were Robert Lee and Miss Sarah Johnson. Following the tying of the nuptial knot, a reception was held at the home of the groom's brother on East Fourth street. The couple will reside in this city.

Almost Two Score.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wendell, of South Stirling, celebrated the thirty-ninth anniversary of their wedding Tuesday evening. The house was decorated with American flags. Among the people present were a number of boroughites, including Mr. and Mrs. Silas Clark Mundy, Mr. and Mrs Wm. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ammerman, Norman Ammerman, Miss Nettie Cass, Harry Spencer and Surrogate Spencer.

BURGLARS MADE GOOD HAUL

ROBBED RESIDENCE OF CYRUS HEALEY AT FANWOOD BOROUGH.

Broke in Tuesday Night and Stole $800 Worth of Money, Silverware and Jewelry.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, April 3—Burglars paid a visit to this borough, Tuesday night, and decamped with $800 worth of money, silverware and jewelry from the residence of Cyrus Healey, who occupies the Frentz house on Park avenue.

Entrance was effected by cutting the glass in a kitchen window. The thieves worked so quietly the family was not made aware of the loss until yesterday morning. There is slight hope of recovering the property except by means of the jewelry, a description of which has been furnished the police of nearby cities and towns.

This is the fifth burglarly which has been committeed in the borough in a comparatively short time and the residents are becoming alarmed. There is talk of forming a vigilance committee or raising funds for the maintenance of a regular marshal to patrol the streets at night.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

No one will ask you where you got your hat if you wear the Hawes. It is perfection in style and quality. See James R. Blair, of Park avenue.

If it's vegetables you want just 'phone or see W. W. Dunn, the man who conducts the up-to-date grocery at the corner of Duer street and Lincoln place.

Talk about the fight over good beef in Germany, wouldn't the War Lord's subjects like to taste the meat sold at Smalley Brothers North avenue market. Its quality is guaranteed.

Groceries that are good groceries, bargains that are bargains and prices that suit. All these and more you get by dealing with Callahan & Son, the Richmond street grocers. Orders called for and delivered.

Putnam & DeGraw carry an exceptional line of dry goods and often one finds at their store that which cannot be found elsewhere. Their stock of handkerchiefs, umbrellas, toilet articles and men's furnishings is complete.

In these days of progress, the student doesn't literally burn "midnight oil" but he sometimes need the right kind of a lamp to study by and so do other people. Gavett, the West Front street crockery man, has the Miller student lamp in five sizes.

If you would fully enjoy life this spring and summer you must wear the right kind of shoes, the kind that have style, fit well and do not cost too much money. Such a stock is carried by Willett & Son, the Park avenue shoe merchants.

The exquisite floral decorations in the artistic home of E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, last evening, were the work of Mrs. L. J. Denton, of West Front street. The occasion was the marriage of Mr. Clark's daughter, Miss Helen Richards Clark, to John J. Swan.

Do you care for light, wholesome bread? Then try Warnock's. Have you a fondness for good confectionery? Try Warnock's. Have you a failing, for delicious, pure ice cream? Try Warnock's. Do you appreciate—but what's the use of enumerating? Drop in at Warnock's.

L. W. Randolph, the hustling West Front street druggist, is making preparations for a big spring and summer trade. His attractive store is being newly papered and painted, presenting a fresh appearance. Mr. Randolph carries a complete line of drugs and toilet articles.

VERDICT FOR POCOCK.

Twice Tried Suit Over Fish Market Ended in Justice Hand's Court.

No cause for action was the conclusion reached by Justice Hand, yesterday, after meditating over the Stratton-Pocock contract case which had been tried twice in his court.

Stratton originally brought suit on two charges, alleging that Pocock sold the fixtures in a fish market to him which he did not own, and also that the place was represented as being a paying investment when it proved to be conducted at a loss. The latter charge was afterward withdrawn. The two complaints were first tried before a jury which disagreed.

DRAKE IS ACTIVE.

Has Brought About a Number of Real Estate Transactions.

Through S. D. Drake, of Lincoln, Joshua D. Loizeaux has purchased of J. E. Dunn, of Somerville, eighteen building lots at the corner of Clinton avenue and Third street. Deeds were recorded yesterday in Trenton, for ninety acres of land at Hillcrest in Trenton from Mary E. Farlee, of New York, to Watchung Realty Company, S. D. D. Drake, president. The consideration was about $50,000. S. D. Drake disposed of a property in Lincoln, yesterday, the consideration being $1,000.

David R. Perry, of New York, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting, Sunday afternoon, for the third time within ten months. He is a clean-cut and forceful speaker. The music will be an attractive feature.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. You don't have to diet. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

What Cecil Rhodes Has Done for South Africa and England

His Work in the Dark Continent Has Been Productive of Wonderful Results.

HAS BEEN AN EMPIRE BUILDER FOR GREAT BRITAIN

THE assumption in the title of this article that Cecil Rhodes has had much to do with the history of South Africa and has been instrumental by his far-sightedness and indomitable will in developing the country which he first saw as a delicate strippling in the early seventies is fully warranted by the facts in the case. The telegraph line which threads its way through the vast extent of Rhodesia and now reaches to Tanganyika with the ultimate purpose to have it connect with Cairo; the railroad line from Cape Town to Bulawayo; the Beira line, from the east coast to Salisbury in Mashonaland, and the Mafeking-Bulawayo railroad, all have been projected and pushed by the untiring energy of the man whose ambition, since he first dreamed of empire as he watched over his diamond diggings in '72 at Kimberley, has been to see South Africa a great federation of states under the British flag.

That ambition has been the consuming passion of his life, and has made him unyielding and persistent in the face of the greatest difficulties, has tempted him to hazard great risks, has unlocked the treasure house of his vast wealth, has made him apparently indifferent to the storm of criticism which has raged about his head, and has held him untouched by the lavish praise and tributes of his friends. "Ambition has no rest." And Cecil Rhodes has known none since one day at Kimberley, in '81, he unbosomed himself to a friend, and moving his hand over the map of Africa up to the Zambesi, he exclaimed: "That's my dream—all English." Wealth and political power have been sought with the one end in view, of seeing the intangibleness of the dream become the tangible realization of actual fact.

STEAMER ON THE ZAMBESI RIVER.
It Was Given in Part Payment to Lobengula for Signing the Treaty Giving Away the Mineral Rights in His Country.

One of Cecil Rhodes' biographers, writing on this point, says: "Cecil Rhodes never cared for money for itself, to hoard it, or to spend it in luxury or ostentation. His financial schemes all centered round or were undertaken to advance his one dominant idea, the expansion and consolidation of Greater Britain in South Africa, the occupation for England of the seemingly illimitable and unexplored regions to the north up to and beyond the Zambesi."

Cecil Rhodes himself says: "Having read the histories of other countries, I saw that expansion was everything, and that the world's surface being limited, the great object of present humanity should be to take as much of the world as it possibly could."

Certainly an "expansive" ambition, and if not altogether a selfish one, still it was not the loftiest and was one full of dangerous possibilities. As the Poet Willis says:

"How like a mounting devil in the heart Rules the unrein'd ambition."

And Horace declares that: "Nothing is too high for the daring of mortals; we would storm Heaven itself in our folly." The world at large has been unstinted in its adverse criticism of Cecil Rhodes, his ambitions, his achievements, his methods. Comparatively few, though powerful, are his friends. Wherever the name of Cecil Rhodes is spoken, almost in the same breath you will hear the vituperative epithet cast upon him. In view of this known prevailing sentiment, it is with some reluctance we proceed to discuss what Cecil Rhodes has done for South Africa. Still, if we hold strictly to our text, we have nothing directly to do with the man himself or his methods, but may proceed to tell the story of the South Africa Cecil Rhodes found when he first entered the country in the early seventies, and the South Africa of to-day.

Then, a long, slow journey by ox-team over wide stretches of unbroken, wild country was necessary in order to reach Kimberley, where Cecil Rhodes began to lay the foundation of his fortune in the diamond fields. To-day, speedily and with the comforts of modern travel, the tourist reaches Kimberley from points in Cape Colony or Natal, and is able, should fancy or business call him, to go hundreds of miles farther north through Rhodesia. Then, Kimberley marked the outpost of the white man's progress, and all to the north and west was unknown and unbroken wilderness, held by the uncivilized natives. To-day, if you will take your maps of South Africa, you will find the red of British possession and control extending from Cape Colony up through the central and richest portion of South Africa to Lake Tanganyika. Then, to get into the interior as far as Kimberley meant isolation from the outside world, and for months at a time no news of passing events was received. To-day, messages are flashed from Cape Town through Kimberley, across the wide fertile stretches of Bechuanaland on, on they speed through Rhodesia to Tete and Blantyre; and from the last-named settlement wire is now being stretched to Lake Tanganyika, and ultimately will reach Uganda on Lake Victoria Nyanza, there later to connect with a line being run south from Cairo.

But, you say, admitting the truth of all this wonderful development and progress, what has it to do with Cecil Rhodes, who over 30 years ago we found sitting with a far-away look in his eyes watching the natives at work on his diamond diggings. Listen and you will understand, but remember, as we briefly summarize what Cecil Rhodes has done for South Africa, that we are not commending or lauding the man, but are forced in the light of the facts of history to render tribute where tribute is due.

To tell of the diamond and gold mines of South Africa, and leave out the name and masterful financial control of Cecil Rhodes, would be like attempting to give a history of the revolutionary war with the name and deeds of Washington left out.

To follow the onward march of British control from Cape Colony up through Bechuanaland, up, up across Rhodesia, on into British Central Africa to Lake Tanganyika, over 2,000 miles from Cape Town, and not see the hand of the ambitious, the indomitable Rhodes holding and controlling and clearing the way for the British government to reluctantly follow, would be perversion of history, and would leave unexplained how Britain managed to get hold of so much of the best of South Africa when an aggressive and far-seeing Kruger, having obtained the independence of the Transvaal by the convention of London in 1884, was reaching out to secure for his republic the very territory Rhodes by a keener mind and more rapid movement was claiming for Britain.

To trace the hundreds and hundreds of miles of railroad and telegraph which cut the country up into triangles and quadrangles and make the most distant places of to-day nearer together than were the settlements in Cape Colony 20, 30 years ago, and not see the pushing, untiring energy of the masterful financial and commercial instinct of Cecil Rhodes is to recognize a wonderful, almost phenomenal, development and yet to blindly refuse to see the guiding, controlling hand that brought it into being.

SCENE ON A RHODESIA FARM.

Cecil Rhodes first began to be felt as a factor in the development and control of South Africa when he rescued the diamond mines from bankruptcy and consolidated the many hundreds of independent interests into the De Beers Consolidated Mines. The gold mines of the Rand, discovered in 1886, were secured and controlled by the Gold Fields of South Africa company, founded by Cecil Rhodes. But political power must be added to Rhodes immense wealth in order to help him realize his dream of a great British empire in South Africa. He entered the Cape parliament in 1882 as member for Barkly West, and came down to the assembly, as he observed, in a speech, "with the thought, if possible, to use my political power to obtain the balance of unclaimed country."

As premier of Cape Colony, Rhodes' scheme of a South African federation was advanced, and the commercial interests had in 1895 brought about a customs union for Cape Colony, Orange Free State and Rhodesia, and to some extent for Natal. While managing the affairs of the diamond and gold companies, and the company holding Rhodesia, the premier found time for practical labors in encouraging the industries and commercial interests of the Cape. His Glen Grey act, passed in the interests of the natives, is considered by many to have been a most wise and beneficent provision.

It was while Cecil Rhodes was acquiring his immense wealth in the diamond fields and gold mines that he was busy laying his plans for the founding of a great British empire in South Africa. Hunters like Selous and explorers like Baines had wandered over the vast country for years and brought accurate reports of its fine climate and great fertility, while gold offered by natives suggested great wealth in that direction. But neither the Cape nor the imperial governments were ready to cooperate with the young enthusiast, and when he had obtained the concession of lower Bechuanaland, it was only with the greatest reluctance the imperial government was finally induced to declare a protectorate over it. President Kruger had started out on his scheme of expansion. Bechuanaland was recognized as the key to South Africa and the doorway to the vast stretches of country north of the Zambesi. Rhodes' foresight and prompt action, aided by Sir Charles Warren's expedition in driving out the Boer adventurers, preserved to Britain this vast country.

Again, in 1888, Rhodes outgeneraled President Kruger in securing from King Lobengula, of Matabeleland, the Moffat treaty. Not succeeding in obtaining government aid, he realized that a private enterprise was needed to hold the country, and the Rudd concession of the mineral rights of Lobengula's kingdom was obtained. The wily king considered he had made a splendid bargain when he was paid $500 a month, 1,000 rifles, 100,000 rounds of ammunition, and a steamboat on the Zambesi river. This concession formed the solid basis of the British South African company. The occupation of Mashonaland followed under operations of Dr. Jameson, and Bulawayo was selected as his headquarters. Thus Rhodesia came into being, and Bulawayo rapidly grew and became the largest and most important town.

But his railroads and telegraph are certainly the monuments to Cecil Rhodes, which stand as the greatest testimony of what he has done for South Africa. After the rebellion of Mashonaland was over in the spring of 1898, Rhodes came to London to secure aid to push the extension of the railway from Bulawayo towards Lake Tanganyika, 700 or 800 miles. He failed to secure the government support he desired, but financial houses readily came forward and offered to provide money to push the railway northward to Givelo. The other railroads previously mentioned were all built through his energy and push and liberal financial backing. In regard to the telegraph line, already established, and the extension which Rhodes has already projected to Tanganyika, he supplying four-fifths of the capital necessary, Howard Hensman in his "History of Rhodesia," says:

"To-day everyone who knows anything of Africa realizes that a telegraph line will be working from Cairo to the Cape in a very few years now. In fact, what Mr. Rhodes perceived six or eight years ago, all the world admits to-day. That is the keynote of Mr. Rhodes' life—he can always see a decade ahead of the rest of the world." WILLIS S. EDSON.

CHANGES IN FASHION.

Latest Sleeves—Loose Boleros With Border of Trimming.

Some of the newest boleros are simply straight lengths of soft material bordered with trimming, and these are draped round the figure to meet a yoke of lace or jet. Very deep lace is also arranged in the same fashion to form a bolero, and this hangs very loose and is most becoming.

SILK TAILOR MADE

Tea coats in Louis XV. style are much embroidered, and the vests and buttons are exceedingly ornate.

The puffs in sleeves appear to be creeping upward, and many of the newest models have only a very short, plain sleeve, with the Turkish puff falling to the wrist. This is a charming fashion for a semitransparent or unlined sleeve, as just the short top is solid and can be lined if desired. It is to be hoped the season will be a warm one, for so many transparent yokes, vests and sleeves appear in the new models and even an unlined slip of silk will not add much to their warmth.

A few tailor made skirts of shorter length are shown, but excepting for country wear, yachting or cycling very few escape the ground, and a skirt which just "dips" is more troublesome and uncleanly than the trained skirt, which must of necessity be carried when out of doors. The American hooks are the nearest approach to the effect produced by hand and are admirable for all but silk gowns.

The illustration shows a very stylish black peau de soie tailor made.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

PALE COLORED GOWNS.

Dainty Combinations Which Are to Be the Style This Summer.

All the newest and prettiest shades of pink and rose will be worn this summer, and these have appeared in fashionable trousseaux, which are always prophetic as to the coming modes.

OF PALE BLUE CHIFFON.

Green is also to be worn in its more delicate shades, both for evening toilets and for slips under lace and muslin gowns for warm weather.

The newest trimmings are of the embroidered type and take the form of floral motifs, garland passementerie in exquisite colorings, so arranged that sprays can be detached and rearranged, and a good deal of tinsel is used on lace, both black and tinted.

The tea gown is a favorite model for the display of elaborate trimmings, and exquisite laces and embroidery are used for the most sumptuous examples. A very handsome tea gown recently seen in a trousseau had a separate sack back arranged from the shoulder and the sides adorned with bands of embroidered lisse. The gown was entirely of embroidered crepe de chine over glace silk, and the waist belt was of velvet.

The picture shows an evening gown of pale blue chiffon trimmed with jet and chiffon flowers.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Amateur Detective.

A careless young woman in starting to leave a car dropped her purse. A young man, who left at the same time, saw it, picked it up, and put it into his pocket. But his action had not been unnoticed. Just as he stepped from the car an elderly man gripped him by the arm and whispered: "If you don't give that purse to the young lady this instant, I'll expose you." "Yes, certainly!" gasped the astonished young man. With a grin: "Elizabeth, you dropped your purse." "O, thank you, Jim," she replied, as she took it. "I hope you are satisfied," said Jim, turning to the elderly man. "The lady is my sister."

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Fitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

Guy was annoyed, especially as Miss Betty's sense of the ridiculous prevailed over all and allowed a smile to twitch at the corners of her mouth.

"You are mistaken, sir," said Guy. "I am not a drummer."

"Been long in Concord?"

"A few hours only."

"That was as long as you could stand it, I suppose. Well, I don't blame you. If you want to make a little money during this boom you've got to buy lots in a live town like Harmony. My name's Vlandingham, young man."

Guy had been on the point of saying that he already had more lots than he knew what to do with, but the large man's announcement of his name caused him to take another course. Here undoubtedly was the very Vlandingham who had the county commissioners under his thumb and was the ringleader of the conspiracy to steal the county seat away from Concord. Guy became wary on the instant.

"My name is Herbert, Mr. Vlandingham," said he. "I am going over to have a look at Harmony."

"Mr. Herbert, my daughter, Miss Elizabeth Vlandingham."

The easy familiarity of the northwest had long since claimed Wilbur Vlandingham for its own and he presented the stranger to his daughter with a cheerful disregard of the proprieties. But if he forgot himself Miss Betty was far from being ruled by his example. To Guy's profound bow she returned only the curtest of nods, two little wrinkles between her brows showing her disapproval of her father's actions. Mr. Vlandingham smiled and winked again.

"'Harmony,' he resumed, 'is my town, Mr. Herbert.'

"Our town," corrected Miss Betty.

"Certainly, my love," deferred her father; "whatever is mine will some day be yours." He turned once more to Guy. "Harmony is going to have the county seat, Mr. Herbert, and the moment the result of this special election is known lots will go up with a jump." Leaning sidewise confidentially he tapped Guy on the knee. "Take my advice. Buy a few lots now before the rise."

"I'll have to think about it," said Guy.

"Of course; and while you are thinking about it you are to accept the hospitality of my humble home."

Miss Betty shot a quick glance of protest in her father's direction.

"Really, Mr. Vlandingham," answered Guy, I couldn't think of such a thing."

It was one thing to prevent his fortunes being wrecked by reconnoitering the enemy, but it is quite another thing to sit at table with the general of the hostile camp and carry the espial into his very household. Guy drew a line at that.

"Nonsense!" cried Vlandingham. "I won't have it any other way. You're going with me and I won't take no for an answer."

"It is impossible," returned Guy, firmly.

"By Jupiter, we'll see about that. In my own town—beg pardon, Betty, our own town—things go about as I—as we—want them to go."

"I appreciate your kindness," said Guy, embarrassed by the persistent nature of Vlandingham's hospitality, "but I cannot impose upon you."

"Impose! Hear that, Betty? He talks of imposing on me—on us—after saving your life, my girl! Think of how you would now be lying crushed and broken on that car floor but for his heroic assistance! Jupiter! Mr. Herbert, I owe you a debt of gratitude. Buy two lots at the present price and I'll throw in two more. Now, then!"

Guy was overwhelmed. Miss Betty bowed her head and her shoulders moved convulsively.

"See how my daughter is affected!" cried Vlandingham. "She understands how much we owe you, Mr. Herbert, and—"

A smothered laugh came from Miss Betty. She looked up presently, straightening her face with an effort. Guy was chagrined. The more he saw of Elizabeth Vlandingham the more he wished they had met under happier circumstances.

"My father, Mr. Herbert," remarked the young lady, "is very anxious to sell our lots. He has forgotten that there are none for sale."

"What?" gasped Vlandingham, aghast.

"After the election the lots will be worth double what they are now, and why should we divide our profits with anyone?"

Miss Betty had a delightfully contrary nature. Had Guy accepted her father's hospitality she would have been set against him; but now that he had determined not to accept, she was equally determined that he should.

"Mr. Herbert," she went on, "allow me to second my father's invitation. We shall be glad to have you stay at Willowview while you are in Harmony."

The witchery of her blue eyes made the temptation a powerful one, yet Guy shook his head. Then the blue eyes grew imperious.

"You must!" declared Miss Betty, and Guy yielded under mental protest.

A few minutes later they were in Harmony, descending from the caboose far below the depot and proceeding "cross lots" toward a large and comfortable looking group of farm buildings framed in a dusky setting of willows. Evening had fallen too darkly for Guy to see very much of this rival town, but assuredly there was nothing in Concord to compare with Wilbur Vlandingham's palatial home. Willowview was a manor comprising, in its entirety, almost a thousand broad acres abutting upon the town site. The house was large and neatness personified without and within.

Dinner was waiting and after Guy had removed the cinders and dust with which the short journey by freight train had liberally covered him, he joined Miss Betty and her father in the dining-room. There was only the three of them and Guy was not long in learning that Mrs. Vlandingham had been dead for several years. The daughter had taken the mother's place in the household, and was filling it, if Guy might judge, with eminent credit to herself and supreme satisfaction to her father.

The dinner was charming, Miss Betty made herself most agreeable, and there was no talk of lots, or townsite matters, or anything else that breathed remotely of business or discord. Guy forgot for the time the mission he had undertaken at the Colonel's behest. He was brought to himself, however, with something like a shock, directly after dinner, while he and Mr. Vlandingham were in the parlor listening to Miss Betty's piano playing.

There came a sharp ring at the door bell, followed by a colloquy between the maid and some person or persons without. The next moment there was a tread of feet and four gentlemen marched into the parlor single file, their hats in there hands.

The gentleman in the lead was a very small person, and from the way his left eye focussed itself unswervingly on a given point while its fellow roved at will there was small doubt that the left eye was glass. Behind the leader came a gentleman of towering height—he was taller even than Guy or Mr. Vlandingham—and his framework was so loosely put together he could not seem to talk without jarring himself; the third of the quartet had a wooden leg and the sleeve of the fourth was folded over and tucked in the front of his coat.

"Miss Vlandingham," exclaimed the man with the glass eye, "your most obedient!" He bowed and his three companions bowed with him. The spokesman executed an "about face," and directed his attention at Miss Vlandingham's father, the rest of the squad participating in the movement. "Evening, squire," he said, starting a nod that tilted every head in the row.

"Good evening, gentlemen," returned Vlandingham, courteously.

"It's eight o'clock. Have you forgotten?"

"Not at all." Mr. Vlandingham consulted his watch. "It is close to eight, that's a fact. Betty and I came down on a freight from Jimtown, Colonel, so that I'd be here in time to connect with the town meeting." Vlandingham turned to Guy. "Mr. Herbert, allow me to present to you Col. Dingle"—the man with the glass eye bowed—"Maj. Harp"—acknowledgements from the giant—"Capt. Blue"—ditto from the gentleman with the wooden leg—"and Mr. Boomer." The man with the empty sleeve ducked amiably. "The Colonel," continued Mr. Vlandingham, "conducts our paper, the Harmony Norther"—Guy wondered if all the colonels in Dakota conducted papers—"the Major, by the grace of the republican administration, hands us our mail; the Captain is proprietor of the Bee Hive store, and Mr. Boomer—er—er—what the nation do you do, Boomer, anyway?"

THE UNRELIABLE AIRSHIP.

It Has Faults That Unfit It for General Utility Among Everyday People.

It is very doubtful whether the airship will ever become a popular means of travel with the masses, for the simple reason that the enjoyment of flitting through the atmosphere is somewhat marred by the realization that the passenger does not know whether he will reach the earth alive or merely as a grease spot, says the Ohio State Journal.

Without beating about the bush any the modern airship is erratic and eccentric. If an insanitary expert were to examine a full-grown airship I have no doubt he would find it unbalanced and unaccountable for its acts. It has been only lately since Santos-Dumont, the famous airship subjugator, was almost killed at Monte Carlo by his airship, which began to plunge and buck in midair. That's the great trouble with an airship—you can never tell when you have it well broken. Those who have been riding in an airship when it suddenly jumped up and came down stiff-legged from a height of four or five miles, say that the sensation experienced simply beggars description.

Summed up in a nutshell, then, the reasons why the airship is not likely to become popular with the traveling public are as follows:

It is not as gentle as a lamb; it cannot be ridden or driven by any lady or child; it will not stand without hitching; it is likely to stumble and fall at any minute.

HORSE THAT LAWTON RODE.

Equine Veteran That Was Placed on the Retired List After the General's Death.

When the news of Gen. Lawton's death reached Vigan, a large town on the west coast of Luzon, the boys of the Third cavalry stationed there felt more deeply about it than the infantry companies of the garrison, for they had served under him, and they found a way to show it, reports the New York Tribune.

One of their horses, an old and worn out veteran, had been used by Gen. Lawton during one of his campaigns. A committee appeared before the commander of the post the morning after the news was received.

"We want old General put on the retired list," said the spokesman, and the colonel granted the request. After that old General was allowed to wander about the streets and to come and go as he pleased. Sometimes he would poke his head into a store window, if any of the boys were there, as he knew they would be sure to give him a lump of sugar or some other dainty. The children learned to know him also, and fed him with stray wisps of straw or grass. General led a privileged life, and soon grew "chesty." He refused to eat with the other horses, and insisted that his food be given him apart from theirs. One day he was taken with a disease common to native horses, and died. Many of the natives, who had learned his history, firmly believed that Lawton would ride old General again in the land of spirits.

A FUNNY LANGUAGE.

Some Samoan Sayings That Portray Some Characteristics of an Interesting People.

Lovers of the writings of Robert Louis Stevenson will be interested to see an article on the Samoa of his day by his stepdaughter, Mrs. Strong, in the Century, from which we take this odd bit:

"The native dictionary is interesting in the light it casts upon the Samoan character. I find 'an impossibility, such as an old man getting a young wife.' Another word means 'to beg deliriously for fishhooks.' 'Unwelcome' is given, 'such as a visiting party that is accompanied by neither a handsome man nor a pretty maid.' The definition of 'widow' or 'widower' is synonymous with detached shellfish.

"There are also definitions that show considerable thought and irony. 'Meanness,' for instance, can go no farther than 'to climb out on your own breadfruit tree to steal your neighbor's breadfruit.' Faapuatama, like a trumpet blown by wild lads—blown anyhow and at all times; so conduct without consideration. Popoga, to look owl-eyed, as a person staring when food or property is being divided. 'Good brown earth' describes an honest, unpretending man. To show how difficult the language is for the stranger, I may say that the little word ta means I, we two, to beat with a stick, to play on a musical instrument, to reprove, to tattoo, to open a vein, to bail a cannon, to wash clothing by beating and to turn a somersault."

Monster Granite Pillars.

A monster pillar of granite—the largest solid piece of stone ever quarried for building purposes—has just been swung into its place 60 feet above the ground on the half-completed Hall of Records, at Chambers and Center streets, New York city. It is more than 36 feet long, four feet wide and two feet thick, and required nearly three months to quarry. Thirty-one other stone pillars to be put in the building will be even larger. Each of the stones will cost $5,000.

Hearing Suicide by 'Phone.

A cheerful telephone story is reported from Vienna. A young woman of Magyar-Czernya, in Hungary, was called up on the long-distance telephone by her sweetheart in the town of Taba. He said: "Would you like to hear how I shot myself?" Then she heard the sound of a shot. It was found afterward that the man had really killed himself.

THEIR TONGUES BETRAY THEM

Character Reading by a New Method Is Now a Popular Notion in Paris.

And still they come. Linguistology is the last craze in Paris. If one prefers to call it glossomancy, well and good. Under either name it means tongue reading and it threatens to compete with palmistry, says the New York Sun.

That a tongue may tell the character of the owner is a safe proposition. A tongue may even, to expert eyes, tell the condition of the owner's liver and from such data many conclusions may be reached. Given the state of a man's liver, history and prophecy both seem possible to even the average logician.

But linguistology has to do only with the shape and form of the tongue. A big tongue, it seems, indicates frankness; a short tongue, dissimulation; a long and broad tongue, garrulity and generosity; a narrow tongue, concentration and talent; a short, broad tongue, garrulity and untruth. The man with a very short and narrow tongue is a liar of true artistic merit.

The disclosures of linguistology may be thrilling, but palmistry has one advantage which guarantees its supremacy over the rival science. The subject need not stop talking during a palmist's reading.

PECULIARITIES OF WRITERS.

Many of Them Cannot Do Good Work Unless Their Fads Are Humored.

"I have often smiled," said the editor, "at the peculiarities displayed by the different people while writing their stories. Every one has his or her particular idiosyncrasy. Brown cannot write a decent line unless he chews at the end of an unlighted cigar, Jones is unhappy and restive unless he puffs at a Turkish cigarette, while Robinson must always have his pet brier pipe. One man I know is very 'dopy' unless he has had his drink. If he gets that inside of him he can write like a master of prose.

"Another fellow is most particular about the arrangement of the things upon his desk. If even only one object is awry he is unhappy and cannot go on until he has put them in order. Still another feels at home only when he sits in front of a mixed-up mass of paper, pens and letters. One woman writer I have noticed cannot get out her stuff unless she eats candy at the same time. With a box of bonbons by her side she can rattle off quires of 'copy' with ease.

"We are all creatures of habit," concluded the editor, according to the Philadelphia Record, "and once in the bonds of one it is hard to shake loose the shackles."

TOWNS MADE BY RAILWAYS.

The Iron Horse Has Been a Prominent Factor in the Creation of Provinces.

To-day towns do not grow merely because of their location, and this factor of location will become less and less important as the years go by. Chicago is situated upon the most impossible and unlovely of all places of human habitation. She is simply a city of transportation, and is no better than her rails and boats, though by her rails and boats she lives in every western state and territory, says the Century Magazine. The same is true of St. Louis and the vast southwest. One railroad recently planned for western extension, and laid out along its lines the sites of 38 new towns, each of which was located and named before the question of inhabitants for the towns was even taken up. And her railway in the southwest has named 50 cities that are yet to build, and still others have scores of communities which in time are to be the battlegrounds of human lives, and stages of the human tragedy or comedy. The railways have not only reached but create provinces; they have not only nourished, but conceived communities.

AGE OF COINS TOLD BY RING.

Cafe Cashier Has Familiarized Himself with the Sound to Perfection.

The cashier in the light lunch cafe jingled a silver half-dollar on the marble counter.

"I'll bet you a cup of coffee I can tell you the decade in which that piece of money was coined," he said to a customer who was engaged with his midnight lunch.

"You probably know the exact date," replied the customer, according to the Philadelphia Record.

"Take one of your own then," said the cashier. "I can tell from the ring whether it was coined in the 90s, the 80s, the 70s or in whatever decade it left the mint. Try me and see."

The young man pulled a half-dollar from his pocket and threw it down on the counter. The cashier listened attentively.

"That was coined in the 60s," he said.

Sure enough, the coin bore the date of 1862. Several other persons in the cafe tried him and in each instance his judgment was unerring.

"It's all in the ring," explained the cashier. "I've gotten so I don't make a mistake once in 50 times."

CHIEF OF O'BRIENS.

Honor Held by Lord Inchiquin of Dromoland Castle.

One of the Oldest of Irish Families Whose History Dates Back Many Centuries—The Story of Moira Rhu.

Lord Inchiquin, the head of one of the oldest families in the Irish peerage, will be a conspicuous figure at the coronation of King Edward VII.

Dromoland castle, the seat of Lucius, fifteenth Lord Inchiquin, is in County Clare, in the south of Ireland. It was built about 70 years ago of the hand-cut gray limestone and on the site of the old Elizabethan manor house which had taken the place of the old castle, chosen originally as the family residence of the O'Briens when they migrated from Leamanagh castle, which was situated in a remoter part of Clare.

The present peer's grandfather succeeded his kinsman (the third marquis of Thomond) in the '60's, when the marquisate of Thormend and earldom of Inchiquin lapsed, only the barony (the oldest title in the family) passing to the present possessors, a younger branch of the O'Brien family. The earldom of Thomond was given by Henry VIII (with the right forever to quarter the scarlet arms, also to wear the scarlet liveries of royalty) to the prince of Thomond of those days, who for these honors resigned the chieftainship of practicaly the whole of the south of Ireland, inherited by direct descent from Brian, king of all Ireland, who reigned in the eleventh century.

There are many objects of interest in the castle itself, says the Chicago Chronicle, among others (in the hall) the bronze effigy of Brian Boru, the aforesaid king, taken from his tomb at Clontarf, where the famous battle against the Danes was fought in the eleventh century. His spurs hang there also, and hard by, in marvelous preservation, stands the large table saved from the wreckage of the lost ships of the great Spanish Armada, which came to grief in 1588 on the inclement and rocky coast near Miltown Malbay, which is now a small fishing village and about 30 miles as the crow flies from Dromoland castle.

Leamanagh castle was the ancient seat of that branch of the O'Briens from whom the present Lord Inchiquin is descended. It consists of a peal tower dating from 1480 and a Tudor house of a century later.

Of a member of the dynasty, "Moira Rhu," or Red Mary, many strange tales abound of her raids on the English settlers in 1641, her hanging her servants on the corbels of the castle, the men by the neck and the maids by their hair.

When her husband fell mortally wounded in his skirmish with Ludlow and was carried home almost lifeless she looked from her window, calling: "We need no dead men here!"

At his death a few hours later she promptly assumed a magnificent robe of blue and silver, drove to Limerick and offered to surrender to Ireton, Cromwell's general. Next day she married Col. Cooper, a Cromwellian soldier, and thus saved the Leamanagh estates for her son at the general confiscation. Tradition relates that she killed Cooper with a kick and that he was succeeded by some two dozen other husbands, few of whom escaped by a natural death, but, it is only fair to say, the truth of this story is stoutly denied by Lord Inchiquin and his family.

The career of this female Bluebeard is said to have ended by her being fastened up alive in a hollow tree and left to starve and that her uneasy spirit still haunts the spot. The size and surroundings of Leamanagh, its gardens, fishpond, deer park and long walled avenue attest to the importance of the O'Brien family, by whom it was inhabited until Dromoland castle—their beautiful modern home—became their principal place of residence in the time of Sir Donogh O'Brien. The picture of "Moira Rhu" hangs at Dromoland with many others of interest, including a life-sized one of King Brian Boroimhe and another of Queen Anne, presented by that royal lady during her reign to Wiliam, third earl of Inchiquin.

The present Lord Inchiquin, who succeeded to the title last year, has three children, two sons and one daughter. One of his brothers is aid de camp to the lord lieutenant of Ireland.

TRUSTESS CHOSEN.

At Annual Meeting of Grace M. E. Church Held Last Evening.

The re-election of two trustees and the election of a member of the church to fill an unexpired term was the substance of the business transacted in a short space of time at the annual meeting of Grace M. E. church last evening.

The terms of Dr. H. K. Carroll and John Valiant expired and they were reappointed. Dyckman Winckler was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Steiner. All the reports showed that the spiritual and financial condition of the church is quite good.

As announced by The Daily Press some days ago, Rev. Mr. Earp, of Newark, has been tendered the charge, the present pastor, Rev. G. W. Gardner, having accepted a call to the Hadding M. E. church, of Jersey City. As yet the Newark clergyman has not announced his acceptance and it is probable that he will not do so until the bishop announces his appointments Tuesday.

WHAT IS BEING DONE FOR SOUTHERN NEGROES

Financial Secretary of Tuskegee Institute Described Its Work to a Big Audience.

SPOKE LAST EVENING.

REV. JOHN WHITAKER ADDRESSED A MEETING AT CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH.

Over a Thousand Attend the School of Which Booker T. Washington Was One of the Founders—Its Aim to Educate the Negro.

That the black people of the south as well as those from thirty States and territories, also Africa, Porto Rico, Cuba, Jamaica and Barbadoes, are rapidly being educated to such an extent that they are becoming very useful citizens, was clearly shown in an able address delivered in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, last evening, by Rev. John W. Whitaker, financial secretary for Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, who is making a tour of the north in behalf of the institution. There was a goodly number of people present and all were deeply interested in what the speaker had to say.

Mr. Whitaker is an intelligent and well-educated negro, a good type of the man as he appears after receiving a course in the southern institute, which has been made famous by Booker Washington, one of its founders. He told of the work being accomplished at Tuskegee Institute, which is located in the black belt of Alabama, where the colored population out numbers the white three to one.

The average attendance for the school year has been 1,105, 333 young women and 772 young men. In addition to the academic department every known industry is taught intelligently from agriculture to dressmaking and the arts. The property consists of 2,267 acres of land and there are fifty buildings, almost wholly built with student labor and the entire property is valued at $35,000 upon which there is no mortgage.

Mr. Whitaker gave an idea of the results of this institution by saying that there are four thousand graduates and ex-students now at work in every southern State, as teachers, farmers, mechanics, housekeepers and leaders along other lines. The chief idea is to educate the negro so that he can work for himself and make something of himself. This is the one chief aim while the religious training is not forgotten. Mr. Whitaker expressed the object of the institution by quoting Booker Washington, who has said "We want to be sure that the negro is making progress day by day. With constant tangible, visible, indisputable progress being made evident, all the minor details regarding the adjustment of his position in the body politic will, in a natural way, settle themselves."

At the close of the address a collection was received for the institution.

THE WATER COMPANY'S SIDE

TOLD TO FIRE COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

Still Pursuing Investigation of the Reports That Followed Babcock Building Fire.

There was a continuation of the investigation regarding matters pertaining to the fire at the Babcock building, at a meeting of the Councilmanic fire committee, last evening. Amos Andrews, superintendent of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, was present and gave a full report of the condition of the water supply on the morning of the fire. He presented records to show that there was a full supply of water and that the pressure was ample. These records are taken every three hours. In support of these facts he declared that there was full pressure obtained from the hydrant on Craig place, used by the borough firemen. The line of hose extended a distance of nearly 1,800 feet, while the lines of hose from the four-way hydrants on Front street were much shorter and yet lacked the pressure.

In explaining this, Mr. Andrews said that there are thirty-six turns on a four-way hydrant to get full pressure and twenty-four turns on a two-way. He was sure that where the pressure was low the hydrants had not been turned on.

After the investigation is completed the committee, through Chairman Lee, will present a report to the Council.

ONE OF DENOMINATION'S MOST ABLE DIVINES

Something About New Pastor of the Local Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

INSTALLED TOMORROW.

HE WAS ONLY SECURED AFTER MUCH PRESSURE WAS BROUGHT TO BEAR.

Something About the Man, His Career and His Personality—He Comes From the West—Is a Graduate of Alfred University.

Members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church are congratulating themselves over their good fortune in securing Rev. George Blye Shaw as their pastor. The clergyman will be installed tomorrow morning, with fitting ceremonies, and he will assume his duties immediately. A great deal of pressure was brought to bear in pursuading him to accept the pastorate, for he is considered one of the ablest divines in the denomination and his services are sought for by much more influental congregations.

REV. GEORGE BLYE SHAW.

When in the presence of the man one is struck by his magnetism and intellectual appearance. His manner is pleasant and when in conversation he impresses one with his ripe fund of knowledge and undoubted sincerity of speech. There is none of that sham warmth of friendliness about him and neither is there any sign of his being cold, self-opinionated and domineering.

Rev. Mr. Shaw's early life was spent on a farm, and although he does not appear to be a man of extra physical vigor, his prowess, athletically speaking, brought to him honors during his college years.

After completing his preparatory studies in the town of his nativity, Freeborn, Minn., he matriculated at Milton College, Wisconsin. There he pursued the regular collegiate course. Having a taste for sport he tried for the football team and found no difficulty in securing a place on the eleven. He was a conspicuous figure in many contests on the gridiron. In 1891, he was graduated from the institution. At the commencement exercises he made the valedictory address, for while giving much attention to athletics he did not let this deter him from maintaining a high standard of scholarship during his four years in college.

Having made up his mind to devote his life to the ministry, he entered the divinity school of Chicago University. There he spent one year. From the Windy City he went to Alfred University, at Alfred, N. Y., in order to continue his theological training according to the teachings of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

While a student at the university, Rev. Mr. Shaw served as pastor to the little flocks at Hartsville and Hornellsville, two communities in the western part of New York. In the Hartsville Seventh-Day Baptist church he was ordained. This was in 1894.

He was graduated from Alfred in 1895 and on leaving that university he was chosen pastor of the denomination's church at Nile, N. Y. Under his administration the church prospered and its pastor became widely known as a minister of much promise. Two years later a call was extended to him by the congregation of the First Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New York, and after some consideration of the step he accepted the invitation.

In the metropolis he labored industriously for the upbuilding of the faith and for the spiritual betterment of those in his charge. His health declined and his condition caused much worriment to his family and friends. It was partially on this account that he was induced to accept the call extended by the local congregation. The argument was advanced that his strength would be renewed here and the prediction was not a bad one. Although he has been in Plainfield but a month, Rev. Mr. Shaw says that he feels much better and hopes for a total restoration of his former condition.

The clergyman is married and is the father of three bright litle girls. He is of Rhode Island stock and comes from a family of ministers. His grandfather was Rev. Russell G. Burdick, who was prominent in the church. Two of his uncles are also ministers. They are Rev. George W. Burdick and Rev. Clayton A. Burdick. In addition to the degree of bachelor of arts, which Milton College conferred on him, and the degree of bachelor of divinity, which he received from Alfred University, he possesses the honor of having been made a master of arts by his alma mater in the west. A bright future is believed to be in store for the Seventh-Day Baptist church under his wise leadership.

FELL TWO STORIES.

W. Hugh Wyckoff Received Probably Fatal Injuries While Working at Far Hills.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 4 — W. Hugh Wyckoff, who is about fifty-five years of age, met with an accident Tuesday afternoon that may result in his death. He is a carpenter by trade and was working on the handsome country residence in course of construction by Judge Dillon, of New York, at Far Hills.

While reaching over to get a tool Wyckoff fell from a two-story scaffolding to the ground below. When his fellow laborers reached his side he was unconscious. A physician was summoned and it was found that Wyckoff had fractured his spine.

He was brought to the Somerset Hospital here and is in a critical condition. He lived with his daughter on Bridge street.

Looking for Quarters.

Redwood Camp, No. 1062, Modern Woodmen of America, is at present without a lodge room. The camp formerly sub-leased quarters in Red Men's Hall, but with the removal of the latter the Woodmen were left homeless. Managers James Morrison and Horace Martin are now looking for suitable quarters.

Next Sunday's Preacher.

It is Rev. Dr. George Allen, of Jersey City, who will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist church next Sunday. The communion service will be in the morning.

Druggists to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the Union County Druggists' Association at Westfield on Tuesday, April 8.

HOPE CHAPEL'S YEAR WAS PROSPEROUS ONE

Annual Meeting of the Chapel Was Held Last Evening and Reports Heard.

STEADY GROWTH NOTED.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN CHURCH WORK DISPLAYED DURING LAST YEAR.

Church Enrollment is 236, a Gain of Seven—606 Pupils and Teachers in Sunday-School — Frederick Pearce Made Treasurer.

Reports of a decidedly encouraging nature, showing a prosperous condition of affairs, were received and accepted at the annual meeting of the congregation of Hope chapel, last evening. All the societies connected with the chapel were represented by officers who by facts and figures demonstrated that much activity in church work has been displayed by the members during the past year.

In the matter of finances, Secretary George Leighs reported the receipts by collections during the twelve months to have been $657.38 and the disbursements the same amount. This is irrespective of building fund collections which were a considerable item. Pastor L. R. Howard stated the total church enrollment to be 236, an increase of seven. But one member was lost by death in the past year.

The report of Secretary Alex. Muir, of the Sunday-school, showed that department to be in a most healthy state. There are now on the membership books a total of 606 pupils and teachers, while the average attendance for the year was 349. The largest number present on any one Sunday was 484 and the smallest 209. Last year's average attendance was 346.

President William N. Runyon, of the Y. M. A., reported this organization to be making rapid strides in the way of membership and activity. One hundred young men belong to it and the association is doing much to improve them morally and physically. It is one of the most important institutions connected with the chapel.

Another interesting report was made by Mrs. L. R. Howard, of the Ladies' Aid Society, which has a membership of thirty-six, seven more than last year. The society has raised in the past year $296.69 and expended $218.52 beside lending much assistance to the chapel in many other ways.

Other encouraging reports were read from the Christian Endeavor Society, the Women's Missionary Society and the Junior Endeavor Society. The latter report was compiled and read by Miss Elsie Rimmer, a bright little officer, and was a model conciseness and neatness. It showed the society to be as active and energetic as some of its more older and larger sister organizations.

The only change in officers for the ensuing year was the election of Frederick Pearce to succeed George Leighs as treasurer of the church.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

Summons have been issued from Justice Mattison's court in the contract case of E. T. and Irving Hand against Ralph V. Saums; also same against David Dunn, in tort. The plaintiffs claim in the latter case that Dunn was given a horse to keep for the winter and that he disposed of it keeping the proceeds. Both matters will be heard April 11.

Reason for Raise.

It is claimed by the local wholesale meat dealers that the recent advance in prices has been caused by the short corn crop. The cattle are principally fattened on corn and the small crop has caused an extraordinary advance in price.

Primary Union Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon. A full attendance is desired.

Business and Pleasure.

A meeting of the Women's Union Relief Union, an auxiliary of the Union Veterans' Union, will be held this evening. After the business a social time will be enjoyed.

Address on Confirmation.

Services were held in the Church of the Holy Cross last evening and the rector made the first of a series of addresses on confirmation.

Police Board Meeting.

The Councilmanic police committee will meet this evening and consider several matters regarding plans for the coming year.

SCHOOL BOYS GAVE A PLAY

Society Turned Out to See the Very Clever Production of "Jane" by Boys From Leal's.

GIVEN AT THE CASINO.

The Comedy Scored a Decided Hit—All the Boys Played Their Parts With Much Success — Drilled by E. B. Smith—Waltz Composed for Occasion Played.

Clever ability in the histrionic art was displayed by the Leal's School boys, who paricipatted in the comedy "Jane," given at the Casino last evening. Funny, as is the play in itself, it was made funnier still by the personations of the young men who took part of women characters. A crowded house, composed largely of members of Plainfield society, applauded the especially fine work of those in the cast.

Leal's School Athletic Association needed funds and the pupils of the academic institution planned the affair as the feasible means of raising money. Their efforts were well directed and were crowned with success. E. B. Smith, one of the corps of instructors at the school, coached the boys and acted in the dual capacity of stage manager and director. To his great credit is due for the remarkably successful rendition of the play.

A comedy in three acts, "Jane" abounds in humorous and perplexing situations. Collectively and individually the amateurs proved equal to the roles they assumed. The thread of the story is the dilemma of a spend thrift ward. Receiving word that his guardian is about to visit him, the gay young man plans to invent some story which will satisfactorily account for the way he has wasted his allowances. As might be expected all his concoctions brought him fresh troubles and lessened his chances of being able to recuperate from his squanderings. He had notified his guardian of his marriage and the arrival of an heir. This furnishes the plot, if such it could be called. However, the comedy ends in the same old way. Matters are straightened out towards the last and the guardian accepts the forced explanations, at the same time restoring the ward to his good graces.

As "Charles Shackleton," the ward, E. Clinton Hall was excellent. His acting would have been creditable to one of much riper experience before the footlights. Equal to him, was Effingham A. Pinto, who appeared as "Jane." He impersonated the coy and artful maid in a manner that produced frequent applause. He made a wonderfully charming young woman. These were the two leading characters.

Gordon W. Abbott, as "Mr. Kershaw," the guardian, did remarkably well. His acting showed that he had carefully studied the character. Certain it is that he portrayed the part with much success, entering into the difficult part with spirit and thoroughness. "William Tipson," the young ward's man, figured prominently in the play, and the role as assumed by Donald A. McGee was indeed good. He was a typical man servant in every respect. W. M. E. Perkins had rather a deep voice for one impersonating "Lucy Norton," but this only made the part all the more laughable. His makeup was very realistic. "Lucy's" aunt, "Mrs. Chadwick" was represented by Frank P. Simons, who showed knowledge of women in the adept way in which he exhibited grief, practicularly in fainting whenever it was necessary. He was quite skillful in portraying the girl not slow in doing all the courting. Dudley H. Barrows as "Claude," the hall boy, is worthy of mention, playing his part with much success. The two other characters, "Mr. Pixton" and "Mrs. Pixton," were taken by F. Roland Horne and N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr. They appeared only in the last act but their presence furnished the occasion for more than one hearty laugh and they portrayed the characters in clever fashion.

A pleasant feature of the affair were the "Jane" waltzes, composed and rendered in a brilliant way by Miss Frances N. Weir, of Washington Park. Miss Weir has achieved remarkable success in original work along this line and her performance last evening

RAISED STANDARD FOR ADMISSION TO BAR

New Rules of Supreme Court Contain Much More Exacting Provisions Than Old.

WHAT IS REQUIRED.

MUST HAVE PASSED EXAMINATIONS EQUIVALENT TO GRADUATES.

Term of Clerkship Reduced to Three Years From Four—But Educational Qualification is Required—Other Things.

It is felt by the leading counsellors throughout the State that the standard of the bar will be considerably raised by the new rules governing admission which have been promulgated by the Supreme Court. The principal feature is that a more solid foundation on general subjects will be required of the candidates. A certificate of the attorney with whom the applicant proposes to serve must be filed in the office of the Supreme Court stating that such clerkship has begun. He must then serve a clerkship of three years, or of one year and a half provided the remainder of the period be spent in regular attendance upon the law lectures at some recognized law school in the United States.

The general educational test, which is the most important, is that at least three years before taking the bar examination the student has been granted from or has passed his final examinations in an university, college, or in a public High School in this State, or in a public High School, academy or private school of another State, approved by the board of examiners. In lieu of this he must have passed an examination equivalent to that for graduation in a public High School of the State, such examination, both concerning time and place, to be agreed upon by the State Board of Education and the State Board of Bar Examiners. The candidate must be twenty-one years of age and must be of good moral character, and two months prior to taking the bar examination he must post in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court in the county in which he has served his clerkship or has resided a notice of his intention to apply for admission.

In order to obtain a license to practice in this State, an attorney of another State must submit to the regular bar examination and to be admitted to the examination he must have served a clerkship with an attorney in this State of another State and the time during which he has practiced in an other State must amount to three years, and also has fulfilled the requirement regarding education, posting notice and of good moral character, but he can take the educational examination at any time before the bar examination.

The rules concerning the period of clerkship and of filing notice of intention to practice law as well as that relating to licenses for attorneys of other States do not apply to those seeking admission under the Three Counsellors act, of February 1882. However, the counsellors making a certificate under that act shall also certify that they have each examined the person certified for, with respect to his knowledge of legal principles and of the practice of law as established in this State, and that they make their certificate on such examination.

Such person can take the educational examination at any time prior to taking the bar examination. After January 1, 1904, no person will be admitted to practice under the Three Counsellors act.

Any person whose clerkship began before these rules are adopted may take the educational examination at any time before the bar examination and may also file the certificate required at the commencement of the course at any time before November 1, 1902.

No person shall be recommended for license to practice as a counsellor-at-law in this State unless he shall first submit himself to examination, and give satisfactory evidence of his knowledge of the principles and doctrines of the law, and of his abilities as a pleader; nor shall any be admitted to such examination until he shall have practised in this court as an attorney for the space of three years, at least.

The large plate-glass in the front of the carpet department at Woodhull & Martin's store, which was broken at the recent fire, was replaced Tuesday.

LITERARY.

The April St. Nicholas brings to an end the long serial by John Bennett—"The Story of Barnaby Lee," and as its "long short story" presents "The Boys of the Rincon Ranch," being the adventures of city boys in Texas—a careful study of outdoor life on a ranch, with incidental bits of unusual natural history. The illustrator, B. M. Justice, has given an especially good picture of a bucking bronco.

Miss Alice B. Abbot begins the number with a clever adaptation of the "Sherlock Holmes" idea to a juvenile magazine, substituting for the London expert a bright little girl who loves to solve puzzles. In "The Professor's Mysterious Recital," by Tudor Jenks, we see a college professor attempting with his unwieldy vocabulary to amuse a group of children. The result is peculiar and puzzling to his little auditors.

There are poems by Abby Bates, Montrose J. Moses and Jean Mathers, and a delightful little study of April flowers by the daughter of Laura E. Richards.

A special feature is the article by Frederic Dean on "Boy Choristers," profusely illustrated by portraits of the church choir "stars."

Shot In His Left Leg.

For all kind of sores, burns, bruises, or other wounds DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a sure cure. Skin diseases yield to it at once. Never fails in case of piles. Cooling and healing. None genuine but DeWitt's. Beware of counterfeits. "I suffered for many years from a sore caused by a gun shot wound in my left leg," says A. S. Fuller, English, Ind. "It would not heal and gave me much trouble. I used all kinds of remedies to no purpose until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." L. W. Randolph.

THEATRICAL.

The tremendous success and ovations bestowed upon the wonderful juggler, Kara, and all the other European vaudeville artists this week at Keith's Theatre in New York are absolute proofs that the public appreciate the enterprise of the Keith management. Never before in the history of vaudeville have so many European stars of the first magnitude appeared upon the same programme. England has never sent two comedians of greater mirth-provoking ability than charming little May Edouin and funny Fred Edwards. They will present their greatest success "All in the Family," and their debut is being heralded with delight by the press of the Metropolis. Another debut of tremendous importance is that of the famous Almondbury Hand Bell Ringers. This troupe of seven experts have held the championship of England since 1898, and Monday their gorgeous peal of one hundred and sixty-two bells will be heard for the first time in America. Besides the twenty best acts obtainable in America, the following Europeans will appear next week: Mignonnette Kokin, character comedienne and danseuse, Adele Purvis Onri, revolving globebrillowbrist; the Gagmous, double juggling specialists; and our own comedianne Flo Irwin, and Walter Hawley, will appear to those who have the Keith habit and can't stop laughing. Noon till 11 p. m.

TOUR TO THE YELLOWSTONE PARK.

Exceptionally Low Rates Offered by the Pennsylvania Railroad on Account of National Educational Association Convention.

The reduced rates authorized by the transcontinental railroads on account of the annual convention of the National Educational Association, to be held in Minneapolis, July 7 to 11, have enabled the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to offer to those contemplating attendance at this convention an opportunity, under the direction of its popular personally-conducted tourist system, not only of visiting the beautiful city in which the convention is to be held, and participating in the deliberations of the convention, but also of visiting the Yellowstone National Park, at a cost impossible under ordinary conditions of travel.

The Yellowstone Park is never more attractive than during the month of July, and the tourists under the care of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be afforded the fullest opportunity of visiting all its unique attractions, including the mammoth hot springs, the geysers, the beautiful lake, and the grand canon of the Yellowstone.

The tour will leave New York and Philadelphia, Saturday, July 5, and return Sunday, July 20. Round-trip tickets, covering all necessary expenses for the entire trip, including one berth in Pullman sleeper, will be sold at rate of $150 from all points on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburg. When two persons occupy one berth, the rate will be $142 for each person. Rates from Pittsburg will be $5 less than above.

Tourists will use a special train over the entire trip, with the exception of the six days devoted to the tour of the park, when stages and the fine hotels maintained in the park will be utilized. This special train will consist of a Pullman dining car, sleeping cars, and an observation car, all of the highest grade, and the passengers will find them fully as comfortable and convenient as the best hotels. During the three days at the Convention in Minneapolis, July 7 to 9, inclusive, this palatial train will be at the command of the tourists, obviating the necessity of securing accommodations at hotels.

The beauties of the Yellowstone National Park, most aptly termed nature's wonderland, must be seen to be appreciated. From the top of the stages in which the tour of the park is made, there is spread out before the traveler a constantly-changing panorama of wonders—snow-crowned mountains; tumbling and tossing rivers; Yellowstone lake, like a great blue sea nestled amongst the beetling crags, at an altitude above that of the summit of Mt. Washington; the curious natural springs, where chemical deposits glisten in the sun's rays with all the colors of the rainbow; and the geysers, ever presenting a scene of varied charm and awe-inspiring wonder.

The accommodations on this tour will necessarily be limited, and intending tourists should apply early in order to secure reservations of space. A detailed itinerary is in course of preparation, and all inquiries regarding accommodations should be addressed to Geo. W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Pennsylvania Railroad, Broad Street station, Philadelphia, Pa.

Auguste Saltzman, former chief of the local fire department and the recent United States delegate to the Firemen's International Congress, at Berlin, visited Plainfield friends this week. Mr. Saltzman is a life member of the Grand International Council of Firemen.

PROFITS OF TROLLEY LINES

INTERESTING FIGURES CONCERNING MIDDLESEX CO. TROLLEY SYSTEMS.

Middlesex and Somerset Company Has Never Paid a Dividend Yet—The Others.

The annual report of the State Board of Assessors recently made public at Trenton, shows some interesting figures concerning some of the nearby trolley companies.

The capital stock issued by the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, as shown in the report is $1,500,000, and the stock paid in is the same. The funded debt of the concern has increased from $758,000 in 1901, to $1,000,000, while other debts have decreased from $213,428.90, making the total liabilities $2,599,155.91, as against $2,471,428.90 a year ago. The cost of the railroad equipments, etc., for the year was $21,995.07, and the cost for operation was $80,042.58, a total expense of $102,037.65, against $137,266.15 in 1900. The total income from passenger and other sources was $162,819, making the net earnings $60,781.35. Last year the total receipts were $144,175.85 and the net earnings $6,908.70 or only a little more than one-tenth of the earnings of the year just ended. The company has not paid a dividend since its incorporation.

The Raritan Traction Company's report shows a capital stock issued of $740,000 and paid in of the same amount. The company's other debts amount to $22,000. The cost of the railroad, equipments, etc., was $40,249.35. The cost of operating the line during the year was $24,932.54, and the expenditures for repairs amounted to $2,019.54. The income from passengers was $32,076.56, and from other sources $868.22. A dividend of $5,000 has been paid.

The board's report shows that the gross earnings of all the corporations in the State from which reports are required, were $8,137,076.24, while their expenditures amounted to $4,464,513.22. Dividends were paid amounting to $486,640. Last year's report was as follows: Gross receipts, $7,747,387.76; expenditures, $4,380,224.61; dividends paid, $617,940.

HALE AT EIGHTY HALE

Famous Journalist and Theologian Honored at Boston.

THOUSANDS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY.

Oration by Senator Hoar—A Fitting Response by the Learned Octogenarian, Who Indulges in a Backward Look.

BOSTON, April 4.—In recognition of his long, busy and fruitful life as a journalist, a theologian, a philanthropist and a man of letters several thousand of Boston's leading citizens gathered in Symphony hall last night to honor Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., and lend him the hand of welcome and congratulation on his eightieth birthday.

The assemblage was in many respects a notable one, for nearly every sect and race in the city was represented. The evening was devoted to three anthems of praise, a most fitting responsive reading, a learned and eloquent oration by Senator George Frisbie Hoar and a singularly unselfish response by the chief figure of the occasion. One of the pleasing features in connection with the celebration, but one which did not figure in the evening programme, was the presentation to Dr. Hale of a substantial sum of money which he found upon his return home from Symphony hall.

The evening's exercises began with the singing by the Cecilia society of Cæsar Franck's arrangement of the one hundred and fiftieth psalm. The audience then joined in a number of sentences of responsive reading, and this was followed by Gounod's anthem, "Send Out Thy Light."

Major Henry L. Higginson then introduced Senator Hoar, who made an address of greeting and congratulation.

Peter Cornelius' grand finale to the opera of "The Barber of Bagdad," the "Salamalelkum" chorus, ending with the words "Live till your thousandth year in fame," was then sung by the society, after which Dr. Hale was introduced by Senator Hoar.

It was some minutes before the eminent divine could find words to express himself, but at last he said that he was very thankful for the generous welcome.

"Put yourself in my place," he said, "I am to do something which I have all along advised young men not to do, and that is to talk about myself. It would seem for a moment as if we must look backward and not forward."

Dr. Hale then spoke briefly of his early life and said that he was urged to enter the navy when a young man, then to take a position in a large manufactory of bricks, and finally he learned the printing business. He could not tell why it was that he had entered the life of a minister.

With great deftness he turned the thoughts of the audience from himself to the work of the ministry and finally toward the future and the great opportunity of mankind in the present century. He closed with the words:

"Each is to live for all, and all are to live for each other."

Pay For McKinley's Surgeons.

BUFFALO, April 4.—The Express says today that it may be authoritatively announced that the amount to be paid to the surgeons who attended President McKinley in Buffalo will not exceed $25,000. Many unauthorized statements have been made regarding the amount to be paid the surgeons some of them placing the amounts to be paid the surgeons as high as $150,000. This, The Express says, has been exaggerated guesswork. The surgeons have sent in no bills. They declined flatly to send in any and said that the question of compensation was one that must be settled entirely apart from any bills rendered by them.

Servians In Rebellion.

VIENNA, April 4.—The Neue Freie Presse reports a serious and organized rebellion among the Servian inhabitants of the northern villages of Turkey. The insurgents are known as old Servian rebels. They are well armed and well supplied with ammunition. A sanguinary encounter has occurred between them and the Albanians at Kolashin. Encounters have been reported from other places, concludes the paper, in which several men were killed or wounded.

Servian Students In a Riot.

BELGRADE, Servia, April 4.—As a result of the university here having been closed by the government the students started a riot, which ended in a conflict with the police. Many on both sides were injured, and the leaders of the riot were arrested.

A NEW PARTY FORMED.

Allied People's Party Launched at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 4.—Under the name of the Allied People's party of the United States a new political organization has been formed here composed of reform elements opposed to the Democratic and Republican parties. The platform of the new organization embodies the platform adopted at the conference held in Kansas City last September, when a call for a convention was issued "to unite reform forces against plutocracy." It reaffirms the spirit of the declaration of principles adopted at the national conventions of the People's party in St. Louis Omaha and Cincinnati, and demands for the initiative and referendum and the government ownership of all public utilities are its principal planks. While the People's party, the fusion Populists, the Socialists, the Referendum league, the Union Labor party, Public Ownership party of St. Louis the Prohibition party and the United Christian party were represented on the floor of the convention by accredited or by volunteer delegates, only two national organizations, the People's party and the Public Ownership party, had given their delegates any authority to form an alliance.

The convention was practically dominated by the People's party. At times discussions of a lively nature took place, and for a time it seemed that the movement was about to fail owing to the unwillingness of a number of the People's party delegates to make any concessions to the other reform forces present.

In the platform adopted the demand for initiative and referendum is found in both the preamble and platform. In the plank on money the platform adopted favors scientific money based upon the entire wealth of the people of the nation and not redeemable in any specific commodity, but to be legal tender for all debts, public and private, and to be issued by the government only and without the intervention of banks, sufficient in quantity to meet the requirements of commerce.

Army Officers Drowned at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., April 4.—While returning from a fishing expedition in a small sailboat at about 7:30 o'clock last night Lieutenant Howard F. Avery, adjutant of the First battalion of the Fourteenth regiment, stationed at Fort Wayne here, and Second Lieutenant W. Ashbridge were drowned by the overturning of the boat in the river about 600 yards below the fort. These officers were accompanied by Trumpeter Richard Tuney, who was rescued while clinging to the overturned boat and who is now in the fort hospital in a serious condition as a result of exposure, but will recover. These men all saw service in the Philippines and returned with the three companies of the Fourteenth regiment about two years ago.

Eagle Will Not Resign.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 4.—Governor Jefferson Davis has requested the resignation of former Governor James P. Eagle of the state capitol commission. Commissioner Eagle requested the governor to give his reasons for the request. Governor Davis replied in substance that the conflicting views of the two concerning Democratic politics would prevent them from working harmoniously together. In the campaign preceding the Democratic primaries last Saturday Eagle opposed the renomination of Davis for governor. Governor Davis later received from ex-Governor Eagle a reply in which the latter declined to surrender his commission as a member of the capitol commission.

A British Invasion.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Secretary Hay has received from Governor Heard of Louisiana a statement alleging the existence of a British camp at Chalmette, just below New Orleans on the Mississippi river. The governor's communication is voluminous, comprising statements and affidavits intended to disclose the character of the alleged camp. By direction of the president it has been referred to the attorney general, with a view to securing an opinion on certain legal points involved, and meanwhile it will not be given out for publication.

Speedy Justice For Murderer Lane.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Justice as quickly as the laws of the commonwealth will allow will be meted out to William Lane, the colored butler who on Tuesday killed Miss Ella J. Jarden, otherwise known as Mrs. Ella J. Furbush, and her ten-year-old daughter, Madeline, and probably fatally shot the seven-year-old child Eloise for the purpose of robbery. His trial began this morning.

Fatal Oil Tank Explosion.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 4.—By an explosion on the French oil tank bark Alice and Isabelle at the Harlan & Hollingsworth company's yard, where the vessel is being repaired, John Kamtensy was killed, and John Monahan, George Penn, William Wagmer, Michael Slattery, James Slemmens and Frank Paynter were badly burned. All of the victims were workmen.

RUSSO-CHINESE TREATY.

Ready to Be Signed If Powers Agree. Some of Its Provisions.

PEKING, April 4.—The signing of the Russo-Chinese Manchurian convention only awaits the receipt of information as to whether objection to it will be raised by the other powers. Since the treaty has been modified, as a result of the pressure exerted by the United States, Great Britain and Japan, to its present form, it is not believed that any difficulty on this score will be encountered.

As previously cabled, the evacuation of the three Manchurian provinces by Russia is to be carried out in three successive periods of six months from the signing of the convention. Various vague conditions, such as "if the state of the country permits," are excluded from the agreement, and it is stipulated that the convention be ratified within three months from the day it is signed. China is permitted to maintain whatever force she thinks necessary in Manchuria after the evacuation of that territory.

In addition to the preceding covenants Russia agrees, if Tientsin is restored to the Chinese within the first six months, to vacate Newchwang at the time this restoration is made. China agrees that no portion of the Newchwang-Shanhaikwan railway be allowed to fall into the hands of other powers after Russia restores the road to China. China agrees also to reimburse Russia in the amount spent in completing the railway and in policing the line during the Russian occupation.

ANTIANARCHY BILL A LAW.

Governor Odell Signs Stringent Measure to Stamp Out Evil.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 4.—Governor Odell has signed the bill designed to stamp out anarchy in this state. It imposes a penalty of not more than ten years' imprisonment or more than $5,000 fine, or both, on persons who advocate anarchistic doctrines by speech, writing or otherwise. If also makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $2,000 or imprisonment of not more than two years, or both, upon editors or publishers who permit the publication of books, newspapers or serials advocating anarchy and upon owners, agents or occupants who harbor avowed anarchists.

The governor also signed the bill of Senator Elsberg which provides that no decree of absolute divorce shall become final until three months after the date of the filing of the original judgment and the bill of Assemblyman Kelsey amending the tenement house law for cities of the first class.

The governor gave a hearing in the afternoon on the bill of Senator Crum amending the tax law in relation to the payment of state fees and taxes by corporations. Lawson Purdy, secretary of the New York Tax Reform association, spoke at length against the bill.

A Suicide at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., April 4.—Delia Tansey of Buffalo went over the American falls at 6 o'clock last evening. It was the most sensational cataract suicide in years. The woman jumped over the railing of Goat Island bridge about ten feet from the shore. William Connors of Liverpool, England, who was on the bridge at the time, ran down the shore and waded into the river. A rake was passed to him, which he succeeded in fastening in her clothes. Miss Tansey begged piteously to be saved. He tried to draw the woman toward the shore, but her clothing tore and she was carried over the brink of the falls. Two hundred people saw the woman go to her death.

Philosophical Society Meets.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—The first general meeting of the American Philosophical society since its foundation by Benjamin Franklin in 1743 is in session here and will continue in session tomorrow. Annual meetings of the organization have been regularly held here, but never before have so many members from such widely separated sections attended the annual gathering. The society began the celebration of its one hundred and fifty-ninth birthday with practically every state in the Union represented at the convention, and members from South America and Italy will also participate in the proceedings.

Light For Liberty Statue.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Secretary Root states that he has decided to maintain a light in the statue of Liberty on Bedloe's island, New York harbor, if he has the legal power to do so. General Brooke, commanding the department of the east, at New York, will have a consultation on the subject with Secretary Root. There is an impression at the war department that there is the same authority for lighting the statue, which is on a military reservation, that there is for lighting any other army post. It is expected that a decision will be reached today.

"Ben-Hur" In London.

LONDON, April 4.—"Ben-Hur" was produced at the Drury Lane theater last night. The play went smoothly throughout and was received by an audience which crowded the theater with every sign of satisfaction. The chariot scene was splendidly managed and was greeted with enthusiastic demonstrations of delight. The staging and the processions, the general mounting and the acting of the play were admirable.

Justice Depue Dead.

NEWARK, N. J., April 4.—David A. Depue, former chief justice of the supreme court of New Jersey and one of the most eminent jurists of the state, is dead at his home here. He had been ill since last fall with kidney trouble. His death had been looked for several times during the winter, but each time he rallied.

ATLANTIC CITY'S FIRE

Twelve Hotels and Other Buildings Destroyed.

A LOSS OF $1,500,000 ESTIMATED.

Inmates of the Burned Boarding Houses Rescued—Some Injuries Received, but No Fatalities Reported—Thieves at Work.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 4.—Twelve hotels and more than a score of small buildings adjoining the board walk which is built along the ocean edge have been destroyed by a fire which swept the beach front for two long blocks from Illinois avenue to New York avenue. The loss, it is believed, will exceed $1,500,000. In this respect the conflagration is the most disastrous that has ever visited this city. The loss will be only partly covered by insurance, as the rate of 5 per cent charged by insurance companies on property here is regarded as almost prohibitive.

Fortunately no lives were sacrificed, though probably a dozen persons were slightly injured and burned during the progress of the fire. It was reported early in the afternoon that six men had perished in the flames, but the rumor was without foundation. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is said to have started in either Brady's baths or the Tarleton, which adjoins the baths at Illinois avenue and the board walk.

The city is guarded by a company of militia who were requested by the municipal authorities to aid the police in the prevention of looting. About a dozen men have been arrested for robbery.

The hotels destroyed and their estimated losses are: The Luray and annex, the latter formerly known as the Norwood, owned by J. S. White & Son, $125,000; the New Holland, Mrs. M. J. Lee, $30,000; Stratford, Arnold W. Waldnor, $40,000; Berkeley, Bew Bros., $50,000; Bryn Mawr, J. and E. Keffer, $25,000; Stickney, Mrs. L. V. Stickney, $20,000; Evard, James T. Gorman, $20,000; Rio Grande, J. P. Kilpatrick, $30,000; Mervine, K. Eells, $20,000; Academy hotel and Academy of Music, Charles Fralinger, $25,000; Windsor, G. Jason Waters, partly destroyed, $25,000; Tarleton, G. Jason Waters, $20,000. Charles Keeler, who conducted a drug store in the board walk at Kentucky avenue, estimates his loss at $60,000, and Victor Freisinger, proprietor of an art store at St. James place and the board walk, says his loss is $50,000.

Other victims whose losses range from $5,000 to $10,000 are: James A. Brady, bathhouse; David John, druggist; Nabass & Kazarr, oriental goods; Haines, florist; Shimamura & Co., Japanese novelties; Ching Hop Sing, Chinese novelties; John H. Flett, art store; Partridge & Richardson, millinery and dry goods; Women's Exchange, E. P. Quinn, hairdresser; M. Moyer & Bro., jewelry; Richard Binder, barber.

In addition to the foregoing there were numerous other smaller booths and several cottages on minor thoroughfares in the rear of the board walk which were either partially or entirely destroyed.

The fire was discovered shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and for nearly five hours the flames raged with such violence as to threaten the city with destruction. All of the burned buildings were frame structures, and the flames, fanned by a strong southeast wind, swept along the beach front with amazing rapidity.

The local fire department worked well and willingly, but was unable to cope with the flames, and it was found necessary to send to Philadelphia and Camden for aid. The former city sent three engines, and two came from Camden. The engines were brought here on two special trains furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and they made the run of nearly sixty miles in fifty-five minutes. Their presence here was of vast assistance to the local firemen, but it was not until an hour after their arrival that the fire could be said to be thoroughly under control.

Young Goelet's Inheritance Doubled.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Because of the death of his sister, Beatrice Goelet, last February, young Robert W. Goelet finds his inheritance under the will of his father is practically doubled and that where he would have received something like $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 had his sister lived he will now receive upward of $12,000,000. This came out as the result of the filing in the supreme court of the report of Henry E. Howland as referee, in which he passed upon the accounts of the estate.

Freight Wreck In Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 4.—A bad freight wreck is reported to have occurred in Blue Rock canyon on the Southern Pacific railway. Two freight trains came together in the canyon, which is on the western slope of the Sierras, the cars being piled up so badly that traffic probably will be blocked for twenty-four hours. Several members of the train crews are reported killed or injured.

New Yorker Killed In Colorado.

COLORADO SPRINGS, April 4.—W. J. Carten, sixty-two years of age, said to be a wealthy merchant of Utica, N. Y., and who has been stopping at the Antlers in this city, lost control of a team which he was driving and was thrown out of the buggy and killed.

A Full Load of Seals.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 4.—The sealing steamer Virginia Lake has arrived here with 24,000 seals. This is practically a full load. The Virginia Lake reports that the other vessels of the sealing fleet are adding to their catches.

GIVE THE PEOPLE A CHANCE.

The fate of the Greater Plainfield bills now rests with Governor Murphy. They have been passed by both houses of the State Legislature and only lack his signature to become laws. A rumor has been circulated through the borough that the fate of the bills had been settled when the Governor failed to sign them within five days after they were submitted to him by the Legislature. As a matter of fact, the Governor is allowed, according to law, thirty days in which either to sign or veto the measures. If the Legislature was in session, the bills could be returned to that body without the Governor's signature and become a law. But now that the Legislature has adjourned, the Chief Executive's signature is required to make them laws.

It has been claimed by some of the opponents of the projcet that it is all a scheme of the politicians and that the whole movement has been started for political purposes alone. Of course, such an important thing cannot be done without having some political effect but the men who have openly supported the movement are those who even the most daring would not openly suggest that their course was actuated from any base motive. The truth of the matter is that there are many people in both city and borough who believe for many reasons that city and borough should be made into a Greater Plainfield and, like ourselves, they are confident that a majority of the people take the same view.

All that is asked is that the people have a chance to say what they think in this matter. The bills provide for a vote by the people before their provisions go into effect. The best way that Governor Murphy can discover the feeling of the people of North Plainfield is to sign the bill and let the question be decided at the polls. If it is defeated, that will be an end of it. If it is carried, as we believe it will be, the two municipalities will be much benefitted.

There is a question as to whether North Plainfield wants annexation and consolidation. There is now but one way of deciding it. Let Governor Murphy sign the bills and allow the people to settle the question for themselves.

The Middlesex county Board of Freeholders has suddenly acquired an activity which is somewhat startling to the people of that county. At a single meeting, the board decided to build a county jail, which will more resemble a castle than the customary jail, and construct a bridge that has been demanded by the two Amboys ever since they were big enough to be heard of. Middlesex county is ordinarily so slow about making improvements that this sudden rush immediately suggests that there is some influence at work which is not apparent on the fore ground.

In London the American invaders are conducting advertising campaigns in relation to tobacco and a proprietary medicine which make English dealers stare, declares the Philadelphia Record. The invaders depend exclusively for publicity on the daily newspapers and several weekly publications, "the daily newspapers being the backbone of both schemes." It is worthy of note that the men who are running the campaigns are experienced advertisers, and they rely on the daily press almost exclusively because they know it yields the best returns.

There is trouble somewhere in the editorial department of the Somerville Unionist-Gazette this week. Someone, and it sounds strikingly like a resident of North Plainfield whose voice and pen have both been used in bitter denunciation of the Greater Plainfield project, devotes over a column to our frailties and those of our contemporary. We appreciate the kindness, but are perfectly willing to rest on our reputation for truthfulness and fairness which even such a power as The Unionist-Gazette cannot injure.

Mayor Smalley's tireless efforts in behalf of municipal ownership seems likely to end in a partial realization of His Honor's aim.

added fresh laurels to her musical reputation. Rogers' orchestra furnished the instrumental music.

The head usher was Francis A. Martin and his assistants included Thomas Minford, Hartley Mellick, Wickham Corwin, William Schoonmaker, Langdon Howard, Charles Perkins, and Robert Abbott.

Miss Alice A. Barlow and a bevy of young people occupied one of the gallery boxes, while the Misses Kaufman and some friends filled the other.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders has been a little bit premature in holding up bridge work between its bailiwick and Union county before Governor Murphy has acted on the annexation bills. It is always best not to figure on crossing a bridge until one comes to it.—Newark News.

MORE THAN ONE THERE.

It Was a Pleasant April First Gathering at Home of Miss Butscher.

Miss Mary Burke denies that she was the hostess at the euchre party given at the home of Miss Josie Butscher, of West Fourth street, Tuesday evening. She was simply an invited guest. There was also more than one male present. In playing, the euchre prizes were won by Miss Margaret Kennedy and John Butscher and the booby prizes by Miss Daisy Snyder and William J. Casey.

Injured in Fall.

Wallace Vail, of Clinton avenue, while pulling a carriage into his barn, Wednesday evening, slipped and fell. He landed on his chest badly bruising it. At first he thought he had fractured a rib, but an examination by his physician failed to disclose such a condition. Mr. Vail still suffers considerable pain as a result of the accident.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Nothing new has developed yet in the Healey burglary of Tuesday night. The burglars left no clew and the only thing to work upon is that a well dressed stranger, who had been loitering about the streets of the borough several days before the robbery, has not been seen since Tuesday. Many think that this was someone sent on to "pipe" off the places that would make entering profitable and are wondering if any other places are marked for entering. There is no doubt but any one at present making the attempt would meet with a warm reception.

OLEO BILL PASSED.

Close Vote In Senate After a Long Debate.

THE HOUSE MEASURE MODIFIED.

A Tax of Ten Cents Per Pound on Imitation Butter—House Passes the Senate Revenue Cutter Service Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—At the conclusion of a lively debate the senate passed the oleomargarine bill by a vote of 39 to 31.

The discussion was largely in the nature of a re-enforcement of arguments previously advanced. Mr. Spooner (Wis.) made the principal speech, maintaining that congress had ample authority to enact the proposed legislation because it was in the interest of the people.

In an earnest protest against the measure Mr. Vest (Mo.) held that congress was invading the powers of the states. Mr. Scott (W. Va.) moved to recommit the measure to the committee, holding that it was unsatisfactory to many senators and ought to be perfected.

The measure as passed by the senate differs in some respects from that passed by the house of representatives. It provides that oleomargarine and kindred products shall be subject to all the laws and regulations of any state or territory or the District of Columbia into which they are transported, whether in original packages or otherwise; that any person who sells oleomargarine and furnishes it for the use of others, except to his own family, who shall mix with it any artificial coloration that causes it to look like butter shall be held to be a manufacturer and shall be subject to the tax provided by existing law; that upon oleomargarine colored so as to resemble butter a tax of 10 cents a pound shall be levied, but upon oleomargarine not colored the tax shall be one-fourth of a cent per pound; that upon adulterated butter a tax of 10 cents a pound shall be levied, and upon all process or renovated butter the tax shall be one-fourth of a cent per pound. The manufacturers of process or renovated or adulterated butter shall pay an annual tax of $600, the wholesale dealers shall pay a tax of $480 and the retail dealers a tax of $48 per annum.

The measure provides regulations for the collection of the tax and prescribes minutely how the various products are to be prepared for market.

The senate bill to promote the efficiency of the revenue cutter service passed the house by a vote of 135 to 49. The opponents of the measure fought it to the last ditch. At the very end they attempted a filibuster, but were swept aside by the overwhelming majority in favor of the measure.

A Split Over Bucket Shop Tax.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The conferees of the two houses of congress on the war revenue repeal bill have held another conference, but again failed to reach an agreement. The only item on which there is a disagreement is the senate amendment continuing the tax on bucket shops. This the representatives of the house refuse to accept, while the senators decline to recede from their position.

Mrs. Haines Acquitted.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., April 4.—Mrs. Mabel Fenton Haines, who has been on trial here for the last nine days, charged with killing her two-year-old stepdaughter Gwendolin, was acquitted by the jury, which was out only an hour and a quarter. Mrs. Haines did not move a muscle when she realized that she had been freed of the charge. After receiving the congratulations of her family and her friends Mrs. Haines, accompanied by her husband and her two infant children, left the courtroom and went to her home at Delanco. In an interview after the trial Mrs. Haines said that she will take a long rest and that she may go abroad.

A Bust of McKinley.

BUFFALO, April 4.—Edward L. A. Pausch, formerly of New York, the sculptor who made the death mask of President McKinley, is now making the cast from which a bronze bust of the martyred president is to be molded. The bust when finished is to be placed in the postoffice at Philadelphia, whose employees have ordered it from Mr Pausch. It is to be dedicated on Memorial day. The bronze work will be done in New York. The cast is what is known as an heroic bust, or one and one-half life size.

Smallpox Increasing.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., April 4.—The epidemic of smallpox at Waddington, in this county, has increased to an alarming extent, and the state board of health has been notified. Nearby towns are greatly alarmed over the increasing number of cases and have appealed to the health department to send state officers and place the village under quarantine.

Newfoundland Legislators Excited.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 4.—A violent scene occurred at the night session of the colonial legislature between the minister of finance, E. Jackman, and Mr. Morine, the leader of the opposition. "Mean, dirty liar," "scoundrel," "blackguard" and "coward" were among the epithets exchanged between the two men.

Marconi Company Sells Out.

LONDON, April 4.—The Marconi Wireless Telegraph company has sold its American rights and patents to an American company, with a capital of $6,150,000.

A BAD CHRISTMAS.

Americans and Danish Ministry Repudiate the Captain.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The investigation of charges in connection with the Danish West Indies negotiations was resumed yesterday by the house special committee having it in charge. Among those present when the hearing began were Abner McKinley, Colonel W. C. Brown, Carl Fischer Hansen and Representative Gardner of New Jersey.

Mr. McKinley was the first witness. He gave his residence as New York and his business that of a lawyer, and in response to Chairman Dalzell's inquiry he said he was a brother of the late president. Asked as to whether he knew Captain Christmas, the witness said he had met him once in the most casual way in the lobby of the Manhattan hotel, New York. He never held any conference with him of any kind or character.

"Was there any talk of the Danish West Indies?" asked Mr Dalzell.

"None whatever either directly or otherwise," answered the witness.

Mr. McKinley went on to say that he had never mentioned the matter to the president. He had no meeting with Christmas beyond this casual one, when there was nothing except an exchange of the courtesies of the day.

Representative Richardson asked the witness if he knew Mr. Hansen.

Mr. McKinley said he had known Hansen for some time, and prior to the casual meeting with Christmas Hansen had desired to retain him in this matter. In reply, the witness said, he told Mr. Hansen he could have nothing to do with it. Subsequently when he met Christmas they passed the time of day, and that was the end of it.

Mr. Richardson asked if Mr. McKinley ever had any talks with the Selligmans on the subject. Mr. McKinley said he had never had any conversation with them on this transaction or with any one except Hansen, as has been stated.

Wing Shooting at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—At the close of the second day of the Grand American handicap at Blue River park the number of wing shots with straight scores had been materially reduced. Of the 143 who had not missed a bird when the shooting ended on Wednesday eighty-nine dropped out yesterday, leaving fifty-four who still have a straight score. Forty-four of these have shot sixteen rounds. When the shooting stopped, fifty-six men had shot twelve rounds, and among them were ten shooters with a straight score.

Paderewski at the White House.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The first social event of the post Lenten season at the White House took place last night, when President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained a large number of guests at a musicale, at which Mr. Ignace Jan Paderewski rendered a select programme. The White House was very handsomely decorated for the occasion with a profusion of cut flowers and potted plants. Preceding the musicale the president and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a dinner, at which covers were set for eighteen.

Cuban Itch or Smallpox.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 4.—An inspector from the state health department is investigating 150 cases of what is said to be smallpox in the town of Saranac, near Saranac lake. The local health officer has reported that the disease is Cuban itch.

A Trade Trick.

"Look here," snapped the lean-nosed woman, "what are you doing in my vestibule?"

"I am just trying to get out, ma'am," said the peddler, as he started for the steps.

"Yes, but what were you doing there in the first place?"

"Well, er—you see, ma'am, I am selling face powders and paints, but I see you are too young and beautiful to need any cosmetics."

"You think so? Well, you are right, but let me look at a box." And he sold her three packages right there.—Chicago Daily News.

A citizen of Frankfort, Germany has bqueathed to that city the sum of 500,000 marks, the interest upon it to be used in researches respecting the cause of cancer. DAINTY AND FRAIL HATS.

Broad Shapes Are Being Shown. Tulle and Lisse Tricornes.

Tulle and lisse with big chenille spots are to be quite modish for hats, ruffles and vests. A draped toque of the wide, flat order in this style has a side drapery of yellowish d'alencon lace prettily caught up with a paste ornament. The left side is slightly raised by a bandeau and a graceful twist of orchid pink panne, and a big chou of the spotted tulle holds a full Gourra osprey.

A great many spring hats are being shown since the shops cleared out at the sales, and the filmy lace straws are quite transparent and are to be lined with colored areophane and chiffon.

Broad "flop" shapes with small, almost flat crowns are shown, and these should be left to a skillful modiste. The straw toques are very dainty and have curiously arranged double brims. Combinations of color appear in these toques, of which a gray, lightly combined with pink, and a tabac brown with lemon are excellent examples.

The illustration shows a coat of black moire trimmed with bands of black cloth. The deep collar and cuffs are of brown Russian lace.

STREET COSTUMES.

Slightly Longer Coats Are Being Shown.

The ladies' tailor and the fashionable modiste are busy with spring gowns, and these are of the lightest coloring. Strappings are still in favor, but narrow braid and fine silk cord are used with cloth strappings, which are wider than formerly, and cut or stenciled cloth arranged over velvet or silk of a contrasting color is very modish.

Cutaway coats with medium basques are shown, but the tailor believes that it will be difficult to introduce anything to check the career of the bolero, which seems as popular as ever. The

SMART TAILOR MADE.

Louis coats are fashionable and are so smart and chic that they are certain to be favored for spring wear.

A few ruffles are worn at weddings and smart at homes, and these are of silk, generally glace or taffeta, and have chenille ruchings or black velvet petals or, in some cases, frayed bias edges, which are really pretty when the ruffle is full.

The tailor made in the cut is black, relieved with a front, cuffs and lapels of flowered silk. It is also trimmed with tiny black velvet bows.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Pitt, Astrologer," etc.

"Just hang around, squire," smiled Mr. Boomer.

"That's it," said Vlandingham. "Mr. Herbert, gentlemen, will probably invest in some Harmony lots." Guy raised his hand in protest. "After the election," supplemented Mr. Vlandingham. "We have a town meeting tonight, Mr. Herbert, and you might go along with us and rub up against some of our best citizens.

"Squire!" exclaimed the man with the glass eye, crooking his finger.

Vlandingham bent down, and Col. Dingle whispered to him earnestly.

"Nonsense!" said Vlandingham, in a low tone, which nevertheless reached Guy's ears. "I'll vouch for him."

When the six of them finally started for the meeting, Guy's conscience was sadly troubling him. He would rather a thousand times have remained behind and spent the evening with Miss Betty.

CHAPTER III.

The town meeting was held in a vacant room over the Bee Hive store. So far as Guy could make out, Harmony and Concord were very much alike, except that in Concord the business places were ranged along a main street, while in Harmony they were grouped about a vacant square. This was a distinction without much of a difference. The square, Mr. Vlandingham informed Guy, was reserved for the courthouse. In the event that Harmony won the contest, Guy wondered what he and Col. Keever would do with their courthouse.

A lamp burned in the entrance leading up to the hall and a stern-looking man with a rifle over his arm blocked the way.

"How is everything, Marley?" inquired Vlandingham.

"Nothin' suspicious so fur, squire," replied Marley, staring at Guy.

"Got sentries posted all around this building?"

"Sure. No one that ain't on the square can come within a block of it."

"That's right."

Vlandingham and his party ascended the stairs. At the top they passed the scrutiny of another guard and entered the meeting-room. There were some 20 or 30 men in the hall and Vlandingham made for a platform at the farther end of the room, nodding to citizens on either side and speaking a word here and there as he progressed.

"I'll introduce you all around after the meeting is over," he whispered to Guy. "You'll want some lots, I know you will, and I'll see that you get them, no matter what Betty says."

Guy had no time, just then, to once more disavow any intention of purchasing real estate in Harmony, for Vlandingham was late and the impatient people wasted not a moment in having the meeting called to order.

Guy sat on the platform with Vlandingham, Col. Dingle, Maj. Harp, Capt. Blue and Mr. Boomer. These five, as Guy quickly learned, constituted a committee of safety and ways and means. Vlandingham was elected chairman, and as they had no use for a secretary the business was begun immediately.

The first man to get the floor was a Mr. Pinkney. Mr. Pinkney was excited to a hysterical degree. He shook in body and limb and during his agitated delivery of the matter that oppressed him his voice broke often from excess of wrath and indignation.

Business had called him to the eastern side of the county that day, Mr. Chairman and fellow citizens, and in returning he had driven boldly back through the outskirts of that pitiful excuse for a town called Concord. Yes, sir, and no one had dared to raise a hand against him. And what do you think he saw, Mr. Chairman, what do you think he saw with his own eyes? At this point Mr. Pinkney gulped his words, choked on them, and finally managed to articulate hoarsely. Why, on that rattle-trap of a building which the wretched Keever is erecting for a courthouse, he actually saw a weather-vane, a monstrous thing which answered to no wind of heaven but pointed ever and always in the direction of Harmony. And what was that weather-vane, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, what was it? It was a man's head, sir, a man's head and hand, and the hand was doing this, looking straight toward Harmony all the time, and doing this, doing this at their honorable chairman, at Col. Dingle, Maj. Harp, Capt. Blue and Mr. Boomer! Yes, gentlemen, doing this at all of you!

Mr. Pinkney made a weather-vane of himself for purposes of illustration. With his thumb to his nose and his trembling fingers outspread he directed the opprobrious gesture at Vlandingham, then in turn at each member of the committee of safety and then at the entire meeting.

Guy was consumed with a desire to laugh, but suppressed it strenuously. It was not a laughing matter for the citizens in the hall, and not one detected a trace of humor in the situation. A murmur of rage swept through the assemblage and Col. Dingle sprang to his feet with a fierce cry.

"They are all hoodlums and rowdies on the other side of the county," he shouted, tossing his arms, "and the arch fiend who leads the rabble is that schemer, that political trickster, that preeminent rascal, Archibald Keever!"

In a twinkling the meeting was in an uproar. Every citizen was talking wildly and shaking his clenched fists. Vlandingham pounded for order. When a measure of quiet finally obtained he spoke a few words himself.

"We must be quiet, we must be calm, we must not allow our passions to run away with us. Let us remember that it is the cool head and the daring hand that wins the day. They have flung the gage at us and we will bear with this insolence now and return it a hundredfold. Col. Dingle, we will hear from you."

Mr. Pinkney sat down, and Col. Dingle, calming himself with a painful effort, declared that this gratuitous insult could have been the work of none other than Keever; that he came from Kentucky, as did the aforesaid Keever, and that he wanted the meeting to appoint him a committee of one to ride directly into town and slap the aforesaid Keever's face. He would do it, and he would abide by the consequences.

Barely had this duty been laid upon Col. Dingle's shoulders when an uproar was heard below, at the street entrance. The noise increased and swept up the stairs, and the cause of it all presently burst open the door and dashed into the room. A wild-eyed, strapping big fellow with his trousers tucked into his boot tops was among them. He was covered with dust and his face was ominous and eager.

"A traitor!" he shouted, waving a scrap of paper over his head; "there's a traitor in this room!"

During the foreboding silence that followed Guy's heart beat like a trip-hammer.

"A traitor, Barney?" queried Vlandingham, getting up and sweeping his gaze over the people before him. His voice was soft, but there was a metallic glitter in his eyes as he advanced to the edge of the platform. "Come here, Barney," he added, indicating a cleared space in front of him, "come here and tell us about it. Boomer, you and the captain will please guard the exit."

The Captain stumped away to the door, followed by Boomer, both frowning heavily. Mr. Boomer grimly developed a revolver.

"I got the information from the broom man," said Barney, approaching as he had been directed to do and presenting the folded paper. "I would have got here sooner but that broncho of mine—consarn him!—got scared and threw me, so I had to walk half the way."

Vlandingham unfolded the note and read it silently. Guy, who was watching him narrowly, saw his face slightly redden and observed a twitching of his heavy iron gray mustache. The deep stillness was at last broken by the chairman.

"Is there a hunchback man in this room?" he demanded, sternly.

There was not, and Guy was participating in the general feeling of relief when Barney cried out:

"Hunchback, squire? That doesn't say anything about a hunchback!"

"I thought you couldn't read, Barney?" returned Vlandingham, accompanying the words with a severe look.

"No more I can't, squire. I can spell out print tolerable well, but writin's a point beyond me. I stopped at your house, though, on the way in, and Miss Betty read the note aloud and sent me along here in a hurry. She said I wasn't to give the note to anyone but you."

Was it disappointment or consternation that afflicted Vlandingham. Guy wondered as he surveyed him.

"I have been possessed with the idea, gentlemen," continued the chairman, addressing the meeting, "that trouble is to be expected through the agency of a hunchback. This note doesn't describe such a person, but I know who the man is. If Mr. Herbert—" he turned to Guy and handed him the note—"will assist us, we will be able to capture him without trouble or violence. Please read that, Mr. Herbert, and inform me whether you are acquainted with the individual described."

Guy glanced at the writing hurriedly.

"Yes, sir," he replied, "I know him."

"Will you go with Barney, here, apprehend the fellow and see that he stays at my house until I come?"

Guy saw how Vladingham was trying to save him. He noted also the perplexed faces of the citizens in front, and of those on the platform; especially was he aware of Barney's blank amaze. The latter's eyes were starting from his head, and it was evident that his brain was violently disturbed. Guy gave Vlandingham a square and manly look.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 6, "Growing In Grace"—Text, II Pet. iii, 17, 18; I Pet. ii, 1, 2; Eph. iv, 12-15.

A dwarfed or deformed body is a pitiful sight. It speaks so plainly of pain, it tells so much of crushed hopes, of checked activities and privations, that it awakens sympathy even if it cannot command help.

How much more pitiable is a pinched soul! Some one asked John B. Gough what was the most pathetic sight he ever saw. In his temperance work he had seen the deep misery of great cities. Without hesitation he answered. "An old face on a little child." It is not the years which make age so much as it is experience. We grow old from hardships and hopeless miseries. Soul pain is hardest to bear and breaks the strength more than work and privation of food.

We ought to be strong. We need to be good. We wish to be beautiful. Ugliness ought to be conquered. We must grow. How shall that growth be—for the better, purer, sweeter, or for the worse?

Physical strength cannot always be had as we would wish. Some inherit traits which can never be changed. One constitutionally small of stature may earnestly desire to be tall, but wishing is hopeless in such a case. The best that can be done is to develop all the strength possible in the body one has and exhibit a great soul's traits until the little body is forgotten or, if remembered at all, is ennobled and honored as the home of a noble man or a gentle woman.

Soul growth is more fully under our control than bodily development. Inherited traits are to be found in all persons, to be sure, in the spirit nature as well as in physical things, but need not prevent our growth. Too many never set before themselves seriously the task of becoming in the inner nature the best possible kind of being. Yet that is the real work of life. All things that come to us are given for this purpose. God has the deepest interest in having us grow into the fairest, finest type of creaturehood. All our highest prospects are grounded here. Our goal is the "measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

To reach this end we must repress, cut off and deny ourselves in certain things, enlarge, develop and grow in certain other respects. Whatever our inclinations to malice, envy, jealousy, enmities, evil speaking and evil thinking, no degree of nobleness can be had from their cultivation. They must be overcome and cast out from us resolutely, continuously, until they have no place in us. Have you done this yet? There must be no shamming in the matter, no posing, no playing at or acting the part. All must be sincere and deadly earnest; rather call it living earnest. "The sincere milk of the word" must be used and relished to nourish this life. We must constantly be aware of the error of the wicked, must see the wrong course and shun it persistently, or we shall fall from our steadiness. And if we waver and grow dizzy we invite disaster.

We must know more, increasingly—not more of the evil, but of the good. Practice brings proficiency. We must use our knowledge. We must do the good, and we shall become efficient in it and graceful in the doing. "Grow in grace and knowledge of Jesus Christ."

Easiness of Spirit.

The fully sanctified have an easiness of manner and spirit that they never would have had but for the operation of the Holy Spirit on their hearts. True easiness of spirit is not the work of culture, but the work of the grace of God. It is quietness of soul, but it is that quietness of soul that is wrought only by the grace of God. The grace of God checks our natural haste, frees us from the activities of nature and curbs our impulsive spirits, so as to keep us quiet and make us easy in our manners and ways even in time of excitement. Let us seek to get this easiness of spirit. This easiness of spirit will not rob us of zeal and earnestness in our religious work. It will rather make us more in earnest. There is what may be called an easy earnestness of soul which frees us from awkwardness in our work. This easiness of spirit should be seen in our homes, in the church, in company, in our business life and everywhere else. —Christian Standard.

Cannot Reap the Benefits.

We well know in what spirit some affect to ignore and even to decry the value of the church. If a person never crosses the threshold of the house of God, yet there is a reflex influence which is of untold value to the individual. He cannot reap the entire benefits even if he performs the moral and spiritual obligations resting upon him. —Universalist.

In Enduring Unity.

Between the mortal and immortal worlds no gulf is fixed. Above all and binding all in enduring unity is the community of aim and spirit which keeps those who love and are loyal hand in hand and foot in foot; though seas divide, there hangs between the impenetrable veil of death.—Christian Union.

He Keeps Me.

There's One—and there's none other—
That cheers me in the way;
'Tis He, my elder Brother,
That keeps me day by day.

This Jesus in the manger,
This Christ upon the sea,
He keeps His own from danger
And makes them truly free!

This God who rules in kindness,
We bask within His love;
He heals us of our blindness
And lifts our souls above.
—Christian Herald.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning April 6. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Growing in grace.—II Pet. iii, 17, 18; I Pet. ii, 1, 2; Eph. iv, 12-15.

The word grace has two meanings in the Scriptures. First, the free and unmerited favor by which God saves us. "By grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." Second, grace refers to "the blessings of the Spirit inwrought in the heart" and manifested life of the believer. The word as used in the topical reference has the latter meaning. To grow in grace means to grow in the graces which under the blessing of the Spirit come to make the Christian character all that it ought to be.

The duty of Christian growth is frequently emphasized in the Scriptures. Christ had much to say about growth and advancement in the Christian life, Paul eloquently pleaded for it, and here Peter joins his exhortation with those of the Master and the great apostle to the gentiles. "Grow in grace" is his command in his second epistle, and that "grace * * * be multiplied" to his readers was his prayer in his first epistle. This constant emphasis of growth by the great Christian teachers is a proof of its necessity and importance. This fact should be impressed upon us, and we should strive by obedience, by knowledge and by prayer to constantly "grow in grace."

The necessity of constant growth in grace lies in the fact that we cannot become perfect in this life. If we could reach perfection, if a time could come in our lives when grace could not be multiplied in us, then the command to grow would be without meaning to us. But such a realization is impossible in this life, at least in the view of the great apostles. Paul served God with peculiar devotion and zeal for threescore years, and yet he knew nothing about the modern doctrine of perfectionism. Perfection is impossible this side eternity, and therefore growth in grace is an imperative necessity until the end of time.

Growth in grace is a safeguard against the lack of steadfastness. "Beware," says the apostle, "lest ye also, being led away with the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness. But [that you may not fall] grow in grace." Growth is absolutely necessary to steadfastness. We cannot stand still in the Christian life and character. We will grow or decline in grace, and that we may not decline, but may be steadfast and immovable, we should constantly advance in grace and in service "till we come in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man unto the measure of the stature of Christ." This is the goal toward which we strive. All the means of grace are for "the perfecting of the saints," which work goes on until the end of life, when "the souls of believers are made perfect in holiness and do immediately pass into glory."

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. i, 1-6; iii, 7-9; Jer. xii, 1, 2; Hos. xiv, 5-7; Mal. iv, 1, 2; Matt, xiii, 1, 9; Mark iv, 26-29; Luke i, 80; Eph. ii, 19-26; Phil. iii, 12-14; II Thess. i, 3.

Peace.

Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee.—Isa. xxvi, 3.

Looking down from a height on a broad river that is so peaceful it reflects all the boats floating upon its surface and the overhanging foliage like a mirror, the thought comes—what a beautiful illustration it is of the human heart! The stream is calm now, but is quickly ruffled by a passing breeze, even growing into wild billows that dangerously toss every vessel that sails upon it. When the heart is not stayed on God, it is swayed by passing breezes that blow from every quarter in this world where public opinion rules with such power, and, like the winds blowing over a river, hearts, like skiffs, are blown hither and thither. But when the mind is stayed on God, then not only peace, but "perfect peace," is promised. What great rewards our Lord gives for our faith in Him! Surely they are from "His riches in glory."

To remain peaceful amid trials of every kind, knowing by heart that the Lord overrules and that He is waiting to reveal hidden blessings while we wait before Him, is the joy in peace, just as the fruit is held within the blossom. Our Father never bestows a lonely blessing. It is blessing within blessing always.—Presbyterian Banner.

Be Reconciled to God.

The shame and curse of the world is that it is alienated from God. That alienation is the curse of human degradation and misery, and a supreme duty and a high and peculiar privilege of the followers of Christ are to beseech men, in Christ's stead, to be reconciled to God. In all ages the path to that reconciliation has led through the gate of repentance. It has been the result of being born again by the spirit of God, which has made an inimical human soul a lover of God and the servant of Christ.—Christian Intelligencer (Baptist).

A Rule of Life.

To work fearlessly, to follow earnestly after truth, to rest with a childlike confidence in God's guidance, to leave one's lot willingly and heartily to Him, this is my sermon to myself. If we could live more within sight of heaven, we should care less for the turmoil of earth.—"Letters of John Richard Green."

Give Him the Best Part.

Would our friends love us very much if we only went to them when we were sad? They want us most when we are joyous, and so does Jesus. Let us give Him, then, the best part of our natures, and we will be rewarded.—Presbyterian Journal.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The position of catcher on the Y. M. C. A. team seems to be a coveted one. Captain McLaughlin has six applicants for it, all of whom are eager to be chosen. The choice will fall on the one who shows up best in practice.

The local baseball season will regularly open tomorrow afternoon when the Plainfield High School and the Y. M. C. A. teams will play their first games on the diamond on Pittis Field. The game is called for 3:30 o'clock. The match will serve, in a measure, as a practice game for both nines. Having so much more material to pick from, there seems but little doubt but the Y. M. C. A. will have the stronger team. The management of the association team will take the opportunity to give many of the candidates a chance to show their abilities so numerous changes may be expected in the line-up.

BASKET BALL.

One of the most hotly contested basket ball games of the season will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday evening. The teams of the Plainfield High School and Leal's School will then meet for a decisive match. There has been more or less question all through the winter as to the comparative strength of the two teams. The teams have met twice and each side has one victory to its credit. The Leal boys claim, however, that the first was merely a practice game and should not be regularly counted in the series. Monday night's match has long been desired but other things have prevented a meeting of the two teams until now. A large audience will pack the visitors' gallery as each team has a host of friends who are all anxious to see the deciding game.

Kirk Gets Contract.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 4—W. T. Kirk Company, of Plainfield, has been awarded the contract for the erection of the new temporary court house for Union county. The bids were submitted to the Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon. They were as follows: H. C. Probst, of New York, $30,575; Moffett, Hewitt & Norris, New York, $31,000; W. T. Kirk Company, Plainfield, $29,990. Ackerman & Ross' estimate was that the structure would cost between $30,000 and $32,000.

Funeral of Accident Victim.

The funeral of Silas H. Winans, the lad who met accidental death Tuesday, was held from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas E. Winans, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. George Bowers, of Watchung, officiated at the services. The pallbearers were four playmates, Edward and Lanz Texier, Ernest Bicknell and Owen Driver. Interment was made at Coontown cemetery.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Frances Gardner, of Brooklyn, to Roland Weston, of New York. Both of the young people formerly resided here. Miss Gardner is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gardner, who lived on Westervelt avenue. Mr. Weston's home was in Washington Park.

Death of Justice Depue.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, April 4—David A. Depue, former chief justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court, died at his home in this city last night. He had been afflicted with a lingering illness for some time.

To Repeat Easter Music.

The Easter music rendered at the Church of the Holy Cross will be repeated Sunday morning and evening.

Neglect Means Danger.

Don't neglect biliousness and constipation. Your health will suffer permanently if you do. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cure such cases. M. B. Smith, Butternut, Mich., says: "DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the most satisfactory pills I ever took. Never gripe or cause nausea." L. W. Randolph.

FIRE CHIEF STAHL IN FAVOR OF ANNEXATION

Head of Borough Fire Department Indorses Movement to Change the County Line.

HE TALKED FREELY.

GAVE HIS REASONS FOR FAVORING THE ANNEXATION PROJECT.

North Plainfield's Interests Are Naturally With Union County Rather Than Somerset—W. L. Smalley for Annexation.

Among the Somerset street tradesmen who favor the annexation of the borough to Union county is Julius J. Stahl, chief of the North Plainfield fire department. He believes that the best interests of the community "across the brook" will be served by severing relations with Somerset county and becoming part and parcel of this county.

Ordinarily, Mr. Stahl is not inclined to pass judgment, when he knows that his views are for publication. In conversation with a Press reporter, yesterday afternoon, he spoke freely on the subject. The merits of annexation and of consolidation are two different things in his mind. The former he endorses, though the latter meets with his opposition on several grounds.

He pointed out several benefits to be obtained by annexation. One of them is the matter of taxation. It is a noteworthy fact, said he, that the tax rate in Union is many points lower than in Somerset county. Some improvements are to be made in the former county and this will have a tendency to raise the rate, and it is possible, according to his way of thinking, that this will about equalize the rate. Among these improvements is the handsome and commodious new court house. But, says he, improvements must also be made in Somerset county, for it will not be long before new quarters will be needed for the court and other departments. This will certainly send up the tax rate. So he believes that going into Union county will benefit the boroughites as far as this is concerned.

Another thing he mentions is that with the exception of a few towns, Somerset county is a farming community. A large proportion of taxes is raised in North Plainfield, Raritan, Bound Brook and Somerville. The burden falls heavily on these communities, for the farming districts pay much less. As time passes he believes that the taxes raised on the farm land will decrease and consequently increase those of the more thickly settled communities. Union county, says he, is made up of a lot of towns. In reality, he says, it is a county of boroughs and cities. The taxes are more evenly distributed throughout the various sections on this account. The annexatinon of North Plainfield will mark the introduction of another large town in Union county.

He believed that the interests of North Plainfield are more allied to Union county. The inhabitants of the borough are principally business men, and such also are the citizens in Union county, where the farming district is considerably smaller in proportion. He states that when a lawyer is wanted by the average boroughite he selects one from Plainfield or from this side of the brook at any rate as a general rule. In the trades the interests are more akin also. Business men of North Plainfield come into much closer relations with those of Union county than they do with those of Somerset county. He has a number of other reasons in advocacy of the plan, and is an avowed believer in the idea.

William L. Smalley, Jr., of William L. Smalley & Co., of Somerset street, is another firm adherent of the measure to annex the borough to Union county. He doesn't believe that North Plainfield owes Somerset county anything and that it will be far better to sever the tie which binds it to the agricultural county. North Plainfielders, says he, have little to do with the county in which they live, except when they have to make the journey to Somerville to attend court. He declares that the affairs of the borough people are considerably more allied to Union county and that the people take more interest in it. They have in short, says he, much more in common. The tax rate and the general treatment received by the borough from Somerset county are matters he mentions when advocating the change of the county line.

TRUTH ABOUT SHARE OF COUNTY EXPENSE

North Plainfield Has Not Had Return for the Taxes It Has Paid.

COMPARISON OF FIGURES

UNIONIST-GAZETTE'S ARTICLE CONTAINED MUCH MISREPRESENTATION.

Share Should be Based on Assessed Valuation and Not on Population—Little Advantage to Borough of County Buildings.

The Unionist-Gazette charges others with misrepresentation in relation to the consolidation bills and then proceeds to indulge in the crossest sort of misrepresentations in regard to the amount of county money which North Plainfield has received. It gives the impression that the borough has received from the county in the past six years, (why six? why not five, ten, or fifteen years?) $134,954.14, while as a matter of fact from this amount must first be deducted for school money, which comes not from the county but from the State, $51,695.93. The Gazette knows as well as any one that there is no county school tax and that the county has absolutely no control over the State school money. Its attempt to mislead in that particular is palpable.

It next claims that the county has expended during six years for general expenses, including roads, $325,630.42, and argues that because the borough now has five thirty-thirds of the population of the county it is chargeable with five thirty-thirds of that amount. Such an assumption is absurd. Taxes are based upon assessed valuation, not upon population. The borough's rateables are about one-ninth of the total county rateables and the borough's proper proportion of $325,630, would be in round figures $36,200, instead of $49,338, a difference in favor of the borough of $13,138, even assuming that the borough received the same benefit from money spent for courts, tramps, county jail, stone roads, etc., as does Somerville, which of course it does not and in the nature of things never can, because of its location. It is fair to assume that the figures given for other items by the Gazette are equally misleading, but taking them as correct we have the following:

North Plainfield's share of county expense, $36,200; bridges, $21,476.30; lunacy, $12,444; total cost of borough to county, $70,120.30; paid in by borough county tax, $70,893.32; balance in borough's favor, as shown from Gazette's figures, $773.02.

The borough does not use the county jail, nor criminal courts except in rare instances, but generally takes care of its offenders, tramps, etc., in its own courts and jail, so that it does not get the same benefit of the county buildings and courts as Somerville and other parts of the county, and there is not the slightest doubt that any detailed statement of the figures contained in the county collector's reports for any period of five, ten or fifteen years will show a balance largely in favor of the borough.

POLICE BOARD MET.

Patrolman John Watson's Resignation Was Received at Meeting—Delegates to Convention.

There was a meeting of the Councilmanic police committee last evening, when several matters of importance were considered. The resignation of Patrolman John Watson was received and will be acted upon officially at the meeting of the Common Council next Monday evening.

Patrolman Watson secured permission to get off for a day to attend a funeral. He did not report for duty until five days later. This failure, in accordance with the ordinance governing the department, cost him his position. By reason of the length of time off he ceased to be an employe in the police department.

As regards securing a man for the vacancy it is the sense of the committee that a person should be engaged according to his fitness. Applications for the position will be received and the applicant will be required to pass police examination such as was required of the patrolmen appointed last time. Some action regarding this will be taken Monday evening.

It was also decided to send Chief Kiely and Councilman Randolph, as a member of the board, to the convention of the chiefs of police of the United States and Canada, which will be held at Louisville, Ky., May 7.

The Mesdames McCutchen received the guests in the parlor assisted by Mrs. William L. Saunders, Mrs. Charles A. Reed, the sisters of Mrs. McCutchen, Mrs. O. B. Leonard, of Perth Amboy, and the Misses Annie, Florence and Minnie Marsh with Mrs. Keyes, of Eliazbeth.

Mrs. Clifford W. McGee and Mrs. Edward T. Wilson presided at the table in the dining room and were assisted by the Misses Barlow, Howell, Suydam, Horne, Dorothy Wells, Margaret, McCutchen and the Misses Keyes, of Elizabeth, sisters of Mrs. W. M. McCutchen. Several hundred guests availed themselves of Mrs. McCutchen's hospitality.

DEATH CAME QUICKLY TO PROMINENT MAN

Former Councilman Seymour G. Smith Was Suddenly Stricken With Apoplexy.

HE DIED LAST EVENING.

HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED WITH CITY'S INTERESTS FOR TWENTY YEARS.

Originally in the Tea Business, He Afterwards Went Into Crematory Company—Leaves Wife and Two Sons—Funeral Monday.

A sudden stroke of apoplexy which came to Former Councilman Seymour G. Smith, of Carlton avenue, shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, resulted fatally three hours later. Owing to his weakened state caused by a lingering illness of two years duration, he was unable to withstand the attack and died at 9 o'clock. His death was a great shock to all who knew him as he was just beginning to recover from the malady which affected him and walked to town few days ago for the first time in many months.

In the death of Mr. Smith, Plainfield loses one of its best citizens and a thorough, energetic business man. Although but a resident a little more than twenty years, he was widely known and respected by all.

He was born in Warwick, Otsego county, N. Y., in 1848. When a young boy he entered the employ of Green & Wattles, tea merchants, of New York city, and advanced from the lowest to one of the most responsible positions in the firm. He afterward engaged in the tea business for himself and condcted it successfully until 1886 when he retired to devote all his time to exploiting a garbage crematory furnace of his own invention. For this purpose he organized the Seaboard Sanitary Garbage Crematory and Refuse Utilizing Company, the charter of which terminated a short time ago. The same system was used in this city by the Plainfield Sanitary Company. For some time past he has been conducting the business alone, having an office at 54 Pine street, New York.

Mr. Smith came to this city in 1880 and from the start always took an interest in its affairs. He was elected a member of the Common Council in 1890 and served two years, one of which he was president of the Council. His term was marked by much activity.

The deceased leaves a widow and two sons, Fred G., and George P., both of whom reside at home. He was a brother to Former Assemblyman Chester M. Smith, of Westfield, and Mrs. P. C. Gilchrist, of Oneonta, N. Y. His mother, Mrs. Polly Smith, also resides in Westfield.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made in Hillside cemetery.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS INSTALL NEW PASTOR

Installation Service Was Held at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church This Morning.

DR. LEWIS IN CHARGE.

WELCOMED REV. GEORGE B. SHAW TO HIS NEW CHARGE.

New Pastor Expressed His Desire to Truly Serve the Church and and the Church's Master—Sermon by Mr. Shaw.

A simple but beautiful service was held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church, this morning, on the occasion of the installation of the new pastor, Rev. George Blye Shaw, by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, a leader in the demonination, and formerly pastor of the local church.

The first part of the service was the regular Sabbath morning service, conducted partly by Dr. Lewis and partly by Mr. Shaw, who read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer.

When Mr. Shaw rose to deliver his address he announced as his text Luke xxii:27: "I am among you as he that serveth." He spoke of the life of service led by the Saviour, of the Christian's personal life as a life of service, and of the necessity that the life of a Christian clergyman should be particularly one of service. In entering his new field, Mr. Shaw's desire was to truly serve the church and the church's Master. He asked for the cooperation of his people; the work, he said, was large and new, and all must work together.

At the conclusion of Mr. Shaw's address, Dr. Lewis said that the service of the morning aroused old memories in him, for in 1845 he was baptized by Mr. Shaw's grandfather, Rev. Russell Burdick. Then in a brief but eloquent address he welcomed the new pastor to his church and all it could give him, to serve his people and to teach them to serve God. In closing, Dr. Lewis turned to the people of the church and called on them to do their part; to make a warm place for the new pastor and his family in their hearts and homes, and to take their share in the work so as to put no unnecessary burden on their new leader. He then offered an earnest prayer that the church and pastor might receive a mutual blessing, and closed the service with the benediction.

The farce to be presented is one that will afford the several members of the cast good opportunity for the display of their abilities, and all are said to excel in their respective characters. The coach and stage director this season is B. Luther Anthony, nephew of Susan B. Anthony, and he is said to be most proficient and thorough. The performance of Thursday night will be given under the patronage of a number of prominent women and much interest has been manifested in it. Reserved seats are on sale at Armstrong's.

ROUTINE WORK FOR COUNCIL

Lots of Minor Matters Before Borough Council, But Dearth of Important Subjects.

THE NEW ENGINE HOUSE

Mayor Smalley's Suggestion Regarding Another Borough Building Referred to Borough Counsel—The Street Commissioner Claims He Has Pay Coming.

Nothing of special importance was done by the North Plainfield Council at its regular monthly meeting, last evening, unless it was the matter of referring the proposition concerning the erection of a new fire house, for the headquarters of the department, to Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed for his legal opinion as to the proper course to pursue. All the members were present and also the mayor and counsel.

Among the matters considered was the bid of the Plainfield Water Supply Company to furnish water for street sprinkling purposes during the current year at $20 per cart each month. This was accepted as were also the bids of J. W. Manhattan and J. H. Wilson for street material. Manhattan's bids were as follows: Flagging, forty-four cents; curbing, thirty-two cents; cross walks, four inches thick, forty-five cents and six inches thick at fifty-two cents. Chips and dust were offered by Wilson at ninety-five cents per ton and No. 2 stone at eighty-five cents per ton.

Claims aggregating approximately $2,900 were approved on recommendation of President of Council Nichols, chairman of the auditing committee. The report of Treasurer George F. Brown for the month of March was as follows: Receipts—taxes and interest, $1,589.58; sidewalks, $4.36; Watchung avenue assessment, $50; Board of Health, $19.47; special school, $603.78; sale of dirt, $6.23; fines, $3; Plainfield Street Railway Company, $200; balance on hand, March 1, $2,022.53. The total receipts were $4,498.95 and the disbursements, $2,049.39, leaving a balance on hand, April 1, amounting to $2,449.56.

J. K. Arnold, as chairman of the street committee, presented the following report for the month of March: Labor, $157.45; H. Bodenheim, $1; M. Duffy, $3.75; street sprinkling, $14; amounting in all to $176.20. The Council approved the action of the committee in paying wages for labor on streets weekly, instead of semi-monthy, and a resolution was passed to that effect.

The report of Robert Clark, as chairman of the fire, water and lamps committee was as follows: Street lighting—for February, 334 lamps at $15 per year, $431.42, less allowance of $25, and for March 334 lamps at same rate, $431.42, making the total $837.84; water—rental of eighty-four fire hydrants from October 1, 1891, to March 31, 1892, at $15 each per year, $630; fire department—M. A. Lawton, $28; A. M. Griffen, $1.12; L. B. Bodine, $6; George B. Stewart, $6.35; Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company, $8.60; D. C. Ivins & Co., $12, making a total of $62.07, which added to incidentals amounting to $3.50, brought the grand total up to $65.57.

A proper resoluiton was passed, permitting the mayor and clerk to borrow $500, payable on demand, should any money be needed for the payment of current expenses. Charles A. Lee, chairman of the police committee, reported that eight arrests had been made during the past month and that in the same time no fines had been inflicted. Recently there have been many lamps broken in various parts of the borough and to ascertain if mischievious persons are responsible for the damage a resolution was introduced by Councilman Clark offering a reward of $5 for the conviction of any person blameable. This was passed and it carries with it authority to advertise the matter in the manner deemed expedient.

An unexpected claim for $50, as salary for 1901, was presented by William B. Emmons, who filled the position of street commissioner. It appears that he regularly drew his wages amounting to $2 per day during the time he occupied the position, that amount being allowed by the Council. During the year preceding Thomas Doud, who directed the work of street improvement was paid $50 for his ser-

WHY RAILROADERS DO NOT WEAR RED SHIRTS

One Once Prevented a Jersey Central Train From Making a Record Breaking Trip.

HOW IT CAME ABOUT.

A TRACKWALKER'S RED SHIRT STOPPED THE TRAIN AT SOMERVILLE.

Train Contained Prominent Men Who Were Making Fast Trip to New York—Then the Order Against Red Shirts Followed.

Few of the thousands who travel daily on the Jersey Central are aware that all railroads prohibit their employes from wearing shirts or red clothing while on duty. The origin of this new general order is interesting because a Jersey Central employe from Newark was responsible for its being issued.

In the early summer of 1868 a large party of officials of eastern railroads paid a flying visit to the west over the Pennsylvania and Central Railroad of New Jersey. Representatives of the Vanderbilts, Jay Gould and other prominent railroad men made up the party. The trip west was made on the Pennsylvania line, and the return trip was over the Central.

There was great rivalry among the operating officials of both these roads to provide the quicker trip and the better service. One of the best known officials in Newark railroad circles today was at that time a conductor on the Central Railroad, and he gave the following story to the Newark News.

The out-bound trip over the Pennsylvania Railroad was made without incident, and in remarkably fast time for those early days of railroading. Then it was up to the officials of the Central to get the party back in better time than was made going out. The official previously referred to was told to select a train crew and take the locomotive Quickstep, the fastest engine then in service on the Central road, and beat the record of the Pennsylvania for the same distance.

When the special train reached Easton, Pa., from the west the men on the other divisions had made excellent time, and when the crews were changed at Easton and the Quickstep coupled to the cars, the Central officials were jubilant. Excitement among the passengers ran high, and several bets were made on the time of the run to Jersey City. A clear track was given the special and the Quickstep was doing her level best. Shortly before reaching Somerville the trainmen felt the engineer reverse and whistle for down brakes. The train slowly came to a stand, and the crew and passengers rushed forward to find the cause of the sudden stoppage.

In rounding the curve the engineer had noticed what he took to be a danger signal right ahead. Investigation showed it to be a track-walker wearing a bright red flannel shirt. After the trackmen had been roundly upbraided by the crew and passengers the train again started on its final run to Jersey City, but the lost time could not be made up, and the Central road lost the race by a small margin.

A few days afterward the following order, which is still in existence, was issued:

"Special Order No. 18.—To trackmasters, master mechanics and dispatchers—After August 1, next, no employe of this company will be allowed to wear red shirts or other red clothing on duty. If flannel shirts must be worn, gray flannel is much more comfortable and healthy. Trackmasters, master mechanics, dispatchers and other subordinate officers will require their men to conform to this order after the above date."

This order is signed by "R. E. Ricker, superintendent." It is dated "Elizabeth, N. J., July 22, 1868."

BOUGHT UP HILLS.

Pennsylvania Railroad is Using the Earth for Filling Purposes.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has during the past year been purchasing dirt with which to fill in around the freight yards and the Waldo avenue crossing in Jersey City. The company has been securing the dirt between Stelton and two miles east of Metuchen along the railroad. Between the places mentioned there are any number of hills and these have been purchased. The advantage in the way of improving the property along the railroad is considered a most desirable one.

WHAT COUNTY SEAT THINKS OF PROJECT

Elizabeth Journal Sums Up Present Agitation Over Greater Plainfield Bills.

IN IMPARTIAL MANNER.

DENIES STORIES OF CORPORATION AND POLITICAL INFLUENCE.

Editor McBride Believes That Only a Referendum Can Settle the Question—Suggests Measure Without Changing the Lines.

Most of the newspaper comment throughout the State on the Greater Plainfield project has consisted chiefly of slaps at State Senator Charles A. Reed. Very little attention has been paid to the real rights and wrongs of the question. In a long editorial, the Elizabeth Journal, however, considers the subject with much fairness. There is no distortion of facts but a fair, unbiased statement of the situation.

The editorial is as follows:

"The promoters of the North Plainfield annexation bill had an opportunity to present thier reasons for the carrying out of the proposition to Govrenor Murphy last Monday, but they did not take advantage of it.

"There was a strong protest against the bill from representative citizens of the borough, and the reasons they gave for their attitude toward the measure seemed to be good.

"It developed during the hearing that the main influence back of the move is the North Plainfield Water Company, which is desirous of getting control of the water supply of Plainfield.

"When it comes to deciding between the people and a corporation, Govrenor Murphy should have no trouble in making up his mind what to do.

"The State Gazette, from which the above is taken, presents the Mercer county view of this matter. Mercer county is interested for two reasons; first, because it is in a ferment over its own divided and uncertain conditions; and, second, because Somerset and Mercer counties are in the same congressional district, and do not want to lose the Republican votes in North Plainfield.

"Nevertheless, these facts do not warrant a biased statement with reference to the annexation of North Plainfield to Plainfield. The statement that any water company is back of the annexation movement is erroneous, and was made by the opponents of consolidation for a purpose.

"Nor is there anything in the way of a political scheme—in the usual sense of the word—in the annexation movement. It was not begun in the interest of any one man or party. It will, of course, benefit some and not others; the same as any annexation movement in any place; but the movement did not have its origin in any such purpose.

"The facts are simply these, North Plainfield is essentially a part of Plainfield. It has now the same postoffice; the same railroad station. The city stores patronized by North Plainfield are all in Plainfield. The line between the two is not an open stream, as some have supposed, but is only an imaginary line, passing directly through the centres of many buildings.

"But though thus closely associated and affiliated, there are two mayors, two sets of officials, two governments. One half a building, for example, is in Somerset county, borough of North Plainfield; the other half in Union county, city of Plainfield. The citizens of North Plainfield long ago began to agitate for one municipal government, and the agitation has continued fourteen years at least.

"Democrats and Republicans are alike favoring the consolidation at the present time, and Republicans and Democrats are opposing it. The lines of cleavage are not at all parallel with party lines. The sentiment is divided in North Plainfield, and so evenly that only a referendum could decide whether those for consolidation or those against it are numerically the stronger.

"The question of consolidation is one; that of annexation is another. The two municipalities ought to be made one. Of this there is no doubt. In the course of time they must be one city and they will be one city, whatever the outcome of the movement at the present time.

"The question of annexation as not so easily determined. It is primarily for the people of North Plainfield to settle that for themselves. The attitude of Union county is merely one of receptivity. If 5,000 good, lawful, intelligent people decide by their votes that they wish to be annexed to Union county, the latter would be ungracious, to say the least, to refuse to accept them.

"Nevertheless, as a matter of party policy, the Journal thinks that, at the present time, it would be better for North Plainfield to consolidate with Plainfield, but still remain in Somerset county. Some day it will fall into Union county, just as an apple falls to the ground when fully ripe, but just now it might have to be pulled off, breaking the stem and causing some soreness and bleeding.

"Governor Murphy has thus far declined to sign the annexation bills, although they contain a referendum enabling the people of North Plainfield to settle the whole matter at the polls.

"Unfortunate management of the legislative part of the movement is accountable for the intense feeling engendered in North Plainfield and Somerset county. It is now understood that the borough is divided into factions almost hostile to each other, and that one faction declares it will vote the Democratic ticket if the bills become laws, while the other faction threatens to bolt the whole Republican ticket if the bills do not become laws.

"Under such circumstances it is difficult to advise, especially since the governor seems inclined to kill the bills now in his hands. If he does, it will probably be many years before consolidation will again be so far advanced. It would seem judicious therefore, if the bills are signed, to consolidate at once, but to leave annexation until all the parties in interest have cooled down a little."

SUBURBAN'S SUMMER PLANS

ELIZABETH'S SWELL CLUB IS ACTIVELY PREPARING FOR THE SEASON.

Union County Hunt Club Will Make the Suburban Clubhouse Its Future Headquarters.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 4—The Suburban Club is making great preparations for the coming season. Its beautful golf course is situated in Union township, about a quarter of a mile from Lum's corner, on Morris avenue. Plans for the improvement of the course are being contemplated, and the coming season will be one of unusual success.

The Union County Hunt Club has made the club house its headquarters for the ensuing year. Arrangements are under way by which transportation, at a reasonable price, will be furnished to the grounds. A stage will probably be run at seasonable hours for the accommodation of the members.

A large increase in the membership is anticipated, and a committee is now arranging for the interchange of tournaments with other golf organizations, and they also propose to have a series of club handicaps during the coming season. The view from the Suburban golf course is one of the prettiest in Union county. The course is well laid out, and this year it will be in better condition than ever.

The following are the officers and board of governors of the club: President, William P. Thomas; vice president, Lewis W. Kingsley; secretary, Charles F. Wreaks; treasurer, E. F. Kiggins; board of governors, James H. Alexander, F. B. Williamson, Willard Whitelock, Geo. B. Rogers, James W. Hall, E. F. Kiggins, G. DeWitt Smith and D. B. Provoost.

THEATRICAL.

The Augustin Daly Musical Comedy Company will begin its third engagement at Daly's Theatre in New York Monday evening, where it will make a brief spring run. This piece is one of the best and most entertaining seen in New York during the past three years. Last season it was presented at Daly's for several months, its run being broken by the coming of Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theatre stock company. In the early spring it was again presented at Daly's and, contrary to all theatrical precedents, played to as large attendances as it did before its run was interrupted. This is the first instance in New York theatrical history were a piece returned to a theatre and drew as large audiences as it did during its original engagement.

"San Toy" is a very delightful and pleasing musical comedy presenting a fancifully humorous side of Chinese life and customs.

The story is told in an almost entirely humorous vein, interpolated with many features, the lyrics of which are very bright and catchy and the airs wonderfully fascinating. A company of 100 people appear in this performance, the principals and great chorus making up a most representative musical organization. The title role is sung by Marie Celeste, the original "San Toy" in America—a comedienne of most versatile abilities. Minnie Ashley, another widely known New York favorite, sings the part of Dudley. George K. Fortesque sings Yen How, the mandarian, and the leading comedy role of Li is played by Samuel Collins, who presents a comic interpretation of this character which keeps the audience in a continual roar of laughter. Matinee performances will take place Wednesday and Saturday. Seats may be ordered by mail, accompanied remittances, letters to be directed to Daniel Frohman, manager, Daly's Theatre.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

If there is any man in the State who is getting "pounded" more than Senator Reed, of Somerset, at present, he does not appear on the horizon. The people of Somerset county are opposed to the annexation of North Plainfield to Union county, while the people of Union county and of North Plainfield, or at least a majority of them, are in favor of annexation. The people of Somerset believe that Senator Reed betrayed them and should the Governor fail to approve the bill the Senator will find himself in a very undesirable position. — Hunterdon County Gazette.

A Wonderful Place.

A peculiar element which has made Atlantic City famous is that its beauties, its delights, its charms are extolled and lauded everywhere by its ardent admirers. It can be truthfully said that no resort has similar attractions and fascinations. The beach, broad and level and several miles in length, presents a grand sight at the height of the season. At the bathing hour thousands upon thousands enjoy the surf, innumerable sun chairs for onlookers skirt the crowd, and ponies and donkeys laden with children are scampering close to the water's edge. The boardwalk, the piers, the band concerts, the sailing and the thousand and one social enjoyments contribute to this wonderful and interesting beach resort. What is fast becoming the popular route to Atlantic City is the Jersey Central, with its double daily three-hour service from New York. The trains are models of convenience, equipped with vestibuled coaches and parlor cars. If you want to know more about Atlantic City send to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, 143 Liberty street, New York.

ANOTHER PROPRIETOR.

TenEyck House Has Passed Into Control of W. H. Cawley, Sr.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 5—The TenEyck House, one of the best-known hotels in this place, has again changed hands. George Schenck has sold out his interest to W. H. Cawley, Sr., and John A. Logan will be the manager.

About a month ago Prosecutor Griggs walked in this hotel on Sunday and found about a dozen prominent people at the bar drinking. Griggs' threat to follow up the matter, it is said, had something to do with the change of proprietors.

Dr. Yerkes Will be Absent.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of the First Baptist church, who, with Mrs. Yerkes, is in Florida, will not be present at the communion service at his church Sunday. This will be the first service of the kind that Dr. Yerkes has missed in many years. Even in arranging for his summer vacations, he has planned to be away between the communion services.

Advancement of the Negro.

W. R. Richings, of New York, will make an address in the Mt. Olive Baptist church, during the coming week. His topic will be "The Condition of the Negro and the Best Means for His Advancement."

The Thrust of a Lance is scarcely more agonizing than the recurring pains in the abdomen which follow the eating of improper food or too free indulgence in ice-water. The immediate cause of cramps and colic is often the distension of the bowels by gas. Quick relief follows the use of Perry Davis' Painkiller. Careful housekeepers give it the place of honor in the family medicine chest.

Healthy Boom.

All of the local real estate dealers report a healthy boom in house renting. Many new people are coming to Plainfield to live and the agents are kept busy locating them.

Shot In His Left Leg.

For all kind of sores, burns, bruises, or other wounds DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a sure cure. Skin diseases yield to it at once. Never fails in case of piles. Cooling and healing. None genuine but DeWitt's. Beware of counterfeits. "I suffered for many years from a sore caused by a gun shot wound in my left leg," says A. S. Fuller, English, Ind. "It would not heal and gave me much trouble. I used all kinds of remedies to no purpose until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." L. W. Randolph.

CECIL RHODES' WILL

Scholarships For Americans, Germans and British.

RACE AND RELIGIOUS OPINIONS NO BAR

Great Educational Scheme of the Dead Statesman, With Oxford as a Center—Plans For Romantic Burial Place.

LONDON, April 5.—The will of Cecil Rhodes provides for the establishment of colonial scholarships and two American scholarships to each of the present states and territories of the United States.

The will of Mr. Rhodes also provides for five scholarships for students of German birth at Oxford to be nominated by Emperor William, and, commenting on the bequest, Mr. Rhodes in a codicil, telegraphed from South Africa, said:

"For a good understanding between England, Germany and the United States will secure the peace of the world, and educational relations form the strongest tie."

All the Rhodes scholarships—American, colonial and German—are at Oxford.

Mr. Rhodes divides the £100,000 bequeathed to Oriel college into several funds, indicating concisely how he wishes them to be applied, and adds this characteristic sentence:

"And finally, as college authorities live secluded from the world and so are like children as to commercial matters, I would advise them to consult my trustees regarding the investment of these various funds so far as they would receive great help and assistance from such advice."

Regarding the American scholarships Mr. Rhodes said:

"Whereas I desire to encourage and foster an appreciation of the advantages which, I implicitly believe, will result from a union of the English speaking peoples throughout the world and to encourage in the students from the United States who will benefit by these scholarships an attachment to the country from which they have sprung, but without, I hope, withdrawing them or their sympathies from the land of their adoption or birth."

The will provides that the executors may at their discretion delay establishing any territorial scholarships until such time as they may think fit, but it provides also that the territorial scholarships once established shall not lapse upon the admission of the territory to statehood.

Another provision is that no student shall be qualified or disqualified for election to a scholarship on account of race or religious opinions.

Mr. Rhodes' will is a remarkable and voluminous document of more than 3,500 words. Even this is not the entire will, as the executors gave out only the portions which they consider to be of public interest. It was executed in 1896. There is a codicil attached on the day of the deceased's last departure from England, and another cabled from Cape Town leaves £4,000 yearly to keep up the spot in the Matoppo hills where his remains are to be buried.

The will further directs that a railroad extension be made into the Matoppo hills, so that visitors may go there at the week end to inspect the majesty and glory of their surroundings.

Mr. Rhodes explicitly says he is to be buried in an aperature cut in solid rock, surmounted by a brass tablet bearing the words:

"Here lie the remains of Cecil John Rhodes."

No one else is to be buried there who has not deserved well of his country.

Mr. Rhodes bequeaths all his landed property near Bulawayo and Salisbury, both in Matabeleland, to trustees, whom he directs to cultivate the land for the instruction of the people of Rhodesia. His celebrated country place at Grootschuur, not far from Cape Town, Mr. Rhodes leaves as a residence for the "prime minister of the federal government of South Africa;" with £1,000 yearly for its maintenance.

PLANT SYSTEM SOLD.

Atlantic Coast Line to Take Charge of Property July 1.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Following a meeting in this city of the directors of the Plant system W. G. Elliott, president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company, and R. G. Erwin, president of the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway company, authorized the following announcement:

"Negotiations have been completed under which it is arranged that the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway company will, on or before the 1st of July, 1902, be consolidated with and become the property of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company. The negotiations also contemplate that the other railway properties of the Plant system will pass under the control of the Atlantic Coast Line company at the same time.

"It has also been agreed that when the consolidation takes place the Southern Railway company will have trackage rights thereafter for all of its trains, both passenger and freight, over the line between Savannah and Jacksonville, thus making Jacksonville the southern terminus of the Southern Railway company for its Florida service to and from the east and west."

The Savannah, Florida and Western road is the main line of the Plant system, covering about 1,700 miles out of a total of 2,200 miles.

STRIKE SETTLED.

Bituminous Workers to Resume Operations on Monday.

DUBOIS, Pa., April 5.—Authentic information has been received in this city that the strike has been settled and that on Monday morning all the mines of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company will resume operations. This information came quite unexpectedly to the public as well as to the striking miners, but is no less reliable.

The announcement comes from Indianapolis, where L. W. Robinson, the general manager for the coal company, has been for the past two days in conference with President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, Bernard Rice, member of the national executive board from this district, and other officials of the United Mine Workers of America.

The conditions of settlement have not yet been made public further than that all differences have been adjusted mutually satisfactory to all concerned and that work will be resumed next Monday. The announcement will bring cheer to 10,000 miners and their families, besides hundreds of railroad and shop men, as well as to every community in the region.

Orders have been issued at the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad offices to rush all empty cars to this end of the line to be in readiness for resumption.

A Chapter In French History.

PARIS, April 5.—An interesting historical revelation has been made by Count de Keratry, a former prefect of police, at a banquet given by the Aero club in honor of the thirteen surviving aeronauts who left Paris during the siege of that city in 1870-71. The count, who descended at Brillon, near Bar-le-Duc, department of Meuse, after a perilous journey, said he was intrusted by the national defense government with a mission to go to Madrid and persuade Marshal Prim to proclaim a republic in Spain. Keratry had in the balloon 60,000,000 francs in treasury bonds, which a detachment of Prussian uhlans nearly captured. The money was intended to equip and pay an army corps of 50,000 men which Spain was to place at France's disposition. Marshal Prim refused to undertake the task, although Senor Castelar and other Spanish republicans supported the proposition. Marshal Prim was assassinated three months afterward, and his murderers were never discovered.

MERGER SUIT BEGUN.

Bill In Minnesota's Action Against the Railway Merger Filed.

ST. PAUL, April 5.—The state of Minnesota has begun its merger suit at home.

The bill of complaint in the suit of the state against the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railway companies, the Northern Securities company, J. J. Hill as president of the Northern Securities company and individually was served on the defendant, Hill, in his various capacities and return made to the sheriff's office by Deputy Reichow.

W. B. Douglas and M. D. Munn are the solicitors for the complainant, and George P. Wilson is of counsel.

The prayers at the ending of the recital of facts are those which have been heretofore published.

The court was asked to make orders restraining the merger as contrary to law, from the interchange of stock, from interference by one road with the other road and from the right of one set of directors to vote in the other corporation.

The recital in this case is almost identical with that in the former case before the United States supreme court. The prayer of the bill is lengthy, technical and comprehensive. Incorporated in the bill is the following:

Against James J. Hill individually and as an officer and director of the Great Northern Railway company restraint is prayed that he may not pay or permit to be paid any dividend on the stock of the company held by the Northern Securities company taken in exchange for its stock and also restraining him as an officer or director or stockholder in the Northern Securities company from dictating the policy or controlling the business affairs of either of the defendant railway companies.

TO REBUILD AT ONCE.

Atlantic City Property Owners Not Discouraged by Great Fire.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 5.—While great sympathy is generally expressed for the sufferers by the fire, the impression prevails that the disastrous visitation will not be without good results, as it has opened the way to improvements which it is conceded were a necessity.

The municipal authorities were the first to begin the work of rebuilding, and, pursuant to the action of the city council, a force of workmen was put to work yesterday repairing the board walk. A carload of planks which were to have been used in renovating another section were utilized to construct the burned portion.

Arrangements are already under way for the erection of two immense modern fireproof hotel structures on the 700 foot strip of beach cleared by the flames. The property is owned by three men—G. Jason Waters, Joseph Brady and Josiah White. It is announced that they will begin rebuilding operations at once.

The local board of insurance underwriters announces that the total loss will not exceed $700,000, and the loss to the insurance companies will be about $175,000, no individual insurance company sustaining a greater net loss than $7,500.

Wing Shot Contest Undecided.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 5.—Thirty-three wing shots made a straight score of twenty-five birds yesterday in the Grand American handicap, and at the end of the tenth round of the shoot off fourteen men remained who had not yet missed a bird. The shooting stopped at the end of the tenth round of the shoot off on account of darkness. The contest was resumed this morning and will be continued until only one man without a miss remains.

Its present value is said to be $80,000,000.

AN ALL DAY BATTLE

Kitchener Reports Boers Repulsed With Heavy Loss.

CANADIANS MAKE A PLUCKY STAND

Fifteen Hundred Boers Under Delarey and Kemp Participated In This Affair In Southeastern Transvaal.

LONDON, April 5.—There has been a severe all day fight in the neighborhood of Hart's river, in the southwestern extremity of the Transvaal, between part of General Kitchener's force and the forces of Generals Delarey and Kemp. Both sides lost heavily.

The Canadian rifles especially distinguished themselves, one party, commanded by Lieutenant Bruce Carruthers, holding its post till every man was killed or wounded.

Lord Kitchener's official report, dated from Pretoria, Thursday evening, says:

"General Kitchener (Lord Kitchener's brother) sent Colonels Keir and Cookson from Vriekuil, western Transvaal, March 31, to reconnoiter toward Hart's river. They soon struck the track of guns and carried on a running fight for eight miles, following the track through the bush.

"Emerging on a plain, large Boer reenforcements advanced against their flanks, forcing the British troops to take up a defensible position, which they hastily intrenched. Fighting ensued at close quarters till the Boers were checked on all sides.

"Delarey, Kemp and other leaders vainly attempted to persuade their men to renew the action.

"Fifteen hundred Boers participated in the engagement, but they had suffered too heavily and cleared away to the northwest and south. The British losses were also severe."

The Canadian Casualties.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 5.—His excellency Lord Minto has received the following cable from Cape Town, dated Daschpoort, Kleinharts River, March 31, concerning the casualties in the engagement of the Second Canadian mounted rifles on March 31: "Lieutenants R. H. Ryan and W. J. Louden, formerly of the northwest mounted police, are dangerously wounded, along with Lieutenants G. B. McKay of Montreal and R. F. Markham of New Brunswick. Noncommissioned officers and men killed, nine; wounded, forty. Names of latter not yet received."

Dinner to Senator Platt.

NEW YORK, April 5.—"All sorts and conditions of men of all shades of political sentiment, but with mighty few prohibitionists," was the characterization by Chairman Edward G. Riggs of the great gathering of statesmen, politicians, jurists, journalists, divines and financiers who met Senator Thomas C. Platt last night at the dinner given in his honor by the "Brethren of the Amen Corner" at the Fifth Avenue hotel. The great dining room of the hotel was filled with about 400 guests. Roars of merriment greeted the parading through the room at the opening of the dinner of an enormous picture representing Senator Platt as a Sunday school teacher addressing a class composed of President Roosevelt, Governor Odell, Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, ex-Governor Black and Senator Depew.

Police In League With Badgers.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Police Commissioner Partridge has confirmed District Attorney Jerome's statement about badger games. He said a man of national reputation complained to him that he had been robbed of $1,541 in one of the dens. The police were unable to locate the badgers. District Attorney Jerome practically charged that wardmen in certain precincts are in league with women who get money from men by means of panel or badger games. He says there are 1,500 places where men are systematically robbed by women in this city. In one precinct he knows of fifty places and has the address of fifteen of them.

American Sportsman Injured.

LONDON, April 5.—Foxhall Keene, the American sportsman, was riding with the Quorn hounds near Burrough hill, Melton Mowbray, yesterday when his horse fell at the first fence and rolled over him. Mr. Keene, who was unconscious for a considerable time, recovered sufficiently to be removed to Dalby Hall, the residence of the master of the foxhounds.

THE ONLY WAY.

The greatest good which could come to the borough would be a vote which would finally settle in a legal manner the questions of annexation and consolidation. The borough is being held back because the question is an open one. Public improvements are being held in abeyance and will be until the matter is definitely settled one way or the other. Both those in favor and those against the project ought to ask the Governor to sign the bills so that a final settlement can be reached. That is the only way.

If the vote is adverse, then they can settle down and join in upbuilding the borough. But so long as the question remains undecided there will be little progress. Until the question is legally settled in a vote by ballot, the agitation will be continued and the borough will suffer from the uncertainty of it all.

Slips are being distributed through the borough today which are intended to be signed and forwarded to the Governor, asking him to veto the bills. The defeat of the bills will accomplish nothing in reality. Instead of using the slips as they are, change them so that they will request the Governor to sign the bills and forward them to Trenton without delay. It is the only way in which a fair and sure settlement of the much disputed question can be obtained. By all means give the majority a chance to rule for the vote of the majority will decide it according to the terms of the bills. Get one of those slips, make the necessary change and let the Governor know that you, for one, are willing to abide by the will of the people and do not fear their verdict.

A FAIR-MINDED OPINION.

It is refreshing to read some unprejudiced opinions regarding the Greater Plainfield project. The stand, which Editor McBride, of the Elizabeth Journal has taken, is perfectly fair and unbiased one. It is well worth reading and is printed entire in another column for the benefit of Daily Press readers. While we do not agree that consolidation without changing the county line is the most satisfactory solution of the present problem, we are glad to hear any suggestion that Editor McBride may have to make regarding the subject under discussion.

If all public men were as fair-minded as is the editor of Elizabeth's leading newspaper, there would be no fear that the justice due the consolidation scheme would not be secured without trouble. As he says, that is not the plan of any corporation or clique of politicians, it is a movement among the citizens themselves. If only Governor Murphy gives them the opportunity, the citizens of North Plainfield will settle the subject and settle it for some time to come.

The Somerville weeklies are wasting a great deal of space in trying to persuade the people of North Plainfield what terrible things the newspapermen of Plainfield are. It is tiresome reading to the general public, which is in search of news, not a collection of allegations unsupported by facts or even arguments. And it is not furthering a single bit the cause of anti-annexation.

vices, and now Mr. Emmons demands of Council a like sum in addition to what he has already received. This bill it seems was never presented to the street committee under which Mr. Emmons served. Mr. Clark, who was chairman of the committee during the past year, strenuously opposed the claim and his position was supported by Mayor Smalley and others. The matter was disposed of temporarily by referring it to the corporation counsel for his opinion concerning liability.

Mayor Smalley renewed his suggestion concerning the erection of a new engine house and the use of the present Warren house as council chamber and jail. This has been fully detailed in previous issues by The Daily Press. Corporation Counsel Reed was requested to give his opinion in the matter and at his request the matter was laid over until the next meeting, at which time he will advise as to the proper legal steps to be taken looking toward the desired end. E. Smalley's election as a member of Warren Engine Company was confirmed.

An adjourned meeting of the body will be held next Friday evening for the purpose of considering the plans for the proposed municipal water plant and sewage system.

Some baking powder makers claim their powders are cheaper. They can be cheaper only if made from cheaper materials. To cheapen the cost of an article of food at the expense of its healthfulness, as is done in alum baking powders, is a crime.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." The New Woman's Column

LIKE a trumpet challenge to old fogyism comes the splendid pronunciamento of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the new president of Columbia university, on the subject of coeducation. Dr. Butler is only thirty-nine years old, the youngest university president in the world, an athlete, a worker, a scholar, a reformer educationally and as manly a man mentally and physically as ever trod a college campus. And this is what he says in a New York newspaper: "Modern educational philosophy demands that to women be granted the fullest opportunity for education of every kind. My own judgment is that it is not well for a boy to grow up associating only with boys and taught only by men and that it is equally unfortunate for a girl to grow up associating only with girls and taught only by women. Such a procedure seems to me unnatural and in violation of the spirit of the most effective and fundamental institution in the world—namely, the human family. In some sections of the country the education of men and women together and in the same institutions is a matter of course, and anything else would be regarded as extraordinary and capricious." This is enough to curdle the blood of Miss Edward Bok and Bishop Doane. Already Bishop Doane must have received a dangerous shock when the ancient and honorable University of Pennsylvania that recently created him an LL. D. on the same day and from the same platform made Agnes Repplier a doctor of literature. If his and Miss Edward Bok's intellects survive the aggressive, noble utterance of the new president of that university which is the pride of New York city and state, it will only be because some thistledown seed of vigorous modern thought has taken root in their souls in spite of themselves.

Blessed be the young, and still more blessed be the old who have kept their minds young!

Of course if you sit down and whine over your misfortunes nothing will go right with you and still greater misfortune will come to you.

A large number of women have been appointed as school inspectors in New York city, but of course none on the board of education. That is a reach of modernity that Mayor Seth Low is not equal to. Even as president of coeducational Columbia university Mr. Low had no modernity in his soul on the woman question.

What are probably the two most successful plays of this year were written by women, one "Her Lord and Master," by Martha Morton, the other "A Gentleman of France," by Harriet Ford.

Ladies, the very farmers are crying out against your monstrous cruelty in wearing birds on your hats. An intelligent agriculturist from Pennsylvania declares the awful slaughter of domestic birds to gratify women's heathenish taste for corpses as ornaments has increased a billionfold the number of worms and insects that destroy farmers' crops. He mentions especially the increase of the codling moth in apples. The barn swallow destroys 5,000 to 10,000 injurious flies every week—that is, it would if there were barn swallows any more. But the swallow, the equally useful and surpassingly beautiful golden oriole, the robin redbreast and the little jenny wren, likewise the pretty snowbird of winter, have been decimated in numbers. They have been murdered to put upon the hats of tender, gentle woman.

The number of women who earn their living more than doubled in the Union in the decade between 1890 and 1900. The largest increase was among women who went into trade, which is a good sign. It shows that they are gaining courage to open business for themselves, not content with merely working for other people. There are twelve times as many women in trade as there were ten years ago.

It is astonishing the number of really nice people who think a bath once a week is often enough.

Many women are now serving as city school superintendents in the smaller cities, and three states—Colorado, Wyoming and North Dakota—have risen to the achievement of electing ladies as state superintendents of public schools.

Alice Stone Blackwell says that if women could vote on municipal affairs city communities would have pure milk, as mothers would see that milk inspection laws were enforced on account of their children.

The manly, ringing words of President Butler of Columbia in favor of coeducation cannot help having a good influence on the crude, callow and thoughtless male youths of that institution. Now perhaps we shall hear less nonsense from them.

On the woman page of a big Sunday paper I find the stupendous announcement that an oyster weighing 212 pounds was caught in Niagara river near Buffalo, and its substance furnished an abundant meal for seventy-five hungry men. Was this a female oyster that its greatness should be exploited on the woman page?

One of the leading banks of Chicago has put girl tellers, thirteen in all, in its savings department. Girls do better than men in this department because they are quick and willing and patient when figuring out small sums. "Besides that," says the manager, "they keep regular hours." It is encouraging to know the girl tellers receive the same pay as men tellers.

Miss Agnes Weston, not a young woman or a very learned one, has received from Glasgow university the degree of LL. Women the country over are very glad that the new civil service commissioner at Washington, Hon. ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

CLEANING HOUSE.

Hints to the Woman Who Is About to Undergo the Ordeal.

THIS is the time of year when every good housekeeper "cleans house." This operation which has been so derided by the comic papers may be performed in a perfectly quiet and orderly manner. In the first place the cleaning should begin at the top of the house and proceed by easy stages to the bottom. One floor should be entirely finished before beginning another. In this way one part of the house at least is habitable, and the stairs are kept clean.

It is a positive cruelty for a woman to drive her husband out of his den and her children out of their rooms during the housecleaning process. Their rooms may be taken one at a time and finished immediately, so that any coarse dust is avoided. It is the bad manager who allows the evidences of her housecleaning to stray all over the house, causing a universal upheaval, in the midst of which it is impossible to live.

A COAT OF WHITEWASH IS BENEFICIAL.

The proper way to clean a room is first of all to thoroughly dust the furniture and pictures, next move them out of the room. Then the coarse dust is removed, and with a fresh broom the walls and ceiling are brushed. All the carpets should be removed and beaten, and the floors beneath ought to be thoroughly swept. Carpets at best are a refuge for microbes. The most hygienic plan is to have painted or hard wood floors, with rugs, which may easily be taken on the roof or in the yard and beaten.

The cellar is one of the most important parts of the house to clean. Failure to do so thoroughly means malaria and typhoid fever. All the old vegetables should be thrown away. Boxes and barrels that are not needed should be chopped into kindling wood. Pork barrels may be emptied and scalded, butter tubs scraped and washed. All the old refuse in the way of punctured kettles, dislocated washboards and rubbish thrown down by the cook must be cleared away and the floor, walls and ceiling given a thorough sweeping. When this is done, the walls and ceilings should have a coat of whitewash. This may be given by means of an old broom and a bucket of lime.

In cleaning one important point is to be remembered—drive the dirt out of the corners, from the tops of the bookcases and all places where it is not seen. If you do this, the places which are seen will keep themselves clean during the rest of the year.

MAMMOTH PIGEON-RANCH.

Where Ten Thousand of the Birds Are Housed and Cared For in Southern California.

Situated at the sharp angle where the Arroyo Seco, or dry ditch (a ravine that extends from Los Angeles to the Sierra Madre mountains some 14 miles away), and the Los Angeles river (at this point 18 miles from the sea) meet, is one of the most curious exhibits of pigeon life ever presented to the eye. Here 10,000 pigeons, mostly light in color, are found perched upon the roofs of eight frame sheds. The walls of these sheds are composed of hundreds of empty gasoline cans, with one of the ends taken out and wooden boards with apertures large enough for pigeons substituted, and thousands of wooden fruit boxes furnished with square openings. The ground is generally covered with pigeons until a stranger arrives, when there is a great whirring noise, the air is full of wings and thousands of pigeons return to their brethren on the roofs of the sheds, says Pearson's.

This institution belongs to one of Los Angeles' enterprising citizens and forms a great attraction to visitors from all the country round, as well as to numerous colored thieves, who make a continual practice of robbing this vast aggregation of pigeon roosts. Two large dogs properly qualified to bark and bite are located at each end of the grounds, about 200 feet from each other. These are secured safely by long chains to spikes in the ground.

But these, fierce as they are, do not represent the entire force for the defense from thieves of the 10,000 pigeons; two young dogs, trained to bark and not to bite, are on duty also all the time; these are more sleepless and it is the uproar they make upon which the owner so much depends for the discovery of the colored thieves. Disease and rats take away a great many of this multitudinous bird population; daily some young pigeons will be found on the ground dead, having gone too far from the family nest.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Fitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

"On my honor, Mr. Vlandingham," said he, "the man will be at your house when you get there."

"Why," gasped Barney, leveling his finger, "that there—"

"Silence!" roared Vlandingham, knocking the extended arm downward.

"I'LL SEE THAT HE DON'T GET AWAY."

"You are to go with Mr. Herbert and apprehend this man, and take him to my house. Not a word from you. If you had been a little later in getting here, your information would have been valueless. Your horse threw you, eh? A likely story! It looks very much as though you were late purposely. You will have something to explain, Barney, when I meet you at my house. For the present, show that you know how to obey orders. Go with Mr. Herbert."

Barney faced about automatically and started for the door. Guy followed at his heels. Aside from their echoing footsteps there was not a sound in the room. The captain and Mr. Boomer parted and allowed them to pass. Mr. Boomer fingered his revolver nervously. The guard in the passageway eyed them keenly, and the man with the rifle, at the foot of the stairs, suffered them to depart without a word.

When they were well on their way to Willowview, Barney found his tongue.

"Well, I'm dinged," he muttered. "You're the spy, ain't you?"

"I'm the man described in the note," answered Guy, who did not relish the harsher term.

At that precise moment he was wishing Col. Keever at the antipodes. His own folly in allowing the Colonel to influence him came in for a large share of his condemnation. Better a hundred times that he lost every cent he had in the world and preserved his self respect. He was going to meet Miss Betty now, and what would she think of him?

"Why the dickens did the squire act like he did?" asked the confused Barney.

"He did that to save me from the hands of the Harmony people," answered Guy, with a dash of irritation. "They're so wrought up over this county seat matter that they would have acted and thought about their actions afterwards."

"You bet they would."

"Mr. Vlandingham is head and shoulders above the rest of them. He's a gentleman."

"He's ole business, that's what. Don't you feel pretty meachin'?"

"That's my affair."

"S'pose you'll try to run away now, hey?"

Barney caught Guy's arm, and Guy wrenched away and gave his companion a push that almost upset him.

"I'm not going to run away. I've given my word and I shall abide by it."

Barney whistled.

"If the people at the meetin' had known who you was, I guess you'd have been carried back to Concord feet foremost."

Guy made no answer to this, and they shortly arrived at Mr. Vladingham's house. Their ring was answered by Miss Betty herself.

"Mr. Herbert!" she exclaimed, smilingly, "I knew very well that father wouldn't allow you to be hurt. But you took frightful chances. Why are you here, Barney?"

"The squire sent me along to see that he didn't get away," responded Barney, valiantly.

"Well, you needn't remain. I'll see that he doesn't get away. Good night."

The door was closed in the astonished Barney's face.

"Come into the parlor, Mr. Herbert," said Miss Betty.

Guy couldn't understand the situation at all. Miss Betty did not seem to abate one jot or tittle of her friendliness. "A consummate actress," Guy thought; "the storm will come before long." Miss Betty motioned toward a chair. After Guy had obediently seated himself she took a rocker vis-a-vis. She thought for a moment, and then laughed softly.

"To think," she remarked, "that neither father nor I, on hearing your name, ever thought of connecting you with Mr. Montfort Herbert, of the Concord Townsite company! And you boarded that freight train at Concord, too!"

"Why don't you denounce me for being a spy?" asked Guy, impatiently.

"Why should I denounce you? Concord is your town, Mr. Herbert, and it is right for you to do what you can to hold the county seat. Harmony is our town, and we shall do what we can to take the county seat away from you. I'm sorry for you, for yours is a losing fight."

"Yet there are means you would not countenance even in a struggle of this kind?"

"I will have no violence. That is why I added a line to the note which Barney brought from Concord."

"That line" had escaped Guy. He took the note from his pocket and saw penciled dimly at the bottom the words: "See that no harm comes to Mr. Herbert, Betty." He drew a deep breath.

"Then I have you to thank for my present safety," said he, replacing the note in his pocket.

"Please don't misunderstand me, Mr. Herbert," returned Miss Betty. "My father's ruling passion is real estate. He wanted to sell you some lots in Harmony, and, for fear you wouldn't be where he could watch you, he insisted on having you come here. That was also his reason for taking you to the meeting and he had not the slightest notion he was harboring an enemy." Miss Betty laughed again. "At heart," she resumed, "my father is one of the noblest men in the world, but I cannot remember that he ever championed a losing cause. Whenever he enters a fight he goes in to win. With my aid he is going to be victorious in this county seat affair." She spoke decisively. I don't know your real motive for coming here, but I presume you wanted to look over the rival town and find out what chance there was for Concord retaining its prestige."

"That was partly it," admitted Guy. "But I also wished to attend the meeting and find out, if I could, what move your side intended to make."

"Col. Keever suggested that, did he not?"

"It was suggested to me."

"And you endeavored to follow out this counsel against your better judgment?"

"I am very sorry now that I acted on the suggestion at all."

"You are too much of a gentleman for this sort of work, Mr. Herbert. A county seat contest of this kind is a very disagreeable affair."

"Why should there ever have been a contest?"

"That was because Concord stole the county seat from Harmony in the first place. The vote was close and the canvassing board bought by Col. Keever, threw out a sufficient number of Harmony votes to give the county seat to Concord." The blue eyes snapped and the thin nostrils dilated. "For this reason the question has been reopened, Mr. Herbert, and it is for this reason, also, that I am heart and soul in the conflict. I will have no violence but Col. Keever may have to be met with his own weapons in order that right and justice may prevail. We can be good enemies and good friends as well, and after the election—" she smiles—"we will try to forget the disagreeable incidents of the campaign."

"With all my heart!" declared Guy.

She offered him her hand and he pressed the little palm cordially.

At that moment they heard running feet along the road by the gate, angry shouts and now and then the report of a revolver. Betty sprang up and hurried to a window.

"There's a mob in front," she said, quietly, "but you need have no fears, Mr. Herbert. You are just as safe under this roof as you would be in Concord."

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Iron and Steel Behind Demands. Textiles Firm.

NEW YORK, April 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Labor controversies continue to be the only seriously disturbing events in the industrial world, and, while many disagreements have been promptly settled, others have appeared to interrupt production and make manufacturers conservative about new undertakings. Retail distribution of spring wearing apparel received a check from the more inclement weather in many localities, yet merchandise of most staple lines is purchased freely, and collections are satisfactory at nearly all points except the south.

Supplies of iron and steel do not seem in any immediate danger of overtaking demand. In fact, the prospect of labor disturbance on May 1 makes the situation still more uncertain.

In the markets for textile products there is a distinctly firm tone. Labor troubles and the high position of raw cotton are both factors of strength, while mills have orders that will occupy their full capacity for some time. Although quotations are nominally without change, the scarcity of available supplies makes it a simple matter to hold prices.

No improvement is recorded in conditions at footwear shops in New England, where only the larger manufacturers are able to keep going. Prices of shoes are unchanged, although buyers are holding back for better terms.

Wheat receipts for the week were but 2,074,699 bushels against 3,357,135 last year, while exports from all ports of the United States amounted to 3,365,070 bushels, compared with 4,626,037 a year ago. There was not the customary loss in receipts of corn, 1,580,505 bushels comparing with 1,602,027 a year ago, but Atlantic exports were only 204,356 bushels against 3,046,891.

MANCHURIAN TREATY.

Negotiations Are Concluded—Minister Visits Shanghai.

PEKING, April 5.—The negotiations concerning the Manchurian treaty between China and Russia have been concluded, and the negotiators are now engaged in framing a text of the agreement in the French language. The terms of the treaty are understood to be satisfactory to the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

The United States minister, Edwin H. Conger, has started on a short visit to Shanghai on board the United States gunboat Wilmington. Mr. Conger will begin the negotiations for a new commercial treaty between the United States and China.

German Methods For Formosa.

Boston Wool Market.

The Commercial Bulletin says of the wool trade of the United States: "The market is flat. The spreading of the worsted mill strike has nearly paralyzed the wool market. There is very little doing, and prices show a weakening tendency. Some B super of good quality was sold this week at a third of a dollar clean, a drop of 2 cents. Most of the business has been in Australian cross breds at full quotations. Choice XX and above Ohio were also sold at 27½c., or full rates. The receipts of wool in Boston since Jan. 1, 1902, have been 56,989,279 pounds against 37,024,691 pounds for the same period in 1901. The Boston shipments to date are 67,722,080 pounds against shipments of 61,423,758 pounds for the same period in 1901."

CHINESE EXCLUSION.

Senate and House Begin Consideration of the Subject.

MITCHELL OF OREGON OPENS DEBATE

Says That, Though Drastic, the Bill Is In Some Respects More Liberal Than the Geary Act—Indian Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The senate has begun consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill, Mr. Mitchell (Or.) making the opening speech. He pointed out forcefully the necessity for the exclusion of Chinese laborers and carefully and elaborately analyzed the bill. He said that it had been constructed on the basis of existing laws in the light of experience and of the decisions of the courts. While its provisions were drastic, the bill, he said, in some respects was more liberal than the Geary act.

The Indian appropriation bill was under consideration for a time, but was not completed.

The house has begun consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill. No opponents of the general principle of exclusion appeared, but members were divided in their support of the two bills presented.

After some remarks by Mr. Adams (Pa.) in favor of the majority bill Mr. Kahn (Cal.) made an exhaustive speech in support of the minority bill. He reviewed the whole history of Chinese exclusion legislation and concluded as follows:

"We of the Pacific coast are perhaps more deeply concerned in this question than any other people. We feel their presence among us more than any other section of the country. Under the census of 1900 there are 4,091,349 inhabitants west of the Rocky mountains. Included in this population are 67,729 Chinese, while but 22,134 Chinese are distributed among the 71,994,445 inhabitants throughout the other states of the Union.

"We have probably learned to know him better than our fellow citizens elsewhere. He is a present, living, vital problem with us, and we feel that our cause is also the cause of the laborer and the wageworker in the eastern states. It is only the sordid and selfish, who prefer a low standard of wages and a low grade of morality—men who want cheap labor because it will increase their individual profits—who would open loopholes in the barriers we have erected after many years of hard, bitter practical experience."

The senate committee on public buildings and grounds has authorized a favorable report on the bill authorizing a new public building for Providence, R. I., at a cost of $1,000,000. Favorable reports also were made on the bills authorizing the erection of buildings at Findlay, O.; Meriden, Conn.; Biloxi, Miss.; Sterling, Ill., and Flint, Mich., and on the bill providing for an addition to the public building at Kalamazoo, Mich.

A Boy Murderer.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 5.—Clyde Felt, the fifteen-year-old boy who Thursday stated to the police that he had concealed the body of Sam Collins, the aged watchman of the Wasatka mines at Warm Springs, after the latter had committed suicide, yesterday broke down and confessed that he had cut the old man's throat in the little cave above Warm Springs, stripped the body of clothing and after walling the entrance with stones had buried the bloodstained clothes. Young Felt said that he had cut Collins' throat only after long urging by the old man, who insisted that he wanted to die and was afraid to commit the deed himself. This story is doubted by the police.

Forgot the Tax Levy.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 5.—In consequence of the failure of the legislature which adjourned last Monday to fix the tax levy for 1902 Attorney General Rayner has advised Governor Smith that an extra session must be called to rectify the error. The governor has not fixed the day, but it is thought that it will be May 1. The bill providing for the readjustment and levying of the state tax was passed by the senate and was on the third reading file of the house, but in some way it was overlooked in the rush at the close of the session.

Carlist Rumor Denied.

MADRID, April 5.—El Liberal makes a denial of the Carlist rumor it previously published, in which it was said the Carlists were arming for a coup previous to the coronation of Alfonso. The rumor the paper now characterizes as a mere stock exchange canard. The leading Carlists here say that their party is always organized and awaiting the developments of the Liberal policy. The official representative of Don Carlos here is seriously ill.

A Heavy Mortgage.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 5.—A mortgage for $75,000,000 has just been filed for record in the county recorder's office. The instrument, which consists of ninety-five closely printed pages, is given by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company to the Union Trust company of New York, trustee, to cover an issue of gold bonds of the above named amount.

To Protect Trolleymen.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—The senate has passed a bill which prohibits street railways in the state from employing conductors, motormen and gripmen more than

GOOD AS NEW.

Leo H. Battalia has the contract for remodeling the square piano of the W. C. T. U., which was damaged by water in the Babcock building fire. Mr. Battalia has opened a branch store at 426 Watchung avenue and intends to remain in this city for a few weeks only. His method is to remove all wornout parts of the piano and insert new ones, thus making an old piano as good as new at a very nominal cost.

He comes well recommended from some of the best-known music-lovers of the country. A postal to his branch store will be promptly attended to.

Increased Pay for Expressmen.

Through the efforts of E. W. Mills, manager of the local office of the United States Express Company, the employes in this city are to receive an increase in their pay. The increase will apply to every driver. Heretofore they have been receiving $40 and $45 a month. They will now get $50 a month. Manager Mills expects to engage additional help within a short time and, as the wages have been increased, he expects to secure the best available men for the work.

Fire at Hotel.

A sudden gust of wind carried some burning paper from a bonfire in the rear of the Hotel Plainfield to the basement, at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, and caused a small blaze in a rubbish heap there. The chemical engine and hose wagon, No. 2, responded to a still alarm. A stream from the chemical apparatus extinguished the flames. There was no damage.

SCHEDULE FOR CITY LEAGUE

Adopted at Meeting of Plainfield Amateur Baseball League Saturday Night.

RULES FOR THE LEAGUE.

Government of League is in Hands of Executive Committee — Each Team Limited to Fifteen Members—Compensation of Players Forbidden — Other Details.

A constitution was adopted and the season's schedule announced at a meeting of the Plainfield City League of Amateur Baseball Clubs, held Saturday evening. Everything is now in readiness for the umpires to give the order to "play ball" on the opening date, Decoration Day.

In the absence of President William N. Runyon, the chair was occupied by John G. McLaughlin. Representing the various teams were the managers, Thomas Comerford, of the St. Mary's, Alexander Muir, of the Safe Works, John Cose, of Hope chapel, and John G. McLaughlin, of the Y. M. C. A.

Both the constitution and the schedule had been favorably passed upon by the executive committee and it only remained for the league to ratify them. Much care has been taken in drawing the constitution. It provides for the membership, consisting of the four clubs, and prohibits the admission of any other clubs during the coming season. The National League rules are to govern in all cases, except where a contrary rule is provided in the instrument. A president, secretary and executive committee form the governing body. As for the executive committee it consists of the president, secretary and one representative of each team. It has full power to decide finally all questions in connection with the conduct of the association.

At no time during the season will any team be allowed to carry more than fifteen players, and according to the constitution, the names of the players must be registered with the secretary prior to May 15. Any team is permitted to substitute one or two new players during the season, but two weeks notice of the intention to drop a player and place another on a team must be given to the secretary and he must place the matter before the executive committee, which is empowered to grant permission to use the new player, at any time five or more days before the game for which the man is desired.

Compensation for services is forbidden and the players must be bona-fide members or employes of the association they represent, apart from all baseball matters. The manager of a team must disprove any charges made against any one of his players in this connection, and if the charge be sustained the game in which the guilty one plays will be forfeited to the opposing team. In case counter charges are made, the game will be counted as a match lost by both teams.

Meetings of the executive committee will be held on Monday evenings, following each game. Umpires are to be selected by the committee before May 15, and two will be assigned to each game. Official scorers are to be provided and one will be assigned to each game. Morning contests are to be called at 10 o'clock and afternoon games a 3:30 o'clock.

The schedule is as follows:

May 30, morning—Safe Works vs. Y. M. C. A., Safe Works. St. Mary's vs. Hope Chapel, St. Mary's. Afternoon—St. Mary's vs. Y. M. C. A., Y. M. C. A. Safe Works vs. Hope Chapel, Hope Chapel.

June 7—Safe Works vs. St. Mary's, St. Mary's. Hope Chapel vs. Y. M. C. A., Hope Chapel.

BILLS PAID; BALANCE LEFT

ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Very Gratifying Showing Made at Close of Fiscal Year of That Church.

The annual financial statement of the finance committee of Trinity Reformed church was announced yesterday, when the printed statements were distributed in the pews at the morning service. The report is for the year ending March 31, last. It shows the receipts, including a balance of $155.62 from last year, to be $5,056.87 from general sources, and $616.26 for benevolent purposes. The expenses, including pastor's salary, and $292.92 set aside for painting the church, were $4,889.45, leaving a balance of $167.42.

In connection with the statement it should be said that the consistory has contracted for the painting of the church building. This, with such repairs as are incident to the work, will involve the expense of about $450. For this purpose there is a special fund of $355.36, in which is included the special offering taken on Easter Sunday.

An analysis of the statement will show that the running expenses for the past year have, through watchful care and thoughtful planning, been kept within the regular income, leaving the very gratifying balance of $167.42, and all bills paid.

MRS. WRIGHT'S TEA.

Society Folk Gathered for Charming Function Saturday.

The tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. William G. Wright, of West Eighth street, in honor of her mother, Mrs. A. M. Decker, was a very charming affair and was attended by a large number of friends and society people of the city.

Good Scheme.

The officers of the First National Bank have adopted an excellent scheme regarding promissory notes. Heretofore persons giving such notes sometimes forgot about them, but now the bank issues a notice to the maker of the note a stated time before it is due, thus giving him time to arrange for meeting it.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Church Matters Occupied the Afternoon — Reports From Societies in Evening.

IN STABLE CONDITION.

MEETING HELD IN SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH YESTERDAY.

J. D. Spicer Resigned As Clerk After Service of Thirty-Five Years —Asa F. Randolph Succeeds Him— The Other Officers.

An interesting review of the past year's work was considered yesterday afternoon and evening at the annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church held in the church edifice. The devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, after which David E. Titsworth assumed charge as moderator, while Joseph D. Spicer acted as clerk.

Joseph A. Hubbard, as secretary of the board of trustees, reported all bills paid and gave the estimate of expenses for the coming year as $3,695. The treasurer, J. Frank Hubbard, reported the balance April 1, 1901, to be $135.35 and the total receipts for the year, including balance, to be $5,681.93. The expenditures, including pastor's salary, were $5,177.76, leaving a cash balance of $504.17. The total amount of insurance being carried on all the church property is $60,760.

Mr. Spicer, the clerk, presented a letter which he asked Mr. Titsworth to read. It proved to be Mr. Spicer's resignation following a service of thirty-five years. The reason given for retirement was infirmities resulting from an accident he had two years ago. With much reluctance the resignation was accepted.

In the history of the church there has only been two clerks, T. A. Alberta and J. D. Spicer, both of whom were present yesterday. Mr. Alberta served thirty years. Many persons present made brief remarks in praise of the faithful services of Mr. Spicer. H. M. Maxson concluded this part of the meeting by presenting to Mr. Spicer a chair. It is to be a handsome mahogany library chair, leather covered, and will arrive from the factory in a few days. After the presentation, Mr. Spicer was so deeply affected that he could not respond.

Another clerk was elected in the person of Asa F. Randolph, who received 66 out of 80 votes for the position. William G. Hubbard and L. T. Rogers were tellers during the election. A committee of three was appointed to draft a suitable testimonial on the retirement of Mr. Spicer. Arthur L. Titsworth, Frank S. Wells and William M. Stillman were named.

Then followed the election of several officers. Henry M. Maxson was re-elected trustee for five years, to succeed himself. George E. Stillman was re-elected assistant treasurer for the coming year and Charles H. Dunham and Arthur L. Titsworth were elected as auditors. L. T. Rogers and F. T. Clawson were elected a subscription committee. David E. Titsworth was again chosen chorister and Miss Jessie Utter was also re-elected as organist. The church ushers elected are as follows: Asa F. Randolph, chairman, George L. Babcock, Charles Potter Titsworth, Irving F. Niles, Orra S. Rogers annd A. J. Spicer.

The church decided to contribute $25 toward the work being done by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Taylor, city missionaries. After the transaction of several minor matters of business, the afternoon meeting adjourned for a social time and supper. During the social time a reception was given to the new pastor, Rev. George B. Shaw, and his wife.

The evening session was called at 7:30 o'clock, when the reports from the various societies in the church were received.

Prior to the evening session the board of trustees met and organized by chosing H. M. Maxson chairman, J. Frank Hubbard treasurer and J. A. Hubbard secretary. A short praise service, conducted by Rev. Mr. Shaw, opened the evening meeting, after which there were the reports from all the societies as follows: Woman's Society for Christian Work, Mrs. A. T. Maxson; Sabbath-school, Assistant Superintendent H. M. Maxson; Christian and Junior Endeavor Societies, Miss Mildred Green; intermediate Endeavor Society, Superintendent Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard.

There was a statistical report by Rev. Dr. A. E. Main embracing the months between the last annual meeting and October 1 last. Joseph D. Spicer, the retiring church clerk, gave a report for the past year, appended to which was a statistical report from the organization of the church in 1838 to the present time. Mrs. M. C. Randolph, of New York, and Thomas A. Alberta, of New Brunswick, two of the four original members living, were present at the meeting yesterday. Mr. Alberta is ninety years of age. There were read communications from absent members.

A report was received from the committee appointed to draft a suitable testimonial upon the retirement of J. D. Spicer as church clerk.

The present church membership is 227 and the average attendance at the Sabbath-school 100. There are sixty-two active members of the Christian Endeavor Society. Those who had charge of the supper comprised the social committees from the Woman's Society of Christian Work and the Christian Endeavor Society. Mrs. J. G. Miller was the chairman. J. P. Mosher was chosen moderator for the next meeting.

VIEWED DISPOSAL BEDS.

Street Commissioner Gavett Took Councilmen on Tour of Inspection—A Dinner Followed.

Street Commissioner Gavett invited the Mayor and City Commen Council to inspect the new sewage disposal works Saturday afternoon and to a dinner at the Kensington. All were present except Mayor Jenkins and Councilmen Mellick, Pray and Daniel.

The operation of the works was exhibited to the visitors, and they expressed themselves as pleased with the progress made, and with the amount of impurities removed by the plant so soon after its completion. The grounds are being leveled off and some shrubbery is being transplanted to make the place as attractive as possible.

The company also visited the Industrial Home, being shown over the buildings by Superinendent TenEyck and Overseer Ayers. Refreshments were afterward served by Mrs. TenEyck.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 7.— Thieves visited the farm of George W. Scudder on Martine avenue, last night, and stole two horses, a buggy and a set of harness. There is no clew to the theft. The property taken was all right at 10 o'clock in the evening. At 5 o'clock this morning, it was gone. Word has been sent out to be on the lookout for the stolen property.

FAKE COLLECTOR.

Borough Fire Chief Says Fakir is Working Residents of the Park.

On the representation that he is acting on behalf of a borough fire company, a man has been soliciting subscriptions among the residents of Washington Park.

He asks aid for an alleged fair, which he declares is to be given by one of the companies. In one instance it is said that $5 was collected from a generous citizen. Inquiry reveals the fact that neither company in North Plainfield has made any arrangements for a fair, and that no sort of entertainment is contemplated in the immediate future. Chief Stahl, of the fire department, says that the collector is acting without authority and wishes to warn the boroughites against the imposition.

Very Quiet Affair Was Marriage of Mrs. Firstbrook and Mr. Symons.

In the bride's home Mrs. Elizabeth Firstbrook, of West Fifth street, and Paul Symons, of East Third street, were quietly married yesterday afternoon. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock, and only the immediate families were present.

The home was tastefully adorned with flowers. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, was the officiating minister. Mr. and Mrs. Symons will reside at the groom's home on East Third street. Mr. Symons is an electricial engineer by trade. He has acted in that capacity for nearly a quarter of a century at Miner's Theatre, in New York.

CLERGYMAN ARRESTED FOR SHOOTING DOGS

Scotch Plains Residents Claim He Has Been Killing Canines in a Wholesale Manner.

RAISED BELGIAN HARES.

REV. J. B. BLANCHETT IS ACCUSED OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Dogs Disappeared and Are Said to Have Been Found Near Mr. Blanchett's Home—One Died in Great Agony—Hearing Tomorrow.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 7—Rev. J. B. Blanchett, a retired Episcopal clergyman, who, for a year past, has been occupying the John Cook property on Mountain avenue, was arrested yesterday by William Pangborn, agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, on a warrant issued by Justice Hand on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was arraigned before Justice Hand and subsequently released on his own recognizance to appear tomorrow for a hearing.

Mr. Blanchett removed from Long Island City, where he had been pastor of an Episcopal church, a year ago, after he had received considerable notoriety over a disagreement with his vestry over the handling of the finances of the church. He resigned his position and settled at Scotch Plains.

After taking up his residence here he engaged in the business of breeding Belgian hares for market. Not long afterward there was a notable decrease in the number of dogs about town, some very valuable. The owners of the dogs became incensed and started an investigation. This was followed up by the Township Committee and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with the result that a number of dead dogs were found in the rear of Mr. Blanchett's home. The Board of Health ordered the dogs buried.

The investigation brought out enough evidence to suspect the minister of killing the dogs. A warrant was then issued by Justice Hand. Saturday an attempt was made to find Rev. Mr. Blanchett, but he had disappeared. However, the house was watched and he was found there yesterday. He denied having left town to escape arrest.

One case in particular that incensed the residents very much was that of a poor canine who had wandered within reach of the divine's gun. He received a load of shot which only wounded him. The animal managed to crawl to the roadway and laid there for several hours in great agony. Late in the day a hay carter was passing and he put the dog out of his misery with an axe. While the residents believe that there are a number of worthless dogs about town, they are indignant that there should be a wholesale slaughter of them, including valuable canines.

Mr. Purdy Preached.

"Art not thou one of this man's disciples?" was the subject of an excellent discourse by M. Seymour Purdy, of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, in Trinity Reformed church, last evening. The story of Peter's denial, as recorded in St. John's Gospel, was touchingly told by Mr. Purdy and lessons drawn therefrom that were helpful to all who heard him.

Another Dentist.

Dr. Charles G. Davis, son of Dr. T. S. Davis, of Park avenue, expects to locate at 115 East Sixth street the latter part of this week. Dr. Davis graduated in dentistry from the University of Pennsylvania last year. Since graduation, he has been with the late Dr. Charles Essig, who was one of the most prominent dentists of Philadelphia.

Reward Still Offered.

A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street, says that some people have the idea that he has withdrawn his offer of $2,500 for the return of the jewelry taken from his home, 211 West Eighth street, March 11. This is not true and he again advertises the reward in The Daily Press. If the jewelry is returned no questions will be asked.

Played Euchre for Prizes.

Eight young people sat at the tables and engaged in the game for several hours. The first prize was taken by Miss Dora Frank and the booby prizes by Will Casey and Miss Mary Burke.

ONE NIGHT MORE OF FAIR

DECIDED TO EXTEND TIME OF ST. MARY'S TEAM FAIR.

Joseph Barry Won Contest for Most Popular Player—Winners in Other Contests.

A large crowd was present Saturday evening when the week's fair held in T. A. B. Hall by St. Mary's baseball team was to have closed. Dancing and music, as on previous nights, was the feature of the occasion, although the awards in the various contests attracted no little amount of attention. It was decided at the last moment to continue the fair tonight, when a set of dishes, a lamp and a table will be awarded as prizes.

As yet the committeee has not been able to ascertain definitely how much was realized, but nevertheless it is certain that at least $500 has been made through the affair. The final vote in the most popular ball player contest was quite close towards the last. Joseph Barry won, 570 votes being cast for him, with George Keen second, 504 votes being registered in the latter's favor. They will receive dress suit cases.

Miss Margaret Townley was awarded the gold watch in the money raising contest. She gathered together $105, while Miss Beeze Muldowney got subscriptions amounting to $35. In the man's bicycle contest James Strapp came out ahead. His fund was $72, and that of Rufus Larew amounted to $35. There were also some other minor contests, which served to enliven the week's events.

PLAY FEMININE ROLES.

Clever Work by Lehigh University's Famous Dramatic Association.

Much interest is being shown in the forthcoming appearance of the Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Association of Lehigh University, which is to give a performance at the Casino, Thursday night. The play selected for presentation is a three-act, laughable farce, entitled "The Fem. Seminary." The female characters are sustained by the young men, members of the association, which by the way, is one of the cherished organizations of the college. It is a popular favorite in the several cities where it annually appears and always pleases. Reserved seat tickets can be secured at Armstrong's.

Y. M. C. A. WON OPENING GAME

Local Baseball Season Opened Saturday Afternoon on Pittis' Field.

DEFEATED HIGH SCHOOL.

Y. M. C. A. Team Won by Score of 21 to 18—Plainfield High School Boys Put Up a Creditable Game Throughout—Great Work by Schoonmakers—The Score.

That baseball is going to be a popular game this season was demonstrated by the size and enthusiasm of the crowd, which witnessed the first real contest of the season between the Y. M. C. A. and Plainfield High School nines on Pittis' Field, Saturday aftrenoon, and saw the former aggregation win by a small margin. The score was 21 to 18, but notwithstanding the fact that they were defeated the High School lads had their opponents on the anxious bench until the game ended.

As a rule the winning team was composed of players older and more experienced in the game, and this accounted somewhat for the final result. Plainfield High School started off in good shape and not until the fourth inning did the rival team catch up in the score. After that the Y. M. C. A. kept the lead, although the school boys took a decided brace in the eighth inning and threatened the laurels which had almost been conceded to their opponents.

George Schoonmaker at third base and at the bat did brilliant work for the victorious team. His home run, in the fourth inning, which brought two other men in, was the feature of the contest. His brother, Ralph Schoonmaker, who was at short stop, also kept up the family record in the game.

Another good player on the Y. M. C. A. team was Alfred Egan, who was out in right field. He drove a liner for three bases in the fourth, which proved to be the great batting inning for the winning team. Bosterli, on first base, earned his right to hold that position for the season.

As for the Plainfield High School boys, they showed a lack of practice but it was evident that there is material in the team, which will prove a formidable quantity as the season advances. In the second and eighth innings they got a batting streak which quite surprised the bleachers.

Manager Cose, of the Hope chapel team, had his youngsters on the ground to watch the game and it was impossible for him to prevent them cheering for the school boys. The rooting gave much encouragement to the losing team and they rallied while it lasted.

The team had a good player in the person of young Craig, who was at short stop. He connected with the ball every time he was at the bat and hauled in whatever came his way in the field. Munroe, who held down third base, started in the season well and did also VanAuken and Moynihan. Captain VanAuken made the only two base hit for his team and received the plaudits of the High School young women.

The batting order and summary was as follows:

ARE WAGES LIKELY TO TAKE A JUMP?

That's a Question Which is Disturbing Both Builders and Artizans.

NO AGREEMENT AS YET.

THE TIME SET FOR THE CHANGE IS JUNE 1.

Men Claim That Great Demand for Labor Will Force Acceptance of the New Schedule—Hoping for a Settlement.

There is much concern among the mechanics in this city as to the rate of wages to be paid after June 1. It will be remembered that recently the journeymen mechanics gave the master mechanics notice that after June 1 an increase in wages would be demanded. This in a majority of cases does not please the bosses and they are loath to grant the concession. They believe it will have a tendency to stop the progress of building.

The journeymen do not feel that way about it. Many of them maintain that there is any quantity of building to be done this spring and summer and that their services will be in such demand that they can practically get any price they ask within reason. Recently several conferences have been held between the journeymen and bosses with a view to compromising the matter, but as yet progress has been slow.

The fact that the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital is planning to erect a new hospital and the Babcock building is to be rebuilt, in addition to many other jobs in the way of house-building, has given the journeymen an idea that their services will be worth more than they are now getting. In addition to this, Paterson is greatly in need of mechanics and the local men claim that they can find plenty of work there at their own price if they cannot get it here. This places matters in a peculiar shape.

On the other hand those who intend building on a large scale assert that if it becomes necessary they can engage men from out of town. They claim that they can get men who are willing to work for the present rate of wage. They do not want to resort to this method, they say, if the local men will be reasonable and not jump the price because of the prospective building boom.

NEW JAIL FOR MIDDLESEX

IT WILL BE A REMARKABLY ELABORATE STRUCTURE WHEN COMPLETED.

Special Precautions to Prevent the Escape of Prisoners—To be Fire-Proof Throughout.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 7—Plans for the new jail on Court House square call for a building which will be at the same time an ornament architectually and a institution of a complete and modern design.

It will be a fireproof structure throughout and will include all the good points of the many jails inspected by the committee on building. At the same time it will eliminate the bad features of the ordinary run of such places of confinement.

The great point in the plans is the security of the structure to prevent the escape of prisoners. All the cells will be steel cages, to be locked and unlocked only from the warden's corridor. Every bit of plumbing will be exposed and so situate that it will be impossible for the prisoners to tamper with it.

A novel idea is a room where the prisoners will have the opportunity to converse with prisoners. Tramps and "drunks" will be received in the cellar where baths will be fitted up. After this class of prisoners are put to bath they will be placed in regular cells. A modern convenience will be a stable in one corner of the structure for the sheriff's automobile.

Rock-faced brick will be the material used in the building. There will be ventilating towers so that the windows will not have to be opened. There will also be dumb-waiters, wash-tanks, toilets in every cell and many other improvements. The third floor will be used for women and boys. It is planned not to tear down the present building used as a home by the sheriff but to attach it to the new jail.

St. Louis Exposition Not Acceptable to Foreigners.

CHICAGO, April 7.—John Barrett, commissioner general to Asia for the Louisiana Purchase exposition, has left Chicago for San Francisco en route to the orient. As Mr. Barrett has just returned from Washington, where he had access to the diplomatic correspondence with foreign governments on world's fair matters and as he also has been in recent conference with the fair officials at St. Louis the following statement made by him in reference to the reports of a possible postponement of the St. Louis exposition has a special significance:

"The world's fair management in St. Louis has been bending every energy to have the exposition open promptly in 1903, but a grave condition has arisen which it cannot control and for which it is not responsible. Nearly all of the foreign governments have unofficially notified the United States government or the world's fair management that it is a physical impossibility for them to be creditably represented at St. Louis in 1903. On the other hand, while the majority of them have accepted for 1903 and will do the best they can, they have informally intimated that if the exposition shall be postponed they will endeavor to surpass even what they did at Chicago and Paris.

"As the success of the world's fair as a great international exposition must depend largely on foreign participation it can be seen that this is a most serious consideration, which neither congress nor the exposition officials can overlook. In short, if the world's fair at St. Louis shall be postponed it will be done largely in deference to the wishes of foreign nations."

CORRUPTION IN ST. LOUIS.

Sensational Report by Grand Jury. City Officials Indicted.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—Most sensational charges are made by the grand jury which has been investigating bribery and official corruption in the municipal assembly in its final report to Judge O'Neill Ryan in the criminal court.

The following indictments were also returned: Bribery, Robert N. Snyder; attempted bribery, Edward Butler and John H. Becker; perjury, George J. Keburch.

The report declares that the people of St. Louis have but a vague conception of the extent to which corruption and venality have for the past ten years existed among the sworn officers and public servants. It finds the true condition of affairs almost too appalling for belief. A tribute is paid to Joseph W. Folk, the circuit attorney, under whose leadership the investigation is being made.

Firebugs In Columbus, O.

COLUMBUS, O., April 7.—Early last evening fire caused a loss of $20,000 at the lumber yard of Smith & Sowers, on the west side. A few hours later fire destroyed $15,000 worth of lumber at Conee & Menefee's yard in the same vicinity. The fires were of incendiary origin. While the fire was in progress at the latter place Secretary Bingham of the Columbus Rock Plaster company discovered two men setting fire to a shed at the company's plant, which is but a short distance from the lumber yard. Mr. Bingham struck one of the men, but was promptly knocked down, and the incendiaries escaped. Later five men suspected of being incendiaries were placed under arrest.

Mrs. Nation Again Arrested.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., April 7.—Mrs. Carrie Nation was arrested here and taken to jail, but was released on her promise to leave by the next train. She had been making the rounds of the saloons and at one threatened to demolish a huge picture and smash the bar. The bartender warned her, but she persisted, and he struck her twice in the face and put her out of the saloon. She returned with a party of adherents, but a policeman arrested her and escorted her to jail. Before leaving she exacted a promise that the bartender should be prosecuted.

Robbers Escape Pursuers.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 7.—The Ruskin (Neb.) bank robbers, four in number, who secured $15,000, were chased all day by a posse of farmers for thirty miles until the robbers crossed into Kansas and separated near Belleville. A running fire was kept up for several miles. Bloodhounds were put on the trail of the bandits, but they lost it near Scandia.

TWENTY-ONE KILLED

Glasgow Collapse More Serious Than First Reported.

TWO HUNDRED SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Terrible Accident Occurred at Ibrox Park During the English-Scotch Football Match — The Game Went on to the Finish.

GLASGOW, April 7.—The casualty lists of the Ibrox park disaster, when a number of persons were killed or injured by the collapsing of a spectators' stand during the international football match Saturday afternoon between England and Scotland, have been completed. They eclipse all the reports and estimates of the casualties which were early current.

The disaster has resulted in the death of 21 persons and the injury of 250. Nearly 200 of the latter were so seriously hurt that they were taken to infirmaries for operations and treatment, where 150 of them still remain. A large proportion of the injured had limbs broken, their bodies crushed and mangled and their heads and faces gashed. Several more deaths will undoubtedly result from the most critical cases of fractured skulls.

The infirmaries were besieged by relatives and friends of the victims of the disaster, and heartrending scenes were witnessed when the names of those who died were posted outside the buildings.

The action of the authorities at Ibrox park in averting a more general panic by permitting the game to proceed while they encouraged the impression of the crowd within the inclosure that the accident was not so direful is now generally commended.

The incongruity of the yells of applause mingling with the groans of the struggling sufferers will never be forgotten by those who witnessed the scene at the rear of the terrace.

When the game began, 70,000 spectators were on the grounds, and an immense crowd had gathered outside. Being unable to obtain admittance, this crowd broke down some of the barriers and swarmed upon the field, whereupon the police charged and drove the intruders back upon the side stands, which were crowded with people. Men and women were thrown over each other. In the frantic struggle toward the exits the pressure toward the upper portion of the westerly terrace was so great that 100 feet of the highest part of the structure collapsed under the weight of the crowd driven upon it, precipitating the mass of people to the ground, sixty feet below. The injured were piled in heaps, wedged in with broken wood.

The Race War at Lawton.

GUTHRIE, Okla., April 7.—The last day set for the negroes to remain in Lawton, Okla., passed with no direct attacks on the colored people. Many of the negroes have left, stating that they will not receive protection. Many, however, are determined to remain. Some own property, and some are in business, and it is this class that is dividing the sentiment of the white people of the city and vicinity. The county officials still expect trouble and have organized matters as well as possible to preserve order. One hundred deputies have been sworn in, and an attempt will be made to control the situation, however serious it may become. The governor has stated that if necessary he will use extreme means to thwart any lawless action, and he has the proffered assistance of the federal authorities. The trouble is the result of the city election on April 1, when attempts were made to keep the negroes from voting.

Japan Studying Oilfields.

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 7.—Otsuka, imperial geologist and engineer of the imperial steel works of Japan, arrived at Beaumont yesterday and will remain here several days. Mr. Otsuka is here as a representative of the Japanese government to study the Beaumont oilfields. In an interview he said he thought the rotary drilling system employed at Beaumont would greatly facilitate the prospecting for oil, which is now receiving a new impetus in Japan.

Another Negro Lynched.

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 7.—James Carter, a young negro, who shot and seriously wounded Mr. Don Thomas near Glasgow, in Amherst county, on Thursday night, was taken from jail at Amherst Courthouse just before midnight and lynched a short distance from the village. The deed was very quietly and expeditiously done by a party of men estimated to number about 200.

AGRICULTURAL BOOM

Report For 1901 Makes a Remarkable Showing.

A BALANCE OF $560,000,000 FOR US.

Compared With 1900 an Increase of $100,000,000 In Value of Exported Farm Products Is Revealed—The Leading Items.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The department of agriculture has issued a statement of the foreign trade of the United States in agricultural products. It shows that during the fiscal year 1901 foreign countries purchased American farm products to the value of $952,000,000, representing the largest agricultural exports in our history. Compared with the record for 1900, they show an increase of over $100,000,000.

Our agricultural imports, on the other hand, disclose a considerable falling off when contrasted with the trade of the year preceding. The various products of agriculture received from foreign sources during 1901 had an aggregate value of only $392,000,000, or $28,000,000 less than in 1900.

In comparison with the value of our agricultural imports our agricultural exports show the exceptionally large excess of $560,000,000.

It is further shown that, owing to the fact that our import and export trade with Hawaii and Porto Rico was not included, as previously, in the foreign commerce returns of the United States for 1901, a comparison of the statistics for that year and the year preceding is not altogether satisfactory, and to make an accurate comparison of our total agricultural imports and exports for 1901 and the year before the 1901 figures should be increased to the extent of our trade with Hawaii and Porto Rico, but complete statistics as to the value of the products of agriculture exchanged in that trade during 1901 were not to be had. In 1900 our agricultural imports from Hawaii and Porto Rico were valued at about $24,000,000 and our agricultural exports to those islands at about $5,000,000.

The leading items among our agricultural imports for 1901 were sugar, coffee, hides and skins, silk, vegetable fibers, fruits and nuts, tobacco, wool, tea, wines, cocoa, vegetable oils, distilled spirits, seeds, vegetables and spices, the combined value of these items amounting to about $358,000,000.

During 1901, for the first time in several years, our exports of cotton exceeded in value our exports of breadstuffs. After cotton and breadstuffs, which held the first and second places in our agricultural export trade, meat products formed the largest item. Additional exports of leading importance, as named in the order of their value, were live animals, tobacco, vegetable oils, oil cake and oil cake meal, fruits and nuts, dairy products and seeds.

The Rhodes Bequests.

BERLIN, April 7.—The bequests of Mr. Rhodes are regarded at court as constituting an enduring impulse to good feeling between Germany, Great Britain and the United States and the colonies of these countries and as giving more substance to the vague grouping of the Teutonic powers. "The earth belongs to the vital living peoples, and these should act as one when inefficient powers check advancement" is another utterance attributed to the German emperor when his majesty was speaking of Prince Henry's trip and the need of a better understanding with the United States.

Ohioans Voting Today.

CINCINNATI, April 7.—Municipal and township elections are being held throughout Ohio today. In this city the contest between W. H. Jackson (Dem.) and Howard Ferris (Rep.) for the superior judgeship is the only issue. In other cities of this section the election is for mayor and other city offices as well as the usual local positions. No national or state questions are involved anywhere, but in some localities delegates to congressional and other conventions will be chosen by popular vote.

Pope's Silver Jubilee.

BALTIMORE, April 7.—The silver jubilee of Pope Leo XIII. was observed with solemn and unusually elaborate services at the cathedral yesterday. The ceremony was marked by the presence of two cardinals—Cardinal Martinelli, the apostolic delegate, who came over from Washington to take part in the services, and Cardinal Gibbons, who preached the sermon. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large congregation was present.

AID FOR BOER SUFFERERS.

Check For $5,000 Forwarded to Our Consul at Cape Town.

CHICAGO, April 7.—A certified check for $5,000 drawn to the order of President Roosevelt was forwarded to the president on March 28 by the committee of citizens which Governor Yates appointed in December last to raise funds for the relief of Boer women and children sufferers in the concentration camps of South Africa. Inasmuch as the committee was without satisfactory means of forwarding the money President Roosevelt was requested to accept the fund and have it forwarded through such channels as he might deem best to be disbursed for the relief of the sufferers for whom it was intended.

A letter from Secretary Hay under date of April 3 has been received by Peter Van Vlissingen, secretary of the Illinois committee, acknowledging the receipt of the check by President Roosevelt and stating that, as directed by the president, the money has been forwarded to the United States consul general at Cape Town, that being, in the president's opinion, the most expeditious way of transmitting it to its destination. The consular officer at Cape Town, Secretary Hay states, has been directed to distribute the fund in the manner intended by the donors.

President Roosevelt and the secretary of state having so readily complied with this first request, Mr. Van Vlissingen announced that it was now the purpose of the committee to undertake the collection of a much larger sum and that a systematic effort will be made throughout the state to collect checks and drafts of $1 each payable to Theodore Roosevelt. These checks and drafts, Mr. Van Vlissingen states, will be forwarded to the president from time to time as they accumulate in his hands.

A GRAND TRUNK ACCIDENT.

One Man Killed and Five Hurt Near Lansing, Mich.

LANSING, Mich., April 7.—While Grand Trunk passenger train No. 6 was passing through Milletts, a tank station seven miles west of here, the rear coach and the Pullman sleeper were thrown off the track. One person was killed, and five were injured.

The wreck occurred at a switch on which a freight train was standing. The first seven cars of No. 6 crossed the switch safely, but as the last coach was passing over the switch points the trucks caught in such a way as to throw it and the Pullman car following off the track and over on to the engine of the freight train. The two cars and the engine were thrown into the ditch.

It is said that the switch had been tampered with. The engineer and fireman of the freight engine were examining the engine as the two cars crashed into it, and they had narrow escapes. The passenger train was running at high speed when the accident occurred. The injured were taken into Detroit.

There has been a total of 166 cases and 119 deaths from cholera here since the disease first broke out.

Fifty residents of the flooded Portage la Prairie district are isolated at Bethel schoolhouse. The town of Melita is also cut off by the flood.

WORK BEFORE CONGRESS.

Chinese Exclusion Up In the Senate. Cuban Reciprocity in the House.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The expectation of the friends of the Chinese exclusion bill is that its consideration by the senate will be concluded by the middle of the present week, if not before. The Philippine government bill will be taken up immediately afterward. This bill probably will occupy attention for a considerable longer time than has any measure since the Philippine tariff bill was passed, and the Democratic members of the committee on the Philippines are now very industrously engaged in preparing for the debate.

They do not profess to be able to defeat the measure, but say they will make strenuous efforts to secure material amendments. They object to various features of the bill and will charge that its primary purpose is to permit the granting of franchises. They also will take exception to the unqualified continuance of the administration of the affairs of the archipelago without making any provision looking to any form of self government for the Filipino people.

The great battle over Cuban reciprocity, which created such a protracted struggle among the Republicans both in caucus and in the committee on ways and means, will be fought out on the floor of the house this week. The ultimate passage of the Payne bill providing for a 20 per cent reduction on the products of Cuba after the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty and the enactment of our immigration laws by the republic of Cuba is regarded as a foregone conclusion, but the situation is a complicated one owing to the divisions among the Democrats as well as the Republicans.

How far the Republican opponents of the proposed legislation will carry their opposition is not definitely determined. The strength of this opposition has dwindled until it probably numbers less than thirty. On the other hand, up to the present time a large majority of the Democrats favor the greatest possible freedom of trade with Cuba and would vote for a deeper cut than the ways and means bill proposes. Others, like Newlands (Nev.), are in favor of the immediate annexation of the islands, and quite a number under the lead of the Louisiana members will oppose strenuously any tariff concessions whatever.

Barnum & Bailey to Return.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Announcement is made that by a recently completed agreement Barnum & Bailey's circus will be brought back from Europe next year, and Buffalo Bill's Wild West show will succeed it in Europe. Mr. Bailey concluded the arrangement for this practical division of the old and new worlds during his recent trip to the United States, and on his return here in May the details of the plan will be worked out. The Wild West show after its spring engagement in this city will go entirely across the continent, taking in Arizona and the other western states which gave birth to the life it pictures and for the first time in its eighteen years of existence will visit the Pacific coast states. With the close of the season the show will be taken abroad for a stay of possibly two years. Barnum & Bailey's circus will then close its long stay abroad and return to America. Negotiations are already under way for the necessary steamship transportation for the two big amusements.

Pardon For Captain Coghlan.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The president has signed a pardon in the case of Captain Joseph B. Coghlan, who lost eleven numbers in his grade some years ago as a result of an unusually sharp letter written by him to the detail officer of the navy department. As one of the captains in the battle of Manila Bay Captain Coghlan was advanced so as to make up a good part of the ground he had lost. The president's action makes up the rest of the ground and places him at the head of the list of captains, along with Captain Sands. On the retirement of Admiral Farquhar both Sands and Coghlan will become rear admirals.

TWENTY-FOUR OF THE FAMILY YIELD

Details of the Rear Guard Fight at Boschman's Kop and of the Battle of Doornbalt Farm — Slow Work of the Peace Mission.

PRETORIA, April 7.—Casper Kruger, the eldest son of former President Kruger, and twenty-four other relatives of Mr. Kruger bearing the same family name are among those who have recently taken the oath of allegiance to Great Britain.

Careful computation gives the total strength of the scattered Boer commandoes at between 8,000 and 9,000 men.

Details received here of the rear guard action during the night of March 31 between the Second Dragoon guards of Colonel Lawley's column and the Boers near Boschman's Kop show that a force of 200 British while endeavoring to surprise a Boer laager on a dark night rode straight into a force of 600 Boers. The Boers were hidden in a drift and opened fire from almost under the legs of the British horses. A fierce hand to hand struggle ensued, in which both sides freely used the butt ends of their rifles. The British regained the ridge they had just left and commenced a rear guard action.

In the meantime a strong force of Boers had barred the road back to the British camp. The coming of daylight enabled Colonel Lawley to see that the guards were hard pressed, and he dispatched re-enforcements, with two guns, to their assistance. The re-enforcements soon compelled the Boers to retreat.

The guards had had a very hard fight and were ordered to retire by squadrons. The Boers disputed every inch of the road with the guards and continually attempted to rush them, shouting, "Hands up!" At each successive position taken up the British appeared in diminished numbers, for as it grew lighter the aim of the Boers improved proportionately.

Commandant Prinsloo is reported to have been killed in the fighting, as well as other Boer officers.

The Battle of Doornbalt Farm.

KLERKSDORP, Transvaal Colony, April 7.—Details received of the battle at Doornbalt farm, in which the British had 3 officers and 24 men killed and 16 officers and 131 men wounded, while the Boers had 137 men killed or wounded, show that quite 2,000 Boers opened a strong attack from different points, with three guns and a pompom. This attack was made at a moment when the British had left their luggage in laager in charge of the Canadian contingent and were galloping across the open plain with the intention of capturing a Boer convoy which had been discovered five miles ahead.

A Tardy Peace Movement.

KROONSTAD, Orange River Colony, April 7.—Owing to the great distance separating the members of the Transvaal mission here from Mr. Steyn, the former president of the Orange Free State, and General Delarey the negotiations between the Boer leaders in South Africa looking to the conclusion of the war make little progress. It is expected, however, that Mr. Schalkburger and his colleagues on the mission will shortly leave here for a more convenient center from which to conduct the negotiations.

Canadian Fighters Praised.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 7.—Lord Minto, governor general of Canada, has received the following cablegram from Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary: "I congratulate the Dominion on heroic conduct of Canadians in action with Delarey. Deeply regret heavy casualties and desire to express heartfelt sympathy with those who have given their lives upholding the splendid traditions of Canadian valor."

Metal Workers Confer.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., April 7.—The New England conference of metal workers held a meeting in this city for the purpose of arranging a method by which local troubles can be adjusted without the delay necessitated by referring the matter to the national board. Of the sixty unions in New England thirty-seven were represented by delegates, most of whom were from Massachusetts and Connecticut. It was decided by the conference to ask the national board to appoint a local organizer. The conference then adjourned to meet in Springfield, Mass., subject to the call of the secretary.

Carriage Makers to Strike.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Carriage Makers' union No. 72 has decided to go on strike because of the refusal of the manufacturers to grant their demand for an eight hour workday at a minimum scale of $2.50 per day. About 100 men will be affected. Three of the thirty-three employing firms have granted the demands of the men, and in these shops the strike order will not be effective.

Died on Shipboard.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Miss Sarah Spaulding, aged sixty-eight years, a cabin passenger on the Ward line steamer Niagara, which has just arrived from Nassau, died of heart failure. Miss Spaulding's home was at 275 Pawtucket street, Lowell, Mass.

Funston Goes to Denver.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston has left for Denver to assume command of the department of Colorado. General Funston was accompanied by his wife and infant son.

AID A WORTHY CAUSE.

The Plainfield Relief Association appeals to the friends who always help its work, also to those who have not hitherto done so, for contributions of money at this time.

Out of a population of 20,000, only about one hundred men and women give regularly to this old established charitable institution. The aims and methods are practical and sensible, and it is true that those who know the most of the purposes and results of the work, are those who most cordially believe in its value and usefulness.

The association needs $300 or $400 at once to pay all indebtedness. The winter's record is a long list of men employed in wood yard, or if women either at home or in the rooms, besides families where illness and unusual misfortune have rendered unusual and gratuitous aid necessary.

Will not every benevolent and large hearted reader, and there are many in Plainfield, heed this appeal, and send a contribution large or small to the treasurer, Mrs. Henry Lapsley, of 816 Third place, very soon. "He gives twice, who gives quickly."

While the excellence of their previous attempts had led the people of Plainfield to expect a good performance from the young men of Leal's School at their dramatic entertainment in the Casino, Thursday night, it can truthfully be said, that the realization was much superior to the anticipation. The comedy, "Jane" was well selected as a strong clever medium to display the histronic abilities of the young men. The acting was truly of a high class. Too much praise cannot be given to those who filled the feminine roles with so much success. The whole affair was delightful and reflected much credit on the participants themselves and also on the man, E. B. Smith, who labored so hard and faithfully to bring about the desired end. He had good material to work with but without clever coaching, it would have amounted to nothing.

From the discussion heard in some quarters it is apparent that some misunderstanding exists as to the meaning of the terms "annexation" and "consolidation." These are frequently confused, and for that reason a little explanation may not be amiss. The annexation bill provides for the change of the present county lines and would have the effect of bringing North Plainfield into Union county. Consolidation, on the other hand, refers to the union of the two municipalities. The consolidation measure provides for the abandonment of the borough government and for the establishment of Greater Plainfield, of which the present borough territory would be a part.

It was a remarkable thing that after all the talk among the builders of Union county in general and Elizabeth in particular, that there should have been only a single bidder for the construction of the temporary courthouse at Elizabeth. The lowest bidder was the William T. Kirk Company, of this city, the only one from the entire county. The fact that Mr. Kirk has secured the contract is a subject for general satisfaction. It would have been too bad to see such an important work go outside the county and even the State as the only other rival bidders were from New York.

Among the positive affirmations of an experienced and successful advertiser in the newspapers, says the Philadelphia Record, are these: "No matter how good the article is, it will not sell to any great extent unless it is thoroughly advertised;" "Making advertising profitable is not nearly so difficult a feat as to make a business profitable without it." There are many business enterprises which could be made vastly more profitable by newspaper advertising.

General Manager Besler, of the Jersey Central, is to make his home in Plainfield. It is welcome news. With the practical head of the management of the only railroad passing through Plainfield making his home in this city, there is every reason to believe that the interests of the city will not be forgotten. It is to be hoped that Mr. Besler will also see the need of a coat of white paint for the fence separating the tracks at the North Avenue station.

There are several real estate deals of great importance which are now under consideration and which promise to make some decided changes in the business section of the city. If the negotiations are carried to a successful culmination, The Daily Press will have some news of much importance in the course of a few days. At present, however, it is not best to say more.

The boys of Company K still have their hearts set on securing an armory or, at least, proper quarters for the company. It must be said that Plainfield ought to see that its militia company had a better drill hall than it possesses at present.

Atlantic City has shown itself as possessing that same indomitable spirit which was evident at Paterson right after its great conflagration. A new and better city is to spring out of the smoking ruins of the old.

The weather man's calendar must have been somewhat mixed for the last few days have reminded one strikingly of the typical March, far more so than did the April-like days which really concluded that month.

Consistency is a jewel of which the opponents of annexation seem to possess a remarkable lack.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Now is the time to take a picture of the dividing line between the city and borough before it disappears. VanWinkle, of North avenue, handles only up-to-date cameras and supplies.

These are the days to observe the beauties of nature. The scenery about Plainfield is the grandest in the State. View them from a carriage. Andrew Love, Jr., liveryman, East Second street.

Many lives have been lost through inaccurate compounding of prescriptions. It's always best to have a reliable pharmacist put up your prescriptions. Thos. Armstrong, of the Plainfield pharmacy, is a man of this sort.

Of course, you desire groceries that are fresh and pure and within reach of your finances. Why not leave a trial order with R. H. Keenan, the East Fifth street grocer? He guarantees to please his patrons or refund money.

Still the women are talking about Bonn's millinery display and they agree that it equals those to be seen in New York. The latest styles in the best shapes for street wear or social events, as well as outing hats are being shown.

Years of experience and observation of their customer's wants have led Neuman Brothers to believe that the White Label brand of canned goods are the best on the market. They exceed in quality and are packed in the most scientific manner known.

A great deal of annoyance can be caused by a slow or fast going watch or clock. If you have any of that kind, save time and worrry by having Brown, the expert, regulate your timepieces. Orders left at 128 Watchung avenue will receive prompt attention.

Don't delay having your home renovated when the New York Painting and Decorating Company, of Park avenue, will paper and paint your house at a reasonable figure. Their new designs in wall-papers have arrived and they are most attractive.

There is to be seen at the Paris Cloak and Fur store, at 322 West Front street, a big line of samples for spring and summer suits for women. The proprietor has engaged several women's tailors and is now prepared to furnish tailor-made suits to order or ready made. An inspection is invited.

AFTER SIGNATURES.

This Time it is for Petitions Asking Governor to Veto Bills.

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street, the borough school physician, and Robert M. Fountain, clerk of the borough Board of Education, have busied themselves obtaining signatures to the anti-annexation petitions. These pleas are addressed to Governor Murphy and vary widely from the original petitions made to him by those having the same interests. The last petition asks him not to sign the bills, whereas the former requested that the people be allowed to vote on the proposition.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETING.

Annual Meeting of Society of Trinity Reformed Sunday-School.

The annual meeting of the Missionary Society of Trinity Reformed Sunday-school was held yesterday afternoon and the present board of officers was re-elected. President C. M. Dolliver was in the chair. The report of the secretary, Miss Gertrude Tier, was very encouraging and that of the treasurer, Chauncey F. Colthar, was likewise: The receipts were $119.09 and this was equally divided between the Foreign Missionary and the Domestic Missionary Societies.

To Aid Marconnier.

A tea will be held at the home of H. W. Marshall, 420 Grant avenue, Thursday evening, April 17, from 6 to 9 o'clock, for the benefit of Marconnier chapel. A silver offering will be received at the door.

—The union Bible class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." Old Paris Disappearing.

Those who remember the outcry raised against Baron Haussman, the imperial prefect who drew straight lines across the map of Paris, and pitilessly realized his conceptions, are no longer surprised to find the programme continued. The lengthening of the Rou de Rennes to the Seine, which will slice off a portion of the venerable institute, is to be followed by the construction of a bridge between the Pont des Arts and the Pont Neuf, actually threatening the latter with demolition. Further improvements will be made on the side of the Rue du Louvre. To lovers of "Vieux Paris" the vanishing of these buildings and a change of view inspire sad reflections. A great objection is being made to the continuance of the Metropolitan under Salpetriere. The specialists for the mental maladies of female patients affirm that the vibration caused by passing trains will be hurtful. The city of Paris will have to contract several loans for the above alterations.—London Chronicle.

Giraffes in Europe.

How many giraffes are there in Europe? Only seven, says a Belgian contemporary; two in Antwerp, one in Berlin, one in Leipzig, a couple in Frankfort, and the seventh in Paris, where he was born in 1873. There is none, continues the veracious chronicler, in England. It is true we are not popular abroad, but we might be allowed such credit as goes with the possession of a giraffe. There is an elderly, but still very fine specimen of giraffehood at the Regent's park now, and two more expected in a few months' time. So that we may expect shortly to lead Europe in this important respect. — Detroit Free Press.

Valorous Discretion.

The church was crowded, and the contracting parties stood at the altar, the cynosure of a thousand flashing eyes.

"John Henry Smith," came in solemn accents from the clergyman behind the bank of brilliant flowers, "do you take this woman for better or for worse?"

There was a painful silence, and then John Henry, raising his manly head, replied in strident tones:

"Sir, I decline to express an opinion!"

And considering her size and muscular development, those present admitted that after all he was a very wise John Henry.—Baltimore News.

Klondike Atmosphere.

"There is something about the atmosphere in the Klondike that makes men very quiet," said a man from up in the frozen region. "The habit is acquired, I suppose, in tramping, when the altitude makes it necessary to use all your breath for breathing and leaves you none for talking. The result is that men talk very little. They become almost speechless, and will sit about at night, each thinking his own thoughts and allowing his fellows to do the same."—Indianapolis News.

Octopussed.

"I'd love to be the octopus."

"Why?"

"He has a hundred arms, and I'd like to use them all hugging you."

"Is that so? Well, it's sinful wasting time wishing for the impossible instead of making the best use of opportunities you now have!"

Then he rose to the occasion and octopussed.—Judge.

Bad Family Examples.

Brown—I don't like to read tales which show how geniuses were once unruly children.

Jones—Why not?

"They merely encourage lazy parents to believe that their unruly children will all turn out geniuses."—Detroit Free Press.

Necessary Material.

Scribbell—Yes, it's a quaint old fishing village. I'm going down there for material for my new novel.

Crittick—Well, I've always heard, of course, that fish is good brain food, but do you think it can actually make brains?—Philadelphia Press.

Making Time.

The reporter was interviewing the loquacious statesman.

"Wait a second," he said.

"What for?" asked the statesman.

"So I can make a minute of it."—Chicago Tribune.

A Bolo.

Gilhooly—An' phwat is one av thim Filipino bolos, anyway?

Foley—Whoy, the bolo is a shillaly made out av a knife.—Puck.

The Trade in Saints.

Since the firm of Raffl, in Paris, was founded a century ago no fewer than 50,000 different models of saints have been executed, and to this number constant additions is being made. The sale of statues by this one house alone exceeds 50,000 a year. Of these about a quarter are statues of the Virgin Mary, and next in demand comes St. Joseph.

"For every ten statues of the Virgin which we sell," said M. Pacheu, "we sell about eight St. Josephs, and as many statues of the "Sacre Coeur" (this is the statue in which Christ is represented pointing to His bleeding heart), "the remaining 35 per cent. cover all the other saints—St. Peters, St. Pauls and the rest. Now and again, it is true, one particular saint comes into great fashion, and then the demand for him increases in enormous proportions. Thus for some time past there has been a great rush on St. Anthony of Padua. We sell as many St. Anthonys just now as well sell St. Josephs."—Pearson's Magazine.

Accuracy of British Bibles.

The printing of the Bible is the most strictly guarded work in existence—a fact which appears strange until we reflect on the mischief an inaccurate Bible might bring about. The king's printers and the two universities of Oxford and Cambridge give to the world all the Bibles printed in the United Kingdom, except some printed by special license. A few years ago the question arose whether the word "spirit" in Matthew 4-1, and Mark 1-12, should have a capital "S," it having been previously printed with a small one, and, although the word was obviously wrongly printed, it was not until after the ruling powers at the universities and the king's printers had met in solemn council that leave was given to use the capital letter. Nothing sanctioned by authority in 1611 may be changed without creating something akin to revolution in the places where Bibles are printed.—Liverpool Daily Post.

Popes Pius and Leo.

Pius IX. lived until his eighty-fifth year after eight years in the vatican, while Leo XII. has not left its wall for 23 years. Yet he has surpassed the years of all the other popes, which superstitious Romans consider a miracle. The astrologers set the end of his life in 1892. All his predecessors within a century—Pius VII., Pius VIII., Pius IX., Gregory XVI. and Leo XII.—obeyed the laws of astrology. Leo alone has escaped. New calculations give him eight years more of existence and spare him until he has lived a century.—N. Y. Sun.

Sure to Rise.

The English nobleman was looking for a good thing. Can—aw—can you tell me, Miss Stockandbonds," he inquired, "how to—aw—invest a few pounds to good advantage? In some stock—aw—for instance, that is likely to go—aw—up like a balloon, eh? One—aw—of those things that you Americans—aw—call a cinch."

She glanced at the window thermometer. It registered seven above zero. "You might buy mercury," she replied. "The next warm wave will send it up."—St. Louis Republic.

The King's Oft-Doffed Hat.

When "progressing" through the streets to perform some ceremony, King Edward takes off his hat on an average 12 times a minute, that is the almost incredible number of 700 times an hour. The king requires a new brim to his hat every fortnight. Being very economical in his headgear, he does not buy a new hat every time the brim requires renewing.—Kansas City Journal.

Eskimo Wrestling.

Next to gambling the Eskimo men like to wrestle. The usual way of doing this is a test rather of strength than skill. The wrestlers sit down on the floor, or in any convenient place, side by side, and face in opposite directions, say with right elbows touching. Then they lock arms, and each strives to straighten out the other's arms.—Indianapolis News.

Remus (haughtily)—Miss Johnson, Ah'd lak a little understandin'. Yo' sed yo' wudn't marry me kase yo' didn't lak de way Ah gambled, en den yo' went en accepted det crap-shootin' Gawge.

Miss Johnson—Det's jes' de reason. Ah didn't lak de way yo' gambled. Yo' always lose en Gawge always wins.—Chicago Daily News.

A LITTLE HINT OF OUR POLICY.

In taking up the department store interest of Messrs. Crosby & Hill in your city, it is a pleasure to succeed business men who leave a business with a reputation for square upright business methods in every transaction.

We shall not expect to change the policy of the business, beyond an effort each day, each month and each year, to do a little better store keeping in your interests.

The continued success of the store depends on your patronage, and it shall do more than its part to merit it. Make a convenience of this store, get acquainted with the new management. Bring your little wants here, they are as well appreciated as larger ones, and as you gather increased knowledge of this, and its methods, we shall hope to show you that it is also "growing too" in all of the features that go to make up the satisfactory everyday kind of store.

Conditions in the South and the Charleston Exposition

The Fair Is a Marvel in a Way and is Attracting Favorable Attention from the North.

THE CLASS OF PEOPLE PASSING THROUGH ITS GATES

"A CAROLINA CAVALIER." Xavier R. Tupper, of the Children's Auxiliary.

THE worst kind of luck has followed the Charleston exposition for three months.

The illness of young Theodore Roosevelt spoiled the president's plan of coming to see the show in February. Then several weeks of the worst cold weather Charleston had ever seen followed. The sea invaded the grounds; the flowers set out then had chilblain. Then the unfortunate controversy over Lieut. Gov. Tillman and Maj. Jenkins' sword threatened to set people talking politics—and now here is that less desirable than in South Carolina just now.

Then all at once the sun shone, and the waves of the Ashley and Cooper rivers danced and laughed, and there was news that Mr. Roosevelt was coming, after all, and people began pouring in from the farther south on their leisurely way home to New York and Chicago, and—

And the first feeling that struck the average visitor was one of utter amazement! It didn't seem possible!

The exposition is only slightly smaller than that at Buffalo. The government exhibits are even better, and there is of course more material from the near south. The lay-out of the buildings and the grounds is beautiful; earth has not seen anything finer than the Court of Palaces, with their ivory tints and the fountains playing in the Sunken Gardens in front. The means for reaching the show are ample.

Buffalo is a city of 352,387 people, highly prosperous in the midst of other large places not far away. Charleston is a city of 55,807 people, only 23,000 of whom are white. It is no discredit to the black majority to say that, for exposition purposes, the 23,000 are the city. The colored residents are not rich enough to do much for a public enterprise.

A Great Labor of Love.

If I hadn't heard before starting from New York that there was "no enterprise in the south" I should have said that this looked like it; as that noun is barred, let's call it devotion, generosity, public spirit, grit—qualities like those that in war time made the men of the Palmetto state such peerless fighters.

THE PALACE OF ART.

of pine lumber. Frost is almost unknown, but by traveling due northwest one soon climbs up the mountain slopes to a climate like that of New Jersey, in "The Land of the Sky" of western North Carolina. And in an interval of the endless pine forests on the way you pass a tea plantation where native tea which Minister Takshira says is as good as any Japan grows for sale.

But Charleston has still to do considerable blockade running to get its trade out of the most magnificent harbor on the South Atlantic—the blockade of poverty and competition by bigger and better established ports.

The Ladies at the Fair.

The fair is much like all fairs, except that the stranger will be amazed at the profusion of native woods shown in the Carolina sections; perhaps by the fruit exhibits, though there nothing can beat Oregon. But two buildings preeminently interest most visitors.

Capt. Wagener's summer home, a colonial mansion with solid shutters of wood to slide forward at night and ward off stray arrows shot by wandering Indians, is given up to the Woman's building. Nothing here shown is so interesting as the house itself; there is no finer nor better preserved mansion of the old days in the country. And nowhere out of Massachusetts or Virginia could such a great collection of historical objects have been brought together as here delight

THE NEGRO BUILDING.

There is no rich man, in the modern sense, in Charleston; yet this is what one man did: He subscribed for nearly one-third of the stock of the exposition; he gave up his beautiful home on the Cooper river for a Woman's building; he loaned his land for the "natural section" of the show, some hundred acres of it. He gave up his time to the work—but there were many who did that. This man's name is Capt. F. W. Wagener; he is the president of the exposition company, a kindly, gray-bearded old gentleman who meets and greets with true southern courtesy most of the visitors of importance that come to Charleston.

This is the spirit of the place. There is no overcharging at the hotels; there will be none. No one wants to get rich in a season; shopkeepers have time to be courteous; street car conductors are polite; the older negroes touch their hats to the stranger on the street.

The city is almost a ruin, but a stately one. It was impossible after the earthquake to rebuild everything that needed it. Some of the worst damaged structures were torn down and replaced; others less hurt were shored up with iron clamps and rods and stand now mute testimonials of the terrible Day of Trembling. Yet I doubt if there is another city of the size in the United States which boasts so many beautiful private residences in proportion to the number of its people. There is none that recalls more thickly clustering memories of five wars, from 1776 to 1898, or that cares more tenderly for the comforts of the living and the memory of its dead heroes. The city has grown so slowly that historic memorials which would in a northern town have been long ago swept away are here intact. A tour of the streets is a lesson in American history.

The Charleston of the Future.

The Charlestonians had an idea in the exposition. It was to show their city and the territory it feeds and imports for. You have to study Charleston with a map of the United States on your table. There you see it the nearest Atlantic seaport to St. Louis, and almost as near as any to Chicago and Cincinnati. You see that it is 400 miles nearer the Pacific ocean at San Diego than New York is to San Francisco. It shares with New Orleans and Savannah honors as the natural port of Cottonia; just behind it, they reckon, are a trifle of a hundred billion feet of pine lumber. Frost is almost unknown, but by traveling due northwest one soon climbs up the mountain slopes to a climate like that of New Jersey, in "The Land of the Sky" of western North Carolina. And in an interval of the endless pine forests on the way you pass a tea plantation where native tea which Minister Takshira says is as good as any Japan grows for sale.

But Charleston has still to do considerable blockade running to get its trade out of the most magnificent harbor on the South Atlantic—the blockade of poverty and competition by bigger and better established ports.

The Ladies at the Fair.

The fair is much like all fairs, except that the stranger will be amazed at the profusion of native woods shown in the Carolina sections; perhaps by the fruit exhibits, though there nothing can beat Oregon. But two buildings preeminently interest most visitors.

Capt. Wagener's summer home, a colonial mansion with solid shutters of wood to slide forward at night and ward off stray arrows shot by wandering Indians, is given up to the Woman's building. Nothing here shown is so interesting as the house itself; there is no finer nor better preserved mansion of the old days in the country. And nowhere out of Massachusetts or Virginia could such a great collection of historical objects have been brought together as here delight the antiquary. The gem of the house perhaps is the huge kitchen, with its eight-foot-wide fireplace and a genuine old colored "mammy" to sit by the fire and smile a wondrous smile, full of white teeth and good humor.

Now, this may strike you as strange: I don't know how many people have confirmed my feeling that the Carolinians, and especially Charlestonians, are like the Massachusetts, and especially the Boston, people. This is more noticeable at the Woman's building than elsewhere. Under the influence of a sympathetic taste in colonial furnishings, Boston and Charleston women who have never seen each other before, it may be, are soon chatting like old friends. They have the same intense pride of ancestry; the same dignified courtesy that is not so ready to make quick advances as to hold fast to a friendship once gained; the same pride in local literary traditions.

"I'm almost sorry there is any exposition," sighed one fair daughter of Charleston, honored with an historic name; "it quite destroys for the time the city's exclusive character." I can imagine a Boston woman from Marlborough street, or even from the "waterside of Beacon," echoing this moan.

The "Cracker" Really Exists.

There is reason for the moan. Of course there is the usual proportion here of rude, boorish, insolent, destructive, ignorant, yet well-fed and well-dressed people who come from God knows where to every exposition. And something besides that one did not see in Buffalo and Chicago. It is the "Cracker" and his family of "Crackerlings."

Never has the north seen such pathetic specimens of ill-fed, ill-clad and ill-informed humanity as comes down from the southern back country to visit the show so near their doors that they cannot escape the current. There is no such desperate poverty in the north as these people unconsciously reveal. They are brave, self-respecting and cheerful as a rule, but their amazement at the most usual material comforts of life and their open-mouthed wonder at the commoner features of the show are a revelation. The "poor white" is not bumptious and quarrelsome, as in the north; he is gentle-voiced and kindly, slow-moving and not easily angered; his "you-alls" and "cyars" and "reckons" are music to the ears; he is not, like the white man of the southern town, a fine specimen physically. I suppose the man of the mountain regions is more stalwart, but the mountains are too far away for many to come from thence; near the seacoast the summer climate is almost deadly for white men except in Charleston itself, with its sea breeze and effective drainage.

CAPT. F. W. WAGENER, President of the Exposiuon Company.

The Building of the Negroes.

There is no "Poor White building" or "Cracker exhibit." It would be a pathetic thing, perhaps; certainly no one has thought of it. But a bigger element in the peopling of the south is forever set apart; it has made in the Negro building a showing of what it can do.

Twenty years ago such a building would have been a different matter. It would have been an attempt to show what was being done in the schools by book study. Now all emphasis is laid upon industrial education. The wagons made by the students, the cloth woven by them, the tools designed by them strike the eye most forcibly of all.

Some of the negro schools have the practice of sending their best students in rotation to "show off" the exhibits. Without quite knowing it, perhaps, they are themselves the best exhibits. Quiet-mannered, intelligent, polite, without obsequiousness, they answer every question so aptly and show such familiarity with the practical details of their work, such enthusiasm in it, that one can easily imagine them as ready to become missionaries among their people of the religion of skilled work.

They are of all types, from the coal-black negro of unmixed blood, such as one will hardly see in the north, to the quadroon and octoroon. But they are alike in their calm confidence in the future of their transplanted race. They are making more cotton and more corn every year. They do not speak now of emigration. Their lot is cast with the south, where the bones of their ancestors are laid, and where they look for better homes and better fortunes for their children.

Importations of Coffee.

The coffee importations of the United States will in the calendar year 1901 be the largest in the history of our import trade. Eleven months' figures of the treasury bureau of statistics show that the importations of coffee amounted to 967,969,585 pounds in the 11 months ending with November, against 707,496,152 in the corresponding months in 1890; 817,223,877 in the corresponding months of 1899; 744,918,179 in the corresponding months of 1898; 726,119,996 in the same months of 1897, and 567,929,817 in the 11 months of 1896. These figures indicate not only that the coffee importations of 1901 will be larger than those of any preceding year, but that they will for the first time exceed one billion pounds. The value of the coffee imports of the year will reach about $70,000,000.

Women Mining Experts

A NEWSPAPER of recent date contains a contribution headed "Luck of Women as Miners; They Never Fail." Now, that is a sweeping statement which is much more a lie than the truth. Women who attempt mining and prospecting on their own account fail oftener than they succeed, exactly as men do. Certainly three out of four of the many who, full of hope, have invaded the mining camps of the west and northwest return home broken and weary, with a worn look in their faces and a hungry, unsatisfied look in their eyes which they will never in this life lose till they either go back and try it again or become financially successful at something else.

Once caught by the fascination of prospecting for gold, women, like men, return to it again and again.

Miss Emma Steiner of New York is a well known and successful mining prospector in Nome fields. It has been said that no man at Cape Nome is her superior in this branch of the business. She says that her system of prospecting is very simple. She merely observes keenly everything about her when she goes out with pick and shovel, and in the most forlorn and uninviting looking spots where it seems least likely valuable minerals could be found there she digs, and at times the "system" has worked to a charm.

In connection with the discovery of the great Rat Hole mine in the Santa Clara mountains of Arizona a story is told so strange and romantic that it sounds like fiction, yet it is declared to be true. Mrs. A. R. Ingolsby and her husband were tenting in the Santa Claras for their annual outing. They were entirely alone, they felt sure, yet constantly they missed small articles from their outfits.

At last they found the guilty one, and discovery of the thief was the discovery of the famous Rat Hole mine. One day Mrs. Ingolsby sat in the tent alone and quiet. Suddenly she observed something moving and, looking up, saw a small rat dragging a silver spoon out the tent door. She started to follow it, but it drew the spoon a little distance outside, then ran for its life. Mrs. Ingolsby got her property and was coming back to her sewing when again she observed something unusual on the tent floor. She picked that up, too, and saw it was a little piece of quartz rock of great richness, the free gold glittering in plain sight. The tiny thief was that queer animal called the "trading rat," which steals like a pickpocket, but invariably leaves something in place of what it takes away. The trading rat had merely swapped the spoon for the gold bearing quartz.

A great light dawned on Mrs. Ingolsby and Mrs. Ingolsby's husband. If they could find that rat's hole, they would find their fortune. The return of a thief on a pilfering trip was never so eagerly desired before, and the two people watched for him with strained attention. The trading rat came back one morning in the dim dawn and laid hold of a slipper, which in turn it sought to drag to its den. With catlike movement Mr. Ingolsby followed, and the result was the finding of one of the richest gold veins on record. Neither Mr. Ingolsby nor his wife, but the trading rat, was the real discoverer.

The Atlantic mine in Colorado is owned and successfully managed by Mrs. Attwood, which shows that a woman may be a first class mine superintendent as well as prospector. One of the most pleasing stories of women who have done well in mining is, however, that of Misses Mary and Edith Tracy, sisters, and both originally stenographers, who went from Boston to Colorado on a vacation trip. They caught the mining fever. It would be hard for a healthy minded person to go to a gold country and not catch it. They bought an old claim and hired it worked, though it took all the money they had. They watched the digging, the washing and the weighing and are now the prosperous owners of a richly producing gold mine. Mrs. Hortense Adams of Boise owns and operates a valuable mine which she herself discovered.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Fitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

Guy greatly admired her calmness, but she underestimated his courage if she thought for a moment that he was frightened. Before he could reply, Mr. Vlandingham hurried into the room, coming from the rear of the house.

"I've got a horse at the barn, Herbert, all saddled, bridled and waiting," he said, quickly. "I don't want to alarm you, but some of those rascals out there are drunk and Barney has told them everything. You'd better go. I might be powerless to protect you."

Some one jingled the bell furiously. A scuffling of feet and muttering of hoarse voices came from the porch.

"There they are," said Betty. "You talk with them at the door, father, while I show Mr. Herbert where he can find the horse."

Vlandingham started for the hall, but paused to reach out his hand to Guy.

"I don't believe you knew what kind of a hornets' nest you were going to get into over here, Herbert. You've got Betty on your side, I can see that, and I don't lay up any hard feelings. I'd advise you, though, to give this burg a wide berth in future. You see, I hold the winning cards in this fight and can afford to be magnanimous."

Guy wrung Vlandingham's hand and followed Betty outside to a post where a horse was hitched. Untying the halter he vaulted into the saddle. Betty directed him how to go.

"I hope I shall see you again, Miss Vlandingham," he observed.

"You may see me when you least expect it," she answered.

"I will send the horse back to-morrow."

"Any time that you find it convenient will be soon enough. Remember, we are enemies on county seat matters."

"And friends on all others?"

"If you wish it."

"I do wish it. Good-by."

She waved her hand and he sped away into the night.

CHAPTER IV.

Guy had a lonely ride back to Concord over the broad, flat, star-lit lands. He could see the road dimly, a lightish streak cutting the darker turf of the plains. A moist, lush smell arose from the dewey grass and the croaking of frogs, the chirping of crickets and the resonant boom of the bittern floating from the sedge served only to intensify the stillness.

There was far more to this county seat business than Guy had imagined. Miss Betty felt that Harmony had been cheated out of its rights and that was the cause of her inexorable stand in the present contest. Two-thirds of the voters in the county had signed a petition for a special election and it was a foregone conclusion that these two-thirds would vote for Harmony. Without doubt this was the premise on which Mr. Vlandingham and his daughter were building their hopes, but Guy had information relative to Col. Keever's imported voters. He did not know what the voting strength of the county was, but he was sure the Colonel had been sharp enough to bring in sufficient ballots to overcome the two-thirds majority. The young man did not fancy this phase of the question, although the entire contest was gradually presenting itself to him as a case of diamond cut diamond. He had been brought up in abhorrence of "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," but now that he was in Rome why should he not emulate the Romans? To take any other stand was equivalent to bankrupting himself, for what chance would Concord have if he ordered the Colonel's imported voters out of the town or permitted them to exercise the right of franchise uninfluenced? If ordered away they might flock to Harmony in a body, and if permitted to vote as they pleased they might be subsidized by agents of Vlandingham. The matter was a delicate one and to be handled with extreme caution. The temptation to look out for himself at all costs was a powerful one, and had not Miss Betty herself said that it was right for him to do all he could to keep the county seat at Concord? Taking everything into consideration, Guy thought it would be well to lay back on his oars, watch the opposition and see what happened.

He had a number of thoughts concerning Miss Betty entirely apart from the political question, and in the fairer fields where they were to esteem each other as friends. These were headstrong fancies and so vividly tinted with the hues of youth that they were more properly dreams and not to be chronicled.

Arrived at Concord, Guy left the horse at the livery barn and made his way along the dark and deserted street to the Lisbon house.

This hotel was under the proprietorship of a Portuguese. Being unable to pronounce his name, the people of Concord rose up and bestowed upon him the patronymic of "Smith." Retaining his multitude of Christian names, his full title thus became Pedro Fernandez Jose Manuel Smith. This was, of course, altogether too long for a pioneer community, and when Pedro Fernandez was not plain Smith he was Pedro, or "Cinch"—which was practically the same.

Almost any day Pedro might be seen sitting in front of his establishment, wearing his white apron and square white cap, his legs crossed, elbows on his knee, complacently swinging his suspended foot and puffing at a corncob pipe. It was thus that Guy found the proprietor when he came out from breakfast on the morning after his ride from Harmony.

The early train from the west had just stopped at the station as Guy took a chair on the porch and lighted a cigar.

"Quite an excitement when the trains come in," observed Pedro.

"So it seems," returned Guy, looking at the little throng which had gathered on the pltaform and part of which was visible around the ends of the station building. He saw Mr. Glimmer and Lemuel Bilkins, among others, and gave especial attention to a slender youth whose fiery hair curled fringingly about the edges of his old cap. This latter individual was throwing a canvas bag into the open door of the mail car.

"That's Sampson," ventured Pedro, noting the direction of Guy's gaze; "works for the Colonel, and is just throwing on the east-bound bundle of this week's Blizzard. Here's a copy of it, if you'd like to run it over. It's a mighty warm number—county seat war is gettin' interestin'."

Pedro pulled the paper out from under his apron and Guy examined it lazily. There was a red-hot leader, in the Colonel's scorching style, picking the county commissioners to tatters and then holding these remnants up to public contumely. The intrinsic value of the article did not interest Guy quite so much as something else. He produced the note which Mr. Vlandingham had handed him at the town meeting the night before—N. B.—He was treasuring that scrap simply and solely because of Miss Betty's pencilled message to her father at the bottom of it. Turning the note over, he perused the writing on the back, as he had done once before that morning.

The chirography was a blotted scrawl and the ink was purple in color. Guy remembered that the ink which the Colonel had jarred out of its stand on the preceding afternoon was of that identical hue. Yet this was not all. The writing on the back of that note was the counterpart of a fraction of the leader, word for word, comma for comma and exclamation point for exclamation point. Had Guy a piece of the "copy" in his hands? Was here a clew to the identity of the "broom man" mentioned by Barney?

"Jee-mi-nee!" broke from Pedro Smith, as he got up from his chair. "Here come three passengers from the west. We don't get many from that direction."

Guy thrust the note back into his pocket and looked towards the station. The train had gone and the curious citizens were headed back towards the business section of the town. Lemuel was carrying the mail sacks for Mr. McQuilkin, a task which he performed proudly and regularly for the mere glory of it; Sampson, a little time at his disposal now that the week's issue was out of the way, had lighted a cigarette and was sauntering leisurely; Mr. Glimmer had been expecting his wife's sister from Bismarck, and it cannot be said that he wore a very disappointed look because she had failed to arrive. Waffle was of the party, and his shadow, Bill Comfort, and several more.

The attention of the group of citizens was riveted upon the three arrivals who walked in advance and headed for the hotel. Two of these were women, ostensibly Sisters of Charity, and closely veiled. The third was a man, under medium height and enveloped from head to heels in a garment that was much too large for him. His hat was drawn down over his forehead and the collar of his ill-fitting coat was turned up about his ears. The attire was exceedingly warm for that season of the year and Sampson guyed the stranger in frequent asides to Lem Bilkins.

The Sisters of Charity passed into the hotel, ushered by the obsequious Pedro. The little man in the long coat likewise entered the office and took a seat in one corner rigidly erect and not deigning to unbutton his coat. The citizens halted in front of the veranda to stare and speculate—all save Bilkins, who was due at the post office.

"Cracky!" exclaimed Sampson, looking hard at Guy. The printer started to say something more, but bit his words off short.

"What's the matter?" asked Guy, wondering at the mystified expression of the youth's face.

"Oh, nothing," replied Sampson, backing away.

"My dear Herbert!" cooed the familiar voice of Col. Keever, as that gentleman rounded the corner of the hotel and advanced upon Guy precipitately, "You look well," added the Colonel, significantly, dropping a hand on the young man's shoulder. Then he stooped and whispered: "How did you come out?"

Before Guy could answer the little man in the ill-fitting coat plunged out on the veranda and halted at the Colonel's side.

ENGLISH FIGHTING KIT.

War Office Decides Upon Drab Jackets and Tartan Trousers for the Soldiers.

The war office has at last decided upon the new military uniforms in detail and the transformation of the soldier is expected to commence about the middle of the year.

The ceremonial dress will be the full dress at present used and will be worn with a cap for walking out, while the service dress—the fighting kit—will be an entirely new one of special material, replete with the latest improvements and designed alike for rough wear and comfort.

The service dress is, in fact, designed with a view to furnishing a comfortable uniform, light enough to be worn on service abroad and in warm weather at home and also with the addition of warm underclothing for wear in winter. It consists chiefly of a rain-proof, drab-mixture cloth. The great coat is to be light and supple, with a small cape attached, capable of being easily put on or taken off and easily folded.

The jacket is of very light drab mixture serge of Norfolk pattern. It will have a turned-down roll collar, shoulder rifle patches, two breast pockets with plaits and two strong side pockets with flaps, plaited at the waist and with a false plait down the center of the back. It is intended to be loose fitting.

Every man, says the London Mail, will wear on a particular colored ground the title of his unit.

BABY FOUND FIRST DIAMOND.

Glittering Pebble in the Hands of a Native Child Forerunner of South African Mines.

Mr. Howard Hensman, in his new biography of Cecil Rhodes, tells the following story of the first diamond found in South Africa:

"In 1867 diamonds had been discovered in the region to the north of the Orange river. This discovery was made accidentally. A Boer family one day saw a native child gleefully playing with a small pebble that glittered and coruscated in the sun with unusual brilliance. He took the stone from the child, examined it and carried it home with him. He could have had but little idea of what the stone really was, for, probably, the only time he had ever heard of diamonds was when he had read the Old Testament; but a Boer has always a keen eye for business and, thinking that the stone might have some commercial value, the farmer showed it to a British trader named O'Reilly. O'Reilly seems to have recognized the stone immediately as a diamond and bought it of the Boer—after considerable haggling—for £20. Next he submitted it to Dr. Atherstone, of Grahamstown—an authority on mineralogy—who unhesitatingly declared it to be a diamond of the purest water. The diamond was then shown to Sir Philip Woodehouse, high commissioner of the Cape, and was bought by him from O'Reilly for £500."

AS TO AN EIGHT-DAY CLOCK.

Funny Conundrum Sprung by a Celtic Customer Upon a Jewelry Salesman.

An Irishman entered a jeweler's shop on Maiden lane a few days ago and asked to see some nice mantel clocks, relates the New York Sun.

"I'm after wantin' ter give the missus a bit av a clock fer the mantel. Will yez be so kind as t' show me wan?" he asked.

The obliging clerk brought out one that struck the Irishman's fancy.

"And will yez tell me what yez would tax me fer the loikes of that?"

"Twenty-five dollars," said the clerk.

"Twinty-five dollars? Howly murther! Fer that little bit av a clock? Is there something wonderful about that bit av a clock, will yez tell me?"

"Certainly," said the clerk. "That is an eight-day clock."

"And phwat is that?" asked the Irishman.

"Why, it goes eight days without winding."

"So much as that?" said the Irishman, scratching his head. "Begorra, there's wan thing I'd like to be after asking yez. If that bit av a clock goes eight days without winding, how long, fer the sake av St. Patrick, will it go if yez wind it?"

Women to Go Armed.

A bill will soon be introduced in the Virginia legislature whereby the women of the state will be placed among those exempted from the operations of the present statue in the same manner as a policeman, constable and other officers; that is, they will be allowed to carry weapons, says a southern exchange. The women, in view of many criminal assaults recently, are becoming expert pistol shots. Recently a "gun club" was formed at Roanoke, and regular meetings are held for target practice. A young lady school teacher at Suffolk, who has to ride some distance in the country to attend her school, carries a pistol regularly strapped to her side, and there are other evidences of a disposition on the part of Virginia women to carry arms.

Camping in the Rockies.

Camping in the Rocky mountains is to be one of the inducements offered Colorado and Utah tourists this year. The idea was suggested by the inability of the Colorado resort hotels to care for the business, and the popularity of some experiments made in that direction by tourists last year.

Egyptian Kings Unearthed.

Recent explorations in Egypt have unearthed the consecutive order of 17 kings, thus establishing a firm foundation for the investigation of Egyptian history.

REAL LIFE ROMANCE.

This, on the Stage, Would Be Classed as Melodrama.

Only Shows, However, That Truth Always Is Stranger Than Fiction—The Story of Poor Hans Kessner's Wooing.

Considering the lovemaking and romanticism of real life, there is no such thing as melodrama on the stage. Few tank scenes, with real water, in the ensemble, could be staged with the realism that is chronicled almost every day in the news reports of the country. The galleries, even, would protest against the "fairy story" element that is in them.

Imagine the love affair of Hans Kessner and Miss Dora Hanson put upon the stage as an example of the legitimate.

Two years ago Kessner was a farmhand, working near Plattsmouth, Neb. The Hanson family were neighbors of Kessner's employers, and Dora Hanson, a favorite daughter, was the belle of the neighborhood. A dozen young men of the place had sought to marry her, but she had refused them all. Certainly when Hasn Kessner chanced to meet her while assisting with the Hanson harvest he had no hope of winning her affections. Perhaps it was his utter forgetfulness of himself that first drew her to him. At any rate, a woman cannot smile upon any man as Miss Hanson began to smile upon the simple-hearted Hans without awakening hopes.

Suddenly the whole neighborhood was thunderstruck with the announcement of the engagement of Dora Hanson and Hans Kessner. The announcement was a double humiliation to the young men who had been refused. No one knows where it began, but in a few days a plot was hatched against the match. An idle vagabond in the neighboring village was drawn into it, and for the promise of $100 in case he prevented the wedding he agreed to stop it at any cost.

This was two years ago. When the day of the wedding arrived this tool of the plotters posted himself near the Hanson barn, near which Kessner would have to pass, and as the bridegroom came up the man stepped out, accused Kessner of owing him $200, and threatened to expose him to the Hansons if it was not paid on the spot.

Kessner denied the charge strenuously, but the accuser became more and more impudent, until finally, angered beyond measure, Kessner seized an old pick handle and struck the fellow over the head. The man dropped in his tracks as if shot. For an instant Kessner bent over him, and, seeing no sign of life in the man, he turned and fled into the gathering dusk.

Confederates of the man were near, and they took up the senseless body, carrying it into the house, where the prospective bride waited. They told her that Kessner, drunk and brutal, had assaulted a friend and, leaving him for dead, had escaped. The man was nursed back to consciousness, and in a day or two was himself again. He joined in the scandalous stories that were circulated everywhere, and finally nearly everybody had forgotten him, save the girl, who remained true.

Two weeks ago Hans Kessner, handsome, well dressed and prosperous, appeared at the Hanson homestead. In a moment Dora Hanson was in his arms. Loyal, always, she could take the explanation for granted. These explanations were so much stronger than fiction that their truth was on the face of them.

Kessner, believing that he had killed a man, had fled to Germany. He went to Hamburg and engaged in business, prospered and about the 1st of January, when he received a letter from an old friend in Missouri, he was worth more than $100,000. This letter, in answer to one that Kessner had written, explained that the supposed victim was only stunned, that he had recovered fully, and that the whole story of the deep plot was out. Kessner prepared at once to sail for America, and his arrival at the Hanson homestead was the climax of the romance. The wedding was performed in the Hanson parlor by the same minister who had ben summoned two years before, and the young couple already are settled in their new home in Hamburg, Germany.

New Zealand's Big Geyser.

In Rotomahona, New Zealand, there is an immense geyser, which covers an area an acre in extent, and constantly throws columns of water to vast heights, some of them ascending 300 feet, with clouds of steam, which go much higher.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The New street baseball team defeated James Deady's team, Friday afternoon, by a score of 12 to 10. The battery for the winning team was Ennis and O'Neil.

The contract has been given for the erection of bleachers on Pittis Field. John Dahl has the contract. The bleachers will be forty-eight feet long and four feet high and will accommodate 200 people.

The Young Irishmen have organized in the West End with "Jack" Caulfield as captain and manager. Teams averaging fourteen years wishing to arrange games may do so by addressing the manager at 620 West Third street.

"Silent" Tune Hewitt will cover second base for the Hope team when not pitching. He will alternate with James Montross, the team's first pitcher. The latter is in especially good form at present and is ready with some new "twisters" to puzzle contesting batters.

Manager Muir, of the Safe Works team, is to be commended on his choice of William Symons to cover first. "Billie" is a veteran in this position having filled it for several years with the best local teams. He may also be used on odd occasions to pitch in which he is as good as his favorite place.

"Joe" Barry will again be behind the bat on the St. Mary team this season. He has held this position undisputed for the past three years and has never given a poor exhibition. Owing to a lame arm last season he was unable to throw to second on a number of occasions but this difficulty has been overcome.

Manager Monahan, of St. Mary's, intends featuring "Dick" Scott as pitcher to some extent this season. Last year he pitched several times and in one game, played at Garwood, he put up a marvelous exhibition of twirling. It established his reputation and he will be given a chance to show what he can do as a permanent ball twister.

The Liberty street Terrors will play the Alert second team, this afternoon. The Terrors will line up as follows: William Newman, pitcher and captain; Howard Firstbrook, catcher; Clinton Firstbrook, first base; Charles Yaeger, second base; James Day, third base; Howard Sweeney, right field; Harry Squires, left field. William Firstbrook, center field.

It is asserted that Arthur Lederer, an old time and former P A. C. player, will join forces with the St. Mary team this summer. Lederer, as a second baseman, is hard to beat and would be a valuable addition to any nine. For the past two or three years he has only played ball off and on, but he has lost none of his skill in covering bases. He is also one of the best batters in the city.

As announced by the managers, the home diamonds of the four league baseball teams will be located on the grounds situated as follows: Hope Y. M. A., Sherman avenue, at the terminus of Spooner avenue; St. Mary, West Fourth street and Darrow avenue; Safe Works, South Second street and Clinton avenue; Y. M. C. A., Pittis' field. Bleachers are to be located on each field and the comfort of spectators is to be made a feature.

"Bob" Angleman, of Newark, but formerly of this city, who covered center field for the St. Mary team, last summer, will again be in his place this season. Some misinformed people assert that his expenses to and fro are to be paid by the team which constitutes a violation of the League rules. This is absolutely untrue as "Bob" announced his intention from the first to pay his own way. His reason for remaining on the team is that he expects to return to this city permanently before the season is well under way.

The candidates for the Y. M. C. A. baseball team have been announced as follows: Pitchers, George Dupee, John G. McLaughlin; catchers, John Eames, George Bolsterli, Howard George, R. Bourgeois, C. B. Egan, Bert Moore; first base, Dr. P. B. Cregar, W. Corwin, Donald A. McGee; second base, Percy Hand, Langdon Howard, Walter McNaughton; third base, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, George Schoonmaker; short stop, Ralph Schoonmaker, H. Dollner; field positions, P. VanArsdale, C. B. Koons, H. Davis, W. B. Mundy, A. Egan and William Schoonmaker.

GOLF.

It has at last been decided that the East Jersey Golf League will worry along this season with five instead of six clubs. Former President Jacobs, of Glen Ridge, announced the resignation of the Golf Club of Glen Ridge, as there has been a feeling among some of the members that too many of the Saturdays have been taken up with the various matches. This leaves the East Jersey League membership composed of East Orange Golf Club, Elizabeth Town and Country Club, Forest Hill Field Club, Morristown Field Club and South Orange Field Club. It should make a strong circuit, as every one of the clubs mentioned is spending a great deal of money this spring in improvements. Secretary E. G. Kent is now preparing a schedule of team matches, which he will have ready for publication within a short time.

TENNIS.

If the weather is suitable, play will probably be started on the tennis courts at the Park Club this week. It was intended to open them a week ago but rain prevented. They are once more in good condition. A number of the younger set have announced their determination to spend their spare hours on the tennis courts.

Work was started last week putting the courts of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club in condition for play. It is expected that another week will see them in condition. An important meeting of the club will be held at the home of the president, J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue, tomorrow evening, when the amended constitution will come up for action.

BASKET BALL.

The Leal's School and High School basket ball teams will compete in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this evening. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

The season's schedule for the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basket ball team is nearly completed. A few games may be played but it is possible that the series with Rahway may end the season as far as outside teams are concerned. The association team has made a good showing and while there has not been the opportunity to meet as many outside teams as usual, the local five has gained quite a reputation for playing a strong, clean game.

INDOOR SPORTS.

The result of the athletic and gymnastic contests at the Y. M. C. A., Saturday evening was as follows: High dive, W. Cahoone, 5.03; A. Denton, 5.03; W. Neal, 5.03; shot put, J. Eames, 32' 9"; A. Denton, 30' 9"; W. Cahoone, 30' 6"; high bar, W. Cahoone, 26; A. Denton, 25; Neal, 20½. On Saturday morning the boys' class took part in a high bar chin touching contest with the following result: T. Gavett, 14; F. Anderson, 14; R. Webster, 13.

Given a Blackthorn Stick.

Patrolman George Lunger was made the recipient of a handsomely carved blackthorn stick, yesterday, the gift of his old friend, Rev. J. B. Pickel, of Whitehouse. It was cut in the bush which borders Sourland Mountain, in Hunterdon county, and is considered a very good specimen. It was brought to this city by Jacob Blimm and Frank Dunham, who spent yesterday at the pastor's home.

OLD RAILS REPLACED.

Change Made Yesterday Without Scarcely Interrupting Traffic.

The work of replacing the old rails on the westbound main track of the New Jersey Central, between Netherwood and Dunellen, a distance of four miles, was successfully accomplished yesterday between the hours of 7 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A gang of one hundred men was employed. The new rails were joined and as soon as the old rails were removed the new ones were put in position and spiked. This work will be continued until all of the old rails are replaced with new ones.

In a Critical Condition.

The Gesang and Turn Verein held a dinner yesterday in Saengerbund Hall, and after the feast a musical programme was rendered.

JAMES TOOK A "PARILLA."

The Old Quaker Innkeeper Wouldn't Give Him Any More of the "Strong Stuff."

The country immediately adjacent to Philadelphia is rich in quaint old taverns and inns, many of which have remained unchanged for a century or more. Each one of these has its own following, and it is quite the thing for the city patrons to get up dinner parties, ordering the dinner in advance, to secure good service.

The proprietor of one of the best known of these taverns, one much affected by the hunting set, is on old Quaker, who amid the incongruous surroundings of his bar still clings to the plain language of his faith. Occasionally he even dispenses liquid refreshments with his own hands, and it seems queer to hear his mild voice asking: "What will thee have?"

The other day there was a crowd in the bar, and one of the men had already been imbibing too freely. Nevertheless, he lined up at the bar with the others and loudly called for whisky. The old man looked at him severely and remarked:

"James, doesn't thee think thee has had enough of the strong stuff? Thee had better take a 'parilla."

There was no appeal, says the Philadelphia Record, and James drank a glass of sarsparilla.

A GLASS-BOTTOMED BOAT.

Novel Provision of a Florida Hotel-Keeper for the Entertainment of His Patrons.

A hotel keeper at Nassau has elaborated the idea of the marine telescope in striking fashion. any people who have been in the tropics are familiar with the "marine telescope," a long, wooden box, with a pane of glass at one end, which, being thrust into the water at the side of the boat, enables one to get a fairly satisfactory view of the animal and vegetable life at or near the bottom—when the bottom is not too far from the surface, says the Boston Journal. What the ingenious hotel keeper proposes is to make a big boat, which shall itself be a marine telescope, and so provide his patrons with an opportunity to watch the sea gardens of the Bahamas much more conveniently than they could with the glazed tube. The boat, which is now building at Palm Beach, Fla., is to be 48 feet long and for 28 feet its bottom is to be made of plate glass, clear and thick. Thus will the capacity of the surface ripples be avoided, while deeper immersion, increased steadiness and wider field of view are expected to give the passengers such a spectacle of submarine wonders as they never secured by the simpler arrangement.

British Women in Politics.

The movement to make room for British women in the political and professional fields grows apace, apparently without much assistance from the opposite sex. At the annual meeting of the Birmingham Society for Promoting the Election of Women Guardians, one of the women speakers said: "The only complaint we have to make against men is that they are a little too retiring." Lieut. Gen. Phelps, who was present, somewhat gallantly replied: "Where women are so capable of doing the work it would be superfluous for us to intervene."

NO BLAME FOR THE FIREMEN

The Councilmanic Committee Doubts Records of Water Co. as to the Pressure.

AT THE BABCOCK FIRE.

Report of Recent Investigation as to Reason Why Full Pressure Was Not Secured at Babcock Fire Was Presented to the Council Last Night—The Report.

All will be interested to read the report of the recent investigation into the reasons why the proper water pressure was not secured at the Babcock building fire. The investigation was made by the fire and buildings committee of the Common Council and the following report was made to the Council at last night's meeting:

Plainfield, N. J., April 7, 1902.
To the Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen—Our committee on fire and buildings has thoroughly investigated the charges made by reputable citizens as to the failure of the firemen to open the fire hydrants full, and as to the lack of water pressure from the time the fire was first noticed until between 5:30 and 6 a. m., on Thursday, March 6, and during the course of the investigation all the members of the fire department have been examined, and also a great number of citizens who were witnesses to the fire, a total of fifty-six persons; and your committee has made several tests and a number of computations from those tests, and submits the following report:

Amos Andrews, superintendent of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, very willingly responded to the request of the committee to be present at one of its sessions, and gave full and frank answers to the questions propounded, and described their system of keeping a record of the height of water in the standpipe and the pressure at the time an alarm is sounded in the pumping station on the fifteen-inch fire alarm gong installed there for that purpose, and from his testimony the following information was obtained:

Beginning at 12 midnight, and for every three hours thereafter during the twenty-four, a reading is taken of the indicating water pressure gauge, the height of water in standpipe and the number of strokes of the pump per hour for the three hours, from which a computation is made showing the number of gallons of water consumed in the three hours. Mr. Andrews stated that there was 136 feet of water in the standpipe at the time the alarm was sounded, and that there was seventy-two pounds pressure to the square inch. This pressure is not recorded on a chart so that it can be proven at any future time.

The testimony of the members of the fire department who opened the hydrants on that morning, and they are the same men who have opened the hydrants at every fire in the city of Plainfield since the fire hydrants were first installed more than ten years ago, and it is very positive that all three hydrants were opened to their full capacity.

The testimony of three men, not members of the fire department, who handled the two inch fire hose attached to the standpipe in the Babcock building, which standpipe was connected both with the city mains in the street and a large water storage tank in the top of the building, is, that the stream coming from that hose would not reach any higher than the ceiling of the halls, a distance of less than fifteen feet; and the pressure remained at the same point until about 5:30 to 6 a. m. They are very positive that the valve was open full. They not only tried the hose on the fourth floor, but that on the third and second floors, and not finding the pressure any better on these lower floors went again to the fourth floor and played the stream down the elevator shaft as long as they could stand the heat, retreating a floor at a time until compelled to vacate their positions. After this they had another stream from a hose of the same size from the standpipe, playing it on the rear extension of the first floor, and between 5:30 and 6 a. m. the pressure raised far enough to allow them to throw a stream about seventy-five feet in length.

Mr. Andrews arrived upon the scene of the fire, according to his own

During the services two selections, "Nearer My God, to Thee," and "Abide With Me," were sung by a quartette composed of Miss Clark, Miss Nellie Miller, Elmer E. Runyon and Arthur F. Freeman. The floral tributes were beautiful.

After the service the interment took place in Hillside cemetery. The pallbearers were Frederick V. Green, Former Councilmen W. L. Among the numbers was a piano trio by the Misses Conger, Remson and Waterbury and a tenor solo by Elmer D. Cutting, who was accompanied by Clifford M. Braider. Both were excellent as was also a bass solo by R. Wilson Derby, accompanied by Miss Conger. The Sanctus from St. Cecila mass, rendered by the entire orchestra, was superb.

WHAT CITY PUBLIC LIBRARY IS DOING

Some Idea of What is Accomplished There With the City's Money.

IN DIFFERENT WAYS.

THE CIRCULATION OF BOOKS HAS INCREASED DURING LAST YEAR.

Is Fourth Library in Size in the State—The Reading Room, Circulating and Reference Departments—Other Facts.

It may be of interest to the people of Plainfield to know what the Public Library is doing and how the city's money, which goes to the maintenance of that institution, is spent and what results are obtained therefrom. While there are thousands who take advantage of the privileges of the Library, there are many who have no real idea of the workings of the Library and the advantages they are missing through lack of knowledge.

It has a reading room open seventy-six hours a week, in this are 123 current periodicals accessible to the public. The Library contains over 24,000 volumes, and is the fourth public library in size in the State. In selecting books the aim is to supply first the books that the people want. Its popularity is shown by its circulation of nearly 47,000 volumes, and by the fact that its records show a constantly increasing circulation, in the last year alone, an increase of nearly 9,000 volumes was recorded. This fact is noteworthy, inasmuch as many libraries are reporting decreased circulation owing to the wide popularity of the Booklover's library. Some of the regular expenses are fuel, light, salaries, binding of magazines and books, subscriptions to periodicals, repairs, library supplies, insurance, water and incidentals. As much as can be spared from these goes to the purchase of books.

What books are most read? Fiction here as everywhere leads, being between 66 and 67 per cent. of the entire circulation, of this 51 per cent. only is adult fiction. This record would compare most favorably with that of other libraries. In this connection it is interesting to note that the percentage of fiction now read is between 3 and 4 per cent. less than when the Library opened. Among its younger borrowers, 10,000 books are circulated annually. This is a significant fact, when the high class of books in its juvenile department is taken in consideration.

Next in popularity to fiction is the department of general literature, closely followed by history, after which come in the following order travel, biography, natural science, useful arts, sociology, fine arts, general works, religion, philosophy, and lastly the tiny department of philology, which evidently has but few lovers. The circulating department is open forty-four and one half hours weekly, the hours being those which accommodate the greatest number of persons. Not all the circulating work is done at the Library, for collections are sent regularly to factories and to schools.

Perhaps next in interest to the home use of books, is the work of the reference department. As reference books are on open shelves accessible to the public, it is impossible to keep statistics of this work. Readers and students, who have been unable to find the information of which they are in search, are encouraged to ask for assistance, and so important has this work of assisting such inquiries become, that a special department was made of it in February. The questions asked range all the way from "Can you give me a book that will tell how to remove fruit stains from linen?" "Have you anything with full plates that will show how to construct a steam engine?" Or one may have to turn from finding a description of the interior of Santa Sophia, to "something not too long in the influence of Russia in the east." Some questions can be answered immediately, others involve research. Of the latter class, since February 18, there have been answered at the information desk 140 questions.

An interesting feature of the Library's work in the past year has been the series of monthly exhibits, six of which have now been given, the seventh and last of the year will be a "Nature" exhibit, to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, April 19. This will be the most important in the series. Several Plainfield people whose interest in the subject is well known are to take part, and other features also will be added which will make this exhibit one of unusual interest.

HARD AFTER THE TRUANTS

City School Board Authorized Superintendent Maxson to Pursue Aggressive Policy.

ARRESTS WILL FOLLOW.

Heretofore the Efforts of Truant Officers Have Often Met With Failure—A More Strenuous Campaign Planned Under New School Law—Other Business.

The Board of Education, at the regular monthly meeting held last evening, decided to enter upon a new and more strenuous course in regard to the truancy question. Heretofore, all plans projected to deal with this important question have met with whole or partial failure and the patience of Superintendent Maxson has become exhausted. The new school law deals plainly with the matter and allows the local school boards far more privileges than in past years and Mr. Maxson has decided to make use of his prerogatives.

At the meeting last evening, he informed the board that his warnings to parents or guardians of truant pupils had been met with jeers and that the truant officer had been given all manner of flimsy excuses. He asked the members to pass a resolution, allowing him to adopt the last recourse. This means the arrest of the offending parents who fail to send the children to school and their prosecution before the City Judge. The law defines that a $25 fine be imposed in each case in default of which the defendant may be sent to the county jail.

He furnished the names of twelve persons who have been persistent in violating the law despite warnings, and the board instructed him to have Truant Officer McCarthy interview the offenders at once. In the event of the children continuing to roam the streets during school hours, arrests are to follow.

Mr. Abbott and Mr. Lovell were appointed as members of the Board of School Estimate. Two more members appointed by the Common Council and Mayor Jenkins complete the organization.

On motion of Mr. Maxson, Erwin Leland was appointed as valedictorian and Clarence B. LaRue, as salutatorian, for the High School graduation exercises in June. These appointments were secured by per centage in respect to lessons.

Mr. Maxson was instructed to secure a proper speaker for the grammar school graduation exercises in June.

Tax Collector Smith reported a total collected for the month of March of $1,365.97 which had been deposited to the credit of the board. The medical examiners reported examining 217 pupils. According to the report of Custodian W. F. Arnold the receipts for the month were $2,385.46 and the disbursements $9,176.69, leaving a balance of $22,927.53.

GOLF SEASON SOON.

Park Golf Club Will Open its Course Saturday Afternoon, April 19.

A conference of the officers and committees of the Park Golf Club was held last evening at the Park clubhouse. There was a discussion of the club's plans for the year.

A meeting of the board of trustees followed the conference. It was decided to open the course for play Saturday, April 19, if the weather permits. The weekly competitions for the President's cup will start at that time. There will also be a cup for women members to be competed for weekly. Three new members were elected.

GRABBED EDDIE'S NOSE.

Thrilling Time Followed Meeting of Small Boy and Dog.

There was a lively scrimmage Saturday between Eddie Jonas, the five-year-old son of Peter Jonas, of 150 North avenue, and E. H. Clevely's well-known dog, "Teddie." Eddie was pulling "Teddie's" tail and the dog objected seriously. In a spirit of retaliation the dog snapped at Eddie and caught him by the nose. The little fellow was frightened for a time, but after a physician was called and the wound properly treated, he felt much better.

NEW COUNTRY CLUB PLANS FINE HOUSE

Ground Soon to be Broken for Clubhouse of Canoe Brook Country Club, Near Summit.

MANY OUTDOOR SPORTS.

HAS SECURED TWO LARGE ESTATES ON MORRISTOWN TURNPIKE.

Elaborate Plans Prepared for House and Grounds—Detailed Discription of the Clubhouse—One of the Finest in the State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Summit, April 8—Ground will be broken at once for the erection of the handsome clubhouse of the Canoe Brook Country Club, a fashionable organization, which has purchased a beautiful tract on the Morristown turnpike, near Chatham. When completed the house and grounds will be as fine as any in this part of the country.

An eighteen hole golf course has been arranged and near the clubhouse itself tennis courts and a polo field will be laid out. In the winter months a skating pond will be built, the flowing water of the brook nearby being used. Driveways will be made a feature of the ample grounds surrounding the clubhouse.

The land originally comprised two large estates. On the western slope the valley of the upper Passaic greets the gaze. Summit station is a mile and a half distant, Chatham is a trifle nearer, while Short Hills, Madison and Morristown are within easy reach, either by the turnpike or the Lackawanna Railroad.

The men's quarters are on the ground floor, while those of the women are on the main floor. The sleeping rooms will be in the second story. In the long low wing of the house will be found the lockers for men, shower baths, cafe and grill room. In the rear of the grill room will be the kitchen, the living rooms and the cellars.

On entering the main floor, to the left is the office; to the rear and back is the lounging room; while in the front of the building is the large dining room. In the rear of this is the serving room and a private dining room. The women's locker room and shower baths are in this section of the building also. From the main hall stairs lead to the other floors. The sleeping rooms are upstairs. Broad verandas surround two sides of the house, a part of which are to be inclosed in glass.

The rooms will be artistically decorated, having open beam ceilings and wainscoting, stained dark brown and green. In most of the rooms will be large and hospitable fire places. The grill room is to be a feature of the club, fitted and furnished like an old Dutch inn, with beam ceiling, wood paneled walls and floor of Dutch tiling.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the regular monthly meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association, held last evening, in the organization's rooms in the Coward building.

Blimm, E. M. Laing and J. E. Flannery. G. Thorn and G. W. Clark were selected as representatives to the Relief Association.

ACTION DELAYED.

Borough School Board Did Not Consider Proposed New Schoolhouse Last Night.

The proposition concerning a new school house was not considered at the meeting of the Borough Board of Education, last evening, but the time was mostly consumed in acting upon the letters received from the teachers relative to the matter of re-engagement.

There are thirty-five teachers and communications were received from the majority. None declined reappointment. As yet no orator has been secured for commencement day, which is set for June 20. Former Attorney General Griggs was invited, but previous engagements compelled him to decline. A warrant has been drawn for the payment of the new matallic ceiling in the manual training building, which has been accepted finally as satisfactory.

AS HE KNEW THEM.

Ernest Ingersoll Talked on Birds to Monday Afternoon Club.

A large audience gathered in All Souls' church, yesterday afternoon, to listen to a lecture on "The Birds About Us," given by Ernest Ingersoll, of New York, under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club. The lecture was illustrated with many stereopticon views, mostly photographs, of the birds mentioned by Mr. Ingersoll. It was delivered in a bright and conversational manner, and included many personal experiences of the speaker's.

In his study of birds, Mr. Ingersoll has so far made friends with some of them that they will allow him to approach and even touch them, and this has enabled him to secure many interesting photographs, such as birds sitting upon their nests or feeding their young.

Funeral of Mrs. Stelle.

The funeral services of Mrs. Martha Stelle, wife of Freeman Stelle and mother of Mrs. A. D. Thompson, of Belvidere avenue, were held yesterday at 1:30 o'clock from the late home at Millington. Rev. Mr. Gibb, pastor of the Millington Baptist church, officiated. Interment took place in the cemetery adjoining the Baptist church at Millington.

Worked Degree at Newark.

Twenty-six members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., went to Newark, last evening and at the asylum of Damascus Commandery, K. T., conferred the red cross degree on one candidate. The Newark Knights gave the local Knights a cordial and hearty reception and during the evening a banquet was enjoyed.

FIXED YEAR'S TAX BUDGET

At First Meeting of Common Council in its New Quarters in the Smalley Building.

LOTS OF NEW BUSINESS.

Little Change in Figures of Budget From Those of Last Year—Preparing for Permanent Repair and Acceptance of Streets—Lots of Petitions—Other Matters.

In the new and handsome quarters in the Smalley building on North avenue the Common Council held its regular April meeting last evening. In striking contrast to the old quarters are the new rooms. Substantial solid oak desks and chairs, together with carpet of an attractive design and color, all combine to make the quarters modern and comfortable. There is plenty of light, and a decided feature of the chamber is the perfect acoustic properties. The slightest sound or utterance can be heard distinctly. The Councilmen expressed the great pleasure over the change and all felt as though the change was a decided improvement.

All of the members were present except Councilman Daniel when the meeting was called promptly at 8 o'clock. Included in the important business was the fixing of the tax budget for the coming year. This was reported by Mr. Mellick, who offered an ordinance of the assessment of taxes for 1902. This provides for a general fund of $48,350, exclusive of the amounts for lights, fire, poor, sewer bonds, interest and library. The several amounts are as follows: Streets, $24,000; lights, $12,500; principal on sewer bonds, $5,600; interests on obligations including sewer bonds, $6,500; poor, $4,000; library and reading room, $4,000; fire department, $21,000; dog tax, $2.

There is very little change from last year. The Board of Health gets $6,000, a little extra on account of smallpox epidemic. The amount for the police is $16,600, which is $100 over last year. The grand total to be raised is $66,550, but there is a credit of $18,200 from fines, licenses, poll and dog tax and railroad tax to make up the difference between the above amount and the $48,350. The amounts for county, State and city school tax will be reached later. It is believed that the tax rate for the coming year will be $2.50. It is now $2.50. The ordinance was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised.

Under the head of new business, Mr. Tolles introduced three ordinances providing for the permanent repair and the acceptance of certain streets. One street to be macadamized is Spooner avenue, between West Fourth and West Seventh streets. The property-owners' share is $409.02 and will have to be paid before work is started. The other street to be similarly treated is Hobart avenue, between West Seventh and West Eighth streets. The property-owners' share being $280. West Sixth street, between Grant and Monroe avenues, and Jackson avenue were both accepted, having been laid out and macadamized.

Mr. Mellick reported back a petition of W. H. Douglass asking that a dog tax be remitted, and moved that the same be not granted. He then offered a resolution fixing the dog tax for the year at $2 per dog. Another resolution by the same member provided that the board of assessors receive a certified statement that $12,500 would be needed for lighting the streets for the coming year. A resolution transferring $2,500 from the general fund to the fire fund and $300 from the general fund to the poor fund was offered by Mr. Mellick and adopted.

A communication was received from the officers of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room Association asking that the appropriation for the coming year be made $4,000. This request was granted. Mr. Mellick stated that it is very necessary that the new ordinances now being printed be gone over and read very carefully. To accomplish this he offered resolution appropriating a sum not to exceed $100 and providing that City Clerk MacMurray and Mr. Wean do this work.

Mr. Tolles offered a resolution that the bid of A. I. & N. B. Smalley for crushed stone and that of Andrew Roach for culverts and crosswalks,

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Clifford S. Sims, recently appointed general superintendent of the New York division of the Baltimore and Ohio, is said to be the youngest man in the country filling such an important position, having been born January 12, 1868, at Prairie Ridge Plantation, Arkansas. He was educated at Mt. Holly, N. J., and in 1885 he entered the engineering department of the Pennsylvania and remained with that road until he resigned to go with the Baltimore and Ohio.

The sense of humor is not lost in the make-up of Borough Mayor Smalley. At the meeting of the North Plainfield Council the other evening the municipal water works proposition came up for discussion. His honor was explaining the project, when he incidentally remarked that "if we are going to stay in Somerset county, we'll have to take water." A smile which seemed to be general gave silent assent to the statement so far at least as the mayor is concerned.

A new style in wall papering has been originated by a boroughite, though quite unintentionally. Some days ago he determined upon a pleasant surprise for his wife, who had longed for a certain room to be properly papered. Smuggling into the house two designs in a colored paper, the husband arranged to place one on the walls unknown to his better half. After his wife had retired that night, he set to work and it was early morning before the job was completed. He was very sleepy while at work and went about the task in a mechanical way. The next morning when leaving home he told his wife to observe the improvements. A quick glance brought to her observation the two shades of wall paper, which made the wall look like a crazy quilt. A chance remark by a little daughter brought out the fact that she had been playing with the paper during the day and mixed up the rolls. The husband now declares that he is in for no more surprises of such an expensive nature.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Governor Murphy has a serious responsibility in the appointment of a commission to prepare a practical primary election law for adoption by the next Legislature. There has been an urgent demand for some reform, but the kind of reform proposed has been extremely vague. In several States, primary elections have become practically a method of direct legislation, and it is probable the commission will be urged to vest in primaries a power not heretofore enjoyed by this branch of government—for such it is in fact. Such radical measures may be desirable in time, but for the present a much more moderate scheme would satisfy the public.—Newark Call.

Governor Murphy has signed the bill authorizing him to appoint a commission of three to examine into the advisability of reforms in the laws governing primary elections. In his inaugural address the Governor strongly advocated primary election reform, but it did not seem to strike a responsive thrill in the breasts of the lawmakers. The bill which he has just signed was introduced by Senator McCarter. It relieved the late Legislature of responsibility without absolutely ignoring the Governor's recommendation.

Holding, as he does, decided views as to the necessity for changes in primary election methods, Governor Murphy may be expected to appoint as commissioners men imbued with like sentiments. Such a commission will of course give fair consideration to the claims of the direct primary in restoring power to the people and loosening the grip of party bosses. The report of this commission will be awaited with considerable interest, as also the action of the Legislature to which it is made.—Newark News.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure.

Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys

A Plainfield resident tells you how this can be done.

Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner avenue, says: "For several years I suffered from severe pains in my back, hips and loins so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it and if I contracted a cold it always settled in my back and at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store I took a few doses when I found they were helping me and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. WEEKES BILL VETOED.

Governor Odell Opposes Abolishment of Spring Enrollment.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 8.—Governor Odell has vetoed the Weekes bill amending the primary election law by abolishing the spring enrollment in New York city. In connection with the veto he filed the following memorandum:

"This bill seeks to amend the existing primary election law by discontinuing the days for enrollment upon other than the days of registration.

"The proposed enactment is undesirable, first, because it is applicable only to the city of New York, although it is under the form of a general bill; second, because it would absolutely deprive young men who may attain their majority subsequent to the registration days from participation in the primaries of their party, and, third, because all voters who remove from the district in which they had voted subsequent to election and preceding the next election would be barred from assisting in the selection of the candidates of their party.

"While the design of the bill is to cure certain evils in the city of New York, it would, as I have indicated, operate to deprive citizens of rights which they now have."

INAUGURATION DAY.

Fresh Impetus Given to the Proposed Change of Date.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The agitation in favor of changing the date of inauguration of the president from the 4th of March to the latter part of April received an impetus at the meeting of the national committee having the proposition under consideration.

The change has been advocated mainly owing to the inclemency of the weather of early March and for other public economic reasons. Most of the governors of the states and territories accepted service on the committee, and letters received from them generally showed a desire for a change in the inauguration date. The meeting was presided over by District Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland as temporary chairman.

It was agreed that the chairman should appoint an executive committee and such other committees as might be necessary. It was resolved as the sense of the committee that the date of the inauguration day should be changed from the 4th of March to the last Thursday in April, but that no particular bill or resolution should be advocated.

Precious Stone Production.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—George F. Kunz, special agent of the geological survey, in charge of precious stones, has prepared a report showing the production of precious stones in the United States during 1901. Among those enumerated are the following: Sapphires, $90,000; beryl (aquamarine, etc.), $5,000; tourmaline, $15,000; quartz crystal, $10,000; gold quartz, $2,000; silicified wood, $7,000; rhodolite, $21,000; turquoise, $118,000; chlorastrolite, $3,000, and pyrite, $3,000. The report says also that diamond importation has been greater than in any previous year and that at no period have more fine and more very large stones been imported. Emeralds have increased greatly in public favor.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 8.—Organized labor won a victory in Hartford yesterday. Following the example of Bridgeport and Ansonia, they have elected a mayor of the city. They captured the Democratic nomination, and their man, Ignatius A. Sullivan, received the solid vote practically of the trades unions. He received 6,639 to 6,134 for Major William B. Dwight, the Republican nominee. The Republicans succeeded in electing a majority of the committee on council.

ATROCITY CHARGED.

Grave Allegations Against British Soldiers.

BOER WOMEN USED AS SCREENS.

General Delarey Asserts That His Own Wife and Children Have Been Persecuted by Methuen and His Mother Robbed.

AMSTERDAM, April 8.—General Delarey in a message to President Kruger accuses the British soldiers of placing Boer women as a screen against his attacks.

He charges that a number of Boer women have been killed. His own wife, he asserts, was persecuted by General Methuen, whom he defeated and captured on March 7 last. She is now wandering somewhere about the veldt with her six children. His mother, he says, has been driven from Klerksdorp after being robbed of her cattle.

General Delarey mentions many specific cases of women and prisoners who were murdered.

General Delarey sends the affidavits of Ignatius Ferreira, acting secretary of state, and Attorney Lichtenburg in support of the charges.

Among the prisoners alleged to have been murdered were Commandant Boshoff, who was wounded at Selous river on Sept. 30 and who was afterward fatally stabbed; a Kaffir named Mattapin and Dr. Schlesinger.

According to the reports, Frederick Roux and Louis Roux were shot at Johannes road after having been captured at Rouxkloff on Oct. 18.

The atrocities also included the killing of Mrs. Fourie and Miss Diederieks, who were standing on the veranda of a house at Rietfontein and were killed by a bomb.

Mrs. Vandermerwe was shot through the head at her home at Groenfontein and her house burned while she lay wounded in an outhouse.

Miss Sonikus was shot dead at Sweizerreneka, and Mrs. Brits was killed at Hotcherstroom while driving with the late Rand Mining Commissioner Vanderwe.

Kritzinger Acquitted.

LONDON, April 8.—A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, says Commandant Kritzinger, who was captured by General French at Hanover road, Cape Colony, Dec. 17 last and who has been tried by court martial on the charge of having committed four murders in addition to train wrecking and cruelty to prisoners, has been acquitted and is being well treated as an ordinary prisoner of war.

Preparing to Evacuate.

HAVANA, April 8.—Various matters connected with municipal public works, including the cleaning of the streets, which have hitherto been in charge of the American military authorities at Cienfuegos and other towns, have been turned over to the secretary of public works. The only towns in which the work of street cleaning is now in charge of the military authorities are Santiago and Havana. The quarters of all American troops which have been evacuated have been turned over to the Cuban rural guard until such time as the secretary of finance shall make definite provision for their care.

A Strange Discovery.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—A Gilroy (Cal.) special says that the remains of a man and a woman were discovered in the railroad station at that place, when a box which had laid in the station for ten years was opened. The box was left with the station agent by a rancher named Jamison, who told the agent that he would send for it. The rancher disappeared soon after, and nothing has since been heard of him. It is presumed that a double murder was committed.

PASS EXCLUSION BILL

Representatives Make Measure Still More Drastic.

LAW EXTENDED TO THE PHILIPPINES

Conference Report on War Tax Repeal Finally Adopted — Bucket Shop Clause Stricken Out Owing to House Opposition.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The house yesterday passed the Chinese exclusion bill after incorporating in it several amendments which increased the drastic character of the measure. The principal one not only excludes Chinese by birth and descent, but all Chinese of mixed blood. The chief struggle was over an amendment to prohibit the employment of Chinese sailors on American ships.

An amendment covering this proposition at first was ruled out on a point of order, but subsequently was modified to evade the ruling and was adopted—100 to 74. As passed the bill practically re-enacts all the existing exclusion laws and incorporates with them the existing treasury regulations. It extends these exclusion laws to the Philippines and the other possessions of the United States and forbids Chinese laborers in our colonial possessions coming into this country.

The Philippine commission by the terms of the bill is directed to adopt proper measures for the enforcement of the provisions of the bill in the Philippines. The conference report on the war revenue tax repeal bill was adopted and the bill sent to the White House. Late in the afternoon Mr. Fowler (N. J.) moved to pass under suspension of the rules the senate bill to extend the charters of national banks for twenty years. The Democrats were taken completely by surprise. As it was after the usual hour for adjournment the attendance was slim. The Democrats attempted to filibuster, but a call of the house finally secured a quorum, and the bill was passed.

Considerable time was consumed by the senate in a discussion of the conference report on the bill to reduce the war revenue taxes. As passed by the senate the tax on transactions in so called bucket shops was retained. The conference struck out that provision, it being explained that the house would not consent to its retention.

Mr. Berry (Ark.), Mr. Bacon (Ga.) and Mr. Pettus (Ala.) insisted that the senate should demand the retention of the tax. Mr. Aldrich (R. I.), Mr. Allison (Ia.) and Mr. Spooner (Wis.), while they were in favor of the tax, explained that it could not be retained without endangering the entire measure. The conference report finally was adopted—36 to 20.

Third Attempt to Kill Trepoff.

BERLIN, April 8.—The Tageblatt publishes a dispatch from St. Petersburg, dated Sunday, April 6, which reports a third attempt to assassinate General Trepoff, the prefect of Moscow. While the general was out driving a man, supposed to be a rusticated student, sprang on the step of his carriage and tried to stab the prefect, but only succeeded in wounding a policeman who was seated beside him. The would be assassin was arrested. It is believed that there is a widespread conspiracy against the prefect of police.

The Hallenbeck Trial.

HUDSON, N. Y., April 8.—A jury having been completed on Saturday to try Willis, Burton and Fred Van Wormer on the charge that they shot to death their uncle, Peter A. Hallenbeck, on Christmas eve last, the case was begun in earnest. District Attorney Alfred B. Chace made the opening address. He rehearsed the details of the crime, telling how Hallenbeck was called to his door and killed. Several witnesses were called, including Margaret Hallenbeck, widow of the murdered man.

Halifax Strike Continues.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 8.—The strike of the longshoremen at this port continues, with stagnation of water traffic. A number of men arrived from Stewiacke to work on the steamer Briardene, but the longshoremen in a body met them at the pier and induced them to return home. The coal workers have organized a sympathetic strike, and several steamers are tied up for want of coal.

Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 8.—James Churchill of Ithaca, who last June at Newfield killed his wife Minnie and his father-in-law, Daniel Minturn, at the latter's home, has been sentenced to life imprisonment at Auburn, Justice Lyon of the supreme court pronouncing sentence. The prisoner pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree.

Miss Toppan Adjudged Insane.

BOSTON, April 8.—Miss Jane Toppan, the nurse who has been for five months in Barnstable jail awaiting trial on the charge of fatally poisoning three members of the Davis family at Cataumet, has been officially adjudged insane by the three alienists secured by the state to inquire into the prisoner's mental condition.

Will Vote For Cuban Relief.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 8.—Congressman M. E. Driscoll, who in the Republican conference has opposed President Roosevelt's plan for reciprocity with Cuba, has announced his intention of voting with the majority of his party when the question comes up in the house.

Weather Probabilities.

STRIKE GOES ON.

Terms of Indianapolis Agreement Rejected by Miners.

DUBOIS, Pa., April 8.—The district officers of the United Mine Workers and delegates from the mines of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company have rejected the Indianapolis agreement reached last Friday by their national executive board and General Manager Robinson of the Rochester and Pittsburg company.

The conferences between the district officers, the delegates and Mr. Robinson took place at Punxsutawney, the first session being held in the morning, when Mr. Robinson submitted the Indianapolis agreement, as follows:

"Work to be resumed on the same basis of price for mining and day labor and conditions as existed at the beginning of the last scale year, except that at Eleanora the miners shall push cars one way in all rooms that are now or may hereafter be equipped with iron rails, otherwise present conditions of mule haulage to continue, and at the Florence mines cars to be handled, after both mule and electric, by pushing one way except in such places now working and equipped for electric haulage. The present conditions of pushing cars will continue until such rooms are exhausted or worked out, after which the cars during the present scale year will be hauled one way and pushed one way, as customary after regular mule haulage."

This the miners refuse to accept, and another conference was held during the afternoon. Mr. Robinson stated he had no further offer to make. The miners refused absolutely to accept this agreement and insisted upon nothing less than the Altoona scale, which is in effect that mules must be placed in all mines where possible to haul cars. The conference therefore adjourned, and the strike goes on, with no immediate prospect of settlement. The district officers say that General Manager Robinson must come to them the next time for a settlement. Depression has everywhere in the region taken the place of the good cheer that was manifested on the announcement from Indianapolis Saturday morning of a settlement.

Wanamaker Met the Kaiser.

BERLIN, April 8.—According to the Kleines Journal, John Wanamaker was presented to Emperor William during one of his majesty's expeditions to Norway. The introduction occurred on board the Hamburg-American line steamer Augusta Victoria when the emperor visited that steamer. Disregarding ceremony, Mr. Wanamaker grasped Emperor William's hand, shook it firmly and said: "I am glad to meet such an enterprising young man. That is just the sort of thing we admire in America." And the conversation continued in this familiar tone. Emperor William, who seemed to be highly entertained by this conversation, remarked afterward to a member of his suit, "In all my life nobody ever talked to me like that."

REVOLUTIONIST GAINS.

Trouble In Venezuela Spreading Government Forces Out Defeated.

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curacao April 8.—News has reached here that the seaport of Tucacas, in the state of Lara, was taken April 3 by revolutionary forces under Solagny. German merchants at Caracas have received information that Barquisimeto, the capital of the state of Lara, has been in possession of the revolutionists since April 4.

The revolution in the eastern part of Venezuela has made much progress during the past week, and the government has been obliged to send re-enforcements of troops and supplies of ammunition daily to many parts of the republic.

General Escalante and two of President Castro's brothers suffered severe defeat at the hands of the insurgents under Rolando, Penalosa and Ducharme April 3 at San Agostin, near Carupano, in the state of Bermudez. Of the 850 government soldiers engaged in this action only 350 retreated, the remainder being killed or wounded or deserting.

The government was defeated in another engagement April 4 near El Pilar, when its soldiers were trying to reach Gariaco, in Bermudez.

A RUSH FOR GOLD.

Thousands Flock to New Idaho Diggings—Tempting Reports.

BOISE, Idaho, April 8.—The northwest has in a long time seen nothing to create such widespread excitement as the discovery of the Thunder mountain goldfields in this state. A stampede has resulted which promises to add 20,000 to the camp's population before summer is ended.

One remarkable development is the investment of large sums of money by eastern syndicates composed of men supposed to be too conservative to take a flier on even a gold mine and whom the Klondike could not tempt. Already over $1,500,000 has been invested by Pittsburg, Chicago and New York persons, with the district still under ten feet of snow.

Charles Crawford, a newspaper man, who returned from the district, says the scenes on the trails and in the camp rival anything ever seen on the Klondike. He saw James Massey wash $950 in six hours out of frozen dirt. The Caswell brothers, three in number, washed over $20,000 in fourteen weeks. He saw the gold and had proof of the time consumed.

Light Vote In Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., April 8.—Excepting in Grand Rapids, there was very little interest manifested in the city and township elections held throughout the state yesterday, and none but purely local issues entered into the contests. The weather was cold and raw, and in the western part of the state considerable snow fell. A light vote was cast in most cities. In Grand Rapids, where the water supply scandal has figured as one of the prominent issues of the campaign, the Republicans gained a sweeping victory, electing their entire city ticket, headed by W. Willard Palmer for mayor. Mayor George R. Perry, who was seeking re-election for a third term, was beaten by at least 2,500 majority.

Patrick In Death Cell.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Under death sentence Albert T. Patrick entered Sing Sing prison at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He who had cracked jokes with his guards throughout his trip from the city was by 4.30 in solitary confinement in the deathhouse, where he occupies the last cell in the row. Patrick, who was convicted March 26 of the murder of Millionaire William M. Rice, was sentenced in the morning. That sentence is that he shall be executed in Sing Sing prison some time during the week beginning Monday, May 5.

Commissioner Powderly Resigns.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The resignation of Hon. Terrence V. Powderly as commissioner general of immigration has been placed in the hands of the president. Mr. Powderly is to be succeeded in office by Mr. Frank P. Sargent, but as the latter does not expect to take hold for more than a month the present commissioner's resignation probably will not be accepted by the president until that time.

An Anarchist Conference.

BERLIN, April 8.—A federation of revolutionary laborers which is working in the name of the German anarchists is distributing a mysterious circular calling for an anarchist conference for the third week in May. The place of the conference is not named, but the circular says this will be designated later by letter in order to avoid police interference.

Admiral Evans' New Post.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans has arrived here from Washington and will leave at once for the orient to become senior squadron commander under Rear Admiral Rodgers, whom he will succeed as commander in chief of the Asiatic station six months hence, when the latter officer will be retired.

Italian Anarchist Sentenced.

ROME, April 8.—Enrico Malatesta, the Italian anarchist, has been sentenced by a court of justice to five months' imprisonment for contumacy on account of certain articles applauding the murder of President McKinley which were written for and published in an anarchist newspaper.

Captain Carter Is Better.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 8.—Oberlin M. Carter's condition continues to show marked improvement. Warden McClaughry says he thinks the physicians have succeeded in checking the fever.

ORDERS TO WALLER

General Smith Denies Alleged Harsh Instructions.

LIEUTENANT STREBLER IS PRAISED

Capture of Lukban In Samar One of the Most Important Yet Made In the Philippines—The Cholera Epidemic.

MANILA, April 8.—General Jacob H. Smith, commanding the American forces in the island of Samar, was the only witness yesterday at the trial by court martial of Major Waller of the marine corps.

General Smith denied that he ever gave Major Waller power of life and death exceeding general order No. 100. He said he received the first news of the killings at Basey, where Major Waller and Lieutenant Day of the marine corps are charged with having killed three natives, from General Chaffee. General Smith explained that his order to Major Waller about not being burdened with prisoners meant to disarm and release those prisoners who were not charged with series offenses. He said he had not understood the meaning of Major Waller's telegram about "expending eleven prisoners."

The official report of Lieutenant Strebler of the Philippine scouts on the capture of the insurgent general Lukban has been published and is indorsed by General Smith. The latter considers the report to be concise and graphic. It is impossible for any one not acquainted with the island of Samar, says General Smith, to realize the difficulties and hardships of the expedition. Strebler's command is entitled to the highest praise for one of the most important captures ever made in the Philippines.

General Smith strongly recommends that Strebler be given a commission as first lieutenant in the regular, and that Sergeant Lora be made a second lieutenant of the native scouts. These recommendations have been indorsed by General Wade and approved by General Chaffee. General Chaffee thinks, however, that congressional action may be required in order to obtain the desired commission for Second Lieutenant Strebler. He has already given Sergeant Lora a commission as second lieutenant.

Generals Chaffee and Sanger left here yesterday on board the United States gunboat Princeton on a tour of inspection to the Zamboanga district of the island of Mindanao and the island of Samar. They will probably be absent until after April 15, upon which date Gueverra, Lukban's successor in Samar, will surrender.

A total of 175 cases and 137 deaths from cholera has been reported up to noon yesterday.

The natives are making great efforts to break the quarantine established here, and in so doing one native has been killed.

Sixto Lopez Again In Boston.

BOSTON, April 8.—Sixto Lopez, who for some months lived in this city and claimed to represent Aguinaldo, has returned here from the far east and in an interview said that he was prepared to return to the Philippines and secure final peace, provided the United States gives some intimation to the Filipinos not necessarily of their immediate but of their ultimate status. Regarding the order preventing his return to the Philippines, Senor Lopez said that the American authorities did not object to his landing in Manila provided he took the oath of allegiance. He refused, however, to take it, because he did not believe that any one had a right to interfere with his liberty of conscience.

Thousands Get Higher Wages.

BOSTON, April 8.—A general advance of about 10 per cent in wages of the cotton mill operatives in the southern half of New England has gone into effect in practically every mill town in the territory named with the exception of Fall River, where the increase was given last month. About 50,000 employees have begun to earn higher wages, and, added to some 27,000 in Fall River, more than 75,000 hands, or nearly half the entire mill force in New England, have already shared in the present change in pay schedules.

Rioting In Jamaica.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 8.—Advices received here show that the rioting at Montego Bay is still proceeding. Acting Governor Oliver and the general commanding the troops have arrived at the scene, and the cruiser Tribune has sailed to land men at Montego Bay. During the fighting one man was killed and a police officer was disemboweled. The increased taxation and an unwise arrest were the cause of the trouble. The situation is critical, but the authorities hope to quell the rising at an early date.

Lands Closed to Public Entry.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The president has directed that upward of seventy townships in northern Montana be withdrawn from public entry for use in the big irrigation scheme known as the St. Mary's canal and Milk river project. By another executive order three townships in Wind Cave region in South Dakota have been temporarily withdrawn with a view to an examination to determine whether the land involved should be added to the Black Hills reserve.

A Millionaires' Auto Race.

PARIS, April 8.—The Presse announces that W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Dr. Henri de Rothschild have arranged a match race with forty horsepower automobiles of the same maker to be run before May 15, the stake being 1,000 francs, to be given to the poor. The distance will be 220 kilometers, but the route is not yet chosen.

STICK TO FACTS.

In all this talk about Greater Plainfield and annexation, some of the anti-annexationists have been making some statements concerning the city sewage disposal beds which they cannot back with actual facts and which they ought to know are far from the existing circumstances. They have denounced the disposal beds as complete failures and declared that the city was emptying sewage directly into the brook.

Anyone who has taken any trouble at all to investigate the workings of the improvements in the city disposal beds has discovered that they are now working even more successfully than was first anticipated and that, far from being a failure, they are a decided success, doing that for which they were designed in a very satisfactory manner. The idea that the sewage is being emptied into the brook is too absurd for anyone, unless wholly ignorant of the local situation, to consider even for a moment.

Then those men, who are talking so strongly against the system now in use in Plainfield, should not forget the fact that the commission, recently appointed by the Borough Council to consider the most practical scheme for the disposal of the borough's sewage when a system of sewers is built there, has carefully considered all available plans and decided in favor of a system almost exactly like that now in use in Plainfield. This commission began its labors somewhat prejudiced against the Plainfield system but careful investigation showed that the city authorities had, after all, followed the only practical course and that there was nothing for the borough to do but to follow its example.

Recorder Merrell, the new borough magistrate at Dunellen, has not won favor with the county officials at New Brunswick. A crowd of boys, who were causing trouble on the Jersey Central's coal trains, were rounded up and Recorder Merrell administered heavy sentences all the way round. The Middlesex county authorities are not accustomed to seeing severe punishment meted out except in extraordinary instances and so now they are worrying for fear that Dunellen's new recorder will fill up their county jail. No wonder the Freeholders desire to build a new one.

The baseball season in Plainfield has begun. The opening game was played on Pittis' Field between the Y. M. C. A. and Plainfield High School nines, Saturday afternoon. The playing was rather ragged at times but there was much enthusiasm in the crowd that witnessed the contest. There is every prospect of a decidedly successful season for the National game this coming summer.

"The man who talks in his advertisements much as he would talk to a customer over the counter will not make a mistake. His announcements will be read and will be as convincing as his direct talks." This is the judgment, says the Philadelphia Record, of a successful merchant who continues to supervise his own newspaper advertisements which he employs a man to write.

being the lowest, be accepted.

Mr. Lee stated that as some changes are to be made in the plans of a building to be erected by J. H. Moore at the corner of Fourth street and Central avenue, he asked to have the matter referred back to the fire committee, which was done. Mr. Lee also submitted a full report of the recent investigation regarding matters pertaining to the handling of the fire at the Babcock building. The report will be found in another part of the paper.

Mr. Buckle offered a resolution providing for an appropriation of $300 for summer uniforms for the police. Mr. vanHerwerden reported back the petition of P. B. Goodfellow and others for two electric lights, one at the corner of McKinley place and East Second street and the other on Jackson avenue. He recommended that one be placed on the east corner of McKinley place and East Second street and the Council concurred in the recommendation.

Mr. Tolles offered a resolution that the Board of Freeholders be requested to locate suitable bridges over Cedar brook at Berckman street and Jackson avenue, and that the request of the Council be transmitted to the board. Mr. Mellick called up the ordinance providing for $41,000 sewer improvement bonds and it was adopted on the third reading. According to a request, President Coriell appointed Councilman vanHerwerden and Mellick as members of the Board of School Estimate. They will serve with two members appointed by the Board of Education and the Mayor.

The other petitions received and referred to the proper committees are as follows: Company K asking for an annual appropriation of $300 for the maintenance of rooms in an armory; request of John Manley to be appointed constable in the Second ward to serve the unexpired term of the late W. R. Mattox; request from C. M. Burt and others for a fire alarm box at West Seventh street and Monroe avenue; protest against the payment of a dog tax by W. H. Aspinwall; request of O. Hermance and others for a patrolman in the Netherwood district in the day-time; request of Howard Runyon and others for two fire hydrants, one at Rahway road and Prospect avenue and another 700 feet beyond Rahway road; a protest against increasing the pay of the Board of Assessors from Ethan Lamphear; request from the Board of Registry and Election asking that the Council take some action regarding he claims of the members, recently decided in their favor by Supreme Court Justice Gummere; request from Price-Woolston-Bond Company for fire hydrants in the vicinity of Front street and Rock avenue; request from the Gleason-Kiely Contracting Company asking for the return of the balance of the 5 per cent. held by the city on the contract work at the sewage beds.

The resignation of John Watson as a regular patrolman was received and accepted, the same to take effect immediately. Mayor Jenkins appointed Alex. Ayres a special policeman and the appointement was confirmed. Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of twelve building permits during the past month.

City Judge W. N. Runyon submitted his regular report showing that 118 cases were brought before him since last report, of which number sixty-two were dismissed. The rest were fined and committed. There was received $159 in fines and $49.05 expended. The balance, $109.95 was turned over to the city treasurer.

Before the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Mellick moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet Monday evening, April 28. The Council then adjourned.

—Albert G. Perry has removed his shoe repairing business from Park avenue to 46 Harrison street.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

On account of the storm today the specials advertised hy Woodhull & Martin will be continued Wednesday.

"The Ralston Health Shoe" is a great seller. It is correct in style, honest in construction and satisfactory in service. John H. Doane, of West Front street, is the agent.

Philip Swain, of West Front street, is a practical gilder and frame maker. He also sells paintings, engravings, mirrors and artists' materials. Mr. Swain is showing some new designs in framing.

Why go to the trouble of raising plants when such beautiful flowers may be obtained at Stanley's on North avenue. The prices? Well just drop in and ask. You wonder how they sell so cheap.

John P. Powers, the progressive pharmacist of Somerset street, handles more prescriptions than any druggist in Greater Plainfield. There is only one reason to account for his success. Doing the work accurately and with dispatch is the reason.

There are no suits that suit better than those business suits Harry Werner is offering to suit everybody. For value received no others in the city can compare favorably with them. Have a look at the big display before the counters are depleted.

Powlison & Jones, the West Front street furniture dealers, have received their spring consignment of goods. The new lot consists of furniture for every part of the modern house. The display is one of the best they ever had and needs but to be seen to be appreciated.

"Perfectly delicious," "Best I ever ate," and "Aren't they good?" are some of the exclamations made by the feminine purchasers of Fowler's dainty confections. And the best part of it is, they are all deserved. A trial of some of his candies is the best proof of their purity and excellence.

The recent special sales at Hill & Shupp's store have been a great success. The people have been quick to take up the many bargains offered. The store is well-filled with new goods for the spring and summer and an inspection of the stock will convince you of the hundreds of good values offered.

People blame the soil when they ought to find fault with the seed. Now is the time to buy your seed potatoes. Early rose and Beauty Hebron are the choice varieties of seed potatoes handled by W. W. Wilson, the wide-awake grocer of West Fourth street. He has any amount of garden seeds in stock and challenges competition. It will pay you to consult him before going elsewhere.

NOT THE AUTHOR.

Rev. E. E. Jackson Writes to Deny That He Was Responsible for Publication of a Report.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The statement, said to have been made in Calvary Baptist church, at a meeting Sunday, that I was responsible for a report published in the daily papers to the effect that Calvary Baptist church was to be sold for $5,000, is false. I did not know the financial condition of that church, except that its pastor stated at a meeting of the New England convention at Bridgeport, Conn., in June that his church had cost $11,000 and that all but $3,000 of this amount was paid. If that was true how could the debt of $5,000 be on it?

I am pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church and have endeavored to be true to its interetss, without interfering with other church affairs in this city.

A leader of a people should be true to them. You can fool our people some times, but not all times. This I think is the ground of the trouble. If the white philanthropist will close his purse against the multiplicity of negro churches in this city, the condition would be better.

E. E. Jackson,
Pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. You don't have to diet. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

DOWN IN PARAGUAY.

One of the Oddest of All South American Republics.

Although Rich in Natural Resources Its People Are Pinched for Money—A Country Without Railroads.

[Special Buenos Ayres Letter.]

THE South American Republic of Paraguay is terra incognita to most people. In a general way it is known that the country is sandwiched in between Brazil, Bolivia and the Argentine Republic; that its capital is Asuncion, and that its government consists of an executive branch, with a president at its head, a senate and a chamber of deputies. The country was settled by Spaniards in 1856. It declared its independence in 1811, refusing to unite with the Argentine confederation. It was successively under the dictatorship of the tyrannical Francia, C. A. Lopez and F. L. Lopez. The latter, in 1865, provoked a war with Brazil, Argentine and Uruguay, which terminated with his death after the country had been completely impoverished and a great part of the adult male population killed. In 1870 a new constitution was adopted; and a year or two later the Argentine Republic laid formal claim to all territory west of the Paraguay river. The dispute was settled by arbitration, in 1878, when President Rutherford B. Hayes gave a decision in favor of Paraguay. The total area of the republic is about 90,000 square miles, with a civilized population of 500,000 and about 100,000 aborigines.

A gentleman who has recently returned from a visit to Paraguay declares the trip an ideal one in every respect—far more instructive than the proverbial tour of Europe, vastly more amusing than a month's sojourn at some dull watering place or mountain resort. Some of his observations are worth printing and may induce some readers to take a rational interest in the South American republics.

To reach Paraguay one must start from Buenos Ayres, the capital and commercial center of the Argentine Republic. The journey to Asuncion requires six days and is made in comfortable river steamers. It begins on the mighty La Plata, a union of the great Parana, Paraguay and Urugay rivers. The first landing of importance is Rosario de Santa Fe, a busy Argentine harbor, connected with Europe by several direct trans-Atlantic lines of steamers and sailing vessels, and located on the Parana river. The next points of interest are Santa Elena, where are located the original Liebig beef extract establishments, and the city of Corrientes, a few miles above which point occurs the confluence of the Parana and Paraguay rivers. The boat here leaves the Parana, which comes from the east, and proceeds due north on the Paraguay, until Asuncion, the capital of the republic, is reached.

IN FRONT OF THE MERCADO.

This city has been described as one of the wonders of the western hemisphere, on account of its remarkable contrasts. It has a population of nearly 30,000, and contains a number of architecturally beautiful buildings, among them a magnificent government house of vast dimensions, built of sandstone, in the form of an imperial palace. A few blocks away are seen adobe hovels, unfit for human habitation, into which are crowded a dozen or more miserable half-breeds. Equally startling are what might be called the contrasts of street life. Modern European civilization thrives by the side of purely aboriginal modes of existence. One moment you meet an up-to-date gentleman wearing a black Prince Albert coat, delicate light trousers and silk hat, the next instant you rub elbows with a half naked Indian, armed with bow and arrow, a degenerate descendant of the once ruling race of Paraguays. A third, and scarcely less interesting, element is the half-breed natives, the small farmers and planters, whose costume lends characteristic variety to the scene. Predominant in their wearing apparel is white, which forms an effective relief to the dark brown of their complexion. The women create a particularly original impression, produced by draperies of white which fall in graceful folds from the head.

The "mercado," or city market hall, is the point of observation par excellence. There the country women begin to arrive with the break of day, carrying heavy loads of fruits, vegetables and other farm products on their heads. The trading usually begins with the purchase, by the market-women, of a slice of "chipa," baked corn meal mixed with meat, cheese and other substances. Secreted somewhere in her head cloth every woman carries cigarettes of the home-made variety, long and dangerous looking "coffin nails," one of which is smoked, to "settle the breakfast," before she proceeds to offer her wares to the public.

The native element predominates. Occasionally a pure Castilian face is seen, or one meets an American, German or French trader. On the plaza a glimpse may be caught of a European diplomat now and then, but the prevailing atmosphere is genuinely South American—dark brown, the color typical of the mixture of the Spaniard and the Indian. In a small way the same effect may be observed in other South American cities, but nowhere is it so general or impressive as at Asuncion.

The government has made strenuous efforts to attract European immigrants to Paraguay, but thus far with scant success. The only typically foreign colony is at San Bernardino, a settlement founded in 1881 by the then president of the republic, Gen. Bernardino Caballero. It is really a state colony for Germans, countenanced by the German government which at that time was anxious to divert emigration from the United States to South America. Although started under promising conditions the colony has not been notably successful. Bernardino is located about 50 miles east of Asuncion, in a wooded region, the so-called "cordilleva," and is the most picturesque spot in Paraguay. But as it has no railroad connection with the capital or any other market town it has never prospered, although the German settlers have worked hard and long to make their Utopia a prosperous state within the state.

On the way to Bernardino the traveler passes scores of native "ranchos," whose construction and furnishing demonstrate the frugal nature of the Paraguayans. Usually the primitive dwellings are surrounded by small peach or apricot orchards. The natives are not fond of hard work. They plant only what they actually need, principally "manioc," a tuber which takes the place of the potato and grows to enormous size, some tobacco and a little corn and cotton, just enough for home consumption. Bananas and peaches grow without cultivation.

The only vehicle known for country traveling is the "carreta," which is built altogether of wood, even the high wheels being without iron rims. The sideboards are placed on a wooden frame from which project wooden poles, over which a covering of ox hide is placed to keep out sun or rain. The wheels sometimes are six feet in diameter and project over the seat set apart for passengers. Six oxen are used to propel one of these quaint and clumsy vehicles, and unless one has plenty of time and patience a visit to the interior is not to be recommended.

The vegetation of Paraguay is something marvelous, and the climate wonderful. Palm forests abound everywhere, lakes dot the landscape and rivers and creeks are numerous. Game is found in abundance, especially wild ducks and other water fowl, as well as terrapin and game fish. The only drawback the hunter encounters is an over-large supply of crocodiles which infest the marshes.

But in spite of phenomenal natural resources and attractions Paraguay cannot expect to make any headway until foreign capital can be persuaded to build railroad and telegraph lines. Settlers, it is true, can raise fat harvests of grains, cotton, tobacco and fruits, but they cannot find a market for them. The freight charges from Asuncion to Buenos Ayres or Rosario de Santa Fe eat up what little profit there may be in the crops. There is positively no home market, as everybody raises his own stuff. Consequently, in a land of plenty there is absolute absence of those little comforts which make life worth living.

Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. Blue Is Taking the Place of Brown For Tailor Suits.

The iron gray friezes which have been so popular all winter are giving way to new, brighter and lighter tweeds in snowflake designs. The most fashionable are in light pepper and salt, though grays and purples are always worn during this time of the year.

The fancy for brown is giving way to rough blue canvas—in fact, to canvas of every shade, especially where tailor made frocks are concerned. Pipings and braid are much used and are very pretty and smart. There seems no chance that glace as a trimming will disappear.

Moire is being much used both for coats and for bands of trimming. Charming little moire coats are made blouse and Eton fashion and trimmed with ecru lace, steel buttons and tiny pipings of black velvet. The sleeves are cut with large, flaring cuffs filled in with lace, or else they are simply puffed into a narrow band.

One of the newest models in tailor mades is shown in the sketch. The collarless blouse jacket shows a slashed effect in both the waist and sleeves. There is also a wide, heavy lace collar. The skirt has a box plaited flounce and a shaped yoke bordered by embroidery, which also extends in two straight lines on either side of the front gore.

The hat is of coarse yellow straw trimmed with a flat bow of ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

They Are Much Trimmed and Fasten Down the Back.

The new shirt waists are very fancy and are distinguished by the softness of their materials. Nothing stiff is allowed to enter into the wardrobe of the smart woman this summer.

The new waists almost invariably fasten down the back with tiny round buttons. This is necessary because the style of trimming demands a front that is not cut up. Wide insertions and bands of embroidery are used in a variety of manners, but the low bust line is always preserved. Many of the dressier waists are entirely covered with buttonhole embroidery.

Tucks, of course, figure largely, and one of the prettiest patterns has a tucked yoke, very low and V shaped, bordered with a wide insertion of lace, which also extends over the tops of the sleeves in the guise of caps.

Plain colors, principally white, black and ecru, will be the smart thing for cotton waists this summer.

The waist in the sketch is of black point d'esprit, black velvet ribbons and black chantilly over white taffeta. The waist is collarless and is cut out in a round shape. The narrow velvet ribbons run after the manner of perpendicular stripes down the waist. They are crossed at the bust line by a wide insertion of black chantilly. The sleeves are treated in a similar manner. They reach to the elbow and terminate in two very full ruffles. At the left of the front there is a full rosette of the black point d'esprit with two long ends.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Pitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

"Ha!" cried the little man, furiously. "I have come into the jackal's lair to pay my respects to the jackal-in-chief. Archibald Keever, you are an impudent scoundrel, sir! You are an ill-mannered blackguard, sir! You have not the first instinct of a gentleman. You are a coward, do you hear me? A coward and a knave! My hat in your teeth, sir!"

The little man jerked off his slouch hat revealing two eyes, one of which gleamed glassily at Guy while the other traveled up and down the full extent of Col. Keever's anatomy; then the blow fell across the Colonel's face.

It all came about with paralyzing suddenness. The crowd of Concordians stared and gaped as though under some baneful spell. The little man was Col. Dingle, of Harmony! The next instant Guy had leaped to his feet.

A shudder of mightily passion convulsed Col. Keever. His hand tightened convulsively at the head of his cane.

"Sir," he shouted, "is it your intention to apply to me those hurtling epithets?"

Come to think of it afterwards, there was little use of the Colonel's question; but great minds often wish to be absolutely certain of both horns of a proposition before tackling the conclusion. The little man laughed mockingly.

"I have coupled the word with a blow!" he cried. "In order that you may satisfy yourself I have made no mistake, I will strike again, so! The Norther greets the Blizzard!"

Again came that swishing blow with the hat and Col. Keever, dazed for the moment, fanned imaginary flies from before his face.

"It's Dingle!" gasped Col. Keever, hoarsely. "Hold me, somebody! Hold me, or I shall kill him!"

Mr. Glimmer hurled himself into the breach and caught Keever about the waist, while Pedro Smith dashed out of the hotel and threw himself upon Dingle. Then, struggling ineffectually to free themselves, the two Colonels glared at each other.

"You are a sneak, sir, and a coward, sir!" screamed the editor of the Norther.

"I am with you, Glimmer," hissed the editor of the Blizzard through his grinding teeth. "I am not myself! Righteous wrath is making a demon of me. If I were to swoop down on that misguided man nothing would be left to tell the tale."

"Let him go!" cried Dingle, frantically; "I dare you to let him go!"

"A Harmony man!" howled the citizens, pushing angrily forward and surrounding the diminutive person with the glass eye.

"He must be a spy!" roared a voice.

"String him up!" echoed another.

"Lynch him! lynch him! lynch him!" swelled the chorus.

"Stand back!" shouted Guy, shouldering his way to Dingle's side.

"Get a rope!" fumed the crowd. "Next to Wandingham he's the worst enemy this town has got! Make an example of him!"

Guy halted in front of Dingle and kept the crush back with his strong arms.

"We must get him out of here, Pedro," said Guy, breathlessly. "If we don't, some of these hot-heads will get us all into trouble. Where can we take him?"

"I've got a room upstairs that we can lock him in," replied Pedro, and the people, catching the last words, voiced the fierce demand:

"Lock him up! Put him under lock and key until we decide what to do with him!"

"I want to help you, Dingle," said Guy, in the little man's ear. "Don't be foolish, go with us and we'll do what we can for you."

Dingle was sullenly defiant, but he yielded to Guy and Pedro and accompanied them into the hotel and up the broad stairs leading to the second floor, the crowd pushing and plunging after them.

Rumors of the excitement had spread to the four quarters of the town and citizens came running from every direction, adding their numbers and their excitement to the tumultuous gathering in the hotel.

"Give the man a show!" cried Christopher Waffle, shrilly, springing upon a chair in the office. "Don't act like a lot of hyenas! There's law in this town and Waffle knows how to deal it out!"

"Down with old Waffle!" bellowed the crowd; "let's take the law into our own hands!"

The mob swarmed about Waffle's chair, overturned it, and the judge went down and was lost in the human wave that rolled over him.

Meantime Guy and Pedro had been doing yeoman servict in behalf of the headstrong Dingle. The little man had been crowded into a five-by-seven linen closet off the upper hall and the door locked on him. Guy, the key in his hand, turned away and confronted the clamoring multitude that struggled up the stairs.

"You are men, not brutes," he shouted, "civilized citizens and not a barbarian horde!" He had used that speech once in his callow youth for a school declamation, and he poured forth that much of it with all his power. It sounded well, caught the ears of the unruly townspeople, and proved the entering wedge for a little reason. "Look!" Guy waved the key. "We have locked Col. Dingle in a closet, and if you will appoint some one to guard him, some one whom you can all trust, we will proceed to debate this question and decide, as dispassionately as we can, what shall be done with our prisoner. Don't be like ravening wolves"—more of the declamation—"but prove that you are reasonable beings. Let us go down into the office and reason together."

"Herbert has got the right end of the stick," seconded Judge Waffle, lifting up his voice from the top of the office counter. "Do as he says and let's have a concensus of opinion."

"That is my wish," shouted Col. Keever from the foot of the stairs. "Come down, fellow citizens, come down and we will talk the matter over."

To have their leader add his personal request settled the matter, and the riotous citizens on the stairs began to descend.

"Who shall guard the prisoner?" asked Guy. "Mr. Pedro Smith?"

"No," thundered Keever; "let Sampson stand in the hall before the door."

Sampson pushed up the stairs with alacrity, took the key from Guy's hand and proceeded at once to his post. When all the others were on the office floor a debate as to the punishment which should be meted out to Col. Dingle was at once begun.

A few suggested hanging in no equivocal terms; a large number were of the opinion that tarring and feathering was as far as they should go, while a conservative element believed that Col. Dingle would suffer sufficient punishment if he were set astride a pole and ridden out of town. There was but one point on which the agreement was anything like being unanimous, and that was that Dingle, before he was dealt with in any manner whatever, should go down on his knees to Col. Keever and implore his pardon.

Guy was against this and so was Waffle, and, of course, Bill Comfort. Arguments pro and con came fast and furious and an hour passed without bringing the dissenting factions any closer together than they were at first. Misunderstandings began to crop out and more than one harsh word was bandied back and forth.

Just when it seemed that the wrangling citizens would come to blows a despairing cry for help floated down from upstairs. It was Sampson's voice! What had happened? In a flash every voice was hushed and the crowd caught its breath. Then came the slamming of a door, followed by a crashing sound and a hollow groan.

Guy led the rush for the second story and found, when he reached the top of the stairs, that the closet door was ajar, the prisoner gone and Sampson lying in a huddled heap on the floor without sound or movement.

The astounded citizens looked from one to another, and, as they looked, the swift fall of a horse's hoofs echoed up from the street, accompanied by a shrill and triumphant yell. With one accord the crowd flocked to the windows and caught a fleeting glimpse of Col. Dingle careering madly in the direction of Harmony. He was mounted on the horse which Guy had ridden the night before, and was waving over his head

WOMAN FIGHTS LION.

Hair-Raising Performance of Miss Heliot Summarily Stopped by Berlin Police.

The police of Berlin have just put a stop to some hair-raising performances in the Ercise menagerie, whose tents are pitched in the northern section of the city near the Preuzlau gate.

The star attraction of this circus was Miss Heliot, the lion tamer. Every afternoon and night she engaged in what was announced on the programme as a sham battle with a huge lion. Of course the lion is supposed to be generous enough to show himself defeated by the fair gladiator. As a rule at each performance there is a vigorous struggle, the young woman even feigning to be on the point of being torn to pieces by the apparently infuriated beast. But in the end she is always victorious and the king of beasts falls on his back and yields the fight.

One night, however, the battle looked more earnest than usual. The thrilling situations were more frequent and the animal's roar and rage sounded uncommonly ominous. It was seen by the patrons that Miss Heliot did not display her usual self-composure. There was little of the sham battle in this engagement. In fact, one blow of the lion's paw struck Miss Heliot's face and to the horror of the spectators blood flowed profusely. Then there was almost a panic when the attendants came rushing to the cage with hot irons and Miss Heliot was dragged from the arena in an unconscious state. Nevertheless, on the following day the performance was repeated, this time successfully, but since then it has been forbidden by order of the authorities.

TROLLING FOR WILDCAT.

Pennsylvania Railway Man's Unique Method of Catching a Troublesome "Varmint."

A Susquehanna (Pa.) correspondent says that Conductor Hubbard, of the Delaware & Hudson road, has made a novel record as a troller. For a week or two the trainmen have noticed a big wildcat in the vicinity of Fairview, and several times the crew discharged revolvers at it from the caboose, but the alert cat just "winked the other eye" and skurried into the laurel bushes. Then a bright idea struck Conductor Hubbard.

He had a Carbondale blacksmith make a big iron hook. This he baited with a chicken and attached a piece of bell cord to it. When the train was going down the heavy grade, the other night, Conductor Hubbard hung the line from the rear end of the caboose, keeping the chicken a few inches above the track.

When the train was rounding a sharp curve the wildcat suddenly sprang from behind a pile of railroad ties and seized the chicken. Hubbard gave a hard, quick pull, and in a moment the screaming, struggling cat was upon the platform. After a severe struggle the trainmen killed the beast with a hatchet and a crowbar. It weighed 50 pounds. Hubbard will collect the scalp bounty from the county and have the hide made into a coat to wear when hunting in the mountains next winter.

Monkey Paints Himself Red.

A pet monkey is owned by Dr. James Nevins Hyde, of Chicago. A short time ago the animal discovered a bottle of brandy in the doctor's laboratory and drank considerable of it. In a little while he felt so jolly and mischievous that he resolved to paint the town red. In his efforts to get out of the house he stumbled upon a box of carmine powder, and with this he painted himself red, from his nose to his tail.

SOME STRANGE BETS.

Osculatory Wagers of More Than Commonplace Interest.

Young German Failed to Deliver a Thousand Smacks in Immediate Succession—Second Attempt More Successful.

Four years since, at Berlin, a young man undertook to bestow, for a wager, a thousand kisses upon ten girls — a hundred on each—in immediate succession. A jury was appointed and the operator set about his task, but, although by the terms of the contract he was allowed to wash his mouth out with antiseptic water after every hundredth kiss, he broke down at the six hundredth and forty-second osculation, his swollen lips refusing any longer to obey his will. At a subsequent attempt, however, when he was permitted to rinse his mouth at every fiftieth kiss, he proved successful.

Stung to emulation by the osculatory exploits of Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, a Liverpool gentleman backed himself to the tune of £100 to "buss" in a single day a hundred women to whom he was a perfect stranger. As he was a good-looking fellow, and judicious in the choice of the ladies on whom he operated, all went well until the eighty-third attempt, when the object of his selection, an Irish virago of masculine proportions, resented his advances with such determined vigor that, when he escaped from her clutches it was with two black eyes and a contused nose.

Some ten years back a young Frenchman, M. de S——, wagered $4,000 that he would kiss every day for the space of a year a different woman in a different town, all the women to be strangers. Fortune favored him in more senses than one, for not only did he secure the stake, but won a wife as well, losing his heart to a fair maid of Rheims who had assisted him in the execution of his task.

Somewhat similar was the undertaking of a solicitor residing in one of the southern suburbs of London, who for a bet of $250 engaged to kiss every day for a week the first woman whom he might encounter as he left his house on the way to the city. For five days all went well, for his sister, whom he had let into the secret, was at hand to meet him every morning as he opened the street door.

On the sixth day, however, the other party to the wager, resolving not to be outdone in sharpness, contrived to forestall the regular recipient of the lawyer's kisses by a formidable-looking lady accompanied by a still more formidable-looking dog—a huge boarhound—which on the man of law attempting to approach its mistress, assumed such a minatory attitude that he slunk away discomfited and the poorer by $250.

Two years since a Bradford girl was assiduously courted by two lovers, between whose claims she was unable to decide. At length, at the suggestion of one of them, she agreed that on him that could kiss her the most times within ten minutes she would bestow her hand. Her other admirer being quite willing to abide by this test, a jury of lady friends was convened, and the contest, made all the keener by an added bet of $25 between the rivals, commenced. A spirited struggle took place, which ultimately went in favor of him who had proposed the ordeal, a young artisan, who thus won the bet and a wife.

A Brighton gentleman, on being chaffed by his friends on his flirting propensities, swore in a fit of pique that he would not kiss a woman for a year, and offered to back his assertion with $125. He had, however, counted without his host, for shortly afterwards losing his heart to a pretty widow, who was no believer in a cool wooer, he thought it better to sacrifice his money than his future happiness.

An election kissing wager took place a short while back at Dodge City, Kan., when Miss Lucy Withers, a pretty school mistress, on one of her admirers, named Harold Owens, offering to bet that his rival, Jerry Simpson, would not be elected to congress, agreed to wager a thousand kisses, valued at a dollar each, on Simpson's success. In the result Owens won, and received the stake in weekly installments of 20 kisses.

Gypsy Knowledge of the Future.

"It seems but little short of the miraculous," says the writer of a most interesting article on Gypsies, "to have the hidden history of one's life read so perfectly by utter strangers, but the means by which they make it appear that they do so is not entirely palmistry which, regarded as a science, has little part in gypsy fortune telling. Romanys gather every possible bit of information about the inhabitants of the neighborhood where they happen to be sojourning, by judicious questioning of servants and neighbors, and hoard the treasure in their marvelous memories. Add to this the fact that their naturally keen powers of observation have been trained for centuries to read character and life history from the face, that certain generalities always obtain with certain types of hands and faces, that general facts may apply to anyone's past history, and that only "what comes to pass" is remembered out of the mass of information given one, and you have the key to their apparent, uncanny knowledge of past and present."—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly.

The World's Best Timekeeper.

This is said to be the electric clock in the basement of the Berlin observatory, which was installed by Prof. Foerster in 1865. It is enclosed in an air-tight glass cylinder, and has frequently run for periods of two or three months with an average daily deviation of only 15-1000 of a second. Yet astronomers are not satisfied even with this, and efforts are continually made to secure ideal conditions for a clock by keeping it not only in an air-tight case, but in an underground vault where neither changes of temperature nor of barometric pressure shall ever affect it.—Scientific American.

testimony, after 7 o'clock, and he states that on the fire hydrant at Front street and Madison avenue he took nine complete turns to open it full, there being thirty-six turns on this four-way hydrant; and on the hyrdant at Central avenue and Front street his nephew took fourteen and one-half turns to open it fully, there being twenty-four turns on that two-way hydrant from shut to open. There were no witnesses to see Mr. Andrews open the hydrant at Madison avenue, but there were three at the Central avenue hydrant. One of the witnesses upon whom Mr. Andrews relied has sworn to an affidavit that the man who opened the hydrant at Central avenue, did so after a member of the fire department had partly turned the hydrant off with the intention, as he supposed, of taking the line of hose off, and was called away before the operation was complete. If the testimony of this party can be taken as favoring the water company, in that he saw the person take nine turns to open it, it can also be given the same credence as against the water company; and this being a fact, it would clear the fire department from any charge of neglect to open that hydrant. And again, there was no question raised about inadequate water pressure after 6 o'clock, and this happened after 7 o'clock.

Your committee is not in a position, owing to the limted information directly bearing upon the subject, and all that information coming from the representatives of the water company, to successfully rebut their testimony; but in order that we may have an absolute check at all times upon the pressure of the water in the mains, your committee has had installed in the office of the chief engineer of the fire department at headquarters on East Second street, [a recording water pressure gauge, and these charts will be changed daily, dated and filed away for future reference. We will then have a record of the water pressure for every minute in the year, as to which there can be no question.

The conclusions of your committee therefore are:

1. That there is a doubt, borne out by the statements of disinterested parties, that the water pressure was as high as seventy-two pounds to the square inch; as a pressure of this magnitude is calculated to throw a stream from a one and one-eighth inch nozzle eighty feet vertically in the air, sufficient to clear the top of the Babcock building, while the streams which were thrown from the ground early in the morning would not reach as high as the sills of the third story windows.

2. That the method employed by the water company in taking records is not safe from error, and being so, is open to criticism.

3. That the investigation will have a tendency to make the members of the fire department more alert in the future and be absolutely sure that a hydrant is open to its full extent, although it has not been proven to our satisfaction that the contrary was the fact in this instance.

4. That the members of the fire department deserve great credit for the manner in which they fought the fire in the Babcock building, saving one-half of the building vertically and the first floor and basement, confining the fire within its own walls.

As a sample of the letters received by the chief engineer, congratulating him and the department upon the very efficient work at the fire, we will attach copies of two of them. One letter is from a resident of Plainfield who has been connected with a fire insurance company for upward of twenty-five years, whose opinion is that of an expert in such matters.

In conclusion, the committee wishes to thank all who have assisted it in this investigation.

Respectfully submitted,

HIGH SCHOOL'S GAME AFTER HOT CONTEST

Defeated Leal's School Five Last Evening by a Score of 23 to 17.

GAME HARD FOUGHT

VERY EXCITING, ALTHOUGH NEITHER TEAM DEVELOPED BRILLIANT PLAY.

Was a Tie at the End of the First Half — More Accurate Goal Throwing Won the Game in the Second Half.

In a game full of snap and action the Plainfield High School five defeated the Leal's School team at basket ball, last evening. The score stood 23 to 17 when the whistle blew at the end of the second half. The game took place at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and was witnessed by a crowd that filled the visitors' gallery.

It was a spirited contest throughout, and it was not until the closing minutes of the game that fortune favored the High School boys. Both teams lined up in good form and fast play started immediately. The fierce but friendly struggle furnished plenty of excitement and kept the rooters on the qui vive. When the first half ended the score was a tie, 10 to 10.

In the second half the two teams began with renewed determination and the game became gradually more and more exciting. The High School lads were a trifle more accurate in goal throwing and gradually they forged ahead. A plucky fight was put up, however, by the Leal's aggregation. Neither side developed much team work. Some brilliant work was done by the opposing captains, E. Clinton Hall, of the Leal's team, and Arthur Denton, of the High School five, although some clever feats were done by others.

NEWCORN IN LEGISLATURE

Some of the Bills He Introduced and Others Which He Supported in the Assembly.

HIS WORK AT SESSION.

Summary of the Work Which Plainfield's Assemblyman Accomplished in the Lower House of the Legislature—Bills He Introduced—Senate Bills He Engineered.

Few people realize the amount of work accomplished during the last session of the lower house of the Legislature by Assemblyman William Newcorn. He was faithful in his attendance at all the sessions and his personal activity in looking after matters of interest to his district as well as the entire State, has won hearty commendation from those acquainted with his work.

A resume of the measures introduced by Mr. Newcorn is as follows:

House Bill No. 6 provides that any justice of the Supreme Court may summarily review any proceedings before any fire and police board and commission, suspending, dismissing, retiring or reducing any policeman or fireman. This bill is on the lines of the tenure of office act which was passed in 1899 providing that no officer could be dismissed or removed unless duly tried and an opportunity given to defend themselves, but no provision was made for an appeal from the judgment of that body.

House Bill No. 36 changing the term of the city assessors of third class cities to three years. This bill applies to the city of Rahway and makes the assessors' terms, whether elective or appointive, the same.

House Bill No. 37 provides that members of the volunteer fire department which have been or many be disbanded shall be entitled, after such disbandment, to the usual tax exemptions, and is intended to cover the cases at Elizabeth whereby the volunteer department went into a pay department without giving all the volunteer firemen an opportunity to serve the full time.

House Bill No. 84 corrects errors in certain acknowledgement of deeds, and is intended to validate acknowledgements taken by commissioners of deeds whose term of office has expired by virtue of his removal from the ward or district that they were appointed for.

House Bill No. 85 fixes the terms of the solicitors and clerks of the Board of Freeholders in second class counties for two years. There were a number of conflicting statutes on the books providing for the election of these officers, in some instances one year, and in some instances two years, and this act repeals all other acts and makes a uniform term running concurrent with the term of the Freeholders who are elected.

House Bill No. 133 provides that when a Board of Freeholders shall declare a court house and buildings inadequate, a committee consisting of a chairman and two members shall have charge of the erection of the new buildings. This act was passed to construe the act of 1900 and 1901 and set aside any question that might arise as to the intention of the committee who are first appointed to take charge of the construction of the court house until the completion of their work.

Took charge of House Bill No. 152, facilitating the annexation of a part of one county into another. Applies to the annexation of the borough of North Plainfield to the city of Plainfield.

House Bill No. 154 which applies to the annexation of North Plainfield, stating the boundaries.

House Bill No. 155 which provides for the manner of consolidation between the two municipalities.

Took a prominent part in Bill No. 183 which amended the State Board of Children's Guardians act by requiring that children becoming a public charge shall be placed in some family of the same religious faith of the parents of the child, or in an institution of that faith. Also empowers the State board to surrender the custody of the children to parents if thought best, and parents become capable, and are of good moral character.

Joint Resolution No. 1 which requests members of Congress to secure a clause in the next naval appropriation bill providing for the construction of war vessels in the navy yards of the country.

House Bill No. 220 authorizing counties having no county hospital to appropriate the sum not exceeding $10,000 for hospitals. This act will materially benefit Muhlenberg hospital which by the increase from $8,000 to $10,000 will receive $700 more than what it previously received from the county of Union.

House Bill No. 313 which provides for an additional appropriation for the supervisor of roads, and is in the interest of building good roads throughout the State.

Besides this he took charge of all of Senator Cross's bills and was instrumental in having them passed through the House. The following bills are Senator Cross's:

Senate Bill No. 2, a supplement to an act concerning evidence in ex parte divorce cases, which provides for the taking of depositions of witnesses out of the State in cases where there is no defense put in.

Senate Bill No. 3, which enables anyone for whose benefit any contract shall have been made to maintain an action thereon in courts of law or equity, and use the same as a manner of defense to any action brought against him.

Senate Bill No. 4 authorizes keepers of States prison, State reformatory, State home for boys, and State home for girls, when any of the inmates are suffering from a contagious disease of a dangerous character, to refuse to take any patients into their custody until medical officers of such institution shall certify that all danger is passed. The time of such prisoners while in the custody of the sheriffs shall be calculated the same as if they were in the above named institutions.

Senate Bill No. 21 provides that any unpaid taxes assessed or imposed since January 1, 1898, together with all the costs, fees, charges, etc., shall remain a first lien on the lands, tenements, herediments and real estate taxed for and during the next five years thereafter. The bill extends the period during which taxes shall be a lien on the property from two to five years.

Senate Bill No. 57 authorizes the State Board of Health, in order that local Boards of Health may be enabled to secure the services of trained sanitary inspectors, to conduct examinations at least semi-annually, to determine the qualifications of applicants. No sanitary inspector is to be chosen by local Boards of Health after January 1, 1904, unless he be licensed. This does not interfere with the continuance in office of any person now serving in that capacity. Enables local Boards of Health to create the office of medical officer of health for which a physician only will be eligible. The term of office is five years, salary to be fixed by the board.

Senate Bill No. 73 amends an act establishing the village of epileptics by changing a few technical points governing the institution and the committment of epileptics. Chief amongst these is the committing of people from insane asylums to be transferred to the village without any further commitment procedure.

Senate Bill No. 92 is a general act relating to negotiable instruments, being an act to establish a law unform with the laws of other States on this subject. This act in the entireity has been adopted by eighteen States up to date, New Jersey making the nineteenth, and also by Congress for the District of Columbia.

Senate Bill No. 96 provides that the term of office of every elective officer, except justice of the peace, holding office in any city at the passage of the act February 28, 1901, (The Meeker Act) which term shall legally expire between January 1 and January 7 shall be limited so as to expire at noon January 1 in the year of which his term of office would otherwise have expired. This act was passed for the benefit of the city of Plainfield where all the terms of officers expired on the first Monday of January at noon.

Senate Bill No. 97 relates to the taking of evidence in civil suits when witnesses are absent from the State. This act is an extension of the law of evidence so that testimony of a witness who lives in the State and hides out of the State can be taken just the same as if he were a material witness who did not reside in the State.

Senate Bill No. 147 empowers savings banks by a majority of its managers to extend its corporate powers for a time not to exceed fifty years. This applies to the city of Rahway and confers the right on the savings bank of that city to file its certificate of incorporation the same as at present under the corporation act.

Senate Bill No. 148 enables private library associations to take by gift or grant any real estate not to exceed the value of sixty thousand dollars, said property not to be exempt from taxes. Under the old law they could only receive private bequests up to the amount of ten thousand dollars.

DENTON AND CAHOONE WON THE CONTESTS

Results Announced of Athletic and Gymnastic Contests at the Y. M. C. A.

THE POINTS SCORED.

BOYS' ATHLETIC CONTEST WAS WON BY FRANCIS ANDERSON.

In Gymnastic Contest Seven Started, and But Three Finished—Fifteen Started in the Athletic Contest, While Only Five Remained.

Results of the gymnastic and athletic contests, which have just closed at the Y. M. C. A., have been announced by Physical Director Heywood. Arthur Denton won the former and Walter Cahoone the latter. The contests commenced March 1, and ended Saturday evening, one gymnastic and two athletic events taking place each successive Saturday evening, with one exception.

In the gymnastic contests seven candidates started and but three finished. GIVEN MANAGEMENT TO BOARD OF GOVERNORS

The Cedar Brook Tennis Club Made a Change in Its Methods Last Night.

A NEW CONSTITUTION.

THE MEMBERSHIP LIMIT WAS INCREASED TO THIRTY.

Many More Applicants Than There Are Vacant Places in the Club—Old Officers Re-elected—Officers Form Board of Governors.

Having outgrown its original method of government, the Cedar Brook Tennis Club adopted a new constitution at a meeting, held last evening, and transferred the management of the club to a board of governors to be composed of the five officers. The meeting was held at the home of the president, J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue.

The principal business was the adoption of the constitution. It will do away with last season's trouble of getting a quorum of members out to transact business, the governors now having complete control. There is a provision which places the age limit of active membership at eighteen.

Under the provisions of the new constitution, an election of officers, were re-elected as follows: President, J. Hervey Doane; first vice president and chairman of the tennis committee, Charles B. Morse; second vice president and chairman of the grounds committee, John H. Doane; treasurer, James A. Stafford; secretary, Alden E. Moore.

The membership committee was appointed last evening by President Doane as follows: Willard M. Miner, chairman; Frederick J. Pope and Harold Nomer. The other committees will be announced later.

A meeting of the board of governors followed the club meeting. Plans for the coming season were formulated and two new members were elected. Seven applications were received. The new constitution increases the membership limit from twenty-five to thirty. There are now many more applicants than there are vacant places in the club.

ALL PLEASED WITH NEW COUNCIL ROOMS

The Members of City Council Were Highly Delighted With the New Headquarters.

OWNERS WELL PLEASED.

ALL FURNITURE IN PLACE EXCEPT THE DESKS FOR THE REPORTERS.

Committee Rooms are a Valuable Addition to the Chambers—The Acoustic Properties are Noticeably Excellent—Other Features.

There is such a cozy and home-like aspect about the new Common Council rooms in the Smalley building that one dislikes to leave the place. It was some time after Monday night's meeting before the members departed. They seemed to enjoy the rooms. They inspected the various features and favorably commented upon each.

All of the furniture, with the exception of an extra desk for the reporters, has arrived and is in position. The newspapermen have been well taken care of in the new arrangement and their appreciation is extended to where credit is due. In the selection of the carpet for the big rooms, an excellent choice has been made. Mr. Mellick made the selection and a more appropriate covering for the floor could not have been made.

As previously stated the acoustic properties of the room are perfect. This is a decided feature. There is no effort necessary to hear what is said and every member of the Council as well as those in the lobby can hear without the slightest trouble every word spoken. The approach to the Council room through a broad and spacious hallway, well-lighted and ventilated, is a desirable feature.

Not the least of those who are well pleased with the new quarters are Smalley brothers, who own the building. They experience much satisfaction, not only in knowing that they have one of the best built structures in the city, but that the Council is well pleased with the arrangement.

The committee rooms are a valuable addition and their arrangement in connection with the main room is just suited for the purpose for which they are intended. In every way the quarters present an up-to-date appearance, which would do credit to any city.

SUPPED ON OYSTERS.

Weather Did Not Interfere With Last Night's Plans of Veterans.

The weather did not interfere with the oyster supper given last evening by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. There was a good attendance of veterans.

During the business session Henry Grossman, of Westfield, was mustered in. At the conclusion of the business the oyster supper was enjoyed. The feast was prepared by William Day, assisted by several comrades, and everyone voted the affair a success.

In connection with the supper there was a social time and an exchange of war incidents which helped to pass a pleasant evening.

JUST MISSED HER.

Falling Tile Struck Just Behind Mrs. Warnock as She Was Passing.

Carelessness on the part of workmen at the Babcock building nearly resulted in serious if not fatal injury to Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of Craig place, yesterday afternoon. She was passing down the Madison avenue side of the building when a large piece of tiling, such as is used on the upper part of the structure, fell from the top floor to the sidewalk directly behind her. It flew into fragments some of which struck her, inflicting bruises. Mrs. Warnock was partly overcome by her narrow escape.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 9—The regular meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders was held in the Court House here yesterday. Mr. Lutkins was absent because of illness.

It was decided to erect a new bridge at Woodfern and bids for the same will be opened April 22, as will also bids for repairs to the river bridge below Somerville.

Former Freeholder Oliver H. Perry, of Pottersville, was elected county supervisor of roads. There were three candidate for the office. Those besides Mr. Perry were John C. STREETS IN BOROUGH.

Councilman Arnold is Planning for Active Work in the Various Thoroughfares in Borough.

Councilman James K. Arnold, chairman of the borough street committee, is rushing the work of repairing the various thoroughfares throughout the borough. He has a force of men engaged in patching up generally and as soon as this task is completed other work will be commenced.

Park place, Summit avenue and Rockview avenue are among the thoroughfares which will occupy his attention. These streets are in bad condition and he proposes to put a top dressing on each of them. There has been a scarcity in men and carts lately, but this he believes will be overcome before long. One thing he is determined upon, he says, and that is that the work shall not take all summer. He wishes the improvements rushed so that the people may enjoy the good roads before the fall.

ELECTS WHITENACK.

If Judge Schenck Sustains Action of Somerset County Board in Throwing Out Votes.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 9—The Somerset County Board of Elections met in the Court House Monday to recount the ballots cast for Freeholder in Bernards township at the recent spring election.

By the count of the local board, after the closing of the polls, John V. Bunn, Republican, was declared the winner by one majority over John A. Whitenack, Democrat. The latter at once employed counsel and asked for a recount.

The County Board was engaged nearly all of Monday and twenty-two Bunn votes, which did not comply with the election laws, were thrown out. This will elect Whitenack beyond a doubt, if Judge Schenck sanctions the action of the County Board.

INVITED IN RHYME.

The Guests to Miss Cairn's Musicale Responded in Like Fashion.

In spite of yesterday's severe storm a large number of friends attended the charming musicale given in the afternoon by Miss Edith Cairns at her home on West Fifth street. The early part of the afternoon was devoted entirely to music. Mr. Haslanger, of Brooklyn, well known in musical circles, sang several charming songs to the delight of the audience. He was accompanied by Miss Smith, of this city. Miss Cairns played several piano selections, showing great skill and ability in her execution.

A unique feature of the entertainment was the reading by Miss Cairns of the responses to her invitations. The invitations were in rhyme with the request that the answers should be in rhyme. Some of the replies were very clever and all were amusing. Refreshments and a delightful social time concluded the afternoon's enjoyment.

TO PROTECT PEOPLE.

Wooden Awning Being Built in Front of Babcock Building.

Carpenters are engaged in erecting a frame awning in front of the Babcock building so that as soon as the insurance is adjusted on the building the work of rebuilding may be started at once. This awning will form a protection to people entering or leaving the postoffice or Woodhull & Martin's store and will be the means of doing away with the ropes that have heretofore been in front of the building.

HOLDING BACK NEW SCHOOL

SAID THAT SCHOOL TRUSTEES FEAR IT WOULD HELP ON CONSOLIDATION.

Most of Them are Making Hard Fight Against Annexation—One Reason Given.

Most of the members of the Borough Board of Education are making a hard fight to prevent the question of annexation and consolidation from being submitted to the voters. Almost every man in its employ is being sent about on a house to house canvas soliciting signatures to printed slips requesting the Governor not to sign the bills. In addition to this, men are being paid by some one to obtain such signatures. Much indignation is expressed in the borough at the methods being used by opponents of the measures to mislead the Governor.

A prominent borough citizen, who has taken an active stand in opposition to the bills, was asked this morning why the anti-annexationists were afraid to submit the question to the people and he replied, "Because the rabble would have just as much right to vote as the wealthy property owner and we fear they would beat us."

It is said that members of the Board of Education are holding back a call for a meeting to authorize building a new schoolhouse, for fear the announcement that one is necessary would increase the consolidation sentiment.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A few evenings ago, at the meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association, Lewis E. Barkalew entertained the members by singing "Ben Bolt." He put much expression in the words, which brought back pleasant memories. It recalled to him incidents in Plainfield sixty years ago. At that time the sentimental poem about "sweet Alice," had just appeared. It had been set to music and was the popular song in England and America. Thomas Dunn English, the composer, who by the way recently died in Newark, had shortly before been graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and this was one of his youthful compositions. The song was sung on land and sea. Mr. Barkalew first heard it rendered in Laing's Hotel, which stood on the present site of the Babcock building's ruins and has vividly recollections of the rage over that selection.

NAVAL STATION SITES.

Admiral Bradford Reports Result of a Hurried Inspection.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Admiral Bradford, chief of the equipment bureau and the navy department expert on coal supplies, has returned to Washington from a rapid trip of inspection of possible sites for naval and coaling stations in Cuba. The Platt amendment provides that immediately after the erection of the independent Cuban government the United States and Cuba shall negotiate for the acquisition by the former of suitable naval and coaling stations in Cuba.

Nothing developed in the course of the trip to change Admiral Bradford's formerly expressed views as to the proper location of four naval and coaling stations in Cuba—namely, at Havana and Nipe on the north coast and Guantanamo and Cienfuegos on the south.

The exact location chosen in Havana harbor, at Triscornia, on the east side of the bay, is believed to be sufficiently removed from the city proper to make it acceptable to the Cubans, as it would involve no menace to the city or its defenses.

A hasty inspection of San Juan harbor, Porto Rico, resulted in the immediate condemnation of that place as a site for a naval station not only because of the impossibility of protecting the harbor from easy and direct fire from the open sea, but also because of its dangerous entrance and the enormous amount of money that would be required to make the harbor approachable for heavy ships.

St. Thomas, in the Danish West Indies, it is stated, is the only perfect harbor in that section of the West Indies.

Root Issues Tariff Order.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Secretary Root, after consulting with the treasury authorities, has issued instructions to Acting Civil Governor Luke Wright of the Philippine Islands to give effect to that part of the Philippine tariff act which provides for a rebate of the export duties on goods shipped from the Philippines into the United States. This matter is realized to be one of great importance and has caused much agitation in Europe and especially in London, where the vast manila rope industry is threatened with a severe blow by the advantage that will be given to ropemakers in the United States through the remission of the export duty, which will be collected in full from European shippers. Aside from hemp the regulations apply to all raw materials coming from the Philippines on which export duties are levied.

Maryland Has Snow Blockade.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 9.—Preparations are being made to meet a flood which is regarded as inevitable. The fall of snow during the last twenty-four hours covered the ground to a depth of eighteen inches at all points within a radius of a hundred miles. A heavy rain is now falling. The creeks are torrents, and the Potomac river is rising rapidly. Nearly all the country roads are blocked, wires are crippled, and trains are delayed by landslides on various roads. The Baltimore and Ohio was closed for ten hours near Sir John's run by a slide which annihilated a portion of a passing freight train.

Great Damage From Heavy Snow.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 9.—There is stagnation in the coal business on account of the storm, and 15,000 to 20,000 men were compelled to stop work on public improvements in northern West Virginia. Great distress is reported from railroads in the interior, and all rural mail routes are abandoned by the carriers throughout the mountains. The loss by collapsing buildings and delayed traffic in this region will reach many thousands of dollars.

Deepest Snow of the Season.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 9.—The deepest snow of the year has covered the coke region to a depth of sixteen inches, and business of all kinds is nearly stagnated by the weather. Trains on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad are still running cautiously, but if the snow continues a general holdup is expected. Street railways are paralyzed.

Severe Gale at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 9.—A severe wind and rain storm which prevailed here for several hours wrecked the wireless telegraph station tower on Rhode Island avenue, damaged the roof of the Marine hall on the steel pier, broke a large number of windows and damaged the Fisher hotel, near the inlet.

Export Grain Scarce.

BOSTON, April 9.—Grain has become so scarce for export at this port that transatlantic steamers now leaving have been obliged to take out coal and water as ballast because they could not get cargoes of grain.

Factory Fatality at Stockholm.

STOCKHOLM, April 9.—As a result of a fire in a factory here a wall of the building fell in, killing six persons and injuring eight others.

SOFT COAL TROUBLES

Grievances of Miners Before Executive Board of Union.

WEST VIRGINIA SITUATION OMINOUS

Action of the Conference Kept a Secret, but It Is Quite Likely That a Strike Will Be Ordered.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 9.—The trouble in the block coalfields of this state, where 2,500 men are on strike, has been called to the attention of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers' association, and the afternoon was spent in going over the situation there.

Negotiations have not been entirely broken off, it is understood, to effect a reconciliation before the national board takes any action.

It was decided to appoint a committee of two of the board members to act in concert with the district officers to arrange a settlement of the difficulty with the operators.

In case the operators do not yield to the demands of the men it is likely the strikers will be upheld and preparations made to wage a vigorous fight.

The West Virginia situation was taken up, although it had been set as a special order for today. The district president and several local officers of the field arrived yesterday and were heard. The utmost secrecy was maintained in regard to what action was taken, but it would not be surprising if a strike order is issued within a few days.

The miners, it is well known, have for two years tried hard to organize the district and force the operators to recognize the union. Their efforts have been resisted by the officers of the mining companies, who have always refused to treat with the union.

Some time ago President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson were authorized to make a last effort to arrange a conference with the operators. They made a report in regard to the conditions in the field and of their negotiations with the operators to the board. This report was kept secret, but it is believed a total failure to bring the operators to an agreement was reported.

An order to strike would affect between 20,000 and 25,000 men, it is said.

The situation in the anthracite field has not yet been taken up.

High Tide on Long Island.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Continuous rain and a strong wind developed an extremely high tide for April along the Coney Island shore yesterday, and a portion of the board concourse between Brighton and West Brighton became completely submerged. The tar and stone pavement was ripped up, and the park lands are strewn with stones and pieces of asphalt. The tide rose as far back as the veranda of the Manhattan Beach hotel, and at Brighton Beach it looked as if more of the beach would permanently disappear beneath the constantly beating waves. The tide along the Brighton Beach end was the highest recorded in years for this season.

A Fight With Moonshiners.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 9.—News has been received here of a fight between three moonshiners and revenue officers a mile and a half from the Meeting Creek postoffice, in Hardin county, about seventy-five miles from this city, during which Asa Humble, an alleged moonshiner, was killed, and Deputy Revenue Collector R. A. Hancock of Louisville, who was leading the pursuing posse, narrowly escaped death, a rifle ball grazing his head and leaving its mark. The other two moonshiners made their escape, one of them, it is thought, being wounded.

Rhodes' Remains at Bulawayo.

BULAWAYO, Matabeleland, April 9.—The funeral train conveying the body of Cecil Rhodes, which left Cape Town April 3, has arrived here. The town was draped in mourning, and practically the entire population assembled at the railroad station and accompanied the coffin to the drill hall, where it is now lying in state. Masses of wreaths and other floral emblems are banked about the bier.

Chinese Revolt Against Taxation.

TIENTSIN, April 9.—Three thousand Chinese troops and a number of Krupp guns have been dispatched to southern Mongolia, where the people are in revolt against the severe indemnity taxation. Several villages have been strongly fortified, and their inhabitants are determined to fight. They say they are assured of the assistance of 30,000 disaffected persons.

Carrier Pigeons' Long Flight.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 9.—The longest flight of carrier pigeons owned in this country has just ended. The birds belong to Edward Somers of Staunton and were taken to Manatee, Fla., where Mr. Somers is spending the winter. The birds were released and arrived home in good order, making a flight of 900 miles in thirty-six hours.

More Electric "L" Trains.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Manhattan railway has began operating ten trains by electricity on the Third avenue line as well as all the regular trains on the Second avenue line. Stations on the Second avenue line as far up town as Nineteenth street are now lighted by electricity.

Notified to Strike.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 9.—The coal operators here state that the members of the United Mine Workers of America have been notified along the Norfolk and Western railway to strike. The operators believe but few men will obey the order.

A WARM WELCOME.

President and Party Guests of Charleston.

BANQUET AND RECEPTION AT NIGHT

Distinguished Visitors Met Five Miles Outside of City by Citizens' Committee—A Tour of the Historic Harbor.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 9.—A warm southern sun was shining brightly as President Roosevelt and his party entered the historic and aristocratic city of Charleston. The trip from Washington over the Southern railroad was made on schedule time, and not a delay marred the pleasure of the journey.

Added to the ideal day was the cordiality of the southern people all along the route, notably at Charlottesville and Lynchburg. Enthusiasm manifested itself by cheers of welcome whenever the president made his appearance.

The party did not come into the city at once, but left the train five miles out, where trolley cars were waiting to convey them to the naval station to take the revenue cutter Algonquin for a tour of the harbor.

After the committee and guests had gone aboard the Algonquin started. Passing down Cooper river, a fine view of the city and the opening of the bay was presented. Passing into the bay, the Algonquin came abreast of the cruiser Cincinnati, whose decks were manned with all her crew, as well as the Topeka and Lancaster. As the president's vessel passed each ship a salute of twenty-one guns was fired. Off the fortifications of Sullivan's island the Algonquin was greeted with the same welcome, and she passed out to the ocean amid a chorus of guns.

Just a little run to the sea, and the Algonquin turned about and re-entered the harbor, passing around historic Fort Sumter. While steaming up the bay luncheon was served in the cabin of the cutter. A short run was made up the Ashley river, giving a view of the city's western water front, and then the ship was headed back for the landing, where a troop of the Charleston Light dragoons was in waiting to escort the president to his headquarters at the St. John hotel.

All the arrangements were excellent, and there was not a break in the programme. The president seemed in high spirits and entered with keen zest into all the features of the occasion. In the evening the banquet given by the city in honor of the president was served at the Charleston hotel. While this was in progress Mrs. Roosevelt held a reception at the St. John, to which 500 invitations had been issued. No men were present.

The ballroom was exquisitely decorated for the occasion and was in keeping with the splendid toilets of the 500 handsomely gowned women who came to do honor to the president's charming wife. Mrs. Roosevelt and the ladies of her party occupied a dais near the southern end of the room and received the guests, who were introduced by Mrs. Andrew Simonds, Jr., of this city. The reception began at 9 o'clock and lasted until after midnight.

Glass Blowers Strike.

BRIDGETON, N. J., April 9.—Most of the glass blowers employed by the More-Jonas Glass company here and at Minatola are on strike in order to force the company to unionize their plants. A few of the shops of the company are still in operation, but President Denis Hayes of the Glass Blowers' union says that fully 350 men will be on strike in the course of a day or two. Union men are watching the company's plants both here and at Minatola and will attempt to persuade newcomers from going to work for the company.

Socialist Mobs In Brussels.

BRUSSELS, April 9.—Following a Socialist meeting held here at which the speakers urged force to come to the aid of reason in obtaining universal suffrage 1,500 demonstrators paraded the streets of the city and came in collision with the police. As a result some of the rioters and some of the policemen were wounded. A portion of the mob then tried to demonstrate in front of the palace of Prince Albert of Belgium. Here they were charged by the police, and three were wounded.

Admiral Schley In Central New York

UTICA, N. Y., April 9.—Admiral Schley, who was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce Monday night, visited two of the high schools in the morning and made three addresses to 2,500 pupils. Later he held an informal reception for an hour at the Y. M. C. A., shaking hands with a large number. The admiral left for New York at noon.

Cattle Train Wrecked.

UTICA, N. Y., April 9.—A live stock train bound east was thrown from the rails on the West Shore near Vernon by a derailed empty car on a train passing on the westbound track. Twenty stock cars went into the ditch, and twenty-five cattle were killed.

Snow In Virginia.

ROANOKE, Va., April 9.—Snow has fallen here, and the weather has turned very cold. The mountains are covered with several inches of snow. Farther west the mercury has registered 2 degrees below freezing, and snow has been falling at intervals.

"Sweep" Bill a Law.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 9.—Governor Odell has signed the "sweep" bill of Senator Stranahan, which authorizes the adjustment of salaries and positions in the New York city municipal service.

SMITH ORDERED SLAUGHTER.

Major Waller Contradicts Evidence of Commanding General.

MANILA, April 9.—Major Littleton W. T. Waller of the marine corps at the session of the court martial by which he is being tried on the charge of executing natives of Samar without trial testified in rebuttal of evidence given by General Jacob H. Smith, who commanded the American troops in the island of Samar.

The major said General Smith instructed him to kill and burn; said that the more he killed and burned the better pleased he would be; that it was no time to take prisoners, and that he was to make Samar a howling wilderness. Major Waller asked General Smith to define the age limit for killing, and he replied, "Everything over ten." The major repeated this order to Captain Porter, saying:

"We do not make war in that way on old men, women and children."

Captain David D. Porter, Captain Hiram I. Bears and Lieutenant Frank Halford, all of the marine corps, testified corroboratively.

The defense requested that a subpœna be served on the adjutant general demanding the production of the records of the massacre at Balangiga of the detachment of the Ninth infantry in order to refute the statement of General Smith to the effect that the attack on the troops was made according to the laws of war. The request was granted.

Acquittal Ordered For Flaherty.

GENESEO, N. Y., April 9.—The case of the people versus Charles Flaherty, the former priest who was charged with manslaughter, which has been on trial in the Livingston county court for nearly two weeks, came to a speedy termination last evening by the judge directing the jury to render a verdict of acquittal. This was at the conclusion of the prosecution's testimony. In many respects the case was the most remarkable ever tried in this county. In the first place, the defendant acted as his own attorney. He has twice been convicted of assault, and each time he has succeeded in getting a reversal of judgment from the court of appeals, the indictment being finally dismissed.

More Armor Accepted.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The naval bureau of ordnance has tested an eleven inch Bethlehem plate representing the last group of armor for the battleship Maine at the Indian Head proving grounds. The trial was pronounced satisfactory, and the group of armor represented was formally accepted. It is expected to complete the deliveries of armor for the Maine before the end of this month.

Taft's Return Delayed.

CINCINNATI, April 9.—Although Governor William H. Taft has been released from the hospital and has been walking out and attending to correspondence at the house of his brother, Charles P. Taft, he is not yet entirely recovered, and his surgeon has advised him to wait at least until April 15 before beginning the duties that precede his return to the Philippines.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS BURNED.

St. John's Military Academy at Manlius, N. Y., In Ashes.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 9.—St. John's Military school at Manlius, ten miles east of this city, a military institution for boys founded in 1869 by Right Rev. F. D. Huntington, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of central New York, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin, which broke out at 5:30 o'clock last evening, less than two hours after the close of the school session.

The building was a three story brick structure, and the fire spread from the top story to a gymnasium to the east and thence to a chapel in the rear. The volunteer fire department of Manlius was called out and assisted 130 students in fighting the flames.

The loss is variously estimated at from $75,000 to $125,000, exclusive of personal property of the students, a good share of which was destroyed. School will be held in temporary quarters, and a new building will be constructed at once.

TALKED WITH MORGAN.

Promises Irishmen to Favor Sending the Columbia to Cork.

QUEENSTOWN, April 9.—The delegation from Cork, headed by the lord mayor of that city, which purposed to meet J. Pierpont Morgan when the White Star liner Oceanic arrived here and urge him to send the Columbia to Cork to compete in the forthcoming contests for the king's cup, missed the tender and was therefore unable to board the Oceanic. The delegation, however, interviewed Mr. Morgan from the deck of a special tug.

Mr. Morgan, leaning over the rail of the Oceanic, asked a number of questions concerning the details of the regatta and promised to take up the matter in London. He said he would do his best to insure the presence of the Columbia at Cork during the races.

Riots In Jamaica Quelled.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 9.—The rioting which broke out at Montego Bay, on the north coast of the island, last Saturday night, during which a number of policemen and rioters were wounded, has ceased, and Montego Bay is quiet. The rioters are overawed by the presence there of the cruiser Tribune, and it is uncertain whether further demonstrations will occur. The acting governor of Jamaica and the other officials who went to Montego Bay have returned here. Excitement still prevails in other parts of the island, and the police are preparing to make arrests.

Manchurian Convention Signed.

PEKING, April 9.—The Manchurian convention has been signed. The ratification will take place three months from date. The Russians undertake to restore the Newchwang and Shanhaikwan railroad to the Chinese when the British relinquish control of the railway in Chili province. Sir Ernest Satow, the British minister here, is, however, negotiating to secure a large preponderance of British administrative control in the latter railway after it is handed over to the Chinese.

Another Alleged British Camp.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 9.—Governor Dockery's attention has been called to the alleged British war supply camp at Lathrop, Mo. The governor said he knows nothing about the operations of the British there, other than a market has been operated at Lathrop for the past ten years by private individuals, supplying the United States government with horses and mules as well as the British government.

It Was All a Joke.

ELKHART, Ill., April 9.—Jasper Oglesby, twenty-year-old son of the late Governor Richard J. Oglesby, has arrived at his home here after a trip abroad. He emphatically denied the report of his engagement to marry a wealthy New York society lady. He alleges a friend, as a joke, announced the engagement. The dinner on board the steamer St. Paul, he says, was given in honor of a man and woman who were really engaged.

Troops Home From Porto Rico.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 9.—The Second battalion of the Eleventh infantry, which has been stationed in Porto Rico for four years, has arrived here on the Red D line steamer Maracaibo. Major Jackson was in command. Nearly 300 of the men were discharged, their terms having expired. About 120 left yesterday afternoon for San Francisco, where they will sail for Manila for permanent duty.

The Tennessee Derby.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 9.—The Tennessee Derby, at a mile and an eighth, valued at about $6,000, was won by George C. Bennett's Hanover colt Abe Frank by a neck from Lou Woods. Buccleuth finished third, a length away. The weather was bright and clear, and about 25,000 persons were present. Only four starters faced the flag.

The Susquehanna Rising.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., April 9.—The result of the heavy rain of the last thirty-six hours is a seven and a half foot flood in the Susquehanna river at this point and rapidly rising. This materially aided the movement of logs down the stream, the logs now running thick. The main river log drive is between here and Curwinsville.

Thread Workers on a Strike.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 9.—About 250 employees in the J. & P. Coates company (limited), comprising backboys, doffers and tubers in mills 3, 4 and 5, are out on strike. They demanded an increase of 10 per cent in wages. Their going out will affect several hundred spinners.

A TEST VOTE TAKEN

Cuban Relief Bill Up In House by Ninety-six Majority.

BOTH PARTIES HOPELESSLY DIVIDED

Republican Leader Payne Makes the Opening Address—Senator Cullom Protests Against Chinese Exclusion Bill In Present Form.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The first day of the debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill, which opened in the house yesterday, was disappointing from a spectacular standpoint. There were no sensational clashes after the debate was actually begun, and none of the bitterness which was expected to crop out on the floor came to the surface. The vote on the motion to go into committee of the whole to consider the bill, however, developed the lines of cleavage and showed that the Democrats are quite as much divided on the question as is the majority. In the division, which is regarded as practically a test vote on the bill, 113 Republicans and 63 Democrats voted for the motion and 41 Republicans and 39 Democrats against it. The vote was in reality more embarrassing to the Democrats than to the Republicans, as the members of the minority had called a conference for last night at which they desired to get together on a course of action. The vote forced the hands of the Democrats as individuals before the caucus. Mr. Payne, the Republican leader, opened the debate for the bill in a strong speech which commanded close attention from both sides of the house. There were only two other speeches.

Mr. Newlands (Dem., Nev.) took the position that the concession should not be made to Cuba unless she were invited at the same time to become a part of the United States. Mr. McClellan (Dem., N. Y.), who was the last speaker, favored a 50 per cent reduction for the benefit of Cuba, but gave notice that if the rate of reduction was not increased he would vote for the bill. He contended that reciprocity was in line with time honored doctrine and that while Republicans might fear it Democrats should not.

A vigorous protest was made in the senate by Mr. Cullom (Ill.) against the passage of the Chinese exclusion bill in its present form. Coming from the chairman of the committee on foreign relations, the protest made a deep impression on the senate. Mr. Cullom, while expressing himself as in favor of the exclusion of Chinese laborers, said that many of the provisions of the pending measure were in contravention of our treaty obligations with China. He urged that the United States could not afford to ignore its solemn treaties, although he conceded the authority of congress to enact the proposed law if it saw fit to do so.

Mr. Patterson (Colo.) and Mr. Perkins (Cal.) supported the pending bill, maintaining that in no way did it contravene existing treaties, as by the convention of 1894 China had agreed that Chinese laborers should be excluded from this country. The bill was drastic in its provisions, they admitted, but no more so than was necessary to eliminate the possibility of fraud.

Will Contest Settled.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., April 9.—The litigation over the will of the late Thomas Armstrong of Plattsburg, in which he attempted to bequeath his entire estate, valued at $250,000, to Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., cutting off his wife and son, Emmett Armstrong, with practically nothing, has been abruptly terminated here during the trial of a suit in the supreme court before Justice Houghton by amicable settlement outside of court. The college officials, it was stated, agreed to give Emmett Armstrong one-half of the estate. Most of the real estate that Mr. Armstrong will get is located in Boston. Thomas Armstrong died here in 1895.

Embassy Buildings Plenty.

BERLIN, April 9.—If the United States wants an embassy building here, it can have its pick among the most magnificent residences of the German capital. Since the offer to sell the Borsig palace to the state department at Washington for this purpose was published the embassy has received tenders for more than twenty residences. Among these is an offer to sell the palace of Prince von Pless, which adjoins the Borsig palace. Some of these offers will be forwarded to Washington.

Contract For Government Paper.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Bids have been opened at the treasury department for distinctive paper used for United States government notes, checks, etc. The only bid presented was that of Crane & Co. of Dalton, Mass., the present contractors. The price was 43½ cents a pound for note paper, the same as for the present year, and 30 cents a pound for check paper. The last price is 3½ cents a pound lower than under the present contract. The bid was accepted.

Count Matsukata Visits Financiers.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Count Matsukata, former prime minister of Japan, who is now in this city, visited the financial district with M. Uchida, the Japanese consul in this city. The count denied that his visit had any official significance. Reports that the Japanese government contemplates negotiating a loan here are declared to be untrue.

ATHENS, O., April 9.—The Republicans of the Eleventh district have nominated Hon. Charles H. Grosvenor for congress by acclamation. General Grosvenor made an address, accepting the nomination.

ARBOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

In nearly every State and Territory of the Union, either custom or law has decreed that one day of the year shall be set apart for the planting of trees.

Therefore, I, Franklin Murphy, governor of the State of New Jersey, pursuant to the authority vested in me by a joint resolution of the Legislature, approved February 21, 1884, do hereby designate Friday, the twenty-fifth day of April, as Arbor Day, and I hereby recommend that the teachers and pupils of our public and private schools, the faculties and students of our colleges and of our State schools, and the people generally, to devote the day to the planting of trees, shubs and flowers, and the holding of appropriate exercises. And to the end that the interest awakened in our native birds be maintained, their beauty and economic value become better appreciated, and a more general effort be made to preserve them, I further recommend that the birds, as well as the trees, be included in each programme.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Trenton, this first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and two.

Franklin Murphy.

THE OPPOSITION'S ARGUMENT.

It is not an argument that is likely to injure the future of the Greater Plainfield bills when the anti-annexationists declare that the people of North Plainfield cannot be trusted to decide for themselves whether or not they desire to transfer their allegiance from Somerset to Union county. The question has now narrowed down to that.

When the hearing was held before the Senate committee the only fight was for a chance to allow the borough citizens to decide for themselves. That was decided to be perfectly fair and the amendment was made to the bill. Now the very men, who demanded that the people be allowed to settle the question for themselves, are bitterly opposed to this same referendum. No wonder the newspapers throughout the State are beginning to remark on the illogical course of the opposition. It cannot be understood.

The reason has, however, been stated by more than one anti-annexationist. They fear to leave it to a vote of the people. The "rabble," they say, would vote for it and carry it despite the contrary desires of many of the wealthy property owners. Is that a government of the people by the people? It has far more the appearance of a despotism. Certainly the borough of North Plainfield has not reached that corrupt and degenerate stage that its own affairs cannot be left to the intelligence of its citizens for a proper settlement. There is no call for any self constituted committee of citizens to attempt to decide what the borough shall or shall not do. The people are perfectly capable of being trusted.

When a man sincerely believes that he cannot trust his fellow citizens to settle the affairs of the community, things have reached a deplorable state. If the men who are today opposing the signing of the Greater Plainfield bills, will only carefully and fairly consider the subject, they must see how utterly opposed their action is to all the principles of the American nation, an attempt on the part of a few to settle a question that concerns all. It is the people's right to decide the questions of annexation and consolidation for themselves and the man who attempts to interfere with that right, is an obstacle to the welfare and progress of the community.

There is nothing particularly definite in the report of the Councilmanic committee on the investigation made over the trouble with the water pressure at the Bacbcock building fire. In fact, it is rather disappointing. It may be that the committee obtained all the information that was possible but the public looked forward to something of a definite character. It was also understood that the police committee was to participate in the investigation and thoroughly investigate the rumors regarding that department which were rife immediately after the fire. So far, however, nothing at all has been heard from that end of the investigation. The investigation has accomplished one thing. It has resulted in the establishment of the necessary apparatus which will settle hereafter beyond a doubt just what pressure the water company furnishes at all hours.

In the interest over the fate of the Greater Plainfield bills and the press of other matters, very little has been said in these columns of the work in the Legislature of Assemblyman William Newcorn, the only local representative at Trenton. In another column will be found a resume of the bills which Mr. Newcorn introduced and of those in the passage of which he took a prominent part. It is not until the results of Mr. Newcorn's work are thus summed up, that their extent can be appreciated.

The second appearance in Plainfield of Josef Hofmann this season means that the music loving people of this city are to be unusually favored. A word of praise is justly due to Ward Stephens who has been the means in bringing that famous pianist here. It will be an event of social and musical prominence.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra has made its first appearance in public and the result was eminently satisfactory. A large audience enjoyed the programme. This organization is one which has long been desired but which has only been made a reality.

FIRST APPEARANCE.

Lehigh Boys Will Give a Dramatic Production Tomorrow Night.

Under the auspices and patronage of many prominent women of this city, the Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Association, of Lehigh University, at South Bethlehem, Pa., will make its first appearance at the Casino, tomorrow night, in a laughable three-act farce, entitled, "The Fem. Seminary."

The organization is now in the fifteenth year of its existence, and is very popular in the several Pennsylvania cities, where its annual appearance is attended with great success and crowded audiences. The farce is said to be very clever, affording good opportunity for display of dramatic ability and the dressing of the several female roles, marvels in correctness of detail.

The appearance of the organization is exciting some interest here, especially among college men and graduates. Reserved seats can be secured at Armstrong's pharmacy.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. You don't have to diet. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

LADIES' NIGHT.

Special Features Arranged for Court Watchung's Meeting Thursday.

In place of the regular meeting, tomorrow evening, Court Watchung, No. 3,871, I. O. F., will have a "ladies night." A brief musical programme will be given after which there will be a bowling contest among the guests for a suitable prize. It will be the first time the women have ever been entertained in the court chambers in G. A. R. hall. The high chief ranger and the high secretary are expected to be present.

Good Time for Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rienzi Hopkins, of West Second street, entertained a number of friends last evening. Dancing and music were the features of the occasion. Among those present were the Misses Florence Bowser, Mabel Jones, Sara Jones and Anna Connett, and Joseph Robinson, Oliver Marcellus, James Bowser, Mahlon Hurling, Charles Hunt, John Hunt, Wm. Smith, George Hill and Leslie Kingsley.

Invited to Mission Meeting.

The members of the various churches in this city have been invited to attend a foreign mission meeting in the First Reformed church, of New Brunswick, tomorrow, at which time Dr. and Mrs. Underwood, of Corea, will speak. The afternoon meeting at 3 o'clock will be for women and a general meeting for everyone will be held in the evening at 8 o'clock.

Play for Class Night.

The senior class of the North Plainfield High School promises to give a play on its "class night." Several dramas have been mentioned and it is likely that the "School for Scandal" will be selected. Miss Grace E. Overton will act as coach. A meeting of the class will be held Friday and at time a play will be chosen.

Reception of Templars.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will visit Clinton Commandery, No. 14, K. T., of Brooklyn, this evening, when a reception will be given to the deputy grand commander of New York. It is expected that many members of Trinity Commandery will enjoy the trip.

The First Smoker.

The members of the Park Club are planning for an enjoyable time Thursday evening, April 17, when the first "smoker" will be held. Pleasant features are promised, which will make the event one long to be remembered among the social events at the club.

Paper by Mrs. I. L. Miller.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church will be held Friday, April 11, at 3:30 p. m., in the parlors of the church. Mrs. Isaac L. Miller will have a paper on "Medical Work in Mission Fields."

Going to Celebrate.

A reception will be held at Hope chapel on the evening of May 15. The occasion will partake of the nature of a celebration on freeing the church from debt. A mortgage of $1,000 which has been satisfied of record will be publicly burned at this time.

Three New Masons.

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., held a regular communication last evening in the new quarters in the Stillman buiiding and conferred the master mason degree on three candidates.

Summer Uniforms.

An order for the summer uniforms for the members of the police department will be placed soon, so that the clothes will be on hand when needed.

ADMITTED THE THEFT.

Horace Washington Paroled in Custody of Probation Officer in Court This Morning.

Elizabeth, April 9—The following cases were disposed of by Judge Vail in the Court of Quarter Sessions, this morning:

Horace Washington, colored, of Plainfield, pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing bicycles. He was paroled in the custody of the probation officer, Mrs. Williamson, who will be responsible for his actions in the future.

Edward Marcellus, of Plainfield, pleaded guilty to charge of stealing lead pipe, and was sentenced to the Reformatory at Rahway.

The Copper Extraction Works Company, of Garwood, was fined $1,000 for pollution of the Rahway river. The officials have been fined twice before in the district court for the same offense.

EAGLES NAMED OFFICERS.

Officers Elected and Installed at Meeting of Freedom Castle.

A largely attended meeting of Freedom Castle, K. G. E., was held last evening and incidentally officers were elected for the ensuing year. William H. Hepburn tendered his resignation as venerable hermit and Charles E. Hepburn resigned as noble chief and trustee.

These are the officers elected: Noble chief, L. W. Niles; vice chief, R. D. Carver; sir herald, Frank Bowman; venerable hermit, John Becker; trustee, Samuel Luckey. Installation ceremonies followed the election.

Grand Chief R. Kenney was the installing officer. During the session five candidates received the sir knights' degree. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan made a short address on the good of the order.

LOCAL COMIC OPERA.

Rehearsals Going Well for Rendition of "Patience."

As Plainfield has not had comic opera in a dozen years or more, "Patience" will, no doubt, be a rare treat to lovers of light opera. Mr. Reed (Colonel) and Mr. Holmes (Bunthorne) sang these same parts at Cranford in April, 1896. Most of the soloists are well-known singers, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Giddes and Mr. Smith being members of the First Baptist choir; Messrs. Tallamy and Pope being members of Grace church choir.

The opera has been in rehearsal since January 3 and promises to be very successful. Already tickets have been sold to residents of Westfield and Cranford.

ROUNDED UP.

Police Captured Two Reporters and Enforced Rule About Vaccination.

After defying the vigilance of the officers for some weeks, a couple of newspaper men were finally compelled to submit to vaccination this morning. In order to warrant their safe keeping they were placed in cells and a physician was summoned by 'phone. Their protests against the consolidation of vaccine and blood proved unavailing and they had to bare their arms, while the point was applied.

Change in Cast.

One change has been made in the cast for "His Excellency, the Governor," which is to be given by local amateur talent at the Casino later in the season. Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart will be unable to take the part of "Ethel" and Miss Edith L. Burt, who has appeared with much success in amateur dramatics at the Park Club, will complete the cast.

Municipal Ownership.

The adjourned meeting of the Borough Council, scheduled for Friday evening, will have several important matters for consideration. Among them are the sewage and water questions. Experts from New York will be present to detail fully the plans whereby the borough, it is claimed, will be able to construct and maintain both systems.

Big Offering.

The Easter offering at St. Mary's R. C. church amounted to over $900.

Rights of Congress Nullified by Executive Resolution.

Statesmen of Both Parties Are Tired of Following White House Dictation—An Abuse Started by Jefferson.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"WHAT you have said as to imperialism is correct, but you drew it mild and said things guardedly," says Congressman Bartlett, of Georgia. "The people ought to know that the constitution of this republic is constantly violated, flagrantly violated, in a manner which would have caused our forefathers to charge treason against some of our most notable public servants.

"We have lost the right of petition, equal taxation and the independence of the congress. The voice of the people through their chosen representatives is no longer heard in the land; but in its stead there is the voice of one man out of nearly 80,000,000, who happens to be president for a little while. You have rightly said that it makes no difference which party happens to be in power, or what individual holds the office. The fact remains that it has become customary for presidents to assume powers which the constitution does not give them; powers, the assumption of which must be considered as unconstitutional; powers, the arbitrary exercise of which have sometimes come very near treason. I regard all violations of the constitution as treasonable.

"It is true that our forefathers fought for the right of petition. The constitution of our country grants the right of petition to every citizen. And yet the president has recently issued an order defying that right. There are many thousands of employes of the federal government. Some of them are subjected to unjusts treatment. Others have fancied wrongs. Often it happens that the meritorious clerks are not advanced, and those without merit are promoted. Whatever injustice a government employe endures, he must continue to endure, because the president has issued an order threatening to discharge any employe who shall petition for justice through his constitutional representative or senator. The constitution is thus violated, and with an imperialism which is irrepressible, because any clerk who might dare to exercise his right of petition would be arbitrarily discharged from his position, regardless of the organic law and the civil service law.

"Our forefathers fought for equal taxation. The taxes imposed upon them were turned back for the benefit of the government of the American colonies, but our ancestors did not want that sort of taxation. They were a part of the British empire, citizens of it, and felt that they were entitled to equal taxation and representation. Our constitution covers those points. And yet the constitution is completely ignored when we come to impose that same kind of taxation upon Porto Rico and the Philippines. If that was wrong at one time, it must be forever wrong.

"That subject, however, is a matter of political struggle just now, and I will not dwell upon it. But the practice of presidents dictating to congress what legislation shall be enacted is the most flagrant of all violations of the constitution; and sooner or later it must be stopped. Cleveland and McKinley were insistent in imposing their wills upon the congress.

"Cleveland was determined that the Mills free trade bill should be passed, and he notified every member of the house of representatives, on his political side, that he would be expected to vote for that bill. William H. Sowden, of Allentown, Pa., stated that he would not vote for that bill. President Cleveland took up his pen and vetoed a bill for a public building at Allentown, Pa., the home town of the congressman who dared to vote according to his conscientious convictions. After vetoing that bill, Cleveland sent word to the other members of the house who had pending legislation of interest to themselves, saying: 'There will be an Allentown for every Sowden.' That meant that he would use his power to humiliate any representative of the people who dared to vote contrary to the will of the man in the white house.

CHARLES L. BARTLETT.
(Representative in Congress from Sixth Georgia District.)

"The present incumbent of the presidency is no worse and no better than any of his predecessors. Look at this newspaper and read this headline: 'President Is Firm. Still Stoutly Holding Out for Cuban Reciprocity. Leaders Delay a Vote.'

"Now tell me what right the president has to be 'firm' over a matter of legislation. Mr. Roosevelt says that he has inherited his reciprocity matter from Mr. McKinley, and that may be true, for the late president believed in reciprocity as a national and international policy. But that reciprocity was with the strong and well-formed nations of the world, particularly with the states and governments to the south of us on this continent. But, even if Mr. McKinley were living, no matter how much he might believe in reciprocity, he would have no right to dictate to the congress on a matter of legislation for Cuba, or for any other proposition. You will see by that headline, which clearly indicates the following context, that the president is unconstitutionally dictating to the congress; and that such procedure has become so common that the editor of one of the leading newspapers at the national capital does not hesitate to proclaim the fact in bold headlines on his front page. Please bear in mind that I am not inveighing against the present incumbent of the presidency. The principle which I enunciate would apply to every president from Thomas Jefferson to Roosevelt, in so far as any of them have ignored the constitution and interfered with the rights of congress."

JAMES A. TAWNEY.
(Representative in Congress from First Minnesota District.)

"You have said that the presidents have been accustomed to coercing speakers and other house leaders. Proof of that statement I find here in a later issue of the same morning newspaper, as follows: 'Led by the Speaker. Organization Started to Combat Recalcitrants. Merry War to Bitter End.'

"There you have it boldly stated. The representatives of the people who dare to have wills of their own as against the will of the president, are called 'recalcitrants,' as though it were now a settled fact that the president is a ruler and the people's representatives mere puppets. That is what our republic has gradually come to, because the power of patronage has been ambitiously used by presidents, and because the representatives have permitted themselves to be controlled in that manner.

"Since the president can secure the cooperation of the speaker of the house, it becomes possible for all of the representatives of the people to be subjected to coercion with express or implicit threats. When the power of white house patronage ceases to be coercive, the committee apointments and assignments might be used. Nobody believes that the present genial speaker of the house has any heart in an effort to compel his fellow-representatives to submit to any dictum other than their consciences for the determination of their votes on any public questions. Nevertheless, he has been induced to go with the president on this reciprocity matter, just as he was induced to go with the president on the Porto Rican tariff, after the president had declared that 'our plain duty' was in the opposite direction."

Judge Bartlett's animadversions relate primarily to the recent bitter contest in the house of representatives, in which Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, assumed the lead of those representatives who were opposed to the policy of the president concerning reciprocity with Cuba. Mr. Tawney said: "The power of patronage has blinded me in the past, as it has blinded many others. But this proposition, which would tend to destroy the beet sugar industry of our country has awakened me to such action as I might not otherwise have taken. But having taken this stand, my course shall hereafter be clear; because as long as I am in public life I shall abide by the constitution of my country, and shall vigorously oppose any president who dares to dictate to congress what shall be done in matters of legislation. This evil has grown and increased wonderfully and lamentably during my lifetime, and I am yet a young man. Sooner or later there shall arise a man who will be able to check it. I may not be that man; but I shall certainly do my part in creating public sentiment against imperial assumptions by any of our presidents."

He is a brave man who would face the president under existing conditions. But back of any man who stands for pure constitutional government there must be the plain people of the republic. It makes no difference to what party a man belongs, nor who may be the incumbent of the white house; no president should be permitted to dictate to the congress, the direct representatives of the people of the republic.

Inventors Are Legion.

The conquest of the air is now becoming an every-day phrase, and the name of the inventors is legion who have come into the arena with apparatus for soaring above things terrestrial. The Parc des Princes, Paris, is just now the scene of a display of the most remarkable contrivances for soaring aloft, and some attempts would have been made but for the atrocious weather. Some interesting experiments may be looked for, and if all the flying men succeed the air will be full of grotesque, Gargantuan birds, bats, flying foxes and other winged creatures, all much heavier than air. M. Santos-Dumonts triumph was great, but the man who managed to defy the storm wind and cross the channel, say, in the teeth of a gale, while ships roll at its mercy, will put the brave Brazilian and all balloonists in the shade. In hopes of witnessing such a conquest there will be crowds at the Parc des Princes and "Nous verrons!"—Paris Messenger.

Big British Families.

Very few persons leave such progeny as the late Mrs. Mary Taylor, who was buried recently at Lancaster. She has ten children, more than 100 grandchildren and 50 great-grandchildren. Around her graveside were 100 descendants. But a still more remarkable case is recorded by Lord George Lyttleton in his "Miscellaneous Works," in an account of a tour in Wales. He mentions the death of a Welsh farmer near Festiniog at the ripe age of 105. The Welshman had married three times. By his first wife he had 30 children. Not deterred by this family he married again and had ten by his second. By his third wife he brought the children to 44, the last child being 81 years younger than the eldest. At the farmer's funeral there was an attendance of 800 descendants. A few families like that and Canada would probably no longer call for settlers.—London Chronicle.

Cape Colony's Jumping Hare.

The jumping hare of Cape Colony, a specimen of which has only recently been brought to this country, is a rodent, like a rat or a rabbit, but travels by means of long leaps or bounds, like the kangaroo. It is said to be absolutely unique, no other related species being known. When full grown it has a length of about 20 inches, its tail, which it carries erect, when on the jump, being as much longer. It lives in colonies underground and is destructive to the crops. Nocturnal in habit, it is generally hunted by the aid of a bicycle lamp, affording fine sport to the boys of Cape Colony.—Nature.

Soup by the Pound.

In China liquids are sold by weight and grain by measure. John buys soup by the pound and cloth by the foot. A Chinaman never puts his name outside his shop, but plants instead a motto or a list of his goods on his vertical sign-board. Some reassuring remark is frequently added, such as "One word hall," "A child two feet high would not be cheated." Every single article has to be bargained for, and it is usual for the customer to take his own measure and scales with him.—N. Y. Sun.

Sultan's Coronation Presents.

The coronation presents to be sent to King Edward by the sultan of Morocco are of a unique character. Many of them are faithful copies by Moorish artists of the most exquisite works of art in the Moorish museum. Among the presents are included specimens of the Moorish craftsmanship of a thousand years ago, which have never before been reproduced, or out of the imperial possession.—N. Y. Herald.

The New Veils—Some of the Very Latest Hats.

A VEIL may not be considered worth extended mention, but it is one of the strongest factors in the making of woman beautiful. Is she sallow? A veil with an invisible white silk tissue lining and a black mesh cunningly woven on the outside gives her a ravishingly beautiful complexion. Has she a rough skin which makes a fine little dust of rice powder necessary? There is a black veil with devices in the way of dots and dashes intended to inveigle the scrutinizing eye away to trace out the complicated system of the figure in the veil. There are silk mull veils and double meshed net, some of it really a wonder of fineness and delicacy, but the most of the veils worn for quite a number of seasons have been of the black mesh, with the ever beautifying and beautiful complexion veils thrown in.

Now, however, we find several remarkable innovations. The complexion veils show on the outer mesh dots of chenille large or small, the most of them being in clusters of six dots, one in the center and the other five around it.

Several of the veils show colors in the most remarkable conjunction, for a veil, and on some are purple and lavender in small figures side by side. These are mostly made with dots of two tones of the same color, as purple and lavender, sky and napoleon blue, orange and maize. Few reds are bought, though they are shown, and so far purples and blues are favorites. In some cases there are white veilings with colored figures, and this plan is also carried out in case of the mixed complexion veils. But the crowning glory is the pansy veil. This has small pansies wrought over the center of the veil, and all along one edge is a border of pansies in their natural colors done in silk and chenille, with a tiny stem and leaf of green. One other and useful veil has the mesh close in etamine weave in black, and at intervals, forming a cross pattern, are dots of white connected by the carrying of the white thread over the black.

Not even last Easter did we see such an array of white chiffon, tulle and other diaphanous stuffs put upon hats. With the chiffon and pearl beads the foundation of many beautiful hats are made, and they are so big and fluffy that one wonders how they can be held on the head. Some hats are simply covered with rosettes of chiffon, black or white, and sometimes both.

The braids vary as much as they did last season, and the size and shape of the hats as well. "Everything goes," as the boys say. Rough chrysanthemum hats of the rough straw bearing that name are to be much employed for everyday rough wear. They are in all colors and shapes, and while some are trimmed with the utmost simplicity others are covered with flowers. Red in the deep ruby shades is very handsome, especially when trimmed with black velvet and black flowers embedded in black lace. The "walking hat" pure and simple, as we used to know it, has returned and is seen in all colors. Black and white, all black, and all white hats are among the most elegant. The jardiniere hats, with their wide brims and Dolly Varden dips in Tuscan braid and colored a very deep yellow shade, nearly burnt orange, in fact, are among the prettiest. I believe the dealers speak of this tint as sunburnt. The shape lends itself to romantic arrangements of drooping flower tufts and floating sprays, wherein field blossoms have the preference. Some of them merely have bows of velvet ribbon mingled with chiffon, and still more have ruchings set along on the brim and crown so that nothing more than a buckle is needed.

The sunbonnet is to be very fashionable for country wear for all outdoor games and walks. It was so dainty and becoming and was so well liked last season that it is now made prettier than ever for the coming summer. It is now being made of linen and batiste in delicate tints and trimmed only with self ruffles and strings. Such a bonnet may be laundered. Straw and panama hats for outing and everyday wear will be abundant, but they are to be simply trimmed, mostly with a twist of silk and a quill or two or maybe a buckle. One pretty addition to the straw outings is to have them bound along the brim with black velvet.

CHAPTER V.

The citizens of Concord were stupified. That weathervane was a symbol of their defiance of the other town and to have the hated Dingle come brazenly among them, insult their leader in a peculiarly irritating manner, escape mysteriously while they were wrangling over the method of his punishment, and flee with the grotesque galvanized figure waving over his head was enough to paralyze the most rabid partizan.

Christopher Waffle was a Concord man to the marrow of his bones; but he had no love for Col. Keever—possibly because the Colonel had once overcharged him for a threshing "ad." Nor had Waffle admired the Colonel's handiwork as exemplified in the weathervane. The judge had said that he was coarse and brutally insolent and that something would happen on account of it for which they would be sorry. In the present crisis the judge was first to find his voice and he cried in tones vibrant with a certain kind of triumph:

"I told you so!"

"That's what Waff said all along," supplemented Bill Comfort.

The swarm turned upon the judge wrathfully and Col. Keever shouted:

"And do you, sir, do you mean to champion the cause of this contemptible sneak from the other side of the county?"

"No, never! But Dingle has done this town a service by making off with that monstrosity."

"What?" gasped the crowd, glaring at Waffle.

Bill Comfort planted himself at the judge's side and defiantly reiterated the judge's statement.

Col. Keever was red and wrathful. A clash was impending and Guy pushed his way between the impending factions.

"Enough of this," said he. "We have a powerful enemy in Vlandingham and we cannot hope to win unless we present an undivided front. Instead of contending amoung ourselves suppose we inquire into the method of Col. Dingle's escape? And Sampson—we are forgetting about him. He may be severely hurt."

This was sufficient to turn the attention of the crowd into another channel and Guy led the backward movement along the hall to the spot where the unfortunate printer was lying.

Sampson had not moved a hair's breath. He was flat on his back, his arms and legs sprawled out and his eyes closed. There were no visible marks of injury upon his face and Guy dropped down on one knee and lifted his head.

As he did this Guy saw a section of glittering gold chain on the floor under the printer and he dropped one hand over it and concealed it in his palm. No one else had glimpsed the bit of jewelry and Guy's heart was in his throat the instant his eyes fell on it. At a favorable moment he transferred the chain to his pocket and continued his examination of Sampson.

"Stand back!" commanded the Colonel. "Give him air! Get some water, somebody! Gentlemen, gentlemen, that boy has been the trial of my life, but if he has been sacrificed by the venomous Dingle, I'll call the murderer out, by gad! I'll face him with a six-shooter, and, my word for it, he'll be carried off the field."

That awful threat silenced the bystanders and forced them back, but Guy saw Waffle nudge his engineer and whisper something that made them both grin sarcastically.

"You'll not have to call Dingle out, Colonel," said Guy. "Sampson's pulse is normal, and his heart strong, and I can't find a wound on him."

Pedro arrived just then with a glass of ice water. In his excitement he dashed the whole of it in the printer's face. The effect was instantaneous and Sampson sat up, rolling his eyes and spluttering

"Who did that?" were his first words.

"Sampson," said the Colonel, tenderly, "Do you know me? Look, boy!"

"'Course I know you! Who hit me with that bucket of water, that's what I want to find out! Nice way to treat a man when he's down!"

Sampson got up energetically and looked about him with indignant eyes.

"There, there, Samp," said the Colonel, soothingly. "You were knocked down by that brute of a Dingle. Don't you remember?"

"Oh, yes," returned Sampson, peering at the open door of the closet and rubbing his forehead in a bewildered way. "Did he escape?"

"I should say he did, Sampson. How did it happen? Tell us about it."

"Well," replied Sampson, "I heard him hunting around in that closet and I opened the door to see what he was up to. After that there's a blank kind of mixed up with shooting stars, comets and other bright things."

"Where did he hit you?" inquired Guy?"

"Give it up."

"That is exactly what Guy did. Either the printer had had a timely attack of heart failure or else he was shamming.

"What's this?" asked Comfort who had wandered into the closet and was now standing with his eyes fixed on the door. The next moment he stepped back into the hall, pulled the door shut and all could see that there was a letter fastened to one of the panels with a pin. The crowd surged forward eagerly.

"'For that arch-conspirator, Keever, with the compliments of Col. Dingle,'" read Mr. Glimmer as he jerked the note from the door and handed it to the Colonel.

"Read it, Colonel," chorused the crowd, palpitating with curiosity.

The Colonel tore off the end of the envelope and drew out the inclosed sheet. His eyes flashed fire as he swept over the few lines the note contained, his face became convulsed with passion and his breast shook with his labored breathing.

"Read it, read it!" clamored the bystanders.

"No!" roared the Colonel. "This is for me alone, for me. I have borne with this contemptible cur beyond endurance. The villain! The rascal! Let him look to himself now if he can!"

The Colonel spun about on his heel and made off ragefully as fast as he was able. Sampson shot after him and then the crowd disintegrated by twos and threes and drifted in the direction of the post office, discussing the exciting events of the morning and asking each other what that note could possibly have contained to set the Colonel off at such a tangent.

A favorable moment presenting itself, Guy drew Pedro into the parlor on the second floor.

"Those two Sisters of Charity are staying in this hotel, aren't they, Mr. Smith?" asked the young man.

"Yes," replied Pedro.

"Where did they come from? Do you know?"

"I don't know a thing about them. They haven't spoken half a dozen words to me."

"Have you made any guess as to what they are here for?"

"Some charity or other, I suppose."

"Please ask them to come to this parlor. Tell them that a gentleman who is charitably disposed would like a short interview with them."

Pedro's eyes opened wide as he went away to carry out Guy's request. Presently there was a rustle of garments along the hall and the two ladies, still deeply veiled, entered the parlor. Guy bowed. They acknowledged the greeting with a slight courtesy. Pedro was standing in the door.

"I will join you in the office in a few moments, Mr. Smith," said Guy, significantly, and Pedro went away disappointedly.

The young man waited until he heard the proprietor's footsteps descend the length of the stairs and then advanced to one of the ladies and handed her the chain which he had found a short time before.

"You must have the clasp repaired, Miss Vlandingham," he said, in a low tone.

Both ladies started back instinctively; and then a low laugh came from Miss Betty as she switched her veil aside and revealed her smiling face.

"You are very kind, Mr. Herbert," said she, taking the bracelet. She turned to her companion. "Lois, this is the gentleman of whom I was telling you. We are discovered, you see, in spite of all our precautions, and that proves that the best laid plans of mice and maids gang aft agley. Mr. Herbert, Miss Pinkney."

Miss Pinkney was reassured by her companion's confident manner and likewise dropped her veil. She was a darkly beautiful girl and, although she seemed a trifle frightened, her gaze was steady and her lips were rigidly firm. She bowed formally.

"Miss Pinkney," resumed Miss Betty, "is a very dear friend of mine, and quite as determined to assist in winning the county seat as I am."

"You have both been very reckless," said Guy, gravely. "The citizens of Concord are exceedingly wrought up over the events of the morning, and I tremble to think of your position if you chanced to be discovered."

"We shall not be discovered," answered Miss Betty, pertly. "That is, not unless you see fit to reveal our identity."

"You know I would not do that," retorted Guy, indignantly.

"But we are here in the interests of Harmony, you know."

"I have no doubt of that."

"It would be to your interest to have us apprehended and—and made prisoners."

Miss Lois paled and flashed a startled glance at her companion.

"I would rather have Concord lose the county seat," said Guy.

Miss Betty fixed her melting blue eyes upon him for a space.

BOY PLAYED BUTCHER.

Knocked His Little Brother in the Head and Was Preparing to Skin Him Alive.

Playing the role of a cow because his six-year-old brother, ambitious to "be a butcher like papa," told him to, almost cost the life of the four-year-old son of Charles Haners, of Marshland, near Goshen, N. Y. When found he was unconscious, strung by the heels alongside a recently slaughtered animal, and just about to be skinned by the enthusiastic young workman, who had asked his mother for a knife.

The boy had been a wonderful observer of his father's methods. He had often watched him throw a rope over the beef, knock it senseless, string it up to a beam in the slaughter house and prepare it for market.

He was filled with his ambition to emulate his father, and energetically lassooed his little brother. When the noose tightened about his neck the little chap trudged submissively along behind his captor until the slaughter house was reached.

Then the elder brother took a small iron bar and dealt his captive a blow that knocked him senseless. Then he fastened the rope around his ankles and hoisted him up by means of a windlass. A few moments later he appeared in the kitchen where his mother was at work.

"Gimme the knife," he said, "cause the cow is killed, and I'm goin' to skin 'im."

The mother accompanied the boy to the slaughter house to see what he meant, and was horrified when he showed her, with much satisfaction, what he called the cow.

She lowered the little boy to the floor apparently lifeless. She worked over him two hours assisted by a physician, and at the expiration of that time consciousness returned. The boy's injuries will not prove fatal, but the amateur butcher is much disgusted with the interference with his play.

COOL IN EMERGENCY.

William Had His Own Way for a Time, But Then the Worm, His Wife, Turned.

A gentleman, whose hobby was studying the mental equipoise of the brain, always maintained that one need never get flustered in the presence of danger, provided he will deliberate and do things in the ordinary manner. By this means both life and property could be saved.

One night, he and his wife were awakened in their hotel by the alarm gong and the cry of "Fire!" He arose and besought his wife to be calm and considerate, and to dress as usual, neglecting no part of her every-day habit of procedure. Silently the poor, frightened woman hurried on her clothes and gathered the loose articles of their wardrobe into a valise, while her husband carefully adjusted his cravat and brushed his coat. Then he scolded his wife for not noticing the tooth brushes. These, together with his shaving pad, he packed away in a bag, and, taking it in one hand, with the other he led his wife down the staircase into the street, where they were greeted by the cheers of the crowd.

"THAT'S TRUE, WILLIAM."

"Now, Mary," he remarked, "you see, owing to my theory and presence of mind, here we are safe and sound, and you have not forgotten a single thing."

"That's true, William," she replied, "but since the fire is out I would suggest that you go back and put on your trousers."

Who Lost Five Dollars?

A banker found a five-dollar note. He paid it to the butcher, the butcher to a farmer, the farmer to a merchant, he to a washerwoman, she to the same bank. The banker then found it was a bad one. Who lost in the transaction.

BILLED AS FREIGHT.

Young Man's Strange Trip from Kansas City to Chicago.

Arduous Journey Made as the Result of a Silly Wager—To the Railroad Company He Was a Sack of Potatoes.

Billed as a sack of potatoes, a young man arrived in Chicago the other day from Kansas City tied up in a sack. For three days and a half he had been confined in the sack and during that time he had traveled close to 700 miles in a freight car. The sack which covered him was inclosed in an open fruit case.

The traveler, who is Martin J. Klansdigger, a machinist of Kansas City, was nearly famished when he was cut from his prison at the Chicago & Northwestern freight house by a friend who had been waiting for a day and a half in Chicago for him to arrive.

Klansdigger began his journey with only a quart of water and two pounds of crackers in the sack with him, this being a condition of the wager which caused him to make the perilous trip. When released Klansdigger was nearly blinded by the dust which had crept into the sack and his throat and mouth were so parched that he could hardly speak, his little cask of water having been spilled after he had been on his journed only a day.

For nearly three days, therefore, he had been without water and he stated when he was able to talk that had it not rained he would certainly have died of thirst. During most of the storm the car in which he was packed was sidetracked out in some small country town and the water came through a crack in the roof and fell on the sack. The burlap became quite wet and he was thus enabled to suck from the cloth a few drops which allayed his thirst.

The trip was made as the result of a wager between himself and a buffet keeper of Kansas City. The amount of the wager was $300. The conditions were that he should arrive in Chicago in less than four days, that he should be allowed to carry only a quart of water and two pounds of crackers with him and that he should not be discovered by any of the workmen or trainmen that handled him.

He was not discovered and it was not until after his friend who came to Chicago to receive him, Charles Manning, had presented an order and received the "potatoes" that the workmen in the freigh house knew what was in the package. Manning, with the aid of an expressman, carried the crate with his freight out on the sidewalk and when Manning's voice was heard by Klansdigger the man in the bag shouted faintly:

"For heaven's sake cut that sack quick and let me out. I'm dying of thirst."

Manning lost no time and tearing away the slight bars of the crate he slashed open the sack and released the woe-begone man within. A couple of workmen had followed Manning, the expressman and the burden to the door and when they heard the voice from within and saw the man emerge from the sack they did not remain to seek an explanation.

Klansdigger was glad enough to get out of the bag and Manning was thoroughly happy to greet him. "Give me a drink, quick," said Klansdigger, "and then take me to some place where I can get cleaned up."

"I would not have that experience again," he continued, "for ten times $300. I am lucky to be alive. I thought I would never get here and this forenoon when I was taken from the car by the freight hustlers I felt like calling out to them. I felt as if I had been through a thrashing machine and there is no part of my body which is not sore or bruised.

"The first thing they did to me when I was received at the Kansas City end as a bag of potatoes was to stand me on my head. I had to remain in that position for about an hour before I succeeded in kicking myself down. When once in a horizontal position I was all right and fell asleep. The next morning I was awakened by somebody opening the car door and once more I was stood on my head. That is the time I lost my water, the cask which contained it tipping up. Since that time, which was Tuesday morning, until Friday I have been without a drink and have not had anything to eat since Thursday night."

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Hope chapelites are congratulating themselves on the fact that "Big Ben" Evans will again cover the first base this season.

Who to select as official umpire for the Safe Work team's games is a matter that puzzles Manager Muir at present. Ned Gaston is mentioned for the place.

No definite arrangements have been made by the Clinton Avenue team for its career this season. The officers have been elected but the team has not yet been chosen.

Young Craig, at short stop on the Plainfield High School nine, fills the bill, and something may be expected of him during the season. He is handy at the bat as well as in the field.

In Friday's New York Sun there was a challenge made by Manjer A. C., for games with Plainfield baseball nines. Those interested should address James K. Allison, 20 Broome street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

There's a good player on the Y. M. C. A. team who answers to the name of Bosterli. He is an all around man, who will be a strong factor in the games. Manager McLaughlin will hold fast to such players.

All the Plainfield High School needs is some practice and then a fair share of support from the bleachers during the games. Their initial appearance Saturday gave great encouragement to the friends of the institution.

Manager Cose, of the Hope chapel team, has made a find in Kennedy, who will stop the liners at short stop on the "scrub" team. He has been an enthusiastic "fan," but this season will witness his first public appearance on the diamond.

"Jim" Montross, in the box for the Hope chapel team, will be a favorite. The way he handled the ball last season was especially creditable, and with his old time partner, Hartfelder, behind the bat, there'll be a battery to keep things lively for opposing teams.

The Safe Works team will play its first game of the season with the Dunellen A. C. on the latter's grounds. One other game will be played before the League games are commenced. It will take place on the home grounds at South Second street and Clinton avenue.

Manager Muir, of the Safe Works, is in a dilemna. The position of the team's field is close to the public highway, and he fears that this will cause small gate receipts. The matter has been brought to the attention of the League, but it is unlikely that a solution will be presented.

The St. Mary team will open its season on the home grounds, one week from Saturday. The opposing team will in all probability be the strong Rahway Field Club which was counted last season as one of the strongest teams in the county. During the interval between League games Manager Monahan has arranged for some first class games with the strongest teams in the Metropolitan district.

"Larry" Doyle, the former popular St. Mary pitcher who has joined forces with the Safe Works team, showed up well in practice Saturday. Several candidates for catcher's place, took turns in holding him but it will be some time yet before either of them will become thoroughly familiar with his twisters. As soon as possible the regular catcher will be designated in order that the battery may practice as often as possible

One of the first things the St. Mary baseball team will have done to its field before the season commences, is the grading of the entire playing ground. This diamond is the best located in the city but the uneven condition of the outfield has made good work by the players almost impossible. It is now planned to have it plowed up and resurfaced so it will be as near level as the graders can make it. When this work is completed it will undoubtedly be the best field on which League teams are to play.

Fred Armstrong has chosen his baseball team to represent the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association. The list is as follows: Catcher, Ovins; pitcher, Stevens and Armstrong; first base, Messersmith, Adams and Humble; second base, Overton; third base. Stevens; short stop, Conover; right field, Hegeman and Emmons; left field, Wooden; centre, Powers. The first game will be played Saturday. Pingry School, of Elizabeth, will be the opponents and the match will take place in that city.

AT THE TRAPS.

Two shooting matches are scheduled to be held at Campbell's Clubhouse on Tuesday afternoon, April 15, beginning at 1 o'clock. The first match will be between Pony Lambert, of Westfield, and VanGoodman, of Goodman's Crossing, 25 birds at $25 a side. The second match will be between "Puck," of Plainfield, and "Jack Reed," of Trenton, 50 birds and $50 aside. There will be plenty of sweepstake shooting, but positively no outside shooting.

WHIST.

The match for the American Whist League challenge trophy Saturday, between the American Whist Club of Boston, holders, and the Baltimore Whist Club, challengers, resulted in a victory for the Baltimore team by 29 tricks to 14.

DAMAGE BY WIRE.

Guarantee Company Will Settle Damage for Electric Light Company in E. K. Allen's Case.

A New York guarantee company sent one of its lawyers, J N. Simth, to this city, yesterday, to confer with Francis J. Blatz in regard to fixing the amount of damages to be paid E. K. Allen, of Prospect avenue, who was badly injured some weeks ago by a fallen live wire belonging to the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. The consultation was held at Mr. Allen's home where he was examined by a physician. He was found to be in a weak condition and suffering greatly from the shock.

It was agreed to settle the matter without going to law but the amount was not fixed upon. The local electric light company is bonded by the New York firm for all such cases and the latter is held responsible.

OVER MACHINERY.

Suit Brought Against Peter Zimmerman in Mercer County Court.

Suit has been instituted by Peter Scheicker, of the Trenton Abbatoir Company, against Peter Zimmerman, of this city, for $1,000 damages. The case is in trover and conversion, Scheicker in his complaint alleging that Zimmerman is unlawfully holding the machinery in the packing establishment on Exchange alley. Zimmerman contends that it was sold him when he purchased the meat market on West Front street. The case will be heard in the Mercer county circuit of the Supreme Court.

POSTOFFICE WILL RETURN

EXPECTS TO BE BACK IN OLD QUARTERS NEXT WEEK.

Work of Moving Will Begin Saturday Evening—Babcock Building is Now Ready.

Unless something unexpected interferes, the postoffice will be removed to its old quarters in the Babcock building Saturday night.

The work of repairing the damaged office has been pushed forward vigorously within the past week and when the office is opened next Sunday morning one will scarcely be able to tell that there was a fire in that part of the building. A new ceiling has been put in and the sidewalls repaired. As soon as possible a new floor will be laid and as soon as the new walls and ceiling is sufficiently dry this will be painted.

Postmaster Bird has been making every effort to get back to the old quarters at the earliest possible date. In his present place everything is crowded, and besides the office is not as safe in many respects as it should be. The change will be made Saturday night after hours, so that there will be no interference in the operation of the office or the mails.

IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR SENATORIAL JOB

A. V. D. Honeyman Has Something to Say on Rumor Published in Another Paper.

REFUSED HIS DENIAL.

EXPLAINS HIS STAND AGAINST THE GREATER PLAINFIELD BILLS.

Says He Isn't Afraid to Trust the People, But That the Bills Are Not Suited for Object for Which They Are Intended.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—However much I disagree with the views and tone of The Press on the question of annexation, I believe The Press to be always fair enough to publish a communication when duly signed by a responsible party. The News has just shown its inability to trust its readers to see another side to a public question by refusing admission to its columns of the following letter, which explains itself. In order to get it before the public, I ask you to give this letter space in your columns.

A. V. D. Honeyman.

April 9, 1902.

To the Editor of The News:—Your editorial note of Saturday evening, suggesting that in case the annexation measure failed of fulfillment, it is probable that I will become a candidate for senator in Somerset county next fall, may be generously flattering, but it happens that the information on which you have based the statement lacks the element of fact. In my observation of, and experiences with, many politicians for more than a quarter-century past, I have seen so many of that class push themselves, or allow themselves to be pushed, up the ladder of office, and then take a tumble to the foot, that the "political bee" has never yet buzzed about my head to the slightest degree. You may announce to annexationists and all others interested that I am not a candidate for even a poundkeeper's office.

What little I have done as a protestor against "railroad legislation," and annexation not wanted by my friends and neighbors, has been performed without fear, favor, reward, or the hope thereof. In this connection it might be proper, though unnecessary, to add that in being one of many spokesmen at Trenton on three different occasions before the legislative committee and the Governor, I not only represented personal views, but those of many of our oldest residents and taxpayers, who specifically requested me to stand in their stead and present their wishes to those tribunals. For the purpose named, these people became my clients, and I was glad to serve them without thought of present or future consideration, pecuniary or political. As these real estate owners and taxpayers are well-known to you—if not, I will furnish you a list of the same—I suggest you interview them and publish their sentiments on this question, instead of taking up too much space in presenting to the public only one side of this important matter.

The founders of the borough and also other men of large holdings, who have come in since to take advantage of our quiet and independence and freedom from city turmoils, may not represent all those whose wishes should be consulted, but they are at least such an important, honorable and influential portion of the community, that it seems to me their opinion might be entitled to a little recognition, at least in the statement of them in the public press.

In the same issue of The News, and in recent previous issues, you present the question as strongly as you can, how it happens that when bills like the North Plainfield bills containing referendums are before the Governor, the opponents to consolidation are not satisfied to let them come to a vote. That seems upon its face a fair question. You ask if the people cannot be trusted. Yes, we can trust the people, if that were the whole of it.

May I say now concerning the annexation bill, that nobody objects to a vote upon that in case the consolidation bill shall also get before the public, though we deem it wholly unfair to Somerset county. Without that consolidation bill, there is no manner of excuse for the annexation measure, as everybody knows. But that consolidation bill contains no machinery for adjusting the various intricate questions which must arise in case of an affirmative vote. It does not pro-

OPENING UP NEW PROPERTY

BUILDING BOOM BEING STARTED IN SOUTHERN PART OF CITY.

Chas. L. Moffett and C. E. Gulick Now Control Tract of Land on Park Avenue.

The opening of a tract of land on lower Park avenue in the vicinity of the site for the new hosptial, by Chas. L. Moffett, who recently came into possession of the property, will be followed by a building boom that will equal any of recent years. In the whole tract of land there are fifty-eight lots owned by Charles L. Moffett and C. E. Gulick. Mr. Gulick purchased fifteen lots and as soon as the weather premits he will begin the erection of handsome dwellings to cost between $3,000 and $5,000 each. There will be restricted conditions.

In improving this property there will be three thousand feet in streets to be opened. The property is situated between South End avenue, upon which the trolley now runs, and Moffett avenue, a new street to be opened a distance of 1,000 feet from Park avenue. Of the lots upon which houses will be erected by Mr. Gulick, three are located at the corner of Moffett and Marion avenues, nine are on Marion avenue and three are at the corner of Marion and South End avenues. Marion avenue will be one of the new streets to be opened in the centre of the tract while on the other side opposite Park avenue, a new street to be known as Florence avenue will be opened. Leonard avenue will be another new street extending in the centre of the tract between Park and Marion avenues.

These new streets will be opened and properly graded and when the property is improved is sure to make a fine residence neighborhood.

FUNERAL OF MISS UHDAL.

Services Were Held From the House on South Avenue Yesterday.

An assemblage of friends, which completely filled the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Uhdal, of South avenue, yesterday afternoon, heard the last sad rites performed over the remains of their daughter, Miss Madeline Uhdal. They were in charge of Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, of Grace P. E. church, and were very impressive.

A large number of the young woman's fellow-members in the Retail Clerks' Association were present, and the organization presented a handsome floral emblem. Another beautiful tribute was from the clerks at Hill & Shupp's, where she was employed.

Following the obsequies the remains were interred in the family plot at Hillside cemetery. The casket was borne by John and Peter Uhdal, two brothers, and John and Wm. Farley.

The address that she gave at the men's meeting some months ago was heard with interest by a large audience of men.

WHAT THREE LOCAL CHURCHES HAVE ACCOMPLISHED

Annual Reports of All Church Societies Presented at Trinity Reformed Last Evening.

ALL ARE ENCOURAGING.

Church Has Raised $1,471.24 for Benevolent Purposes and $6,348.30 for Congregational Purposes—Now 560 Communicant Members to Church—Work in Detail of the Various Organizations Connected With the Church.

The annual reports from all the societies of Trinity Reformed church, which were presented last evening at a meeting in the church, were most interesting and encouraging. The pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, presided and afterwards complimented each society for the excellent work accomplished.

Superintendenth F. E. Smith, of the Sunday-school, presented the first report. This was the same given Easter Sunday evening, and printed in The Press. It showed a total enrollment of 638 and that during the year thirty members had united with the church. The statement also showed the total receipts for the year to be $564.05, and the disbursements $366.17, leaving a balance of $197.88. Mr. Smith also gave deserving credit to Mrs. J. M. Tier, superintendent of the primary department, for her excellent work. He referred to the good work of the home department bejng carried on under the direction of Mrs. George Saums.

Mrs. Tier did not present a report for the primary department, but her report for the Junior Christian Endeavor Society was interesting. This society was reorganized April 1, 1901, with a membership of twenty-eight. Twenty-eight meetings were held, with a total attendance of 1,213. The average attendance was forty-four. Last year the membership was ninety-five and this year it is 109. The society contributed $12 to the Arabian mission; $12 for Miss Winn's work in Japan; $12 for the Indian mission; $5 for hospital work in Jerusalem; $3 for the Westfield Fresh Air Camp and $5 for the piano fund, besides giving scrap books to the hospital and Children's Home. A new work has just been taken up for the Children's Home in Amoy, China. Last June eight Juniors joined the church. Mrs. Tier besides inviting all to the meetings of the society, also invited them to the sessions of the primary department of the Sunday-school. This led to a remark by the pastor that the primary department has limited accommodations and in the near future it might be possible to build an extension in the rear for that department.

Mr. Schenck presented the report for Marconnier chapel in the absence of Superintendent H. W. Marshall. This showed a membership of twenty-two in the chapel and seventy in the Sunday-shcool, with an average attendance of forty-four in the latter. The sum of $20 was given for Miss Scudder's work in India and $10 for Miss Winn's work in Japan. There was raised for home purposes $355.45 and out of this a new piano, new sheds, a library and a new heating apparatus were purhcasd.

In the absence of Mrs. C. P. Leggett, president of the Ladies's Christian Work Society, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, vice president, presented a report for the society. This society contributed $92.04 for misssions and for general purposes $274.31. The sum of $200 was also given toward the fund for painting the church. The society also gave $80 toward the new piano, besides sending a box to the west valued at $115, and making eighteen garments for the sewing guild and twenty dresses for African missions.

Harry Crawford, president of the Endeavor Society, reported a membership of 100 with an average attendance of between sixty and seventy. There was contributed to mission and benevolent objects $85 and there is a balance in the treasury of $40.

Miss Mabel Woodruff, president of the Young Ladies' Mission Band, presented an interesting report. The membership is fifty and during the past year $30 was given to the Arabian mission, and $40 to the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. The Children's Home in Amoy, China, received $8.25. The Woman's Board of Domestic Missions received $40 and $10 was given to the Student Volunteers, $18.32 to the Kentucky mountain whites and $29.10 was contri-

Annual Meeting of First Presbyterian Church Finds That Church Free From Debt.

GRATIFYING REPORTS.

Its Benevolences Amount to $2,000—Sessions of Church and Parish Were Held at Which Officers Were Elected—Total Receipts Were $5,755.69, While the Disbursemenes Were Practically the Same—More Money for Music.

The annual business meeting of the First Presbyterian church, which was held last evening, was one of the most gratifying the congregation has attended in many years. It showed the church to have enjoyed a prosperous year in every way and, at present, it stands entirely free from debt, not a bill remaining to be paid. The attendance and enthusiasm manifested was also apparent throughout the twelve months and was the cause of much rejoicing.

As is customary, the meeting was divided into two parts, the church and parish having separate sessions. In the former, Rev. Charles E. Herring acted as moderator with J. H. Bettman clerk, and H. A. Pope, assistant clerk. The time was devoted to the hearing of reports from the various organizations connected with the church and remarks on the work accomplished, by various members. All the societies reported liberal donations for various worthy causes, while some of them still have comfortable amounts in the treasury.

In all, about $2,000 was contributed for missionary and charitable work, both foreign and domestic. The organizations assisting in the work were the Women's Home Missionary Society, the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, the Christian Endeavor Society and the Ladies' Aid Society. At this session, William H. Shotwell and R. H. Radford were elected to succeed themselves as elders and E. D. George to succeed himself as deacon. Each is to serve for three years.

R. H. Radford acted as chairman for the parish meeting which followed and which arranged for the coming year as well as closing the accounts of the past. The only report read was that of the treasurer, William H. Shotwell. In rendering it, he said it was the first time in many years that no payable bills were carried over into the next year. Last year a considerable amount had been forwarded but all had since been cleared. According to Mr. Shotwell, the total receipts were $5,755.69 while the disbursements had practically amounted to the same, leaving a very small balance in the treasury.

The official salaries of the church were voted to remain the same but an additional $50 was voted for music, the whole amount for this now being $650. A vote of thanks was extended Miss Letitia Remsen for the gratuitous playing of the piano at the Sunday-school and prayer meeting services.

The only other business transacted was the re-election as trustees of W. H. Shotwell, H. A. Pope and E. E. Gano.

J. H. Leggett to Run Pharmacy.

J. Howard Leggett signed a contract yesterday with the owner, F. B. Conover, to have control and management of the Coleman House pharmacy, at Asbury Park, for the coming season. The pharmacy is one of the finest in the Park and does a very large business.

Sewing for Children's Home.

The Advance Circle of King's Daughters assembled at the home of Mrs. L. A. Hummer, of Somerset street, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of sewing garments for the Children's Home. Afterward a social time was had, terminating with the serving of refreshments.

Year's Progress at Crescent Ave. Church and Its Three Chapels Shown in Reports.

STEADY GROWTH NOTED.

Total Membership of Church and Chapels is 1,582, a Gain of 103 in a Year—Church Benevolences Reach $25,000—Work at the Three Chapels Which Are All Growing Rapidly—Reports of the Church in Detail.

Excellent reports of an encouraging nature were made at the annual meeting of the Crescent Avenue church, last evening. At the same time other reports showed the prosperous condition of the church's various missions, which were all represented by delegates, clerical and lay.

Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting and with him was Dr. E. W. Hedges, clerk of the session, who acted in the capacity of a secretary. In his opening address, the pastor referred at some length to the successful year through which the church had passed, and enumerated incidentally the great work accomplished in the several departments of church duty, mentioning the tasks accomplished by the many societies.

He was followed by the superintendent of the Sunday-school, George A. Strong, who presented his annual report. The average attendance was 204 as against 192 last year. The home department contains seventy-two children and the cradle department twenty-five. The amount raised during the year aggregated $385.26. The report of the trustees of the church was as follows: Church expenses, $13,406.11; chapel expenses, $6,331.90; for Hope chapel, $3,673.03; for Hope chapel mortgage, $1,066.94. The total amount of the benevolent fund raised by the church was approximately $25,000. The total amount of the offerings was $5,160.

At the present time the membership of Crescent Avenue church and its missions is 1,582 as against 1,479 for last year. Subdivided it is as follows: Crescent Avenue, 915; Hope chapel, 354; Warren chapel, 216; Bethel chapel, 57.

The asssistant superintendent of Bethel chapel, A. W. Duxbury, referred to the fine condition of the institution and pointed out the fact that the year has been marked by increased contributions. The Sunday-school had raised $123.46 and $79.13 had been contributed at the Sunday evening services. The collections for the minister's salary amounted to $294.91. The staff of the Sunday-school is as follows: Officers, 2; teachers, 11; pupils, 204. The average attendance was 114.

Rev. Mr. Tilden, the pastor, made a short address on the condition of the church. He declared that there is a superfluity of colored churches in the city. Eleven members have been added to the church during the past year. A literary society has been organized in the interest of the young men. Incidentally he paid a tribute to the memory of the lamented Miss Rachel Mair and expressed his gratitude for the great aid extended by the officers of the Sunday-school. Rev. Dr. Richards expressed his pleasure at hearing of the year's result at the colored mission.

H. C. Squires, superintendent of Hope chapel Sunday-school, sketched the history of that department during the year just closed. He referred to the resignation of Rev. Mr. Newell in June, which took effect September 1, and the installation of Rev. Lawrence Riggs Howard which took place one month later. There are nine officers, forty-one teachers and 556 pupils in the Sunday-school. The average attendance has been 349. Twenty-five have joined the church on confession of faith and nine by letter. During the same period five have been dismissed by letter and one has died. In the twelve months $8,140 have been raised in the chapel. In 1898 the contributions amounted to $907 and the increase has been proportional since then.

As for the Christian Endeavor Society and the Junior Endeavor Society each is in a flourishing condition. The gymnasium is in good condition. There are 100 members in the Young Men's Association and it is hoped to increase the number of 150. This organization has paid $150 to the trustees, $50 to the mortgage fund and has a balance on hand amounting to $200.

HIGH SCHOOL BEAT PINGRY

SCHOLASTIC BASEBALL GAME PLAYED IN RAIN AT ELIZABETH.

City School Team Won by Score of 11 to 7 Yesterday Afternoon—A Close Contest.

In a drizzling rain, the Plainfield High School baseball team defeated that of the Pingry School, of Elizabeth, at that place yesterday afternoon. The game resulted in a score of 11 to 7 and was a close contest throughout.

Well-bunched hits brought victory to the Plainfielders. The fielding of both teams was creditable. There but one double play, and that was made when Dyer caught a fly and put the ball to Thompson on first, thus throwing out a runner who was sliding toward second. VanAuken, in the box for the local nine, made a good showing. Craig, at shortstop, kept up his record.

The batting order and summary was as follows:

"THE FEM. SEMINARY."

Will be Given at Casino Tonight by Lehigh University Boys.

The Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Association, of Lehigh University, at South Bethlehem, Pa., will make its first appearance in this city, at the Casino, tonight, in a laughable three-act farce, entitled, "The Fem. Seminary."

Much interest has been manifested in the coming of this organization, which is and has been a popular favorite in the several cities wherein they annually have appeared for the past fifteen years. It is expected that the performance of tonight will fully justify the high praise awarded their efforts elsewhere, and much pleasure may be anticipated. The sale of reserved seat tickets will continue at Armstrong's pharmany until 6:30 this evening.

Raising the Funds.

Pastor Scott Wallace, of the Calvary Baptist church, has been meeting with great success in his efforts to secure contributions to the mortgage fund and he is confident the entire amount will be raised. Wednesday he received a check for a generous amount from a Morristown friend. The church members are also paying their assessments, swelling the fund constantly.

REGULATIONS FOR BAR EXAMINATIONS IN JUNE

Standard Has Already Been Raised by the New Board of State Examiners.

TO BE MADE PERMANENT

NEW RULES WILL APPLY FOR THE FIRST TIME AT JUNE TERM OF COURT.

Preliminary Examinations During First Week in May—May Elect Six of Eleven Subjects Announced—The Examination.

Announcement has been made by the State Board of Examiners for the Bar regarding the regulations to govern the coming examination, and much chagrin is evident on the part of many of those contemplating undergoing the tests in June, as the standard has been considerably raised. Three of the most eminent lawyers in the State, John H. Hartshorne, of Jersey City, Frank H. Lommer, of Newark, and Howard M. Cooper, of Camden, compose the board.

Already the board has agreed upon the regulations to govern the examination in June and in the main these rules will be made permanent. The two months' notice concerning notice required will be suspended this time. The candidate will be permitted to elect six of the following branches: History, general history, ancient and modern, arithmetic, grammar, geography, Latin, civics, algebra, French and physics. Candidates will have to appear before the County Board of School Examiners.

A surprise to the law students is the fact that the rules of the Supreme court respecting admission to the bar were promulgated March 24 and took effect immediately. The preliminary examinations to take place in May and the bar examinations to take place in June will be the first occasion in which these rules will apply. Copies of all rules may be obtained from the clerk of the Supreme court at Trenton.

It has ben announced that the preliminary examinations will take place on the first Friday and Saturday in May at the time and place in which the county examinations are held for teachers' licenses, and the county board of examiners of the various counties will be in charge. Certificates of examination will be issued and these must be filed with the clerk of the Supreme court at Trenton.

These will be issued by the State superintendent of public instruction upon the report of the Board of County Examiners. These certificates when obtained, should be filed by the candidates with the clerk of the Supreme court at Trenton on or before May 20.

The following will be accepted as evidence of a candidate's right to be exempt from the preliminary examination:

A diploma from a college or university; or

A certificate of graduation from any high school of this State appearing on the list of approved high schools filed in the department of public instruction in Trenton; or

A "forty-eight count" certificate from the regents of the University of the State of New York; or

A certificate of graduation from a course of study, equivalent to the high school course, from any public high school of another State, or from any private school or academy of this or of any other State—

(a) Which is registered in the University of the State of New York as maintaining a high standard of study; or

(b) Whose graduates are admitted to matriculation in a college or university without examination; or

(c) Whose course of study, when shown to the board of bar examiners (by the catalogue, or other satisfactory statement issued by the school), shall be approved by the board as maintaining a high school standard of study. Such catalogue or statement of sudy may be mailed to any member of the board, at his address as below, at any time prior to May 20.

The written bar examinations will be held as heretofore at the State House at Trenton on the first Thursday after the opening of the June term of the Supreme court.

The written examinations will be held in two sessions. The morning session will begin at 10:30 and will end at 12:30. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 and end at 3:30. If oral examinations should be held the

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The convention of the League of American Wheelmen, which has met at Torrington, Conn., is reported to have been much like a funeral. A few years ago the annual meetings of this organization were widely heralded through the newspapers and attended by hundreds of enthusiastic delegates, but now we imagine not one of the former devotees of the wheel knew or cared where or when the convention was to be held. From the reports made to the convention it appears that the memership of the league in 1898 was 103,000; now it is only 10,500, a falling off of nearly 90 per cent. In that year there were fifty newspapers in the United States printed in the cycling interest; now there just one. The secret of all this is that the fad has ceased, as have other fads before it and is will other fads that follow it. The wheel will, however, continue to have its uses as a means of quick and cheap personal locomotion and as a healthful and invigorating exercise. — New Brunswick Home News.

Perth Amboy and South Amboy are located on opposite sides of the Raritan River, and they want a bridge to connect the two places. No doubt it would add to the growth of both and would be a great convenience to those persons who live in the southeastern part of the county. At present there is no wagon bridge across the Raritan from its mouth all the way up to New Brunswick, a distance of about twelve miles. Anyone with a team must drive up to New Brunswick in order to cross the river. No doubt the lack of a bridge has retarded the growth of the southeastern part of Middlesex county.

The New Brunswick people do not want to have a bridge built at the Amboys because the whole county will have to share the burden. This is unreasonable. If the bridge was wanted for the benefit of Monmouth county there might be good ground for objection, but it is for Middlesex only, and Middlesex should cheerfully foot the bill. The whole county paid for the New Brunswick bridge and turn about is fair play.—Jersey City Journal.

THEATRICAL.

The recent promise of the Keith management to present the greatest vaudeville novelties from the European stage, has been faithfully kept. At their New York theatre, during the past three weeks, they have offered programmes which have been made up almost entirely of European sensations, and never before in the history of vaudeville have so many foreign artists appeared upon the same American programme. The great Florenz troupe will make its metropolitan debut at the Union Square theatre next week. This family of dare-devil acrobats have been the wonders of Europe for the past five years, performing feats which have never before been attempted by aerialists. They alone have accomplished the seeming impossibility of turning safely the "triple somersault," which has been the ambition of acrobats for centuries, and has resulted in the death of those most promising and ambitious. Others on this excellent programme include Musical Dale, the celebrated instrumentalist; Ward and Curran, champion fun makers; Harding and Ah Sid, the clown and Chinaman who have made all Europe laugh; Mlle. Olive, the dainty juggleress; Vermon, the ventriloqual wonder; Howley and Leslie, singers and dancers; Claudius and Corbin, banjoists; Dan and Bessie Kelly in Irish comedy, and a dozen other stars of refined vaudeville.

FOREIGN OFFICIAL SLAIN.

Chinese Rebels at Kwangsi Responsible—An Edict Issued.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 10.—The steamer Victoria, which has just arrived from the orient, brought news of the murder of a foreign official by rebels now in revolt in Kwangsi. The following edict was issued in this connection by the empress dowager at Peking March 12:

"We have received Governor Ting Sheng Tao's telegram that at Talongerhwa a foreign official went into the district where the rebels and retired soldiers are jointly plundering the people and was murdered with cruelty. The local officials could not have afforded the foreign officer proper protection or he would not have been murdered, and we should have been spared this sorrow. Therefore we hereby instruct Governor Ting Sheng Tao to investigate into the conduct of the local officials who are responsible for this affair and summarily dismiss them."

The edict goes on to order the various officials to suppress the rebels and to protect with the utmost care all foreigners and missionaries.

DECOY ARRESTED.

Wonderful Results From Use of New Embalming Fluid.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., April 10.—The body of John Leek, an aged negro who died six months ago and which was turned over to an undertaker in order that he might test a new embalming fluid, has been exhumed.

The body has the consistency of vulcanized rubber and might readily pass for a statue of black marble, as the petrified flesh is hard enough to take a polish. There is not the slightest trace of decomposition or wasting, the features retaining their fullness.

The experimenter says the fluid will preserve the body for centuries. It was recently discovered by an eastern chemical company, and this test on the body of an unclaimed county hospital corpse is the first made.

Found After Seven Years.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—John C. Healy, a young Harvard student and the son of a prominent Cincinnati attorney, who disappeared in a mysterious fashion seven years ago, returned here from the orient a few days ago and is now with his mother and sister at Coronado, Cal. Young Healy was sent to Harvard to study law, but prefered travel to study and set out to see the world. Nothing was heard from him until a few days ago, when he landed here from the orient, having worked his passage as a stoker on a government transport. He appealed to Paymaster Staunton of the United States naval pay office, and that gentleman communicated with the young man's mother, with the result that young Healy has joined his mother and sister at their country place.

Trying to Avert a Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 10.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers, in session here, will attempt to effect a settlement in the block coal district of Indiana without a strike. The board has arrived at no decision regarding the situation in West Virginia, but some of the members talked in a tone indicating that a strike may not be declared for some time. The strike in Hopkins county, Ky., where nearly 3,000 men have been out for more than a year, is now being considered. The mine owners have refused to recognize the union, and the latter has succeeded at a cost of nearly $100,000 in preventing the mine owners from operating their properties.

A Bill Aimed at Lentz.

COLUMBUS, O., April 10.—The house has passed the congressional redistricting bill after amending it by taking Fairfield county, which has a normal Democratic plurality of about 1,500, from the Twelfth district and adding it to the eleventh. This leaves Franklin county, which is nominally Republican by a small majority, to constitute the Twelfth district. One of the arguments used by Republicans in favor of the change was that it would prevent the return to congress of John J. Lentz, who was defeated for re-election by Emmett Tompkins two years ago by 18 votes. No other districts are changed.

Talmage's Daughter Weds.

WASHINGTON, April 10. — Miss Maud De Witt Talmage and Mr. Charles Frederick Wyckoff of Ithaca, N. Y., were married yesterday afternoon at the Talmage home, 1400 Massachusetts avenue. Owing to the illness of Rev. T. De Witt Talmage the ceremony was very quiet. Only members of the immediate families of the contracting parties were present. Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage of Chicago, the bride's brother, officiated. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage had suffered a relapse early in the day and consequently was unable to witness the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff went to his bed and received his blessing.

Surprise For German Yachtsmen.

BERLIN, April 10.—German yachtsmen are surprised to learn that a thirty-foot yacht named the Samoa III. and just finished at Hamburg for Emperor William has been entered for the races during the Kiel regatta.

An Early Surf Bath.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 10.—The first surf bath of the season was taken at this resort by two Philadelphia girls to win a wager of $50. They appear to be none the worse for their experience.

A Small Wheat Area.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, April 10.—It is officially announced that the wheat area sown is the smallest in three years. The production is estimated at 8,012,762 bushels.

FALSE TO THE PARTY

Republicans Favoring Cuba Assailed In the House.

THE RECIPROCITY BILL IS OPPOSED

Opponents of Measure Trying to Unite on Proposition to Take Differential Off Refined Sugar.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The feature of the second day's debate in the house on the Cuban reciprocity bill was an impassioned speech in opposition to the measure by William A. Smith (Rep., Mich.). Senators Spooner and Quarles (Wis.) and Dolliver (Ia.) and a group of Michigan beet sugar manufacturers in the gallery were in his audience, and he was liberally applauded by his Republican supporters as he assailed the Republican leaders who were advocating the bill, boldly charging them with being false to the Republican doctrine of protection. He announced that he was willing to vote to overrule the chair in order to support an amendment to take the differential off refined sugar. Mr. Morris (Rep., Minn.), who made a strong speech against the bill, also made a similar announcement.

The other speakers were Mr. Ball (Dem., Tex.) and Mr. Sparkman (Dem., Fla.), both of whom opposed the bill, and Mr. Mondell (Wy.), who advocated its passage. The Democratic and Republican opponents of the measure are trying to get together on the proposition to take the differential off refined sugar. The indications are that the debate will be protracted.

Throughout the session of the senate the Chinese exclusion bill was under consideration. Mr. Gallinger (N. H.) and Mr. Dillingham (Vt.) opposed the bill, and Mr. Turner (Wash.) supported it. Mr. Gallinger urged that the pending bill was unnecessary, unjust and un-American and was clearly in contravention of our treaty obligations with China.

Whittier's Niece Dead.

BOSTON, April 10.—Elizabeth Whittier Pickard, the wife of Samuel I. Pickard and niece of John Greenleaf Whittier, is dead at her residence on Newbury street. Her father was the younger brother of John Greenleaf Whittier, and at an early age she became a member of the household of the poet at Amesbury. She will be pleasantly remembered by many guests who enjoyed the hospitality of that home. She was educated at the Friends' school at Providence, R. I., and after the civil war she taught in the schools of the freedmen at Richmond, Va., Camden and Charleston, S. C. After her marriage in 1876 she resided in Portland until seven years ago, when the family removed to Boston.

Chicago Building Laborers Strike.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Five hundred building laborers employed on the new Lake Shore and Rock Island depot have struck. They have been getting 25 cents an hour and demanded 28 cents. A strike of 100 bricklayers which occurred at the Auditorium annex is said to be only the forerunner of a walkout by bricklayers all over the city. Several hundred hod carriers are already out, and it is said that prospects of a general strike of the building trades are strong.

Favor Army Changes.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Lieutenant General Schofield, retired, made an argument before the senate committee on military affairs in support of the war department bill for the creation of a general staff and the consolidation of the supply divisions of the department, saying that the bill was in the interest both of economy and efficiency. General Merritt, retired, who was also present, indorsed all that General Schofield said.

Cotton Operators Locked Out.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10.—The lockout of all mill operatives in the Augusta district has gone into effect. Every mill in Augusta and in the Touse creek district is closed. They include the plants at Aiken, Vancluse, Graniteville, Warrenville, Bath, Langley and Clearwater, which employ in the aggregate 10,000 men.

Would Buy Holland Boats.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Representative Cummings of New York yesterday introduced a bill requiring the secretary of the navy to contract for thirty Holland submarine boats at a cost not exceeding those now under construction and after one of the boats now being built is accepted by the secretary of the navy.

Norfolk's Gambling Crusade.

NORFOLK, Va., April 10.—The gambling crusade being waged here has resulted in the conviction of R. H. Mapp, who was accused of conducting a gambling establishment in a fashionable part of the city. He was fined $500 and sentenced to four months in jail. Other arrests will follow as a result of the war now on.

Significant Utterance of the President at Charleston.

THE TRUSTS MUST BE CONTROLLED

Immense Crowds Greet South Carolina's Distinguished Guest—Sword Presented to Major Jenkins, an Old Rough Rider.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 10.—At Calhoun's funeral, when Hampton made his great campaign speech here in 1876, when the Confederate reunion was held here in 1899, great bodies of marching men filled the streets of this ancient city, and its sidewalks and doors and windows were filled with enthusiastic thousands, but all those great outpourings of the people were small compared to the procession which followed President Roosevelt to the exposition grounds yesterday. The enthusiasm of the people was unbounded, and there was standing room only on the sidewalks and porches and doorways and in the wide piazzas of the houses along the line of march. Old and young were infected with patriotic fervor, and a man with whom nine-tenths of the people he saw differed politically was greeted with every manifestation of respect that a warm hearted people could show.

The parade started from the St. John hotel, the president's quarters, at 10 o'clock and was composed of marines, seamen, cadets, artillerists and militiamen of four states under command of Colonel Charles Morris, U. S. A., of the garrison at Sullivan's island.

The presidential party was driven directly to the exposition auditorium, where the president reviewed the troops from a platform erected at that point. The president's salute of twenty-one guns was fired by the German artillery on the entrance of the president into the exposition grounds.

At noon the president proceeded from the reviewing stand into the auditorium, where the formal ceremonies occurred. Addresses were made by Captain F. W. Wagener, president of the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition company; Governor McSweeney of South Carolina, Governor Aycock of North Carolina, Mayor Smyth of Charleston and the president of the United States. President Roosevelt said:

It is to me a peculiar privilege to speak here in your beautiful city. My mother's people were from Georgia, but before they came to Georgia, before the Revolution, in the days of colonial rule, they dwelt for nearly a century in South Carolina, and therefore I can claim your state as mine by inheritance no less than by the stronger and nobler right which makes each foot of American soil in a sense the property of all Americans.

Charleston is not only a typical southern city. It is also a city whose history teems with events which link themselves to American history as a whole. In the early colonial days Charleston was the outpost of our people against the Spaniard in the south. In the days of the Revolution there occurred here some of the events which vitally affected the outcome of the struggle for independence and which impressed themselves most deeply upon the popular mind. It was here that the tremendous, terrible drama of the civil war opened.

With delicate and thoughtful courtesy you originally asked me to come to this exposition on the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The invitation not only showed a fine generosity and manliness in you, my hosts, but it also emphasized as hardly anything else could have emphasized how completely we are now a united people. The wounds left by the great civil war, incomparably the greatest war of modern times, have healed, and its memories are now priceless heritages of honor alike to the north and to the south. The devotion, the self sacrifice, the steadfast resolution and lofty daring, the high devotion to the rights as each man saw it, whether northerner or southerner—all these qualities of the men and women of the early sixties now shine luminous and brilliant before our eyes, while the mists of anger and hatred that once dimmed them have passed away forever.

All of us, north and south, can glory alike in the valor of the men who wore the blue and of the men who wore the gray. Those were iron times, and only iron men could fight to its terrible finish the giant struggle between the hosts of Grant and Lee. To us of the present day and to our children and children's children the valiant deeds, the high endeavor and abnegation of self shown in that struggle by those who took part therein will remain for evermore to mark the level to which we in our turn must rise whenever the hour of the nation's need may come.

When four years ago this nation was compelled to face a foreign foe, the completeness of the reunion became instantly and strikingly evident. The war was not one which called for the exercise of more than an insignificant fraction of our strength, and the strain put upon us was slight indeed compared with the results. But it was a satisfactory thing to see the way in which the sons of the soldier of the Union and the soldier of the Confederacy leaped eagerly forward, emulous to show in brotherly rivalry the qualities which had won renown for their fathers, the men of the great war. It was my good fortune to serve under an ex-Confederate general, gallant old Joe Wheeler, who commanded the cavalry division at Santiago.

In my regiment there were certainly as many men whose fathers had served in the southern as there were men whose fathers had served in the northern army. Among the captains there was opportunity to promote but one to field rank. The man who was singled out for this promotion because of conspicuous gallantry in the field was the son of a Confederate general and was himself a citizen of this, the Palmetto State, and no American officer could wish to march to battle beside a more loyal, gallant and absolutely fearless comrade than my former captain and major, your fellow citizen, Micah Jenkins.

A few months ago owing to the enforced absence of the governor of the Philippines it became necessary to nominate a vice governor to take his place, one of the most important places in our government at this time. I nominated as vice governor an ex-Confederate, General Luke Wright of Tennessee. It is therefore an ex-Confederate who now stands as the exponent of this government and this people in that great group of islands in the eastern seas over which the American flag floats.

The president then touched upon our work in Cuba and our future relations with the island government. Continuing, he said:

This exposition is rendered possible because of the period of industrial prosperity through which we are passing. While material well being is never all sufficient to the life of a nation, yet it is the merest truism to say that its absence means ruin. We need to build a higher life upon it as a foundation, but we can build little indeed unless this foundation of prosperity is deep and broad. The well being which we are now enjoying can be secured only through general business prosperity, and such prosperity is conditioned upon the energy and hard work, the sanity and the mutual respect of all classes of capitalists, large and small, of wageworkers of every degree.

Every industrial exposition of this type necessarily calls up the thought of the complex social and economic questions which are involved in our present industrial system. Our astounding material prosperity, the sweep and rush rather than the mere march of our progressive material development, have brought grave troubles in their train. We cannot afford to blink these troubles any more than because of them we can afford to accept as true the gloomy forebodings of the prophets of evil. There are great problems before us. They are not insoluble, but they can be solved only if we approach them in a spirit of resolute fearlessness, of common sense and of honest intention to do fair and equal justice to all men alike. We are certain to fail if we adopt the policy of the demagogue who raves against the wealth which is simply the form of embodied thrift, foresight and intelligence, who would shut the door of opportunity against those whose energy we should especially foster by penalizing the qualities which tell for success. Just as little can we afford to follow those who fear to recognize injustice and to endeavor to cut it out because the task is difficult or even, if performed by unskilful hands, dangerous.

This is an era of great combinations both of labor and of capital. In many ways these conditions have worked for good, but they must work under the law, and the laws concerning them must be just and wise or they will inevitably do evil. And this applies as much to the richest corporation as to the most powerful labor union. Our laws must be wise, sane, healthy, conceived in the spirit of those who scorn the mere agitator, the mere inciter of class or sectional hatred, who wish justice for all men. It is indispensable to the general welfare that the nation should exercise over them cautiously and with self restraint, but firmly, the power of supervision and regulation.

Above all the administration of the government, the enforcement of the laws, must be fair and honest. The laws are not to be administered either in the interest of the poor man or the interest of the rich man. They are simply to be administered justly, in the interests of justice to each man, be he rich or be he poor, giving immunity to no violator, whatever form the violation may assume. Such is the obligation which every public servant takes, and to it he must be true under the penalty of forfeiting the respect both of himself and his fellows.

Immediately after the addresses a handsome sword was presented to Major Micha Jenkins, the presentation being made by President Roosevelt. The sword was handed to the president by ex-Governor Hugh S. Thompson.

Ex-Governor Thompson in requesting President Roosevelt to present the sword to Major Jenkins told him the men and women of South Carolina in this way desired to express their high admiration for him and respect for his office.

At the close of the ceremonies a visit was paid to the New York building. The short ride to this building gave the multitude which had gathered another opportunity of seeing the president. Not a few addressed him familiarly as Teddy, which brought a laugh to both President and Mrs. Roosevelt, who were riding together. After a short tour through the New York building, during which the president and Mrs. Roosevelt registered, the carriage was driven to the Southern railway depot, and the trip to Summerville as the guests of Captain Wagener was begun.

The train arrived at Summerville shortly after 6 o'clock, and the party were driven directly to the Pine Forest inn. At night a banquet was tendered to the president at the inn by Captain Wagener. Only the president's party and a few especially invited guests, numbering all told ninety persons, were present.

Drove a Nail Into Husband's Head.

WELLINGTON, Kan., April 10.—In Grant county, Okla., just across the line from here, Mrs. Peoples, a Bohemian, is reported to have killed her husband by driving a nail into his head. Peoples, a farmer, went home drunk, beat his wife and after ordering her to get supper went to sleep, with his head leaning against a pine partition. When supper was ready, the woman tried to waken him, but failed. Fearing that he would beat her again when he awoke for not calling him, she drove a nail through from the other side of the partition into the man's head, killing him. She made no attempt to escape.

Odell to Visit Charleston.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—Governor Odell will visit the Charleston exposition on April 23, which date has been set apart by the exposition authorities as New York state day. The governor will leave Albany on April 19 for a six weeks' trip to California. En route he will stop at New York city and Washington and will time his trip so as to reach Charleston on April 22 and will remain there probably until the 24th.

The Proposed Aid For Clara Barton.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The senate committee on foreign relations considered but did not finally pass on the bill granting an annuity of $5,000 a year to Miss Clara Barton for her services as president of the Red Cross. Many members of the committee expressed a desire to recognize Miss Barton's services, but all hesitated because of the precedent that would be established by the passage of such a bill.

Boat Capsized and Two Drowned.

PITTSBURG, April 10.—By the capsizing of the towboat Acorn Captain Sam Silvey, a wrecker, and Lee Legg, a fireman, were drowned. The cook, Nora Tromm, was under water while the wreck floated two miles down the river. When found, she was unconscious, but after hard work she was resuscitated.

Looks Dark For Boers.

PRETORIA, April 10.—The British authorities are making preparations for a great series of "drives" on the arrival of re-enforcements. The general outlook for the Boers is said to be most disheartening. It is thought here that the bulk of the rebels are only waiting a promise that they will not be banished to come in and surrender.

Oil Strike In Michigan.

GLADSTONE, Mich., April 10.—The Michigan Coal and Improvement company, operating on Black's farm, six miles north of Rapid river, has struck oil at a depth of 1,000 feet. The outlook for oil in paying quantities is good.

Jessie Morrison Out on Bail.

EL DORADO, Kan., April 10.—After an imprisonment of eight days in the county jail Jessie Morrison, awaiting her third trial for the murder of Mrs. Olin Castle, has been released on $10,000 bond.

CECIL RHODES' LAST JOURNEY.

Remarkable Demonstration of Sorrow at Bulawayo.

BULAWAYO, Matabeleland, April 10.—After an impressive service held at the drill hall of the bishop of Mashonaland the coffin containing the remains of Cecil Rhodes started on the last stage of its journey to the Matoppo hills.

At yesterday's service there occurred a remarkable demonstration of sorrow, in which the whole surrounding country participated. Hundreds of persons were turned away from the drill hall, which was crowded to its utmost capacity, and thousands of voices in and around the building took up the funeral anthem.

The streets through which the funeral procession passed were lined with troops, and everybody fell in behind the coffin as soon as the cortege had left the town limits. The entire population of Bulawayo took part in the procession, leaving the town as deserted as though it had been swept by fire or the plague.

The body passed the night in a hut on the summit of the Matoppo hills in which Cecil Rhodes once lived.

Open Hearth Steel Production.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—The American Iron and Steel association reports that the total production of open hearth steel in the United States in 1901, including direct steel castings, was 4,656,309 gross tons against 3,398,135 tons in 1900, an increase of 1,258,174 tons. The production of open hearth steel has more than doubled in the last four years, having increased from 2,230,292 tons in 1898 to the figures above given for 1901. The open hearth steel made in 1901 was produced by ninety works in fourteen states—Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Tennessee, Alabama, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri. Neither Maryland, Kentucky, Michigan nor Minnesota produced open hearth steel in 1901, although all of the four states were producers in 1900. Rhode Island made open hearth steel for the first time in 1901.

Austrian Man-of-war Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Austrians and Hungarians of this city evinced a decided interest in the arrival today of the man-of-war Szigetvar. Elaborate preparations had been made, and the commander and officers were accorded a cordial welcome. A banquet will be tendered them at the Waldorf-Astoria, at which about 250 members of the Austro-Hungarian colony will participate. Baron Hengelmueller de Hengervar, the Austro-Hungarian minister, and the consul general of this city will be present. The Danubia club will entertain the guests April 19 at the Harlem Casino, and a gala performance at the Irving Place theater, at which Sonnenthal, Mme. Odilon and Bonn will appear, is contemplated.

Hearing on the Bedell Bill.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—The largest hearing in point of attendance given by Governor Odell on a legislative bill this year was that given yesterday afternoon on the bill of Assemblyman Bedell changing the railway terminal law. Large delegations were present from New York city and Buffalo in opposition to the bill, and the hearing lasted from 3 until 6 o'clock. Governor Odell said that he had not received any official request from Mayor Low and Corporation Counsel Rives to veto the Bedell bill, and he said he would probably not take it up before Saturday and possibly not until Monday.

RIOTING IN BELGIUM

Government Troops Given Hurry Orders.

KING LEOPOLD MOBBED BY SOCIALISTS

Shouts of "Long Live the Republic!" and "Universal Suffrage!" From Throngs Waving Red Flags. Widespread Disturbance.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 10.—The socialist incidents yesterday have aroused intense excitement, and there are fears of further disturbances and complications. The minister of war, General Cousebant Alkemade, has ordered the militia reserves of eighteen regiments to be in readiness to rejoin the colors, and gendarmes of all the divisions are held in instant readiness to march wherever required.

King Leopold was mobbed by socialists on his arrival here from Biarritz. The meeting between the socialists and the king was quite accidental, but it was none the less unpleasant for his majesty, whose automobile was surrounded by excited socialists, who shouted: "Long live the republic!" "Long live universal suffrage!" and waved red flags in the king's face.

The socialists had collected at the railroad station to bid farewell to the members of a delegation of Spanish Republican deputies who had attended the socialist gatherings here. The king happened to arrive at the same time and had difficulty in getting his automobile out of the crowd, but he finally found an opening and outdistanced his pursuers.

The anti-Catholic agitation culminated in a riot here last night. A thousand socialists attended a meeting at the Maison du Peuple and afterward marched to Sentin street, where they stoned the house of a Catholic deputy. The police charged the rioters with drawn swords. A number of the latter were severely injured, and twenty were arrested.

At Liege a procession of 1,500 persons met the delegation of Spanish Republican deputies who were expelled from Brussels when they arrived at the railroad station here. The Spaniards were given a riotous welcome, but the gathering was broken up by the police. Four persons were injured. During an anti-Catholic riot at Ghent several persons were injured and a number were arrested. Troops were called out to quell the disturbances.

Great Fall of Snow.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 10.—The Potomac river is rising, although not rapidly, as the snow is melting slowly. The river is about fifteen feet above low water mark. Such a volume of snow so late in the season has never before been known, and the worst is feared when it commences to go off with a rush. The Blackwater and Cheat rivers have overflown their banks, inundating considerable farming land and destroying a large amount of property. Snow has fallen at Fairfax, W. Va., to the depth of thirty-two inches.

Hard Fare For a Prince.

BERLIN, April 10.—Prince Waldemar, the eldest son of Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia, who has been at a sanitarium near Dresden for several weeks, is being subjected to a rather rigorous life. He sleeps upon a thin horsehair mattress with a single blanket, in a room so vitiated that it has the temperature of the outside air. He wears porous clothing and lives on a diet of fruit, milk and salad.

Would Not Accept Resignation.

ST. PAUL, April 10.—The regents of the State university have refused to accept the resignation of Professor Thomas Shaw, well known all over the country as an expert in sheep and cattle husbandry, which he had tendered in order to edit a St. Paul agricultural paper, and have induced him to continue his lectures at the university.

Record Postal Receipts.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The largest quarterly receipts in the history of the postal service are recorded for the three months ended Jan. 1 last, figures for which have just been completed. The receipts were $32,005,621; expenditures, $30,947,131; excess of receipts over expenditures, $1,058,490.

A Search For the Huronian.

LONDON, April 10.—The admiralty has ordered the battleship Empress of India to search the north Atlantic for the missing Allan line steamer Huronian, which left Glasgow Feb. 11 for St. John, N. B., and has not since been reported.

Steyn Threatened With Blindness.

PRETORIA, April 10.—Mr. Steyn, the former president of the Orange Free State and who is taking part in the peace negotiations in South Africa, is suffering from severe ophthalmia and is threatened with total blindness.

CONSTANT WATCHFULNESS NEEDED.

Although the city tax rate cannot be fixed for a certainty until the city assessors have their returns from the county and State school taxes, it seems probable that the local taxpayers will pay their share to the support of the city next year on almost if not the same basis as this year. When the tax budget was fixed at the Common Council meeting Monday evening, there were slight increases in various city departments but the increase was so small that it does not seem likely to jump the tax rate up to any appreciable extent.

For several years, the Republicans have been in complete possession of the Common Council and the municipal machinery. The same policy has been carried out and each year it has been endorsed by the people at the polls. While there have been some things which may not have been as satisfactory as all have desired, there have not been any serious faults to be pointed out in the conduct of the present administration.

It is the most natural thing in the world for any political party to become extravagant if kept too long in power. A strict realization of the duties to the people they represent is apt to disappear and official abuse of power follows. Such has been the history of political parties the world over. So far, the local administration seems to have steered fairly clear of that trouble but great vigilance should be used by every city official to see that they do not fall into that error which is so apt to creep in, especially where there is no vigilant minority to be constantly on the watch.

With such absolute power, it is naturally a great temptation to make a small increase in all lines. While the growth of the city demands that the city government keep pace with it, the Councilmen should be very careful about every cent that is paid out from the city treasury. In all fairness to the men who now compose the Common Council, it must be said that they have shown much care in the past and have won the confidence of many people by their actions. Of course they have made some mistakes but they have shown a decided disposition to serve the interests of the people at large and not play into the hands of any political band.

It is not the policy of The Daily Press to take any part in quarrels between individuals and other newspapers. We have enough of our own troubles. We publish in another column, however, a letter which was refused publication by one of our contemporaries. We do not agree with the statements made in there and cannot see that the arguments are of sufficient strength to impress on anyone the need of defeating the Greater Plainfield bills. It is, however, the first we have seen of anything that resembles an argument against the signing of the bills by the Governor and we are anxious that the people of North Plainfield shall know just exactly what the arguments are so that they, too, can see how feeble, when it comes down to reasons, is this opposition to giving the people of North Plainfield a chance to decide the much disputed questions of annexation and consolidation for themselves.

The attention of the officials of Middlesex county is called to the condition of the roads leading to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. There are two roads in that county, leading thoroughfares to the golf course, which are in terrible condition as a result of the past winter's storms. One is Woodland avenue from Railway road and the other is the road running from Park avenue to the course. As this property has been improved at a great expense by the golf club it seems no more than fair that the county should have a sufficient amount of pride in these roads to keep them in fair condition.

It will be welcome news to the public at large that the postoffice is to be moved back to its old quarters in the Babcock building and the excellent service of the days before the fire resumed. No one can find any fault with what Postamster Bird has done since the fire. Considering the obstacles he has had to overcome, his work is deserving of the highest praise. With the present cramped quarters, he has obtained results that would not be expected. No one will be any happier than Mr. Bird himself when the postoffice is back in its old quarters again so that the satisfaction will be mutual.

There has, during the last month, been a decided improvement in the service given by the Jersey Central Railroad. The trains have been running on time in most cases and the commuters have stopped their shouts of disapproval over the treatment they are receiving. While there is still room for improvement, the present course of events seems to give promise of better things to come. With the new general manager residing here, the future, as far as the railroad company is concerned, appears quite rosy.

Never has a season in Plainfield seen so many dramatic productions by local amateurs. Although there is no theatre in which to produce these plays, the Casino has served the purpose of providing a place for their production. Another amateur effort is now in rehearsal and promises to be the equal of any yet given. Tonight, some clever college boys are going to give the people of Plainfield an opportunity to see what they are capable of doing.

The Philadelphia Record points out the fact that the manufacturer of a household oil tells Printer' Ink that last year he began to systematize and greatly increase his advertising, employing an expert to attend to the details. "The result is," he reports," that we have done 122 per cent. more business than in the previous year. This is all to be credited to advertising."

Another season will probably see the control of the famous board walk at Asbury Park in the hands of the municipal authorities. It is something which the people of Asbury Park have long desired and their efforts now appear to be drawing to a successful issue.

buted to the Sunday-school for the piano fund, making a total of $87.42. Barrels and boxes of clothing and provisions valued at $81.19 were sent away to mission fields. This includes articles sent to Miss Sara Curry in New York, and articles sent to the sewing guild and Indian mission.

Miss Woodruff also reported for the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters. The circle commenced last year with ten members and added two members during the year. The largest donation was $25 given for the support of the city nurse, also $5 for the baby camp and $5 each for the foreign and domestic boards of missions. At Christmas time the ministers in the west were remembered, and through silver cross pin cards $6 was collected for mission work in Japan. The members made sixteen articles for the summer sewing guild and $15 was given toward the piano fund.

A. L. Force submitted a report for the deacons' fund. The balance on hand at last report was $88.28 and during the year there was received $63.67, a total of $151.95. The expenditures amounted to $38.68, leaving a balance of $113.27. $15 was also contributed to the city missionary fund. The Marconnier chapel fund showed $45 from subscriptions and $4.66 which was half of collection received on March 1.

Mr. Schenck presented an interesting summary after all the reports had been given. This showed that there was raised for benevolent purposes from all sources $1,471.24 and for congregational purposes $6,348.30. There are 226 families in the church. During the year forty-two members were received on confession and twenty-three by letter. Eight members died during the year and fifteen were dismissed to other churches. There are at present 560 communicant members. There were twenty-one adults and twenty-four infants baptized during the year.

AT CRESCENT AVE.

Mr. Squires paid a tribute to the great aid City Judge Willim N. Runyon is to the chapel, particularly in the work of the Young Men's Association. He said that the wish of the chapel is that a cooking class be organized and that a kitchen be equipped where the members could receive the proper training. The night school, as proposed, was another subject he referred to. In closing he said that the debt of the chapel had been cleared by the offering on Easter Sunday. Rev. Mr. Howard spoke encouragingly on the work.

F. H. Andrews, superintendent of the Warren chapel Sunday-school, reported the steady growth of the work "across the brook." The average attendance in the Sunday-school for the year was 325 and the enrollment was 475. There are fifty-two officers in the school. During the year forty-three members have been added to the church membership by confession of faith and eighteen by letter. He stated that there is a lack of accommodations and the building is poorly ventilated. To Crescent Avenue church has been paid $600 and the Sunday-school contributions amounted to $346.

Rev. Dr. Richards called on Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the pastor, to whom he referred as "the foreign missionary," for some remarks. He stated that the membership of the church now numbers 216, whereas one year ago there were but 161. Through the envelope system in the church collections, there has been received $636.02 and the balance from last year was $24.62. The expenses amounted to $49 and there was paid on the chapel fund $600.91, which leaves a balance of $10.73.

The Foreign Missionary Society raised $97.42. To Miss Mair there was sent $22.03 and to the Board of Foreign Missions $50. The city missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, received the sum of $24.59. The Ladies' Aid Society raised $207.87 and the King's Foreign Missionary Circle raised $226.70, while its expenses amounted to $218.22. The poor fund account was as follows: Receipts, $96.54; expenses, $89.70, leaving a balance of $6.84. The attendance at the Endeavor meetings averaged forty persons. For support of Rev. Mr. Pierson in Japan the sum of $25 was contributed, and to other causes much was donated. There are thirty-six members in the Junior Endeavor Society and the average attendance is nineteen. In the sewing school at the present time there are sixty-four persons and the average attendance is between thirty and forty. The gross sums received from the chapel for missionary purposes are as follows: Foreign, $161.69; home, $409.35, making an aggregate amount of $571.04. Rev. Mr. McKelvey made a plea for a new chapel building, the present structure being unsuited and entirely too small for the purposes.

Dr. Hedges made the report of the session of the church. Thirteen members have died during the year. The elders, whose terms had expired, re-elected were as follows: L. N. Lovell, H. C. Squires and Dr. E. W. Hedges. W. H. Murray was re-elected a deacon.

FANCIES OF FASHION.

Spring Styles Have Reached a State Very Near Perfection.

Browns and Tans Still Are Popular, But Heliotrope Excels Them in Beauty—Practical Dress Hints.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

THE wheel of fashion is never at a standstill, as we all know, and just now it seems to be revolving at a most unusual rate of speed. It is always to be noticed that the same fashions crop up again and again—the same, but ever with a difference—the difference this season being quite distinctly marked. Just as the true artist by a few deft strokes of his brush can bring out the beauty of a picture, just so have the fashions of other seasons been worked upon and manipulated by the master hand of the artist in this direction, that, as they gently unfold themselves in this glorious springtime of 1902, they seem to have reached a state of absolute perfection. There certainly can be but one opinion on this interesting subject, and that is that never has woman's dress been more beautiful or graceful than at the present moment. Of course there are eccentric models and eccentric wearers. New fads and new crazes of all sorts arise every day of the week, but you will notice that these same fads and crazes are seldom, if ever, adopted by the best dressmakers, and never by the best dressers; consequently they cut absolutely no figure in the world of fashion.

But now let us consider the fashions of the hour from a practical standpoint. Granted that all colors may be worn, there are always some that are more popular than others.

For instance, there is a new tone of heliotrope that just now is creating a furore among the devotees of "the latest." Browns and tans are still held in high favor, but later on soft tones of gray will in a measure take their place. There is a wonderful new tone of green, seen for the first time within the week, which combines beautifully with ecru lace, to which we are still so faithful, also with the new silver and white embroideries, the idol of the hour.

We have all grown somewhat tired of the rather vivid blues which have been in vogue for so long, and for this reason, if no other, turn gladly to the new dress materials which come in the loveliest shade of light blue, which is too dainty and delicate, however, to be of any real service for anything but handsome house gowns. There is a decided tendency at the present moment for small pin spots and small patterned effects of all kinds. At a recent opening some of the most desirable models were fashioned of material of this description, but whether it will retain its popularity throughout the season remains to be seen.

It would seem as if the smart tailor and the smart dressmaker had at last joined hands, and each wisely taken advantage of the other's talents, with the result that this season we have a taller gown which is both useful and beautiful; not very cheap, to be sure, but with an air of distinction quite its own. However much we may long for novelty it is rather hard somehow to give up entirely the beloved bolero and so it happens that many of the latest models in tailor gowns exploit the charms of this jaunty little coat. In other delightful models there is a decided tendency toward the short basque. The latter is smart, as well as generally becoming, but the wise woman will have her basque made separately, so that she may wear it or not, according to her mood.

The popularity of the long coat grows with each passing hour and to just what lengths the mad worship at the shrine of this fascinating garment will lead no one has the courage to predict. Long coats of all kinds and description are seen on every side, but, let me tell you, that this long coat, when seen at its best, costs a whole lot of money, and unless madame is willing to put as much cash in this outer garment as she expends on her handsomest evening or dinner gown, she would better turn her attention in the direction of the jaunty Louis VI. jacket, now so much in vogue.

It is simply impossible to economize in the long coat with anything like good results, and of course none other is desirable. The latest models in this garment are fashioned of black silk, lined throughout with satin, with loose, flowing sleeves and broad collar. A lovely coat of this description which I saw yesterday was made of black moire silk, the luxurious lining in this case being of ivory-white silk. About the shoulders was a broad collar of exquisite lace, with long stole like ends which reached quite to the hem of the coat in front, while inside of the flowing sleeve was placed any number of tiny accordion-plaited chiffon frills edged all round with narrow lace.

In the matter of trimming there is no immediate sign that the fancy for lace will abate and more and more shall we see narrow embroideried band trimmings. The most effective pattern in lace trimming as well as the idolized lace collar come in the coarse Irish crochet lace. Just imagine how chic and altogether charming these coarse laces will look when worn with the modish linen and pique tailor gowns which will be much in evidence later on.

In spite of the fact that the all-lace gown has had its requiem sung many times and oft by certain fashion writers, like Banquo's ghost it will not down. Indeed, it comes to us this season more beautiful and fascinating than ever before, and as warm weather advances will be one of the most sought-after summer gowns.

NEW SPRING WRAP.

In the world of millinery the changes are not so great as one might have been led to expect. In fact, after a careful survey of the new spring styles I should say the shapes have varied but little from those worn the past season. We still remain faithful to the broad toque which we have loved wisely and long. On all sides at present we are assailed by models of it in white moire silk, draped about the brim with beautiful lace and the inevitable pearl buckle or fancy jeweled pin stuck in the left side.

There is a small edition of the Gainsborough style coming in which will be distinctly becoming to the majority of faces, and will also form a pleasing change from the three-cornered chapeaux of which most of us have grown thoroughly tired. A floral hat is ever in demand at this season of the year, and charming in the extreme are the white and grey chiffon toques trimmed with wreaths of Parma violets, with the broad brim veiled under soft lace. The brims of most of the best headgear this spring are softened with draperies of lace, a very pretty fashion, by the way, and one that can be easily modified to suit the individual style of the wearer. A great many models in burnt straw have again appeared, all beautifully trimmed with lace and flowers. Some of the handsomest hats seen are simply covered by delicate green foliage, while equally fetching are the Frenchy-looking models whose sole trimming consists of huge masses of silvered leaves and berries. The ever popular black and white combination is seen to the greatest possible advantage in the new embroidered toques.

Pale turquoise is the favorite note of color in all spring millinery, while geranium red and the somewhat newer coronation red are struggling hard for a place.

ALL WRONG.

The Mistake is Made by Many Plainfield Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure.

Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys

A Plainfield resident tells you how this can be done.

Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner avenue, says: "For several years I suffered from severe pains in my back, hips and loins so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it and if I contracted a cold it always settled in my back and at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store I took a few doses when I found they were helping me and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

How to Give a Little DINNER

THE instructress of the cooking class gazed earnestly at the forty or fifty women before her. "My subject for today," she announced, "is entitled 'How to Give a Little Dinner.'

"You will notice," the instructress went on, "that I said 'little dinner.' I mean by that the dinner given to a few friends, the dinner a little more pretentious than the family affair, but yet not considered of sufficient importance to be intrusted to a caterer. This is the dinner which is usually a failure.

"In the first place the 'little dinner' usually fails because not enough attention is paid to details and too much to the 'style' of the menu. Better a daintily set table and good service than a pretentious menu ill carried out. Let the dinner consist of a soup, fish, roast, salad, dessert and coffee. Let each dish be one in which the cook is well skilled through long practice; also let the menu be timely. At this season of the year do not serve thick soups and meat with heavy sauces. Have a simple dessert composed of an ice or berries, if they are ripe and nice. They can either be served hulled with whipped cream or daintily arranged with their stems and leaves on, so that they can be eaten dipped in powdered sugar.

"The table linen may not be of the finest, but it must be absolutely fresh from the laundry. The napkins should not be creased in grotesque fashion, but evenly folded and placed as simply as possible to the right of the plate. The center of the table can be made pretty with a high fancy lamp or, better still, a bunch of flowers or a few ferns in a tall glass vase. If the hostess is so fortunate as to possess candelabra, these may be placed one on each side of the ferns. With their dainty colored shades, they give a fairylike effect.

"There are two ways of serving the little dinner. The host or hostess may carve and the maid pass around the plates or the carving may be done in the kitchen and the filled plates may be simply passed around to each guest. When the latter method is observed, the soup plates should be already filled when the guests take their places at the table. The fish and subsequently the meat are also placed before the guests, but the maid passes the vegetable dishes to the left of each guest, and the guest helps himself with a large silver spoon provided for the purpose. Little side dishes for the vegetables should if possible be avoided. One vegetable besides the potatoes is quite enough, but it should be a good vegetable deliciously cooked. The salad should be crisp and cold and should be served on iced plates. After the dessert Camembert, Brie or Roquefort cheese should be served with both hard and soft toasted crackers and tiny cups of black coffee.

"The waitress should move noiselessly and anticipate the wants of the guests as much as possible. The plates for the soup, fish and roast ought to be hot. Under the hot soup plate, however, there is placed a cold dinner plate. The ice water should be free from those jangling bits of ice which make drinking so difficult. The bowls of the spoons are correct when placed upward, the tines of the forks up and the sharp edges of the knives toward the plates.

"Radishes daintily peeled into the semblance of water lilies may occupy a small glass dish, while stuffed olives may fill another.

"When dinner is ready, the fact should not be heralded by a bell or any such device. The servant should appear and simply announce, 'Dinner is served.' And, speaking of the maid, her appearance more than anything else will add to or detract from the success of the dinner. She should be specklessly attired in a plain black gown, with white collar, cuffs and apron. It is this attention to details which makes a dinner a success, no matter how small its cost."

MAUD ROBINSON.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Fitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

"Concord will be ruined when Harmony gets the county seat," she went on. "I suppose, however, that you are very wealthy and would consider as a mere bagatelle the depreciation in value of a thousand or more lots."

Guy started to tell her that he had hardly a dollar he could call his own, outside of the town, but he bit his lip and kept the words back.

"Miss Vlandingham," he said, instead, "you and Miss Pinkney must return at once to Harmony. I will get a conveyance and drive you back."

"Not for worlds would I allow you to do that! If the Concord people ever found out what you had done they would turn against you."

"I'll chance it."

"Perhaps you would, but we won't." Miss Betty tossed her head.

Guy was desperate.

"Really, Miss Vlandingham," he said, earnestly, "I must insist that you let me drive you back to Harmony."

"Really!" exclaimed Miss Betty, laughing at him with her eyes. "Well, sir, we insist on staying here until we accomplish the work that brought us. You will not deport us against our will?"

"You are a pair of madcaps!" averred Guy helplessly. "If you came over here to assist Col. Dingle—"

"We did not come for that," she interrupted, hastily. "I am sorry you have such a poor opinion of us as to think we would bear a hand in such a matter. Had I been informed of Col. Dingle's purpose he would never have come here this morning."

"Yet I found your bracelet close to the room from which Col. Dingle escaped."

"We are quartered across the hall. After Col. Dingle got into such a predicament we could do no less than help him out of it. While you and your fellow townsmen were wrangling in the office, I left by a rear stairway and a rear door and had the liveryman saddle and make ready the horse you rode over from Harmony last night. The animal was hitched near the building you propose to use for a courthouse. When Col. Dingle escaped from the room the coast was comparatively clear, as nearly all the inhabitants were at the hotel. For that reason he had no difficulty in getting away. In my haste I lost my bracelet and did not discover that it was gone until the angry citizens came flocking up the stairs. Then, of course, it was too late to recover it. I am very much obliged to you, Mr. Herbert, for proceeding so secretly in the matter. You had seen that bracelet before and you knew who the owner of it must be, so you had only to raise your voice and direct the whole pack against us. We're grateful, aren't we, Lois?"

"Very," said Miss Pinkney in a constrained voice.

"You are under no obligation to me," returned Guy. "The account is more than balanced by your kindness of last night, Miss Vlandingham."

At this juncture Guy heard some one coming up the stairs three steps at a time.

"Quick!" he murmured; replace your veils."

Miss Pinkney's hands trembled as she once more folded the gray covering across her face. But there was no trace of alarm in the actions of Miss Betty. She was as cool and self-possessed as though presiding at some social function in her own town of Harmony.

Barely were the fair faces covered when Sampson burst into the parlor. He stopped short on beholding the ladies and evidenced some confusion.

"What do you want, Sampson?" asked Guy.

"The Colonel wants to see you, Mr. Herbert, and in a tearing hurry."

Guy turned to give a parting salute to the ladies, but Miss Betty extended her hand. As he took the little palm in his she whispered:

"As a friend, I thank you from the bottom of my heart, Mr. Herbert;

"QUICK, REPLACE YOUR VEILS!"

but as an enemy—I defy you! Do not be too sentimental nor overchivalrous. Remember, I am here in the interests of Harmony and that it is our duty to look out for Concord."

With that he turned away and Guy followed Sampson out of the room.

CHAPTER VI.

Col. Keever was tremendously wrought up. He was pacing the restricted limits of his office and tossing his arms and talking to himself, so wrathfully oblivious of his surroundings that he did not notice the entrace of Guy and Sampson for several moments.

Occasionally the Colonel would halt, glower at a copy hook fastened to the wall, shake his fist at it and address it by such terms as "infernal scoundrel," "contemptible cur," and so on. Finally he jerked the hook from the wall, cast it on the floor and set his heel on the sheets that were strung upon it.

"Great guns, Colonel," cried Sampson, "you're spoilin' about a dozens stickfuls of copy."

"Oh, is it you, Sampson?" said the Colonel, whirling. "Mr. Herbert, I want a word with you, sir." He picked up the hook with its attached sheets and handed it to the printer. "Go out and get to work on that," he said, shortly. Sampson vanished into the workroom forthwith. "How long have you been in this office, Mr. Herbert?" asked the Colonel.

"About two minutes," replied Guy.

"Then you witnessed my ebullition of wrath, sir, and I beg your pardon. Ah, but I have a devil of a temper! I would fight at the drop of a hat—possibly, sir, I would jar the hand that held the hat. It's my southern breeding, I suppose; my southern breeding, backed by long years of slaughter in our late war. I am trying to outgrow my temper, but success comes very slowly. Some ancient philosopher said that every man has a wolf imprisoned in his breast. I believe that, Herbert, and I am trying to strangle my own particular wolf. It was the wolf that hurled scorching words at that copy hook and tore it from the wall, sir; not Keever—no, no, not Keever. But—" and the Colonel brought his right fist down in his left palm—"the wolf is going to have the upper hand until I square accounts with this man Dingle."

"I wouldn't do anything rash, Colonel," ventured Guy.

"Rash? Gad! What would you do if a man struck you twice across the face with his hat?"

"Knock him down," said Guy, promptly.

"Pre-cisely, and that's what any man with an ordinary temper would do. But that would only be a half-way measure with me. I presume you noticed that I did not knock Dingle down?"

"I did," was the dry response.

"I restrained myself, held myself in check in order that I might take a more terrible vengeance. Herbert, I am going to have Dingle's life!"

"You certainly are not—"

"There, there! Don't try to argue with me, for it is useless, utterly useless. I have made up my mind. Let me assure you that I am no stranger to the field of honor. At one time, sir, the code duello was my vade mecum. I counted that day lost, Herbert, which passed without my calling some one out."

The Colonel pulled the brim of his white "top" hat firmly down over his brow. In his estimation a stiff white hat was the acme of gentility, the crown and symbol of a gentleman. A stiff white hat, moreover, throws about its wearer a political glamour, which was something not to be ignored by the editor of that justly celebrated sheet, the Concord Blizzard. The Colonel not only pulled down the brim of his hat, but he buttoned the two lower buttons of his frock coat across his capacious stomach, rested one elbow on the top of his desk and swung his cane—swung it slowly and relentlessly. His manner plainly stating that threats, prayers and entreaties would alike be powerless to swerve him, Guy thought best not to make another attempt.

In a little while the Colonel ceased swinging his cane long enough to indicate with the point of it a letter which lay open on the top of his desk.

"Read that, Herbert," he said; "by gad, you read that."

Guy cast his eyes down and read the following:

"Archibald Keever, Colonel so-called—Sir: I have been appointed a committee of one to rid this territory of your baneful presence. You have cumbered the earth too long, and I shall be pleased to offer you a proof of my distinguished regard with a six-shooter at 20 paces, time and place to be designated by you. My only stipulation is that the place selected be equidistance from Concord and Harmony. Reply by post. If you do not meet me, I shall make it my pleasant duty to publicly chastise you and denounce you as the arrant braggart that you are.

"ISAAC DINGLE."

"That certainly has a business-like sound," commented Guy.

The Colonel laughed tragically.

POPULAR IN LONDON.

No Man Has More Friends Than Bishop Winnington Ingram.

Interesting Personality of the Young English Prelate Who Will Preach the Coronation Sermon for King Edward.

There are several eminent and dignified English prelates who have not yet recovered from the shock they sustained when the announcement was made recently that Very Rev. Winnington Ingham—better known as the "slum bishop"—had been selected by King Edward to preach at his coronation.

There was a rather similar feeling of astonishment in the same quarter when, the post of bishop of London having been made vacant by the death of Dr. Creighton a year ago, Ingham, who was looked upon as a mere youth, was named as his successor; for although the formal appointment was as usual made by Lord Salisbury, it was genereally understood that the king had expressed a decided wish in the matter. At the time of his promotion to the bishopric of London, which is one of the most important in the Church of England, Dr. Ingram occupied the post of suffragan bishop of Stepney, the last of the several ecclesiastical positions which he has held in the "East end" and in discharging the duties of which he endeared himself as perhaps no other clergyman in London to the wretched folks who live there.

Stepney, like Bethnal Green, of which Dr. Ingram formerly was rector, and Spitalfields, of which he once was rural dean, is one of the poorest—and wickedest—divisions of Whitechapel, but Dr. Ingram was just as proud of his parishioners as if they had been the greatest aristocrats in Mayfair. He was not merely their bishop, he was their friend; and nothing used to delight him more than to be right among them as man to man. Work among the men and boys was his greatest hobby and he formed several "social clubs" that became rather famous and, half the time, he was off on excursions to the country or the seashore with a grimy but exultant contingent of his "young barbarians" from Brick lane of Houndsditch, giving them, perhaps, the first glimpse they ever had of the ocean or of green fields.

BISHOP WINNINGTON INGRAM.
(London Prelate Who Will Preach the Coronation Sermon.)

He often held open-air services in the slums, notably in the large open space in front of St. Luke's, Spitalfields, almost across the road from the entrance to Dorset street, where several of the "Ripper" murders took place, and which is known as "the wickedest street in London." Ever since he was raised to the dignity of the bishop of London, at the request of the poor people who are so fond of him and so loath to give him up, the divine, whose office entitles him to sit in the house of lords, made a visit to the East side, and, standing in his white surplice in the middle of a big crowd of shabby coster boys, factory girls and mothers with unwashed babies in their arms, preached them a sermon of which the lowest of them could understand every word. He used jestingly to tell his "poor people" how busy attending to his various parochial duties kept him, and delighted them by picturing himself hurrying to an appointment on top of a halfpenny 'bus or tramcar, or eating his lunch in a third-class carriage

WILL SIGN BILLS.

Gov. Murphy Has Decided to Affix Signature to Great Plainfield Bills.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 10—No official action has been taken by Governor Murphy relative to the signing of the North Plainfield annexation and consolidation bills. It is confidently expected that he will give his sanction to the measures in the course of a few days. Notwithstanding the unfounded reports to the contrary, it is declared that the Governor has determined to add his signature to the bills and thus bringing the proposition before the citizens of the borough of North Plainfield.

Thanks for Assemblyman.

Assemblyman Wililam Newcorn received today a letter from Hugh J. Fox, president of the New Jersey State Board of Children's Guardians, thanking him personally and also on behalf of the Board for his assistance in securing the passage of Assembly Bill No. 138 which governs the society. vide for saving the business interests of the city of Plainfield in its paid-for betterments; none for satisfactorily disposing of the sewer bond question; none on the subject of the borough relations to the sewer itself; none as to the disposition of our fire department; none for the past cost and future plans of the Free Library; none to preserve our borough Manual Training and High School system; none for adequate representation in the Health Board of the city, and so on. It may be replied that some of these things would be regulated under other general legislative acts which now exist. But I have examined carefully those acts, and find they do not meet our specific wants; that they do not safeguard the public rights of either side. Under Assembly Bill 155, our borough must enter the city as a supplicant for either common or special rights. All the vital questions which concern the borough's future welfare are to be entrusted to your city council and to future city politicians. In a word, we take "pot luck."

Has your city counsel, Craig A. Marsh, whose learning in the law is generally recognized, passed upon the consolidation bill and reported that it is legally what it should be for the protection of either Plainfield or North Plainfield? If he has, will you please print his opinion?

The whole legal and business proposition involved is not an easy one, but grave and complicated. I must be frank and say that if I were an annexationist, I could not consent to request the Governor to sign Assembly Bill 155, because, in my judgment, it fails to meet the needs of either municipality.

You speak of the importance of this matter being settled and not longer agitated. You are correct, but it can be settled by an ordinary election and without the legal one proposed. That is to say, it can be ascertained beyond the shadow of a doubt whether a majority, or anywhere near a majority, of our citizens desire consolidation. The Borough Council can by resolution request the public to vote upon the proposition upon a date to be fixed. The cost of the same can be defrayed by contributions from the two parties. I will guarantee to see that the half of the cost of such an election is contributed. This proposition will apply to anything done by council within one month after the Governor fails to approve the bills, in case that should be his disposition of them.

A. V. D. Honeyman.

Strange Adventures of Meteorites.

Some of the meteorites that fall upon the earth possess a peculiar structure, indicating that they have more than once been in a molten condition. Dr. Berwerth, of Vienna, concludes, as the result of his studies of this class of meteorites, that they came originally from a volcano situated in some distant part of space, but that before reaching the earth they were subjected to great heat which metamorphosed their structure. To explain this he suggests that in the course of their celestial journey they may have passed through the atmosphere of a sun, or may have been fused through the sudden birth of a new and neighboring star. The heat developed during their fall through our atmosphere is not sufficient to explain the changes that they have undergone.—Science.

Hard to Matriculate.

Mr. Peixoto, lodgekeeper of Girard college, prides himself on his intimate knowledge of the regulations of the institution. The other day a bright-looking young hoodlum of some seven years of age, carrying a telescope bag and with a cigarette jauntily poised in his mouth, entered the lodge.

"Say, I want to come to this school," said the visitor.

"You can't some here if you smoke that thing," answered Peixoto.

"Well, I'll throw it away," was the ready reply.

"Is your father living?" asked the lodgekeeper.

"'Course he is," said the boy.

"We don't admit pupils whose fathers are not dead, only orphans."

"Gee!" was the response. "Then to get in I've got to kill the old man. Dat's tough."—Philadelphia Times.

Stone Bridges.

A list of stone bridges of more than 60 meters span is given by M. Dutreux in Genie Civil for January 18, 1902. The greatest span is the Trezzo bridge, built over the Adda by the duke of Milan, Barnabo Visconti, in the years 1370-77. The span was 72½ meters, and the bridge was destroyed by war in 1416. No other bridge exceeds 70 meters, except one just completed at Luxembourg. Cabin John bridge near Washington (1860) has a span of 67.1 meters. A few European bridges have spans over 50 meters. The bridge at Chester, England, is nearly 61 meters span. The new Luxembourg bridge has a central arch with a span of 84.65 meters and two side arches of 21.60 meters. The bridge is 16 meters wide and presents several interesting features in its construction.—N. Y. Sun.

THOSE WHO APPEARED IN LEAL'S SCHOOL PLAY

Cast of Young Men Who So Successfully Produced "Jane" at the Casino Before a Large Audience of Society People.

The cast in "Jane," the comedy in three acts, recently presented by pupils of the Leal's School, is herewith reproduced. The play as enacted by these amateurs was a great success. Financially it passed expectation, over $300 being realized. Socially, it was a brilliant achievement, the Casino being crowded to the doors with the fashionable set of Greater Plainfield. The receipts will be used for the beenfit of the athletic association of the school.

It will be recalled that "Jane" made a great hit in the London season a few years ago. In order to reproduce it the committee in charge of the Leal's affair was compelled to pay $50 royalty.

From the right to the left of the top row in the illustration are F. Roland Horne, W. M. E. Perkins, Gordon W. Abbott, Frank P. Simons, and Donald A. McGee.

Horne is a member of the senior class and is known for his business ability. He is assistant manager of The Lealonian, the school paper. Upon graduation he purposes to enter Lehigh University. In the play he assumed the role of "Mr. Pixton." "Lucy Norton" was impersonated by Perkins, of the class of 1902. He plays end on the institution's football team, and has contributed to the Lealonian from time to time. At present he is an associate editor of the paper. He wants to go to Harvard.

The part of old "Mr. Kershaw," the guardian, was represented by Gordon W. Abbott, who is president of the class of 1903. He stands high in his studies as well as in athletics. Hockey is his favorite game. Upon the completion of his studies he intends to matriculate at Yale, pursuing a course in the Sheffield Scientific School. Frank P. Simons appeared as "Mrs. Chadwick." He belongs to the senior class and is considered bright among his fellows. He has been victorious in several prize speaking contests in the school. In the fall he will enter Princeton University.

Donald A. McGee, who assumed the character of "William Tipson," is the president of the senior class and is also president of the athletic association. Among the other positions he fills are the captaincy of the football team, the management of the basket ball team and the editorthip of the Lealonian. He will shout for Old Eli in future years.

Commencing from the right again on the lower row, in the order named, are N. Pendelton Rogers, Jr., E. Clinton Hall, E. B. Smith, Effingham A. Pinto and Dudley H. Barrows.

Rogers was "Mrs. Pixton" in the cast. He is a member of the class of 1903 and is well up in his studies, particularly so in French. Has a taste for golf. After leaving Leal's he will enter the School of Mines attached to Columbia University.

E. Clinton Hall assumed the role of "Charles Shackleton." He is a senior. The offices he holds are: Manager of the football team, captain of the basket ball team, treasurer of the athletic association and business manager of the school paper. He has his mind set on attending the School of Mines at Columbia. Instructor E. B. Smith, who is in the centre of the picture, coached the boys for the play. He was graduated from Amherst College in 1894.

The title role was taken by Effingham A. Pinto and he was admirably adopted to the part. He writes for the school paper and is secretary of his class, 1903. He proposes to go to Yale University. The last person in the row is Dudley H. Barrows, who is a member of the class of 1903. He is a golf fiend. He will become a Princetonian.

FORESTERS' LADIES' NIGHT

COURT WATCHUNG HELD A BIG TIME AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

Fair Guests Were Out in Force and Were Well Entertained—The Programme.

"Ladies night," the first in the annals of the organization, was observed by Court Watchung, No. 3,871, I. O. F., in its chambers, last evening. As an initial occasion it proved a decided success, the treatment afforded the members of the fair sex, who attended, being all that could be desired. The sole aim of the court members was to entertain their women friends and they succeeded admirably.

Under the aupsices of the entertainment committee, consisting of Thomas Stafford, chairman, assisted by Messrs. Henry and Gaston, a delightful musical and literary programme was rendered. It consisted of vocal selections by Miss Edith Derby, a soprano soloist of much merit, piano selections by Miss Ida Tallamy, character sketches by High Secretary F. A. Mackenzie, of Elizabeth, and graphophone selections in charge of W. N. Gray, of Cranford. During the intermissions, confectionery was passed among the assemblage.

At the conclusion of the programme a bowling contest was held among ten of the fair guests, which proved exciting to the spectators as well as the contestants. The match was won by Miss Jessie Saxton, with Miss Carrie Bullmer, second, and Miss Daisy Brouard, third. The winner was presented with a cut glass bottle filled with perfumery.

MISS CARMAN'S LECTURE.

Large Audience Listened to Interesting Talk Well Illustrated.

In Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, a large and appreciative audience heard Miss Julia A. Carman, D.D.S., give her illustrated lecture on "Egypt and the Holy Land." Told in Miss Carman's interesting way and furthered by the excellent views, the lecture proved highly instructive. The pictures shown were those taken by Miss Carman during her recent trip to the Orient.

STRANGE SIGHTS IN FAR EASTERN LANDS

Described in Letter From the Young Plainfielder Who is Making Tour of the World.

MAILED AT SINGAPORE.

HE WITNESSED CHINESE NEW YEAR CELEBRATION IN THAT CITY.

Letter Received From Walter B. Rittenhouse, of Plainfield, Now a Passenger on Tramp Steamer Maristow — His Experiences.

Another interesting letter has just been received from Walter B. Rittenhouse, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G M. Rittenhouse, of Sandford avenue, who is now a passenger on the British tramp steamer Maristow, bound on a trip around the world. The letter comes from Singapore, Straits Settlements. Mr. Rittenhouse's companion on the voyage is a wealthy young Filipino, who lectured at Music Hall, this city, several years ago. He is referred to in the letter as "Lala."

In the course of the letter Mr. Rittenhouse writes:

"The trip through the canal (Suez) was interesting. Squalid villages built of mud and brush with no trees or shade of any kind, struggling bunches of camels, jabbering gangs of Arabs making huge sun-dried bricks, miles of desolate sandy waste, and every five miles a neat little station well painted and surrounded by palm trees and tropical pines were the prominent features of the trip. * * * *

"Just before reaching Suez we passed the point where immense caravans of Mohamedans cross the canal on their annual pilgrimage to Mecca. They have followed a certain route for years—centuries I suppose—and now that the canal is in the way, they build a bridge across it each year, stopping all traffic until they have passed over. The captain is my authority for this statement and I suppose it is correct. We reached Suez in the evening * * * * * and the next day passed into the Red Sea where we quickly shifted into white clothes. We saw the point where the Children of Israel crossed the sea, leaving the Egyptians to be drowned in their attempt to follow. The shores of the Red Sea are mostly hills of shifting sand blown about by the wind like fine snow in a blizzard. Fortunately we did not strike wind of sufficient strength to blow the sand out to the ship. * * * *

"We arrived at Singapore on Washington's birthday and anchored off in the roads. The approach to the harbor is one of the grandest sights in the world. We passed through a long channel winding in and among the islands, covered with tropical foliage and studded with buildings of Oriental architecture. The sun had just risen and the effect was magnificent. After landing we rode in rickishaws to the town. We were fortunate enough to arrive during the Chinese New Year festivities and I tell you that evening was the liveliest one I have ever seen. The streets were just packed with Chinamen. The racket was something fiendish. Firecrackers and bombs were going constantly; not one by one but by the barrel full. Our Fourth of July is a funeral compared with this. The air became so thick with smoke that the seething, jabbering mass of humanity was only a blur. The dull gleam of lamps in front of opium joints; hundreds of little groups of powdered begrimed Chinamen, eating a vile smelling concoction around great iron kettles; our sidelamps lighting up the heaving sweating back of our coolie; the heat, smoke and incessant din, all produced a sensation like a nightmare. * * * *

"I was aroused from my slumbers at 3 o'clock next morning by Lala, who informed me that the hotel was on fire. The building on fire was fully 100 feet away. * * * * "I turned in again leaving Lala to watch the progress of the fire. What I had seen of it was very spectacular; flames rising with a roar a hundred feet into the air and lighting up the palms in the gardens while hundreds of Chinamen and Malays danced and yelled excitedly, but did nothing to extinguish the flames. By some freak of fortune the fire did not spread to the other buildings.

"On Sunday evening all the wealthy Chinese merchants turned out in a long procession. * * * * On Monday night four of us went out to the botanical gardens, about three miles from town, and listened to a fine native orchestra. They play once a month on a moonlight evening and we were lucky enough to strike one of these times. We leave for Manila tomorrow morning and expect some rough weather for a change as incoming vessels report heavy winds."

CUT THROAT EAR TO EAR

Then Moses Ayres, Tired of Life, Calmly Waited for Death to End His Career.

AYRES WILL RECOVER.

Found By Italians Nearly Four Hours After He Received Self-Inflicted Wound—Taken to Hospital—Chose Gully in Old Railway Embankment for Scene.

Moses Ayers, fifty-four years old and ill with hip disease for the last two of them, became tired of life yesterday afternoon and sought to end his earthly career after a fashion of his own.

He left his home on Leland avenue about 2 o'clock and going to the old railroad embankment in the Netherwood section of the city sought an out of the way gully near Terrill road. Reclining in this he hacked his throat from ear to ear with a pocket knife and then calmly awaited death by slow bleeding. He was discovered five hours later and taken to Muhlenberg hospital, where it was said this morning the wounds were not fatal and he would be out in a few days.

Ayers was first found by Italians who live near Terrill road, but on account of their limited knowledge of English, it was 6:30 o'clock before one of them mustered enough words to explain the fact to the police. Chief Kiely, Patrolman McCarthy and Dr. Carman immediately went to the scene in the ambulance and found the man as described, with his head in a pool of blood. He was conscious and to inquiries said he was sick and tired of life and preferred to die than exist in suffering.

The knife, with which he hacked himself, he had carefully wiped off and replaced in his pocket. Chief Kiely declared that if Ayers had been found dead it would have undoubtedly caused a murder charge to have been preferred against some one, as the fact of no knife being found would naturally result in that action.

The despondent man is single and lived with his brother, Warren Ayers, a machinist employed in one of the East End shops. The latter said his brother's ailment had worried him for a long time and he brooded over the fact that he was unable to work.

OLD CHARACTER GONE.

Peter Collins Died at the Industrial Home After Brief Stay.

Peter Collins, one of the city's oldest residents and known in every part of it, died at the Industrial Home, yesterday, where he had been for the past few weeks. He was taken by force from his squalid home in an old rookery on West Fourth street by the Board of Health officials, who found him a helpless and tottering wreck. Collins was 90 years old and had resided here for a long time. He leaves no known relatives. A short funeral service was held this morning in Cole's undertaking parlors with Father Farley in charge after which interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Prizes for Bowling.

Mrs. August Melchor and Mrs. Matthias Menzenbach won the first and second prizes in the bowling contest of the Ladies' Bowling Club, in Saengerbund Hall, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Fritz Bechtel won the booby prize.

The Y. M. C. A. Hall will be reserved until 7:45 o'clock this evening for those who hold tickets of admission for the second public rehearsal of the Y. M. C. A. The admission will be free to all after that hour.

A farewell concert will be tendered Rev. G. Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church. The affair will take place Thursday evening, May 1. August Wolff and Fred Endress are arranging the concert.

Their First Communion.

GREATER CITY MEANS REDUCED TAX RATE

Charles H. Lyman Writes Plainly on the Inevitable Result of Consolidation.

WOULD ENJOY BENEFITS

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE CITY AND BOROUGH TAX RATES.

Thinks Charity Begins at Home and That People of North Plainfield Should Consult Their Own Interests First—The Results.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—At this time when the petition against annexation and consolidation is being circulated with such energy, it seems to me that it would be wise before signing the same to consider very carefully the real issue which, to my mind, is largely what the tax rate will be after annexation and consolidation becomes a law. I have read very closely the letters which have been published against the bills now in the hands of the Governor for his signature, and while we have been furnished with a bewildering array of figures in reference to the county debts of Union and Somerset, and also what a mean thing it would be to leave dear old Somerset, I am of the opinion that charity begins at home, and it is far better for the taxpayers of the borough of North Plainfield to first consider their own best interest, and compare the relative tax rate of the borough and the city of Plainfield as to the benefits received at the present time according to the taxes paid by each voter of the borough.

The tax rate for the city of Plainfield for the year 1901 is as follows: $2.50 per $100, and the borough's rate is $2.42 for $100. While these figures seem to be in favor of the borough a careful analysis of the real figures are as follows: County tax for the borough 61 cents for $100, and the county tax for the city is 47 cents on $100, a difference, you will see, of 13 cents in favor of Union county. The opposition will tell you to look at the difference in the amounts owed by the two counties. I would like to know if it is not easier to pay $400,000, if you are worth $10,000,000, than pay $100,000, if you are only worth $1,000,000. While I do not know that this comparison of figures is right as to the relative value of taxable properties in the two counties, still, everybody knows that the tax ratables in Union far exceed those of Somerset; so much for the county tax.

State schoo taxes are the same in both places, 17 cents for $100. Borough tax, 84 cents; Board of Health, .02; special school tax 78 cents. City of Plainfield, fire department, 24½ cents; library, .04½; city and lights, 66 cents; poor tax, .04; free school and bond, 72 cents; principal on sewer bonds, .07; interest on sewer improvements, .08. After a careful examination of these figures, I would like every taxpayer of the borough to compare the same, and then ask themselves what the tax rate would be in the borough if they attempted to put into operation, a sewage plant, free library, fire department, etc., like the city of Plainfield has at the present time.

Again I would like to have every owner of a piece of real estate in the borough, before signing the petition against annexation and consolidation, compare the assessed valuation of their property with some owner of a piece of property in the city, which they think ought to be assessed at about the same valuation as theirs. So far as the many cases which have come under my observation, in fifteen years experience in the handling of real estate are concerned, I feel safe in saying that you will find, as I have, in most every instance that the valuation on the property held by the boroughite is from 15 to 20 per cent. higher than that owned by the city man. So much for the figures, now for the reasons of this difference.

First, I want to call your attention to Plainfield's share of the franchise tax, and the borough of North Plainfield's share: City, $3,480.49 and the borough $414.70; in city's favor $3,065.79. Then compare, if you will, the rapid growth of the Netherwood and West End sections as against the growth of the borough in its residential sections, then also take the large factories which have been built in the past, and now being enlarged in most every case, as well as new factories being built, and don't forget, taxpayers of North Plainfield, that this kind

PAID HIGH PRICE FOR SUGAR

SENATOR REED PURCHASED A POUND OF IT FOR $10.26 LAST EVENING.

At a Pound Party Held at Park Club—Auctioned Off Pounds of Varied Commodities.

Among the reasons advanced in favor of annexation and consolidation of the borough and city, is that the price of household commodities is too high in the borough. This was proven last evening, when Senator Charles A. Reed paid $10.26 for a pound of sugar in that municipality. It was at a "pound party" given at the Park Club under the auspices of the entertainment committee, of which Mrs. Reed is the chairiman.

The pound of sugar was the last article put up at auction and the men pooled for it. It was started at 75 cents and the bidding was lively until $10.26 was reached, and Charles H. Lyman, the jolly auctioneer, knocked it down to the Senator. Immediately afterward Mrs. Reed presented the sugar to the club and all agreed that it was the most expensive pound of sugar ever used.

There was a good attendance at the party and the auction proved to be a source of enjoyment to all. Everyone brought a pound of something, including nails, rice, coal, coffee, cereals of all kinds and many other things. The prices ranged from 75 cents to $10.26 and from the start the bidding was lively.

Mr. Lyman was an efficient auctioneer and he succeeded in getting good prices. Mrs. Reed was the treasurer and at the close she announced that $30 had been received from the sale. This will be used for the extension fund. After the sale refreshments were served by the committee.

NOT ELABORATE BUT PRETTY

QUIET LITTLE CEREMONY WITH MISS GLADYS BACON AS BRIDE.

Wedded Ward Brower, of Riverside, N. Y., Last Evening, at Bride's Plainfield Home.

In the floral bedecked parlor of the beautiful little home on East Sixth street, Miss Gladys Emily Bacon, daughter of Mrs. Emily Olivia Bacon, and Ward Brower, of Riverside, New York, were married, at 8:30 o'clock last evening. It was a quiet home wedding but withal there was a certain unmistakable brilliancy about it.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector of Grace church, was the officiating clergyman. There were no bridemaids and neither was there a best man, for the bride desired the nuptial event to be as unostentatious as possible. Gathered in the room, which was tastefully adorned with palms, lilies and potted plants, were some fifty persons, relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom.

There was no music during the marriage ceremony, but on its completion a stringed orchestra in the hallway rendered classical and catchy airs. The ushers were Francis Livngston Montgomery, of this city, and John Brower, a brother of the groom, of Riverside. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Montgomery.

The simple ceremony of the Episcopal church was used and after the benediction, a short reception was held. Later Mr. and Mrs. Brower departed for their honeymoon trip. They will stop at southern points and on their return will make a short stay at the groom's country place, "Blythe," Turners, Orange county, N. Y.

The bride was gowned in point de'sprit and point applique over white silk. She wore no veil, but carried a bouquet of bridal roses and a Tiffany prayer book. This book was handsomely bound in silver highly wrought and was the gift of the groom.

Among the assemblage was the groom's mother, Mrs. John Brower, of New York, as well as friends and relatives from New York, Orange and this city.

The bride is a member of Grace Episcopal church and is well known in this city. Mr. Brower is a member of the New York bar, having a large practice in that city. The couple will reside at Riverside.

Surprise to Miss Nash.

THE LEHIGH STUDENTS GAVE CLEVER COMEDY

Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Association Produced "The Fem. Seminary" at Casino.

AUDIENCE WAS SMALL.

THOSE WHO ATTENDED SAW SOME CLEVER WORK BY THE LEHIGH BOYS.

It Was An Old Story Made Over to Suit the Situation—Funny Complications—Those Who Made Up the Cast—The Patronesses.

A three act farce, entitled "The Fem. Seminary," was well rendered by the Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Association, of Lehigh University, at the Casino last evening. The only dissappointment in the whole affair was the size of the audience, but despite the lack of numbers those that took the opportunity presented by attending certainly were well repaid.

The association is now in its fifteenth year and has made quite a reputation in the field of amateur theatricals. The story, which forms a basis for the play, is not a new one by any means, but it was worked up in such a shape that it had all the appearance of something new in the line of a farce. The scene is laid during the commencement week at Asa Packer's famous institution of learning. Two young fellows are madly infatuated with two young women, whom they invite to meet the aunt of one at a dinner. This aunt is a wealthy Brazilian, but unfortunately she does not arrive in time. Her place is taken by another student who consents to impersonate her. The father of one of the students falls in love with this supposed aunt, and this furnished the material for a lot of fun. Of course the story in the play ends as one would imagine.

The dramatis personae was as follows: "Stephen Spettigue," principal of the Fem. Seminary, Dyer Smith; "Colonel Francis Chesney," late of the Philippine service, C. B. Graham; "Jack Chesney," a student, R. P. Hutchinson; "Charles Wychom," a student, W. R. Johnson; "Fencourt Babberly," a student, E. H. Clark; "Brassett," the porter, R. G. Johnson; "footman," S. S. Shive; "Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez," from Brazil, "J. W. Scott; "Kitty Verdon," and "Amy Spettigue," two Fem. Seminary students, R. W. Straus and W. C. Pollitt; "Ella Delehey," an orphan, T. R. Angle.

The patronnesses for the affair included Mrs. Frank A. Barnaby, Mrs. W. T. Kaufman, Mrs. George P. Dupee, Mrs. W. L. Saunders, Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Mrs. Phillip VanWyck, Mrs. James W. DeGraff, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Mrs. Wallace Guilford, Mrs. Walter McGee, Mrs. James R. Blake, Mrs. George T. Rogers, Mrs. Lucius C. Ryce, Mrs. J. H. Howell, Mrs. B. I. Drake, Mrs. A. L. Otterson, Mrs. Frank H. Ball and Mrs. Samuel Townsend.

TWO WORKMEN OVERCOME.

Pierre Moore and Gideon Hewitt Succumbed to Charcoal Fumes.

While repairing the upper compartment in Fred Endress' refrigerator, yesterday afternoon, Pierre Moore and Gideon Hewitt, employes of D. S. Dunavan, were partially overcome by charcoal fumes. The gas arose from their fire pot which they had with them and was unable to escape owing to the doors being closed unknowingly. The men reeled out just in time to prevent their lapsing into unconsciousness. This morning neither was able to work, having not yet fully recovered.

McVey Sale Adjourned a Week.

The sale of McVey's hotel and annex was adjourned yesterday afternoon for one week by T. J. Carey, the auctioneer. There were two bids, one of $9,000 on the hotel property and one of $10,000 on the annex. As there are two parties, one from Philadelphia and the other from New York, who want a chance to bid and could not be present yesterday, the sale was put off for a week.

of property will never be built in the borough, as we have no railroad.

While the things mentioned above are a great factor in keeping the tax rate down, to my mind the most important item to be considered by everyone is the business section, beginning at the corner of Grove and Front streets, and from thence to the corner of Watchung avenue, then to the corner of Fifth street, then to Central avenue, and from there to the corner of Grove, and the place of beginning. You will find in this small radius as much, or nearly as much, of taxables as there is in the whole borough of North Plainfield. Why not let us enjoy some of the benefits in this generation?

When consolidation comes, as it surely will, you will find the tax rate for the greater city far below what it ever has been in the past in either the city or borough. If it is a good business principle for the large corporations of our country, which are financed and managed by such eminently successful men as Morgan, Rockfellow, and Hill, to consolidate in order to reduce the running expenses in all departments, so as to pay large dividends to their stockholders, why is it not a good business principle for us to consolidate in order to give the taxpayer the benefit of the lower rate, which is sure to come under annexation and consolidation.

In closing I would like to say, do not be led astray into signing the petition by their telling you the only reason they do not favor the measures is because of the manner in which the bills are drawn, or how you were not personally consulted before they were offered to the Legislature. You know what is everybody's business is never attended to. When the bills are signed by the Governor every voter in the borough of North Plainfield will have the opportunity of casting his ballot for or against the Greater City. As for me, I say "Hurrah for the Greater City, and a lower tax rate."

Charles H. Lyman.

THEATRICAL.

The bill at Manager Proctor's pretty theatre in Newark for next week "is to laugh." Comedy acts will predominate, and nature's most potent tonic, laughter, will spring from a dozen mirth-making sources. George Thatcher, the dean of minstrelsy, and a local favorite of perennial vogue, will be the topping feature of the merry show. The lover of refined vaudeville, presented in beautiful surroundings in the most skillful manner, will surely find abundant cause for self congratulation after a visit to Proctor's any time; but this will be especially true next week, when the bill is sure to please. The prices are low—10 cents in the gallery at all times; 25 cents for any seat in the orchestra or balcony in the afternoon, and 35, 50 and 75 cents at night, with box seats $1. The orchestra can be reserved in advance for the evening entertainment.

Frederic Bond, Adelaide Keim and other favorite members of Proctor Stock Company will be seen at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre in a splendid production of "The Brixton Burglary," which made such a hit at the Fifth Avenue last week.

The introduction of a full orchestra at the Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre has made as a big hit with all patrons of this theatre as have the handsome souvenirs which are distributed to the women who attend the daily matinees. The Proctor Stock Company will be seen in "The Royal Box" next week. The curtain raiser will be "The Rift Within Love's Clouds."

Mabel Montgomery will lead the Proctor Stock Company through the mirth provoking scenes of Hoyt's "A Contented Woman" at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre. "North Jay Station" will be the curtain raiser.

At the Twenty-third Street Theatre continuous vaudeville will hold its accustomed sway. Nat M. Wills, the happy tramp comedian, parodist and jokeste, will be the leading feature. Grapewin and Chance, in presentations of "The Awakening of Pipp;" Charley Case, the black-face monologist, and A. O. Duncan's clever ventriloquial specialty will be other star features.

Shot In His Left Leg.

For all kind of sores, burns, bruises, or other wounds DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a sure cure. Skin diseases yield to it at once. Never fails in case of piles. Cooling and healing. None genuine but DeWitt's. Beware of counterfeits. "I suffered for many years from a sore caused by a gun shot wound in my left leg," says A. S. Fuller, English, Ind. "It would not heal and gave me much trouble. I used all kinds of remedies to no purpose until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has accomplished much good during the past year, as was shown by the reports just submitted at the annual meeting of the organization. One great source of regret, however, upon the part of the members, was the fact that the Legislature had failed to pass the anti-pigeon slaughtering bill. The officers of the society were active in their efforts to secure the enactment of the measure, but they were outwitted by unscrupulous politicians.

Warned by this experience, it would be well for the members of the organization to begin at once a systematic work of arousing public sentiment so that when the bill comes before the next Legislature it will be sure of speedy passage. The members of the branches in all parts of the State can do this effectively, and they will have the full support of the public press, without regard to party affiliations. The campaign against the cruel "sport" should not flag until the end desired is accomplished. — Newark News.

The calm assurance with which the Board of Freeholders goes ahead with its project of building a luxurious $70,000 jail, with such things as shower baths, private toilet rooms, etc., in the face of strong public sentiment, is only another example of the audacious extravagances with which this board has long affronted the taxpaying public. The Democratic counsel of the board, Mr. Daly, told them months ago that there was no legal ground, however, for Mr. Watts, of South River, and Mr. Staats, of Dunellen, to hold seats in the board and draw pay from the county. They paid absolutely no heed to their counsel and the county collector continued to pay them their per diems with regularity. Mr. Staats, of Dunellen, still continues to act as a representative of the smallest borough in the county, and is drawing, we estimate, from $300 to $500 a year without any legal warrant whatever. We believe that this is a criminal procedure, and that the members of the board in sanctioning it are liable to indictment and punishment. Moreover, it is a question whether the many acts of the board in which Mr. Staats has participated would stand a legal test. The borough of Dunellen has not the requisite 3,000 population for a representative in the board, but the member from there still holds on to his seat because of an impression in that township that he is entitled to it under an old law. He continues to take the county's money, despite the opinion of the board's own counsel to the contrary. Why the county collector continues to pay his bills, and thus render himself liable with the others, is a mystery to us. This affair is but a sample, as we have intimated, of the reckless manner in which the Board of Freeholders transacts business. — New Brunswick Home News.

AERONAUT ARRIVES.

M. Santos-Dumont Comes to Plan For Contests at St. Louis.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Eager to demonstrate to America the great possibilities of aerial navigation and declaring that within ten years perhaps people will be crossing the ocean in airships, M. Santos-Dumont, whose experiments in Paris have excited the wonder of the world, arrived here yesterday on the Deutschland en route to St. Louis, where he is to make arrangements for the airship race to be held at the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

Fellow passengers of the aerial navigator found it hard to realize that the slender young man whom they met on deck and at table was one of the foremost figures in this age of progress. M. Santos-Dumont is only twenty-eight years old and is about 5 feet 7 inches in height. He looks younger than his real age and seems rather the college student than the pioneer of flying pilots.

He is keen of eye and forceful in speech, however, and has unbounded faith in the possibilities of his latest airship.

"This would be a magnificent place for an experiment," he said as the ship passed the skyscrapers and he swept his eye over the river and harbor beyond, "and I hope some day to see New York the great airport of the world."

Under the influence of the daring Brazilian's great enthusiasm one didn't need a very vivid imagination to see New York harbor, or, rather, the atmosphere over it, filled with all sorts of incoming and outgoing air craft, from the giant ocean eagle to the puffy little English sparrow tug.

PEACE ARRANGED?

Report Reaches London That Boer Leaders Have Accepted Terms.

LONDON, April 11.—The Financier and Bullionist publishes a dispatch from Pretoria this morning that the Boer leaders have accepted the British terms, that peace has been arranged and that the terms of peace have been cabled to the Boer agents in Europe.

Other unconfirmed statements of a similar character are in circulation in London. It is said that Frederic Rutherfoord Harris, former secretary of the British Chartered South Africa company, has received a telegram to the same effect, but nothing of any official or really reliable nature concerning the matter is known.

No Settlement of Mining Troubles.

DUBOIS, Pa., April 11.—Subordinate officers of the United Mine Workers of America and subdistrict officers were in session all day at Punxsutawney. They had several conferences with General Manager L. W. Robinson of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company, but no results followed, as the district officers ignore the settlement made by national officials of the organization at Indianapolis. It is stated positively that the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company will under no circumstances make further overtures, having already agreed to the price of mining and the conditions required as paid in any competitive region and as agreed to in the Altoona scale.

Loss on Torpedo Boats.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The building of twenty-six torpedo boats for the United States government cost the contractors something over $2,000,000 more than the price they received from the government, according to the report of the torpedo boat board, which has just been submitted to Secretary Long. The builders themselves claim that their losses aggregate over $3,000,000. The contractors want congress to make good their losses, basing their claim on the assertion that the boats were all of types new to them. Secretary Long does not indorse this application.

AGAIN ON NATIVE SOIL

Miss Stone, Freed From Brigands, Reaches New York.

SIX MONTHS SPENT IN CAPTIVITY.

Missionary, Returned From Bulgaria, Tells Story of Her Capture and Treatment—Will Lecture to Pay Price of Ransom.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Worn out with the strain of her ocean voyage and not yet fully recovered from the nervous strain ensuing from her six months of captivity, Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary who was held for ransom by Bulgarian brigands, arrived on the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland from Cherbourg. She will immediately proceed to her home in Chelsea, Mass., to see her aged mother.

Miss Stone was met at quarantine by her brother, Charles A. Stone, and the Rev. Henry O. Dwight, whom she knew in Constantinople years ago.

At the pier in Hoboken Dr. Charles C. Creegan, secretary of the American board of foreign missions, and Secretary Barton, from the Boston branch, greeted her. Major Pond, who will manage her lecturing tour, announced that the money she made in that way would be applied immediately to repaying the amount of her ransom, $72,000.

When seen on the steamer, Miss Stone showed plainly the traces of her awful strain, although, as she said, just at present the effects of the ocean trip bothered her considerably.

She talked freely of the circumstances of her capture and captivity.

"The day we were taken," said Miss Stone, "was a market day, the safest of all days to travel. There were ten in our party and three drivers. It was late in the afternoon, and we were going along a lonely road when suddenly the brigands jumped out of the bushes at the roadside and surrounded us, crying: 'Dour! Dour!' which means 'Stop! Hold on!'

"They were fully armed, while Mr. Tsilka was the only one in our party who had revolvers. He prepared to use them, but the rest of us, seeing that resistance was useless, begged him not to. They all had rifles.

"Then the brigands left a guard around the rest and hurried Mme. Tsilka and myself off. It was all done so quickly that I hardly knew what happened.

"Mme. Tsilka was taken because they had to have a married lady to chaperon me," said Miss Stone, with a smile.

"There was another woman with us, a Bulgarian Bible worker, Mrs. Woosheva, but she was sick, and they couldn't take her.

"The brigands still have some of that old world chivalry, and so in some ways they treated us kindly.

"After we were in the wild districts we marched only at night. Not once did I know where we were. When I wrote what I did seeking ransom, it was because they forced me to at the point of a rifle.

"The birth of Mme. Tsilka's baby was our salvation. The brigands are very superstitious and have a belief that a curse would be on them if they harmed a young mother or her child, so when the baby came we were treated better.

"Some day," continued Miss Stone, "I hope to go back to my little home in Salonika, which I left so suddenly for others to close up. The future will have to determine that, however."

Miss Stone was captured on Sept. 3 and released the 23d of the following February.

She made her first visit to Bulgaria twenty-three years ago and has been there frequently for long intervals. Her mission was to train the native girls to read that they might help in the missionary work. She has not been home for four years.

American Warships at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, April 11.—The Danish cruiser Valkyrien arrived here Wednesday, and the United States north Atlantic squadron has reached these waters and remains outside the harbor. Rear Admiral Higginson and the governor of St. Thomas exchanged the usual courtesies. The sight of the American warships greatly impressed the people, who assembled in large numbers on the wharfs. The United States training ship Alliance is expected to arrive here today.

A Reciprocity League.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Representatives of sixty leading manufacturing and other industrial establishments of the United States met here yesterday and organized the National Reciprocity league. W. E. Stanley, governor of the state of Kansas, was elected president. The object of the organization, which is nonpartisan, is to wage a campaign of education concerning the "urgent need of reciprocal trade relations with foreign nations."

Five of Sheriff's Posse Killed.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 11.—A telephone message from Jonesboro, Tenn., says that in an attempt to arrest Jim Wright, wanted in Hancock county on the charge of murder in Scott county, Va., five of the sheriff's posse were killed and two wounded by Wright's party. Wright was wounded and captured. All the members of his crowd got away.

Army Transport Aground.

MANILA, April 11.—The United States army transport Hancock has run aground in the mud near Iba, Zambales province, about a hundred miles north of here. She is not believed to be in danger, and tugs have been sent to her assistance.

CHARGES OF CRUELTY

Report of Major Gardner, Governor of Tayabas.

FILIPINOS LED TO HATE AMERICANS

Conduct of Our Troops In the Philippines Sharply Censured—Hostility to the Civil Government.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The senate committee on the Philippines has made public the report of Major Cornelius Gardner, civil governor of the province of Tayabas, which was referred to by General Miles in proof of his assertion that the war in the Philippines was conducted with unusual severity. The report of Major Gardner was received by the war department on Feb. 7, and a thorough investigation of the charges was immediately ordered through General Chaffee. That part of the report in which Major Gardner complains of the conduct of the army is as follows:

"As civil governor I feel it my duty to say that it is my firm conviction that the United States troops should at the earliest opportunity be concentrated in one or two garrisons if it is thought desirable that the good sentiment and loyalty that formerly existed toward the United States government among the people of this province should be conserved and encouraged.

"Being in close touch with the people, having visited all the pueblos one or more times, having lived with them in their homes, I know that such a sentiment once existed. Of late by reason of the conduct of the troops, such as the extensive burning of the barrios in trying to lay waste to the country so that the insurgents cannot occupy it, the torturing of natives by so called water cure and other methods in order to obtain information, the harsh treatment of natives generally and the failure of inexperienced lately appointed lieutenants commanding posts to distinguish between those who are friendly and those unfriendly and to treat every native as if he were, whether or no, an insurrecto at heart, this favorable sentiment above referred to is being fast destroyed and a deep hatred toward us engendered. If these things need be done, they had best be done by native troops so that the people of the United States will not be credited therewith.

"The work of the Philippine commission and the laws that have been enacted by it are everywhere favorably commented upon by the natives. The efforts being made for the general education of the people are appreciated by all. The provincial government and the municipal governments established are slowly bringing order out of chaos and anarchy, and there begins to be visible everywhere in this province progress and prosperity. True loyalty and contentment can only come under a benign civil government.

"The attitude of the army, thereby meaning most of its officers and soldiers, is, however, decidedly hostile to the provincial and municipal government in this province and to civil government in these islands in general. In Manila especially it is intensely so, even among the higher officers. The work of the commission in the establishment of provincial governments is ridiculed even in the presence of the natives. It is openly stated that the army should remain in charge for the next twenty years. Outrages committed by officers and soldiers against natives in an organized municipality and province when reported by the president or governor to the military authorities are often not punished."

The Van Wormer Trial.

HUDSON, N. Y., April 11.—The testimony in the trial of the Van Wormer brothers yesterday was for the most part confined to the location of the footprints in the snow around the Hallenbeck house and the fitting of the shoes in the tracks. Sheriff Best, Coroner Lisk, Lewis J. Elting and Edwin H. Hallenbeck had the witness stand all day with but two interruptions. Great stress was laid by both sides as to the accuracy of the testimony relating to the tracks, and a strong effort was made by the defendants' counsel to have the entire testimony relating to this evidence stricken out.

A Monument to General Polk.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 11.—A monument to Leonidas Polk, the Confederate general, was unveiled yesterday afternoon on Lost mountain, twenty-five miles from Atlanta. The shaft was erected by Major Gideon Harris and wife on the spot where General Polk, who was known as the "Fighting Bishop," was struck by a Federal shell on June 14, 1864.

RIOTING CONTINUES.

Stormy Scenes In Brussels—A General Strike Ordered.

BRUSSELS, April 11.—At a Socialist meeting held in front of the Maison du Peuple last evening the Socialist deputies Defnet and Delbastee advised the workmen present to be prepared for a general strike next Tuesday.

Serious conflicts between the rioters and the police, in which over thirty persons were wounded, including women and children, occurred here late last night in the vicinity of the Maison du Peuple.

The first encounter took place in the Rue des Minimes, where the mob pelted the police with cobblestones. The police then charged with fixed bayonets, and as a result three men were severely and several others slightly wounded. The mob then proceeded to the Rue Stevens, in front of the Maison du Peuple, where a still more serious conflict occurred. Over a hundred shots were fired from both sides. The women and children were wounded here, and they, together with the men injured, were taken into the Maison du Peuple.

Toward midnight this district of Brussels had the appearance of a city in revolt. The rioters had torn up the street car rails and erected a sort of barricade to fortify their position at the Maison. By dint of strenuous efforts the police managed to clear the Rue Stevens, but the Maison du Peuple was left in possession of the rioters.

Every window in the residence of Senator Demerode has been smashed.

Rioting has also occurred at Ghent and Liege, where meetings in favor of a general strike have been held.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

Featureless Debate on Cuban Relief. House Passes Postal Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill in the house yesterday was devoid of enlivening features. The most notable speech of the day was made by Mr. Grosvenor (O.). He answered the critics who have charged him with inconsistency by saying that reciprocity was sound Republican doctrine and that tariff schedules were not sacred. He predicted that the time would come, although it had not yet arrived, when there would be an inexorable demand for revision of the present rates. Mr. Prince (Ill.) made a strong speech against the measure. The other speakers were Messrs. Lawrence (Mass.) and Miers (Ind.) for the bill and Messrs. Weeks (Mich.) and Kleberg (Tex.) against it.

An effort was made late in the day in the senate to obtain an agreement for a vote on the Chinese exclusion bill, but it was unsuccessful. The indications now are that the vote will be taken next Tuesday. The measure was under discussion during the entire session yesterday except for about an hour, in which time the postoffice appropriation bill was considered and passed. Three speeches were made against the Chinese bill in its present form. Early in the session Mr. Depew (N. Y.) spoke briefly against the adoption of the resolution providing for the election of senators by popular vote.

Governor Dole In Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Governor Dole of Hawaii has arrived here to confer with the president at the latter's request regarding conditions in Hawaii pending legislation affecting the territory and other matters. Governor Dole said: "There is some complaint among business men of Hawaii on account of the tightness of the money market. There are no failures or assignments of importance. The enterprises, however, are too large for the available capital. The Hawaiian government is limited by the revenues, which are inadequate for carrying on necessary public improvements. The current revenues are sufficient only to carry out the administration expenses."

The Glass Blowers' Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11. — A strike of the glass blowers employed by the More-Jonas Glass company at Bridgeton, N. J., and the George Jonas Glass company of Minotola, N. J., is in progress, and the number of men affected is variously estimated at from 200 to 400. The strike was the result of the refusal of the companies to confer with the officials of the Glass Blowers' union. The demands of the men include the cash payment of wages, reinstatement of men discharged for attending union meetings and the abolition of child labor.

She Knew Goethe.

BERLIN, April 11.—Mrs. Kasten, who knew the German poet Goethe, is dead here at the age of eighty-nine. When Mrs. Kasten was a girl in Weimar, she, with other children and her mother, used to carry flowers to Goethe upon the anniversaries of his birthday. She vividly remembered the handsome and kind old man as he thanked the children and treated them to cakes and wine. Goethe died in 1832.

A Kentucky Lynching.

FULTON, Ky., April 11.—Tom Blanchard, twenty-three, a farmer, residing near Dukedom, Tenn., was taken from the jail here during the night and hanged to a nearby bridge. While intoxicated he shot and killed Frank Taylor, deputy marshal. While the coroner's jury was in session news came that Blanchard had been hanged.

President Draper's Leg Amputated.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 11.—President Draper of the University of Illinois, who was severely injured in a runaway accident last Sunday, has suffered amputation of his right leg above the knee. His left leg, which was broken, is doing well. He is as comfortable as can be expected.

THE HOMEWARD TRIP

President's Visit to the South Closes Auspiciously.

WARM GREETINGS ALONG THE ROUTE

Multitude Gathers at Columbia, and Roosevelt Makes a Short Address. Says He Is a Better American For His Visit.

SUMMERVILLE, S. C., April 11.—The visit of President Roosevelt and party to the south has terminated. No special programme had been arranged for the last day. A number of members of the party, including Attorney General Knox, availed themselves of the ideal weather to play golf, while others spent the early morning in strolls through the beautiful pine forest. When the president came down stairs, he held an informal reception in the hotel parlors and shortly afterward, accompanied by most of his party, was taken for a drive to Dorchester, the site of the old Spanish fort, under the escort of Captain E. W. Wagener and Mr. J. C. Hemphill.

The tea farm of Dr. Shepherd, not far from the inn, was next visited, and as the president alighted from his carriage a number of diminutive tea pickers were lined up in front of Dr. Shepherd's house and sang "The Star Spangled Banner," "America" and other patriotic airs.

The president gratefully thanked them. The arrival at the tea farm was later than had been planned, and the stay was very brief, but the president saw enough of the industry to cause him to congratulate Dr. Shepherd on the work he is doing and to wish him every success.

The party was then driven to the Southern railway depot, where the special train was in waiting. The train pulled out for Washington amid the cheers and hurrahs of the immense crowd who had gathered at the station.

THE RETURN JOURNEY.

President Forced to Respond to Enthusiastic Greetings.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The train bearing President Roosevelt and party reached this city at 7:30 this morning.

The president has been given a warm greeting by the people of South Carolina on his return journey to Washington. At Branchville, S. C., a small station on the Southern railroad, a stop was made for water. The president came out on the rear platform and bowed his acknowledgments to the 300 people who rushed for his car and cheered him.

Although no stop was made at Orangeburg, fully a thousand people lined the railroad tracks and endeavored to catch a glimpse of him. A multitude gathered at the depot at Columbia as the train pulled in. A wild cheer went up, and immediately there was a rush for the president's car. In the crowd were a number of students of the South Carolina college, who gave a strong college yell. When a semblance of order was restored, the president, who all the while had been standing on the platform with Mrs. Roosevelt, made a short speech, in which he said that this was but another evidence of the cordial treatment he had received while in the state. He greatly pleased his audience when he told them that he thought he was a good American when he came to South Carolina, but that he was a better one when he left it.

Winnsboro and Chester, S. C., turned out immense crowds. At the latter place, where a brief stop was made, the president appeared on the rear platform. There was a loud call for Mrs. Roosevelt, and when she came out of her car on to the platform a mighty shout went up. The president responded to the request for a speech.

The 750 ladies of Winthrop Female academy at Rock Hill had requested the president to stop there if possible, and when the train came in sight the whole town was out. No stop was made, but the president gave them an opportunity to see him by coming out on the platform as the train sped by.

The first stop in the Tarheel State was Charlotte. The demonstration there was no less enthusiastic and hearty than it was in the Palmetto State. The president was forced to make a brief speech.

At Salisbury, N. C., where the train arrived at 10:05 p. m., the president made a brief speech and referred again to the pleasure it gave him to meet the people of the south. Before retiring he received the newspaper correspondents in his car.

First Assistant Postmaster General.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Robert J. Wynne, the Washington correspondent of the New York Press and a native of Pennsylvania, has been offered and has accepted the office of first assistant postmaster general. The change will take effect May 1 or earlier, as W. M. Johnson of New Jersey, whom he succeeds, is anxious to retire as soon as possible.

Fire Destroys Iron Works.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 11.—The Columbus Iron works, one of the largest industries in the city, has been entirely destroyed by fire. The fire spread to the Freelander building, which was occupied as a junkshop. Next door to this building was a large cotton warehouse, which soon caught the flames. The present estimated loss is $500,000.

Colon-Jamaica Cable Repaired.

COLON, Colombia, April 11.—The cable repair steamer Grappler has completed its repairs of the Colon-Jamaica cable. Telegraphic communication between here and Jamaica was interrupted just as the United States north Atlantic squadron weighed anchor to leave this port on March 12.

A POSSIBLE RESULT.

New Brunswick's action in strongly opposing the erection of the bridge over the Raritan river to connect the two Amboys, is a very short sighted one. No fair minded person can doubt for a minute the pressing need of a bridge at that point. These are two flourishing communities separated only by a river a few hundred feet broad, and yet, unless the railroad or a boat is utilized, it is necessary to drive twelve miles before a bridge can be found by which the river can be crossed.

Perth Amboy is entitled to fair treatment at the hands of Middlesex county and New Brunswick should not interfere with any plan which only proposes to give the Amboys their just dues. Of course, the whole county will pay for the improvement, just as it has paid for improvements at the county seat. Unless New Brunswick brings to an end very soon its present selfish policy, it is likely to pass through the same experience that is now troubling the county officials of Somerset at Somerville. The first thing New Brunswick knows, the Amboys will plan annexation to some other county where their value will be more appreciated and where they will get more generous treatment. If the Amboys were to drop out of Middlesex county taking with them a little slice of adjoining territory, New Brunswick might howl with some reason.

There is no community in which scores of business men are not losing splendid opportunities by their lack of knowledge of the power of advertising, comments the Philadelphia Record. This is a prosperous time, and a certain amount of trade will find its way to nearly all establishments. To the courageous advertisers the volume of trade is greater, and by advertising freely at this time, when they can well afford it, they insure to themselves a profitable business when a duller time shall come.

What with baseball, tennis and golf, outdoor sports promise to be exceedingly numerous in Plainfield this summer. The Saturday half-holidays will offer many attractions in consequence.

Clerks Will Go Too.

It is expected that all of the clerks in the employ of the New Jersey Central, who reside in this city, will have to live in Philadelphia after May 1, at which time the head offices of the company will be located in that city. There are several men in Plainfield who will be affected by this new order.

Resigned Her Office.

Miss Alice Woodland has resigned her position as an officer of the East Third Street chapel Sunday-school, owing to the fact that she is soon to move out of the city.

HELPED HIMSELF TO JEWELS

BOLD THIEF OPERATED WITH SUCCESS AT A SOMERVILLE BOARDING HOUSE.

Strayed Through Boarders' Rooms and Departed With Fully $500 Worth of Jewelry.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 11—A daring daylight robbery was committed at the boarding house owned by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Weeks, in this place, Tuesday morning.

While the guests were at breakfast, a stranger, who had come there for lodging the night before, went upstairs and ransacked the various rooms, securing about $500 worth of watches, rings, pins, etc. After pocketing the plunder he marched downstairs, borrowed a silver-handled umbrella from a guest and passed out unmolested through the front door.

No clew to the man has yet been discovered. He landed in town Monday and pretended he was going to enter the plumbing business. He said he had rented a room to open his shop in and asked Mrs. Weeks if she would board him. As he told her the name of a reliable party who had referred him to her house she took him in. He gave the name of George Jones, was of medium height, bald and had a little black mustache.

Detectives are on the case but they seem to be making very little headway. It is the general belief that the fellow is a professional crook.

Mrs. Weeks herself is the chief loser. Three diamond rings that Mrs. Moore, a boarder, had secreted in one of her stockings, were not discovered by the robber.

LOTS OF BUSINESS.

Consistory of Trinity Reformed Church Prepares for Entertaining Particular Synod During May.

The Consistory of Trinity Reformed church met in regular monthly session last evening and transacted a large amount of routine business, including arrangement for the entertainment of the Particular Synod, of New Brunswick, which will hold a two days' session in the church May 6 and 7. The painting of the exterior of the building will be commenced by Woolston & Buckle next week, in order to have it completed before the Particular Synod meets.

The slate roof, to take the place of the present worn out tin roof, was discussed and the matter was left with the wardens to get bids and report back to the consistory. A. L. Titsworth, who is completing his twentieth consecutive year as organist of the church, asked for and was granted permission to celebrate the event on the last Sunday evening of the month, April 27, by giving an evening of music, assisted by the choir of the church.

SPELLING BEE.

Given at North Plainfield High School by the School Board.

Under the direction of the North Plainfield Board of Education, a spelling bee was held in the High School this morning. James R. Joy and A. V. D. Honeyman were the judges.

In the oral examination there were thirty-one on a side, the two leaders being Miss Nettie Bauersachs and Miss Lizzie Davenport. Words were selected from copies of the Sun and Tribune as well as other standard newspapers. Miss Bauersachs' side won. At the end there were twelve pupils who could not be tripped on words. A written examination followed and the result will be made known Tuesday.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Hawes—that's the name. It's the trade mark also. See J. R. Blair, at the popular hat and men's furnishing store, Park avenue, near Second street.

With all this agitation about beef, there's one place where you can be easily satisfied. That's at Smalley Brothers' market. It is in the Smalley building, North avenue. Call or 'phone.

In counting the expense of housekeeping the grocery and meat bills are important items. If you trade with S. Scheuer & Sons your bills will be quite reasonable and besides the goods will be first-class.

VanArsdale, the East Front steet shoeman, is offering a nice line of men's youth's and boys' oxford ties at a special sale. They are natty and are considered to be the proper "thing" in footwear.

When you purchase china or glassware, you want the best, else it proves costly in the end. You also wish to select from a large display. Gavett has it. Everything in the cut glass and crockery line.

The notes of the sweet songsters that are now heard cannot excel the sweet-toned pianos that are sold by G. H. Kenyon, of West Front street. For richness of tone, strength and durability they are unsurpassed.

Prompt delivery of an order, no matter how small, to any part of the city or borough. That is what W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, corner of Duer street and Lincoln place, guarantees. His prices are right.

Crown the feast with some carefully selected cake or pastry. Warnock, the West Front street confectioner, has a large variety to select from, including delicious angel cake, ribbon and pound cake and dainty charlotte russe.

The beautiful floral decorations seen at the orchestral concert given at the Y. M. C. A., this week, were furnished by Mrs. L. J. Denton, of West Front street. She is always prepared to furnish flowers for events of all kinds.

Callahan & Son's special Friday and Saturday sales have become very popular. It has been the means of showing the East End people what really good bargains can be had at the Richmond street store. The sea food department is also catering to the people with low prices.

GRACE'S NEW PASTOR.

Has Already Been Here and Will Locate Here About May 1.

Rev. E. L. Earp, the new pastor of Grace M. E. church, will preach his initial sermon to that congregation Sunday morning. He was the guest of the retiring pastor, Rev. G. W. Gardner, yesterday. It is his intention to remove here about May 1. In the meantime he will regularly fulfill his duties at his new charge. Rev. Mr. Gardner is arranging to remove to Jersey City, he having accepted the call to the Hedding Memorial church, of that place.

—The Literary Society of the Y. M. C. A. will meet tomorrow evening.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. You don't have to diet. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

LAST RITES FOR RHODES.

Remains of the Famous Englishman Rest In Rock Hewn Tomb.

BULAWAYO, Matabeleland, April 11.—Amid an immense throng of soldiers, civilians and natives the body of Cecil Rhodes was committed to its rock tomb in the Matopo hills. The coffin was shrouded in a union jack, and the wreath sent by Queen Alexandra was laid upon it as it was lowered into the grave.

The funeral party started from Fuller's hotel early in the morning. The procession was five miles long as it wound through the hills and gorges. Every sort of conveyance was made use of. Some were on foot, others were on horseback or on bicycles, while still others were in wagons and carriages. When the procession was a mile from the grave, everybody dismounted and concluded the journey on foot. Twelve oxen hauled the coffin to the almost inaccessible summit of the kopje, where the chiefs Shembli, Faku and Umgula and 2,000 natives had assembled to witness the Christian interment rites, which they afterward supplemented in their own fashion by the sacrifice of fifteen oxen to the shade of the great dead chief.

Thousands of white persons congregated around the wind swept hill. The grave was encircled by six bowlders. The interment was extremely impressive. The dead march echoed through the hills, and the natives stood like statues. Tears were in the eyes of many of the onlookers. The bishop of Mashonaland, who conducted the interment service, said:

"I consecrate this place forever. Here he thought, here he lived and died for the empire."

When the coffin was lowered into the tomb chiseled in the solid rock, all those present sang "Old Hundred" and "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er." The remainder of the funeral service was chanted, and the band played the dead march in "Saul." The tomb was covered with wreaths.

At the close of the ceremony those present slowly inspected the spot where Mr. Rhodes lies buried and threw flowers upon his grave.

Cuban Postal Matters.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Elect T. Estrada Palma of Cuba, accompanied by Gonzales de Quesada, had a conference with Postmaster General Payne and other postal officials. They asked that this government continue the existing postal arrangements with the island and that the present postal officials now in Cuba be kept there until the Cuban appointees have become thoroughly familiar with postal operations. As a result of the conference the present postal relations between this government and Cuba, including the domestic rates of postage and exchange of money orders, will be continued by joint action of both governments until a postal treaty shall be concluded between the two governments. The American officials now on the island will be authorized to remain if they wish to do so until the Cuban regime is working smoothly.

Floods In Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., April 11.—Heavy rain having caused an additional rise in the already swollen Presumpscot river, every manufacturing plant along its banks from North Windham to the sea is closed, and thousands of hands are temporarily out of work. The loss in wages will be heavy. The most serious conditions prevail at Westbrook, where all the manufacturing plants, pulp and paper mills and cloth and silk factories are closed.

HEPBURN & CO.
Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. I then tried your CORN CURE and used only three bottles, costing 45c, and am happy to say it has taken them off completely. They have not troubled me now for over a year. I consider your HEPBURN'S CORN CURE the best I have ever used.—Yours truly, R. O. RUNYON, 629 LaGrande Ave.

MOST DEADLY POISONS.

Subtle Fluids That Kill While They Appear to Be Perfectly Harmless.

The discoverer of prussic acid was instantly killed by inhaling one whiff of his own handiwork. Pure prussic acid is never sold or handled. It kills not in three minutes or half an hour, but the minute it enters the lungs as a gas. The mixture ordinarily sold as prussic acid is 9 parts water to two parts of the drug. Even in this form it is very deadly, states a medical authority.

Atrophine, though it has no harmful odor, is so deadly that as much of it as would adhere to the end of a moistened forefinger would instantly cause death.

Cyanide of potassium has a pleasant smell, which is not injurious, but a small swallow kills at once.

Pure ammonia, if inhaled, would cause death almost as quickly as prussic acid.

Nitric acid will burn wood, eat through iron plates and destroy whatever it touches. A carboy was once broken in an acid factory. Every one ran away, leaving the acid to amuse itself by setting fire to its surroundings.

Soon, however, it was seen that the building would be destroyed and hundreds of people lose their employment, on which four men volunteered to put out the fire in the acid room. They succeeded, and came out feeling apparently unharmed. Five hours later all were dead.

AUTOMOBILE SAVINGS BANK.

A French Institution for the Encouragement of Thrift in the Rural Districts.

American bankers learned a long time ago that savings deposits were to be had for the seeking, and several methods of seeking them, particularly by distributing small boxes which can only be opened at the banking office, have been used successfully. French bankers have just taken several strides in advance by introducing the automobile savings bank, which tours the country districts at stated intervals and gathers in the savings of the thrifty peasants, says the New York Tribune.

An electric motor car has been built for the purpose. It provides seats for a cashier and two clerks, arranged about a revolving table. There are shelves on the walls for the bank books, and a strong box is built into the body of the car. The officials are from the Mercieres treasury administration, and the cashier has power to receive deposits of any amount. As there is no desire on the part of the authorities to facilitate the withdrawal of funds, the peasant is forced to come to the central bank when he needs money. The automobile began its rounds some weeks ago and has met with a most favorable reception.

GREAT ELECTRICAL MACHINES

The Largest Generators Ever Constructed to Be Placed in Operation at Niagara.

The enormous new plant which is being built on the Canadian side of Niagara falls will contain the largest electrical generators yet constructed. They are each to have a capacity of 10,000 horsepower, and will generate current at 12,000 volts. The power development at Niagara is yet in its infancy. Cleveland, Detroit, Columbus, Cincinnati and even Chicago and New York, according to the Electrical World, are within striking distance. Regarding the disappearance of the falls, through the diversion of the entire water supply for industrial purposes, while it may eventually happen, it is at present so remote as to hardly justify the worry of this generation. The Electrical World suggests that as the cataract has already suffered much from erosion and that sooner or later it was bound to work its way westward upward its source; it may be that the weakening of its cutting power by diverting the water will show to future generations that the Niagara tunnels saved the great lakes.

PRIEST WRITES A PLAY.

Rev. John Talbot Smith, of New York City, Produces an Historical Drama for Miss Crosman.

Henrietta Crosman is to produce an historical drama written by Rev. John Talbot Smith, a Catholic clergyman of New York city. It is a five-act, five-scene play, entitled "A Baltimore Marriage," dealing with the troubled history of Elizabeth Patterson, the Baltimore girl who became the wife of Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon I., in 1803, and whose marriage was annulled by Napoleon two years later.

The scene is laid in France and brings on the stage Napoleon, the pope, Cardinal Consalvi, his brother, the famous Fouche, minister of police, and Mme. Patterson-Bonaparte. Beside the fact that its author is a Catholic priest, another unusual thing about the play is the introduction of the pope as one of the leading characters. This is the first time the pope has appeared in the English drama, it is said.

German Immigration.

Statisticians have generally divided the German immigration into two periods, the decade from 1860 to 1870 being the transition stage. In the first period from 1815 to 1860, not a year passed but men of the higher classes, dissatisfied or tormented politicians, came from Germany. They were especially numerous from 1830 to 1848. Since 1860, on the other hand, there have been few political exiles among the immigrants.

"PLANT MORE ROSES."

Go Into the Air and Sunshine: Make Flowers Bloom.

A PATHETIC, strangely significant message was that which purported to come to a broken hearted mother through a spiritualistic medium. The mother had lately lost by death within a few weeks of one another three beautiful, gifted little children—all she had left in her home. The lips of the medium told her her lost babes were there. Then followed these words:

"Mamma, plant more roses."

Whether there be any truth in spiritualism or not, we know that if there is a happier world than this it must be radiant with blossoms of immortal beauty, for heaven would be no heaven without flowers. It is given us now and then to see in visions these radiant flowers of paradise, unlike any on this earth and rarer and lovelier. So the more flowers an earthly home has around it and in it the more it looks like that heaven to which our longing eyes are looking forward. It is the mission of flowers to make the earth beautiful and gladden the eyes of mankind. Yet have they another mission, indirect, but not less important. They bring health and peace to those who tend them. The kindly, moist earth, the golden air, the warm sunshine nourish us and fill us with the unshakable calm of the universe.

The true flower lover and flower culturist is serene. The miserable, petty frets that mankind themselves, not fate or the Almighty, have brought into this life, drop away when the true flower lover takes her garden implements and goes to dig in the earth. Everything we do not know for certain is a theory, and one theory of the universe is apt to be as good as another, yet the doctrine advanced that all life is from the sun and that it comes to this earth in infinitesimal germs, riding upon the sun rays, commends itself wonderfully to the lover of outdoor life, particularly as, looked at properly, there is nothing unorthodox in such doctrine. In the air and sunshine we breathe, in the very principle of life itself, the physical exertion we make in digging in the earth rids the body of wornout, hurtful particles, leaving room for the new life to come in and build new cells.

Now let us talk plain flower culture.

While the spring is young and the sun is resurrected from his winter burial, the life germs are most electric. Let us go into the yard, we who have one, and clear away all the rubbish and debris of winter that accumulate somehow in the grounds of the neatest. Let us remove every unsightly heap of what kind soever and put in its place a plant, shrub or flower bed. We look over the ground and plan our summer work carefully, according to the size of the plot and the time we are able to devote to it. For us ordinary people who have much to do it is not well to try too many varieties of flowers at once. A few favorites kept in prime order are far better than a confused many half tended. First of all, of course, there are roses. We do not have nearly enough roses in our yards. There are dozens of the splendid hardy varieties that need little care and are a thing of beauty all summer long, till early winter in some parts of the land. A magnificent, ever blooming rosebush in place of an ash pile is a change that commends itself to the æsthetic nature.

Then there are the carnations, radiant with beauty, laden with a perfume for the gods; next a few members of the scarlet geranium family to give vivid color, two or three rose geraniums for their odor, a little heliotrope perhaps and some verbenas. Of the above named all but the verbenas thrive best in a spot slightly shaded from the midday scorching. The verbenas revel in a blazing sun. It is certain, too, that few Americans prize the perennial flowering shrubs as they should, such, for instance, as the lilac, the snowball and the gorgeous peony.

Plant some sweet scented violets close to a sheltered wall, and they will sometimes bloom for you in February. In a spot where you can give them plenty of moisture as well as sun put a few of the splendid flame colored nasturtiums and fancy yourself the reincarnation of a lovely Greek maiden who also sowed nasturtium seed 3,000 years ago. Finally by no means omit the rockery in a shaded spot, with the finest native ferns you can find in the woods in your neighborhood climbing over it.

ALICE DUNN.

His Friend, The Enemy

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK,

Author of "Rogers of Butte," "The Spur of Necessity," "Mr. Fitt, Astrologer," etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

"Colonel, so-called!" he sneered. "By gad, I didn't have to move west, like Dingle, to get a title. I won it on the field of battle, sir, spilling my blood for my country. He asks for an affectionate exchange of powder and ball and I shall give him a heartfelt token of my esteem at the distance specified. Herbert, I want you for my second."

Guy shook his head. The cane stopped swinging with a jerk and a hard, hard look came into the Colonel's eyes.

"Do I understand you to say, sir, that you will not accommodate me?"

"I don't believe in duels, Colonel. Nature has endowed every gentleman with a pair of fists. If these weapons are powerless to protect his honor, his honor is hardly worth bothering about."

The pith of this remark escaped the Colonel entirely.

"I am not only protecting my own honor, Herbert," he said coldly, "but the honor of our town as well. Your 1,200 lots share in the general ignominy, and it is your duty to stand by me in this little affair. Do I still understand you to say that you won't?"

"You do. I want a fair and square fight for the county seat and I don't approve of any coarse or gratuitous flings like that of the weathervane. Claptrap of that kind merely intensifies the hostile feeling which is already too bitter and vengeful. It is only a step from our present situation to warfare and bloodshed. I was in grave peril, last night——"

"I was going to ask you about that," broke in the Colonel, curiosity for the moment overcoming his resentment. "You succeeded in getting in?"

"Yes; and I succeeded in getting out again and saving myself a rough experience only through the magnanimity of Mr. Vlandingham."

"Vlandingham is a knave, sir!"

"Mr. Vlandingham is a gentleman, Col. Keever!"

"He couldn't come of the stock he does and be a gentleman."

"Rot!" exclaimed Guy disgustedly.

"We won't quarrel, Herbert; it won't do for us to quarrel. Did you discover anything at the meeting?"

"Nothing of any consequence."

At that moment the office door opened and a man who looked like a day laborer came into the room. He had a shifty eye, and unrazored face and wore a red and sweat-stained shirt. His hands were big and seamed with toil.

"Who are you, sir?" demanded the Colonel.

"My name's Hepburn," replied the man, rolling his eyes from the Colonel to Guy, and then about the room. "Up to yesterday I was workin' on the section at Harmony. But I got fired yesterday mornin'."

"Ah, ha!" returned the Colonel, blinking. Here was a deserter from the enemy, a man with a grievance. "What do you want, Mr. Hepburn?"

"I suppose I can talk before him all right," answered Hepburn, nodding his head in Guy's direction. "He was the chap that got out of Harmony last night by the skin of his teeth."

"Certainly you can talk before him," said the Colonel.

"Is there anyone else to hear us?" Hepburn's gaze continued to travel around the sanctum, and his face became anxious.

"There's no one else to hear us," answered the Colonel impatiently. "Proceed, sir; proceed."

"Well, then I want to sell some information."

"What is it about?" queried the Colonel, warily.

"About Harmony."

"What's it worth?"

"It's worth hundreds to you, mebby thousands, and mebby it means the county seat—I don't know. I want $20 for the information. Got to have money to get to Jimtown. Ain't never going back to Harmony no more."

The Colonel laid his cane on top of his desk, removed his hat and placed it carefully beside the cane, and then began to rub his hands.

"What do you say?" asked Hepburn.

The Colonel looked toward Guy as though expecting him to foot the bill.

"I say 'No,'" said Guy. "I don't want your information, Mr. Hepburn, "and decline to hand over the price of your treachery."

Hepburn appeared startled and the Colonel's jaw dropped spasmodically.

"Are you mad?" spluttered Keever. "Let me tell you, sir, that if you try to run this county seat fight according to any Sunday-school notions we'll be beaten hands down."

"All right," returned Guy cheerfully.

"It's not all right, sir," cried the Colonel. "You with your 1,200 lots are not the only man interested. There are others. In behalf of the others"—he drew a bill from his pocket and handed it to Hepburn—"I shall pay Mr. Hepburn the price of his treachery, if you please."

"Then look to it that the money doesn't come out of the Townsite fund," warned Guy.

Col. Keever held his head very high and refused to take any notice of these words.

"Go on," said he to Hepburn.

"Well," saide Hepburn, casting a nervous glance at Guy, "one of Vlandingham's hired men is a friend of mine, and he told me what I am goin' to tell you. Cap'n Blue has formed a company of twenty men, which he calls the Harmony Invincibles. They're drilling nearly all the time."

"Is that all?"

"That's only half. The other half is the biggest part of the news. There are two spies in this town. They are at the hotel now disguised as Sisters of Charity. One of them is Vlandingham's daughter an' t'other one is a Miss Pinkney."

A cold chill swept along Guy's nerves. Had he known what was coming he would have reached out and choked the section man into silence. The Colonel let off a roar of delight and grabbed up his hat and cane.

"Are you done, Hepburn?" he cried.

"Ain't that enough?" asked the informer, wickedly, his hand on the door knob.

"It'll do, it'll do. Mind you keep this to yourself, man."

"They'd hang me if I ever went back to Harmony and they found it out."

Hepburn departed and the Colonel turned to Guy.

"Young man," said he, severely, "your notions of right and wrong are exaggerated and out of place. But for me those two items of information would never have been delivered. Vlandingham's daughter here at our mercy! Gad, think of that!"

The Colonel started for the door and Guy stepped quickly in front of him.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 13. "Giving: Its Laws, Its Reflex Influence"—Text. II Cor. viii, 1-5; I Cor. xvi, 1, 2.

"Lay by in store." That means reserve in a special fund. Keep separate from the money used for ordinary expenses. All we have comes from God's blessing and should be used according to His will, but there are different kinds of expenses and various styles of needs. It is necessary to have clothing, but it is not wise to take from the amount needed for necessary food in order to get more showy clothes. Love to God and our fellow men requires for its growth in us that we give of money and time and care for worship of God and relief of the poor. Benevolence of spirit is cultivated by beneficence of the hand. We must give to others to really feel for and with them. The sorrow you feel for another's trouble is well measured by the amount of help you are willing to give to relieve him. How much are you sorry?

There is no substitute for a special fund. Some refuse to put aside any particular sum or proportion of their income, pleading various excuses. But an increasing number, especially of our young people, are learning the law of giving. Many reserve one-tenth. This is a good proportion, but should not be made into an inflexible rule. Some cannot in justice to other causes give so much; others cannot in justice to God and their own souls make it so little. The basal law is, "As God hath prospered him." Each one should settle with the Lord this matter of proportion. It will probably vary at different times. Some have in early life settled three points: (1) The proportion of stage from City Ticket Office, 108 West of the present income to be given to God's special work and (2) the future proportion if greater prosperity shall come; (3) the sum beyond which they will never accumulate property, all increase above a certain amount to be given directly to the service of the Lord.

Such settlement leaves the mind clear and allows all energies to be given without distraction to the real work of life. It forestalls the appeals of avarice and avoids conflicts when the call of distress comes.

The clear duty is for every one to fix this matter calmly as to the part of his income which shall be put aside for use in helping the cause of Christ directly.

One of the greatest benefits of such decision is the effect upon the giver. A person who has never tried it cannot realize the joy that comes from ability to give to a worthy cause because a sum has been accumulated for the purpose. Oftentimes a person hears an appeal and wants to help, but is painfully conscious that to do so would take money which really ought not to be so given. Some are influenced under powerful persuasion to give more than is right, and they afterward regret it and in future are on their guard against all such appeals. All this is avoided if one has a fund, however small, on which to draw. Then there arises a lively interest in seeking the most worthy causes on which to bestow one's gifts. No other investments are followed with such keen interest. In all ways it pays to follow the Bible law.

"Losing the Way."

To the soul conscious of the perils that are around it how sweet the words of Jesus, "I am the way!" This means a great deal more than "I will show you the way." The best compass that was ever placed beside the capstan and the best chart that ever lay upon the table in the captain's cabin would be of little value to the landsman. The soul, crippled by sin and weakened by indulgence, needs something more than knowledge. He who sees in Jesus only "a teacher come from God" sees not what the world most needs, a power outside ourselves that makes for righteousness. The soul needs to find One who is Himself the Way. This is only true of Him who takes upon Him our weaknesses and bears our infirmities and so, by His almighty power and heavenly grace, brings us to our desired haven. Not "I will show you the way," but "I am the way," is the joyful message of Jesus to a lost world.—Evangelist.

The Sufficiency of Christ.

No soul can ever be really satisfied until it has given up all hope of adding anything to Christ and has come to the place where He alone is enough—He, himself, just as He is, without the addition of feelings or emotions or doctrines or experiences or revelations or of any other thing, either inward or outward. All other things change or fail, and the soul finds in them no permanent rest, but Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever, and the soul that rests on Him alone can never be moved.—Hannah W. Smith in Christian Work.

Life and Religion.

Life is a great exchange of ideas, hopes, principles, affections, revenges, joys and sorrows. It is largely a retail business. We learn the alphabet letter by letter and word by word. We come to understand the principles of government by beginning with that which is primary. The great truths of religion are not received in bulk, but by the addition of one ray of divine light and then another and still another until the circle of truth is complete.—Philadelphia Methodist.

The Soul Is Free.

By life's unresting sea a shell
Outgrown and gladly cast away;
Yes, that is all we mourn today.
Death cannot touch the better part;
Death only stills the hand and heart:
The soul is free.
—Frances Forrester.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning April 13. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic. Giving: its law; its reflex influence.—II Cor. viii, 1-5; ix, 6, 7; I Cor. xvi, 1, 2.

The Christian life is a constant receiving and giving. We receive great blessings from God daily and are expected in return to give and even to give unto God. Not that God needs our gifts, but that we need to make them. David's exclamation, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits?" finds an echo in every heart. Even the idol worshiping heathen in all ages have felt the operation of this same sentiment and have responded to it. It should possess us also. Freely we have received from God, freely we should give to God.

The example of Christ should also be a stimulus to Christian giving. Paul refers to this example in his appeal to the Corinthians for the fulfillment of their benevolent obligations. "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor that ye through his poverty might become rich." Paul also used the example and method of the Macedonians to provoke the Corinthians to the good work of liberality. Though in affliction and in poverty, they gave liberally and willingly to their needy brethren after first having given themselves to Christ. In all these characteristics they should stimulate all Christians to increased liberality in giving.

The New Testament law of giving is undoubtedly "systematic and proportionate." "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him." In the Old Testament dispensation the law required that a tenth be given to the Lord, but this rule of Paul's is the nearest law to be found upon the subject in the New Testament. It declares in favor of systematic giving in proportion as God blesses us. This law is Scriptural, just and practicable. It makes it possible for all the children of God to meet their obligations in this respect. Rich and poor alike can regularly lay aside a proportion of what God gives them for the support of His work and the calls of charity that are made upon them. If God gives us but little, then we will have but little to give; if He blesses us abundantly, then we may have the joy of giving liberally to His cause and kingdom. In any case, let us obey this law of giving willingly and cheerfully, for "the Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

The reflex influence of giving is a positive blessing and experience. It is a promise of God's word, which, like all His other promises, will not fail of fulfillment. "He that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully." The reflex influence of miserliness is poverty—poverty in friends, poverty in peace and poverty in the blessings of God. The reflex influence of giving is riches—riches in friends, in joy, in peace and in the blessings of God. Giving blesses twice in that it blesses him who gives and him that receives. "Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful giver."

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xxviii, 20-22; Lev. xxvii, 30-34; Num. xviii, 20, 21, 24; Neh. xiii, 10-12; Mal. iii, 7-12; Matt. vi, 1-4; John iii, 16; Acts ii, 44, 45; xx, 35; Phil. iv, 15-17.

Make It the Right Spirit.

The spirit in the young man that says, "I will make the best that is to be made of my life;" that is fired with emulation of the great and noble characters of history and literature; that says, "I will not soil my soul with what is low and mean in life; I will aim my thoughts toward the high and everlasting; I will keep my mind fresh and clear; I will put my foot upon the throne that God has set up within me; I will rule and not be ruled; I will be strong and not weak; I will rise up out of the stagnant valleys and breathe the pure air of the mountain tops; I will be able to look every man in the face and say, 'No, I have nothing to conceal'"—such is the spirit of Jehu, the son of Nimshi.—Helper.

The Glorious Church.

Men may desecrate the church, as Cromwell when he stabled his cavalry horses in St. Paul's cathedral, or break off the image of Christ, as did the iconoclasts in Yorkminster, or hurl against it august literary antipathies, as did Gibbon, or plot its overthrow, as do some in every community whose pride and hate and debauchery are reproved by the Ten Commandments which it thunders and the sermon on the mount which it breathes, but it will stand as long as the earth stands, the same unique and wonder working and beatific and miraculous thing for which God decreed it.—Christian Herald.

Conscience.

Conscience is always true to the best light it has. No man can go against his knowledge of right without a sense of guilt. When he goes against his conscience, he cannot even respect himself.—Rev. George Schaffer, D. D.

Prayer.

Jesus, engrave it on my heart
That Thou the one thing needful art.
I could from all things parted be,
But never, never, Lord, from Thee.

Needful is Thy most precious blood,
Needful is Thy correcting rod,
Needful is Thy indulgent care,
Needful Thy all prevailing prayer.

Needful Thy presence, dearest Lord,
True peace and comfort to afford;
Needful Thy promise to impart
Fresh life and vigor to my heart.

Needful art Thou to be my stay
Through all life's long and thorny way,
Nor less in death Thou'lt needful be
To bring my spirit home to Thee.
—"Changed Cross."

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The North Plainfield High School team and the Pingry School nine, of Elizabeth, will cross bats in the latter city tomorrow afternoon.

Dennis Kilbride, who was considered to be one of last season's most agile fielders, is thinking of playing again this year. He has not yet signed with any local team.

The Perth Amboy High School and the North Plainfield High School nines have arranged a game for Saturday, April 19, in this city. The game will be played on the Myrtle avenue grounds.

It has been officially announced that "Ben" Evans, who covered first base for the Hope team last season, will appear in the Safe Works uniform the coming summer. Whether or not he will play first has not been decided upon but the chances are he will not.

Out of all the applicants for fielders' positions on the Hope team two whose selections is almost certain are Will Mague and Charles Smith. Both are right at home on the borders of the diamond as last year's record bears testimony.

Two games have been secured by Manager John Cose, of the Hope team, with the Decateur A. C., of Brooklyn. They will be played on important dates in the middle of the summer. The Decateurs are one of the strongest teams in the Gotham district.

The St. Mary baseball team management is securing bids for the erection of bleachers on the home field. When the recent fair was found to be a decided success financially, there was some talk of erecting a fence about the grounds, but this has since passed away. Instead of expending the entire proceeds it is proposed to establish a sinking fund for future contingencies.

Harry Brokaw, captain of the Orange Field Club, has selected the team for the season as follows: Catchers, Hillier and Herman; pitchers, Brokaw and Martin; first base, Swalm; second base, Brokaw; third base, Marsh; short stop, Martin; right field, McVoy; center field, Hillier; left field, Slinger. The captain would like to arrange games with teams averaging from seventeen to eighteen years.

ROD AND GUN.

The sportsmen of this vicinity will be pleased to learn that Neaf Apgar of this city has identified himself with the eastern department of The Peters Cartridge Company whose offices are in New York. Thomas H. Keller, formerly of this city, is the manager of this concern and it is largely through his efforts Peters cartridges have attained their wonderful popularity among the expert marksmen of this country.

GOLF.

Because of the recent heavy rains the golf committee of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has decided to postpone the opening of the course for play until Saturday, April 26. The course is in excellent condition, but there is some work to be accomplished before it will be in readiness. This can be done within the next week if the weather is good.

No Successor Yet Chosen.

Rev. G. Hauser, the retiring pastor of the German Reformed church, has been transferred to the Orange Classis at his own request. He will remove from the borough shortly after May 1 and will thereafter reside in the Catskills, near Saratoga Springs. No successor has been chosen in the North Plainfield church, and none will be for some time at least.

Reception to a Friend.

In honor of her friend, LeRoy Harris, of Jersey City, who leaves for home tomorrow after several months' stay in this city, Miss Marion Porter, of West Third street, will tender a reception at her home this evening. It will be an informal affair as Miss Porter wishes to greet all her friends as well as those of Mr. Harris.

The preliminary committee meetings take place this afternoon and the regular meeting will be held this evening. Another session will be held tomorrow.

The organization consists of a membership of sixty, made up of the more prominent educators of the State, State Superintendent C. J. Baxter, of the borough, being among the number. Mr. Wightman is a member of the committee on statistics, which is compiling a report on teachers' salaries and expenses. It is acting in conjunction with a similar committee in New York State. The preliminary report will be made at this session.

LAMP EXPLODED.

Delay in Department Because Apparatus Was Drawn by Hand.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, April 11—A lamp exploded last evening in the home of Mrs. S. C. Burt, 45 Walnut street, and damage to the amount of $100, mostly by water, resulted. The alarm was given through the telephone office and the fire department had some trouble in reaching the scene of the fire owing to the fact that the apparatus had to be drawn by hand.

It is expected that the question of better equipment for the department will be introduced at a meeting of the Township Committee to be held this evening, when it will be decided whether to put the matter to a vote of the people.

The building is to be ready for occupancy by October 1. Mr. Dobbins will remain where he is until that time.

Lawyer Robert M. Clark represents Mrs. John I. Holly, of this city, in a damage suit for $10,000 brought against her by Henry C. Kress, of New York. The latter fell into a coal hole in front of the defendant's property in New York and sustained injuries which he alleges detained him at home for a number of days. The case will be tried in the United States Circuit Court.

PLAYS AT NEW MARKET.

Two Were Well Given by Lakeside Council, D. of L., Last Ningt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, April 11—A crowded house greeted the amateurs from Lakeside Council, last evening, in Friendship Hall, when they presented two well-known plays, "The Tempter" and "Freezing a Mother-in-Law." The plays met with such an ovation that they will probably be presented again in a short time.

All the players took their parts well, but S. O. Sutton, as "Mr. Watnuff" in "Freezing a Mother-in-Law," was especially good. The Linbarger brothers and Mrs. Ackerman, who took part in the play, also received a good deal of applause.

Many of the situations in "Freezing a Mother-in-Law" were exceedingly funny and evoked much applause. In "The Tempter" all the characters were acted with the ease of professionals.

The play will probably be given again, May 3, in Dunellen.

FELL IN BASKET.

That Saved John Comiskey From Injury in Fall From Wheel.

John Comiskey, of West Third street, received a number of severe contusions about the upper portions of the body, yesterday afternoon, by being thrown from his wheel on West Fourth street, near Grant avenue. The bicycle slipped on the car tracks and he was thrown headlong. A basket which he carried was all that saved him from being badly scraped on the macadam, as it fell beneath him.

Franklin Council's Plans.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., has decided to initiate candidates on the first and third Thursdays in each month. Last week two new members were initiated and next week there will be one new member received. Heretofore the plan was to initiate every week if there were candidates and this did not give the team sufficient time to prepare for the work.

Gave Dime Social.

The Earnest Workers of Bethel chapel gave a dime social at the home of the pastor, Rev. F. D. Tilden, on Richmond street, last evening. Games were the feature of the entertainment. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Mary Walley, Miss Euphemia Dorsey and Mrs. George VanBlake. The fund realized will go into the Circle's treasury.

Makes Serious Charges.

A rumor, which appears to possess some elements of truth, charges a man, living in the east end of the borough, with having attempted to end his wife's career. As the story goes it is said that he put ground glass in her coffee, but the discovery was made before matters became serious. It is stated that the couple have separated.

May Buy Washington Hall.

Dr. James A. Galvin, the present lessee of Washington Hall, where ten cent shows are being given, has secured an option on the building, and may possible buy it after the celebrated Rice case is settled. At present no one is authorized to sign deeds. W. A. Woodruff is now looking after the interests of the estate.

Neglect Means Danger.

Don't neglect biliousness and constipation. Your health will suffer permanently if you do. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cures such cases. M. B. Smith, Butternut, Mich., says: "DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the most satisfactory pills I ever took. Never gripe or cause nausea." L. W. Randolph.

WHAT SENATOR REED HAS TO SAY TO ATTACKS OF CRITICS

Outlined His Position Since the Greater Plainfield Measures Came Before the Legislature.

HE HAS BEEN MISREPRESENTED.

PERTINENT REMARKS IN AN INTERVIEW WITH A DAILY PRESS REPORTER THIS MORNING.

Reviewed the History of the Bills and the Opposition to Them—His Attitude From the First Was for a Careful Consideration—The Start of Somerset County's Bitter Fight—The Old Factional Feeling Again Appears—The Duty of the Senator to County—Borough's Right to Decide Question by Vote is Conceded.

Senator Charles A. Reed was interviewed by a Daily Press reporter, this morning, regarding the attack of the Somerville Unionist-Gazette on his position on the Greater Plainfield question.

"That the Unionist-Gazette is publishing a tissue of malicious lies about me" remarked Senator Reed, "No one knows better than its editor. He was in attendance upon the legislative session at Trenton, and knows that I always said to him in relation to the Plainfield consolidation bills, that the matter was an important one which must be given fair treatment, and that I could not determine what course I would take in relation to them until after a hearing was had upon the bills.

"Mr. Hoagland knows the same thing, and admitted that fact before the Governor in the presence of several prominent people while the bills were still in the Senate committee. At the same time he said to the Governor that he knew consolidation was bound to come. The Governor replied in effect that when he made that admission he admitted that the bills should pass, and the question be submitted to the people.

"As soon as the Senate committee fixed a date, I telegraphed to the editor of the Gazette informing him in ample time for publication of the fact in his issue of the week preceding the hearing. I also telephoned the same information to the Bound Brook Chronicle, and to both Plainfield daily papers, and the fact that the hearing was to be held was widely advertised several days before it took place.

"When the hearing was held it was largely attended, and the fact that it was of the utmost importance to the borough of North Plainfield that the question should be legally decided one way or the other in order to determine upon some policy as to the making of public improvements, and for weighty business and political reasons, was forcibly demonstrated and could not be denied.

"The advocates of the measures developed a strength which was surprising. Many prominent men who had never before actively favored consolidation appeared before the committee and demanded the passage of the bills. While they were not all in favor of consolidation, they were unanimous in their assertion that every best interest of the borough demanded that the question should be promptly and finally decided in a legal and conclusive manner.

"The borough opponents of consolidation based their objections to the measures almost entirely upon the ground that there was no referendum in the bill changing the county line, and demanded that the matter be submitted to a vote of the people of North Plainfield, claiming that such a vote would be against the proposition, and I believe that if it had not been for the outrageous attacks made by the Unionist-Gazette that such a result would have been probable.

"Before the hearing closed I asked whether both those in favor and those against the bills would be satisfied if the county line bill were so amended as to provide that the voters of North Plainfield should pass upon the matter at an election, and everybody present agreed, without a dissenting voice, that such an amendment would make the bills satisfactory. I then stated that unless the bill was so amended, I would oppose it to the last.

"Many of the Senators, and some of the Assembly were present at this hearing, and most of them advised me that the only way to treat the matter was to pass the bills with such amendment, and submit the question to the voters of North Plainfield. I also consulted with other Republicans prominent in the State, and all agreed that to be the proper course.

"Mr. Honeyman, who was chief spokesman for the opponents of the bills, came back to Plainfield and I am informed said in effect that if he had known that the bill would be so amended, he would not have gone to Trenton at all, and others who had been up to that time opposed to the bills agreed that the amendment made the measure entirely fair.

"It was so amended, passed by the Senate by a vote of sixteen to one, and was sent back to the House of Assembly. After it got back there, some of the officers of Somerset county, who make a living out of their office, saw that in case North Plainfield voted for consolidation their own salary or fees would perhaps suffer, and they began to stir up opposition. In this opposition the editor of the Gazette, always personally opposed to me in politics, although under obligations for many favors, doubtless fearing that if North Plainfield consolidated with Plainfield in Union county his paper would lose certain legal advertising and also doubtless urged on by the faction which has been for years so stubbornly fighting every known friend of mine, took an active part. He was correspondent at Trenton for various newspapers, and was well aware that other legislative newspaper correspondents, owing to my opposition to allowing them to be present in the caucus for United States senator, were not very kindly disposed toward me. This situation was taken advantage of to publish in various newspapers distorted and misleading statements in regard to what I had said and done.

"It was claimed that I had 'tricked' the bill through the House, and had deceived Hoagland. Finally that grew into a statement that I had promised Hoagland to kill the bills, a statement which he has admitted to several people I never made to him. For two weeks Bateman and Hoagland did their utmost to prejudice the public and members of the House against the bills and against me, and made deals and secured promises from members to kill the bill when it came back to the House. Hoagland got three votes from one county by an agreement that he would vote for a bill in which they were particularly interested, and he got other votes upon personal grounds.

"All the lies and abuse about trickery and deceit, political necessities and schemes, which have since been told around the county and State, were vehemently declaimed to the Assemblymen. The Gazette stated that thirty-eight of them were pledged to vote against the bill, and yet when the vote was taken, so well was the House satisfied with the fairness of the measure, and that every reason, political, business, social, geographical and otherwise, demanded that the

CLAIMS GROUND GLASS WAS PUT IN COFFEE

Mrs. James H. Carson Tells Strange Stories of Treatment From Her Husband.

WILL SEEK REDRESS.

SHE ALLEGES THAT HE HAS SEVERAL TIMES ATTEMPTED HER LIFE.

Says She Was Reluctant to Leave Home on Account of Their Three Little Children—She is Now Stopping With Her Brother.

Accusations of a serious nature are made by Mrs. James H. Carson against her husband, who resides on Belmont avenue. On her complaint he was arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Smalley and will be given a hearing before Justice Smalley. He is out on $500. Counselor Francis J. Blatz is her attorney.

In substance, Mrs. Carson alleges that an attempt has been made on her life and for this she holds her husband responsible. His alleged brutal treatment, threats and attempts to kill her, all combined, have made life with him unbearable, she says, though she did not forsake him until his alleged oft repeated commands to leave their abiding place, compelled her to flee. There are three little children in the family and it was on their account, says Mrs. Carson, that she was reluctant to leave the home.

A friendish act is charged against the father of these little ones, according to the statements of Mrs. Carson. She declares that on Sunday morning, March 15, ground glass was put in a cup of coffee that she drank. Fortunately, she says, the deed was discovered in time and the bulk of the particles of glass was not swallowed.

Her story is to the effect that she and her husband were breakfasting together, when she went upstairs to attend the three-year-old baby boy, who was crying. On again seating herself at the table, she says that she stirred the coffee in her cup with a spoon and in doing so noticed a peculiar sound caused by that action. When she had swallowed the liquid, she saw some foreign substance in the bottom of the cup, and expressed her surprise. According to her tale, he snatched the cup from her grasp and emptied the contents in a sink nearby. Mrs. Carson states that her husband claimed that there was sand in the sugar used and that this led her to remark that she would refer the matter to the grocer. This, she says, he promptly cautioned her against doing.

The foreign matter thrown in the sink was subsequently collected by her and submitted to Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, for analysis. The result is alleged to be that the peculiar substance was simply glass, finely ground. This was the climax to a marital career, the first five years of which were happily spent and the last like number of years witnessing frequent unpleasant episodes, according to the wife's version.

She says that on two occasions, at least, Mr. Carson, struck her with his fist. This gross outrage, she declares, was followed by a threat to kill her. It was the evening of February 22 when, in the course of some words, he uttered the threat, she says. At that time Mrs. Carson, according to her tale, would have left the domicile but for thoughts of the little ones, who would have to bear the disgrace. At last, however, separation was forced upon her and she sought welcome shelter at the home of her brother, Frank Jones, of Netherwood avenue. There she is at present, surrounded by the children.

With her is Mrs. Skillman, an aunt, who corroborates the grave allegations. For some time the aunt resided with the Carsons and she declares that she is able to substantiate the stories as related by Mrs. Carson. Three rooms in the house were rented by Mrs. Skillman, and though she was often told to vacate them it was not until recently that she left. Yesterday her belongings were removed from the house on Belmont avenue to the home on Netherwood avenue.

Mrs. Carson is well-educated and has an attractive appearance. Her maiden name was Sallie Jones. She is a daughter by the first marriage of Mrs. Bryant, who lives in this city. Mr. Carson is an Irishman, having been born at Belfast. He is a machinist by trade and has regular employment at Scott's Printing Press Works. He is said to be affiliated with the Orangemen's Association.

SOCIETY FOLK AGAIN HEAR JOSEF HOFMANN

Famous Pianist Played for Friends of Ward Stephens at Mrs. Lawrence Myers.

A GRAND PROGRAMME.

WAS ASSISTED BY MISS BLANCHE DUFFIELD, SOPRANO, OF NEW YORK.

"Sunnyside" Was Thronged With Guests From Plainfield's Musical Circles—Programme Was Prepared by Ward Stephens.

Plainfield society folk thronged the beautiful home, "Sunnyside" of Mrs. Lawrence Myers on East Front street, last evening, when Josef Hofmann, the celebrated pianist, appeared in Plainfield for the second time. Fully three hundred lovers of music assembled and were again delighted at the wonderful ability of the young artist. His concert tour is over and before his departure for Europe, he consented to come to Plainfield to play again for the friends of Ward Stevens, of whom he is a warm personal friend.

To vary the evening's programme, Mr. Stevens had secured Miss Blanche Duffield, a soprano soloist of much ability from New York. Owing to the fact that many of the subscribers had invited friends without notifying Mr. Stevens, the gathering was a larger one than had been provided for. The guests forgot the minor discomforts, however, in their great enjoyment of the programme rendered.

A more varied and interesting programme than this could not easily be arranged. Beginning with the old classical school of Bach the programme worked right up to the modern school of Chopin and Liszt. The Bach number was a rare treat for purely music lovers and the Beethoven Rondo was as dainty and entertaining as anything on the entire programme.

After the Mendelssohn group, Miss Duffield was introduced to Plainfield music lovers. She has never sung here before. Her appearance is very charming and she sings with much spirit. Her selections were warmly applauded.

Mr. Hofmann's second group, consisting entirely of Chopin selections, were the most enjoyable on the programme. The Berceuse with its seductive melody and soothing rhythm was the gem of this group and was played charmingly. The Polonaise in B flat was a tremendous performance and was greeted with great enthusiasm. By this the audience was thoroughly warmed up and would liked to have encouraged Mr. Hofmann into playing an encore but he wisely refrained from doing so.

Miss Duffield again relieved Mr Hofmann here and this time her selections were more brilliant. Mr. Stephens played her accompaniments and did so without a rehearsal. The waltz song was a transposition from the original and written in manuscript and unfortunately for Miss Duffield the transposition was wrong in one place while resulted in Mr. Stephens playing one key and Miss Duffield singing in another. She was, however, roundly applauded and sang another song.

Mr. Hofmann then treated the gathering to one of his own compositions and this gave the audience a chance to see his creative genius. The Fugue was especially fine and beautifully worked out. After playing a few smaller numbers, he then played the Tannhauser overture. A more colossal and stupudous performance could not be imagined. The audience was spell bound. It is amazing the amount of force this young pianist has and even now some are wondering whether Hofmann did it all with two hands and ten fingers.

The audience has Mr. Stephens to thank for the selection of the programme, he made out the entire programme and submitted it to Mr. Hofmann for his approval.

SILK COMPANY'S MILL IS BEING OCCUPIED

Entire Plant of Watchung Silk Company Will be in New Quarters in a Week.

ABOUT NEW BUILDING.

NEW MILL IS LOCATED ON CHATHAM STREET IN THE BOROUGH.

Ten New Looms Received and Now Being Installed—Two Kinds of Power to be Used—Strong Construction of Mill—Other Details.

The Watchung Silk Company is making rapid progress in moving its plant from the Schepflin building on West Front street to its new mill on Chatham street, North Plainfield. A few days ago ten new looms were received and are now being installed in the mill. The boiler and machinery are very near completion. Within the next week it is expected that the whole plant will be moved into the new home.

The new mill has all the modern improvements and is equipped with two kinds of power. It is proposed to start with an electric plant and a ten horse power motor has been installed and ready for use. Should anything interfere with the electricity so as to make it an unsatisfactory power, it will only be necessary to change a belt and operate the mill by steam. The boiler, which has been located outside of the building, has sixty-five horse power and it is connected with an engine in the cellar of thirty horse power. The arrangement is such that the engine can be connected with a dynamo which will furnish all the light necessary. There is also a driven well in the cellar, making the company independent as to water supply.

The building is situated on Chatham street about 100 yards from Watchung avenue and faces the North Plainfield cemetery. It is two stories high and has a frontage of forty feet with a depth of 100 feet. It is situated on land known as the Boice property and "old orchard." The company owns 135 feet frontage with a depth of 125 feet and is so situated that a proposed street known as Pearl street, will place the mill on a corner, the building being six feet from the street line.

The company originally started in the Schepflin building with twenty looms. Since that time it has been found necessary to double the capacity, making forty looms in all. Not having sufficient room the company decided it was necessary to build a mill of its own and since the erection of the mill ten more looms have been added, making fifty in all. Another order for twenty more looms has been placed for future delivery. This has been necessary for the reason that the orders could not be filled unless the capacity of the plant was doubled. It is intended if the business continues as it has, to erect another factory on the same property.

The building is considered to be one of the strongest and best built of any of its size. The walls are plastered with cement and are to be painted white. The interior wood work is of Georgia and North Caronlian pine and the floors are four inches thick. On one side of the building in front is a vault extending from the cellar to the top of the office floor. The superintendent's office will be on that side, while the general manager will occupy an office on the opposite side of the building. The building is fitted throughout with call bells and will have telephone connection.

PLANS FOR BOROUGH WATER WORKS AND SEWER SYSTEM

Experts From New York Explained Them to the Members of Borough Council at Last Evening's Meeting.

THE ESTIMATED COST ABOUT $150,000.

FIRST STEPS TOWARD THE MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED BY MAYOR NEWTON B. SMALLEY.

Senator Reed, Former Mayor Saunders and Other Prominent Borough Citizens Were Interested Listeners—Plans Explained in Detail for Water Supply Plant and Sewage Disposal Works—Heard Statement of Legal Steps Necessary for Building New Engine House for Fire Department—Other Business Transacted.

Experts from New York held the undivided attention of the Borough Council, last evening, while they explained in detail plans for the proposed water plant and sewage system. Together with the Mayor and councilmen were Fomer Mayor William L. Saunders, Former Councilman George T. Rogers, Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed, Borough Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh, Members of the Citizens' Sewage Commission David T. Kenney and William B. Smith, Chief of the Fire Department J. J. Stahl, Former Chief George S. Fairchild and several others, all interested listeners.

Frederick P. Smith, general manager of the Municipal Engineering Company, of New York, exhibited plans and discussed facts and figures bearing on the subject of sewage. The system, as planned, calls for a first-class plant, with the necessary manholes and flush tanks, as well as pipeing on all the streets where required. Throughout the gravity system will be used. By means of two out-fall lines all deep cuts will be avoided. Iron mains are planned for Green brook road on account of the springs in that locality.

By reason of the sanitary conditions of the borough, it is necessary to have a disposal plant. This will be arranged for a population of 7,000 and will be capable of extension to a sufficient capacity for double that number. The sewage enters the system through endless moving screens, the function of which is to remove all matter in suspension and to convey the same to large evaporating chambers. Through the screens the sewage enters large sedimentation tanks, where its velocity is checked and the settling of fine suspended solids may take place.

From the sedimentation tanks the sewage flows over dams to a conduit from which it may flow to either or both of the septic tanks. These septic tanks are reservoirs of concrete holding, together, 400,000 gallons. In the tanks the sewage undergoes a natural process, which liquifies all solid organic matter to prepare it suitably for purification. The process causes offensive odors and therefore the tanks are sealed beneath a concrete roof.

The sewage, after leaving the septic tanks, rises by gravity through beds of gravel which are arranged about the base of a large ventilating chimney. As the sewage flows through the gravel the contained noxious gases are liberated and are carried off up the chimney, where they may be burned. From the roughing bed the sewage falls in a thin film over a dam where the consequent thorough aeration prepares it for the next stage of purification.

From the roughing beds the effluent flow to beds of gravel and coarse sand, where the purification takes place. Four beds covering one half acre each, and four feet deep, are included in the plans. The surface of these beds are to be covered with loam and seed to grass. The beds are so arranged that two may be used for first contact, the effluent flowing thence by gravity to the other two for a second or final contact. It is guaranteed by the experts that the effluent from this system will be allowed to be dumped into Green brook by the State Sewage Commission.

The cost of the complete sewage system is placed at $48,000 and the disposal system at $39,400. In those figures the necessary engineering fees are not included.

George H. Pierson, a consulting engineer, associated with Mr. Smith in the Municipal Engineering Company, explained the plans for the water plant. Marked attention was paid to him, and he made a favorable impression in every respect. He estimates that for a population of 7,000 the maximum quantity of water would be 500,000 gallons every twenty-four hours and the plant is based on this figure.

The artesian well system is recommended, there being an unlimited supply of pure water from this source. The proposition is to drill 100 feet into red sand stone. Five six-inch wells will be sunk to a depth of 100 feet, on Greenbrook road. A territory of four acres will be used for the water works. The plans provide for structural masonry in two compartments, the capacity of each being 420,000 gallons. Suitable roofing and proper ventilation are reckoned upon. Necessary inlet and discharge pipes together with gate valves to govern the same are outlined in the plans.

The capacity of the plant answers the requirements for fire protection. It will be possible to use 150 gallons per minute from six fire nozzles simultaneously for fourteen hours. Through an inch pipe a stream 140 feet horizontally or one hundred feet vertically can be thrown by means of the reservoir pressure solely. The map shows the reservoir and pumping station, lines of pipes on the various streets, sizes of pipe, fire hydrants, gate valves and other things.

The pumping station will be brick and the self supporting chimney of steel. All the pumping machinery and boilers are figured in duplicate, and these are to be of first class material and ready for operation. As for the pumps they will be capable of delivering 500,000 gallons each into the reservoir in twelve hours. The boilers are to be fifty horse power.

If built within the next eight months the estimated cost is $60,000. In this figure the engineering fees are not included. It is declared that the running expenses will be $6,000 per year. The operating expenses for the sewer system is $1,500 per year.

A lot of miscellaneous business was transacted by the body during the session. On motion of Robert Clark, Jr., chairman of the fire, water and lamps committee, a resolution was passed changing the present main fire alarm system to a three circuit system, and another was carried authorizing the committee to place an alarm at the corner of Fairview and Watchung avenues and one at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street. The estimated cost of these improvements as presented is: Change of circuit, $50; addition of fire alarm boxes, $250; wiring and incidental, $75. The total amount of the appropriation was $375.

A communication was received from Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed submitting to the body a general statement of the law relating to the neces-

GOVERNOR SHOULD SIGN GREATER CITY BILLS

So Says the Elizabeth Journal in Lengthy Editorial in Which Gives Its Reasons.

OPPORTUNE EDITORIAL.

STRONG PLEA TO THE GOVERNOR TO LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE IT.

He Would Then Place the Responsibility Just Where it Belongs and Allow the People to Exercise a Constitutional Privilege.

One of the strongest and, withal, the most fair pleas to the Governor in behalf of the Greater Plainfield bills is that which has just appeared in the editorial columns of the Elizabeth Journal. The Journal recognizes the fairness of the contention of The Daily Press and other advocates of the Greater Plainfield project that it is the duty of the Governor to give the people of North Plainfield a chance to decide the question for themselves. As an unprejudiced observer, the Journal's support is particularly opportune at this time.

Every citizen of Greater Plainfield will read with interest what the Journal says. It is as follows:

"Governor Murphy should, the Journal respectfully submits, sign the bills permitting the people of North Plainfield to decide for themselves all the questions relative to their consolidation with Plainfield and their annexation to Union county. The very fact that these measures provide that the people shall setttle these matters to their own satisfaction is the strongest possible reason why the Governor should sign them. With the utmost respect for the Governor's good judgment and wise consideration, it must be generally admited that the people of North Plainfield are more amply qualified to decide upon the issues before them than any other man or set of men in the State.

"It is not a question of party politics, at least not primarily, however much of the latter may have been injected into it since the bills were introduced in the Legislature. It is a question of one municipal government instead of two. It is a question of one system of sewerage or two, of one set of taxes or two, of one set of paid officials or two, of one board of councilmen or two. The political party feature of it is wholly secondary to these and similar considerations.

"Governor Murphy, it is further respectfully submitted, cannot withhold his signature from these bills without preventing the people of North Plainfield from exercising a constitutional privilege; that of settling their internal municipal affairs according to their own best judgment. Should be sign the bills he places the responsibility exactly where it belongs, on the citizens and taxpayers who are directly interested. Should he decline to sign them he assumes himself the responsibility, which should be theirs.

"The pleas entered against the bills by outside parties are all subsidiary to the main issue. It matters not, to outsiders, whether North Plainfield has been overtaxed or undertaxed; whether the Somerset county freeholders have paid back much more or much less than North Plainfield's due proportion of the taxes levied on and raised in that borough. It is of some consequence, to the Republican party, whether Somerset county goes Republican or Democratic, but even this is secondary to the wishes of the citizens and taxpayers of North Plainfield, and if they want annexation and are refused it, they may turn the political tables and retaliate by making Somerset county Democratic.

"The Governor should therefore, it is very respectfully submitted, leave this question to the people directly interested, by signing the bills; merely insisting that the referendum shall not be taken on either question involved at a special election, held for that purpose, and at which no other issues are to be voted upon."

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

If the people of North Plainfield desire to get out of Somerset county and the people of Union county are willing to take them in, why is it wrong to let them have their wishes gratified? The referendum clauses in the law make it beyond question one that Governor Murphy should sign.—Hunterdon County Democrat.

Nothing that has occurred for a long time has given greater satisfaction to the people of Rahway than the action of Judge Vail, yesterday, in imposing a heavy fine on the American Copper Extraction Company, of Garwood, for polluting the Rahway river. With full knowledge that they were not only violating the laws of the State, but defiling the source of the water supply of this city, the Copper Company has continued to pour into the river hundreds of gallons, daily, of acids and other injurious refuse. Remonstrances, petitions and protests have alike been disregarded or reforms promised, only to be broken again and again. That they have at least been brought to justice is a subject for general rejoicing, especially in this city. Judge Vail has won the lasting gratitude of our people for his fearless application of the law to those offending against the health and prosperity of our city. In sentencing the company, Judge Vail took occasion to warn them that a repetition of the offense would result in a fine of double the amount of the one imposed yesterday. Another indictment still hangs over the company, which the Judge refused to nolle pros, so that it is not likely the company will care to invite further penalty by continuing the pollution. The result of this conviction cannot fail to have a wholesome effect upon others who are polluting the river, especially following, as it does, the action of the Court of Chancery in the case of the Diamond Paper Company of Milburn. —Rahway Advocate.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The selection of Rev. Daniel Halleron, pastor of Grace church, Paterson, as presiding elder of the Elizabeth district of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, is looked upon as a just reward to an enthusiastic worker.

It is said that he has built and repaired many churches and placed them on a sound financial footing. He has been the sturdy champion of the aged and infirm ministers. In the past he has been at the head of some of the most important churches in the conference. Among these are the Simpson and St. Paul's, of Jersey City, and the Halsey Street, Newark. When his name was read as presiding elder the entire conference greeted it with cheers.

Waves of popularity sometimes mark certain publications and songs. The comments in a recent tea table talk of The Press on "Ben Bolt" sung recently by Lewis E. Barkalew suggest that this popular song had a revival of popularity a few years ago on the publication in England of the novel "Trilby," by DuMaurier. The touching melody, with its reminiscent strain in the mouth of "Trilby" became much talked of in England and America. The novel's dramatization and the rendering of the song on the stage added to the effect produced. It was generally supposed in England that its author was a native of that soil, but the fame of the song was too great and its authorship too well known for any dispute on that point. It is said the author, Thomas Dunn English, did not put much value upon it, but its sentiments are too true and the memories it stirs are too deep for any depreciation of its value, even by its author.

A CENTRAL OFFICIAL TALKS

GENERAL PASSENGER AGENT BURT MADE INTERESTING STATEMENT.

Concerning Company's Poor Service in Past and Prospects for the Future.

A frank statement concerning the reasons why the system has been handicapped recently, and the prospects for the near future, has recently been made by General Passenger Agent C. M. Burt, of the Jersey Central.

Incidently he says:

"With forty-five new locomotives and sixty passenger coaches, all of the most modern type, which will be added to the equipment of the road before the summer is over, I think there will be but very little reason for complaint against our company on the part of the great army of commuters who depend upon the Central in going to and from business in New York.

"Those people who a year ago insisted that the Central was going to neglect its local passenger traffic, were badly mistaken. We are as anxous to give ample and satisfactory suburban train service as the people who are served by it are anxious to have us. I am frank to admit that a year ago our service in this respect was not quite up to the standard, largely due to the fact that the machinists' strike closed down our repair shops for several weeks, but now there is but little reason for complaint. Still, the company is not satisfied and before long we expect that the people along the line of the road will be setting their watches and clocks by our trains —so close will the trains run to their schedules.

"A large amount of repair work that had accumulated because of the strike last summer has been turned out of our Elizabethport shops. The capacity of the shops for repair work has not been reached, however, and from this time on the Central patrons will notice that there will be continued improvement in our passenger service."
